Letter to Stockholders

In this annual report, you will find our financial statements for the year 2001, the report of independent accountants, our year-end portfolio holdings, and summary financial information for the Company.

The Year in Review

Following the severe decline in the latter part of 2000, the stock market rallied briefly in January in response to the action of the Federal Reserve Board to reduce short-term interest rates and thus stimulate economic growth. Announcements of layoffs, cuts in capital spending, and warnings of earnings shortfalls brought the rally to a quick end, despite further rate cuts by the Fed. The market recorded its worst first-quarter performance in 23 years. The domestic economy appeared headed for a recession, following ten years of uninterrupted growth. After years of heavy capital spending on technology and equipment, businesses found themselves with too much capacity. Orders for computers, software, and telecommunications equipment fell to fractions of their former levels.

The moves by the Federal Reserve to lower interest rates continued in the second quarter and were seen by investors as the medicine needed for the economy to recover quickly. A broad-based rally in stocks took place in April and May, including an initial rebound in technology companies. Another round of layoffs and warnings of shortfalls in earnings, notably in the technology sector, dampened investor enthusiasm again and the market began a longer slide. Through the summer and early fall, it became apparent that the domestic slowdown was impacting the economies of U.S. trading partners and the likelihood of a worldwide recession or slow growth increased. This, combined with the continued strength of the dollar, gave investors reason to sell stocks of major multinational companies such as General Electric and American International Group, in which Adams Express has long held sizeable positions.

The tragedies of September 11 resulted in a further loss of investor confidence and stocks plummeted when markets re-opened. With the Federal Reserve easing interest rates an eighth and ninth time, to 2.5%, investor confidence picked up and the market turned up in October. Early indicators hinted that there would be a decent recovery following a short-lived recession. Inventory reductions and restructuring by corporations appeared sufficient to assure growth in the economy starting some time in 2002. Enthusiasm for the outlook drove stock prices up sharply in November from their lows in late September. The market's fourth quarter performance was led by a 34% recovery in technology stocks and nearly 25% returns from consumer cyclicals.

The performance of the Company's portfolio in 2001 was very disappointing. As noted in our third quarter report to shareholders, investors have not followed the traditional pattern of emphasizing investments in larger capitalization, multi-national companies which have less sensitivity to economic cycles when a recession is anticipated. Thus, sectors such as consumer staples, health care, and communications services provided poor returns for the year.

The electric utility industry, in the process of deregulating, experienced a number of events that turned investors away. The California energy crisis, the bankruptcy of one utility and numerous lawsuits, the dramatic collapse of Enron, and the subsequent liquidity problems of other electricity producers, all served to demolish the idea of utilities as income-producing safe havens. The sector was down more than 30% in 2001. With 12% of the Fund invested in utilities and allied merchant electricity providers, the impact on Adams Express was heavy.

Edgar Filing: ADAMS EXPRESS CO - Form N-30D

Our Enron position, in particular, was decimated and we decided to dispose of it prior to its bankruptcy filing.

Our exposure to the technology sector was primarily in the more conservative computer software and communications equipment subgroups. The former were hurt by across-the-board cuts in technology spending, while the latter suffered from the collapse in demand from Internet-related companies. The Company's other areas of large investment, in financials and health care, performed about as poorly as the Standard & Poor's sectors, while our modest exposure in basic materials and transportation, the most cyclical groups, did considerably better than the market sectors.

For the year ended December 31, 2001, the return on net assets of the Company, including income and capital gains, was (24.7)%, compared to a return of (5.6)% for the Dow Jones Industrials and (11.8)% for the Standard & Poor's 500. The NASDAQ or over-the-counter market, reflecting mostly technology stocks, recorded a (21.1)% return. With essentially no change in the discount of the Adams Express Company's stock price from its net asset value per share, its return based on market prices was also (24.7)%.

Investment Results

At the end of 2001 our net assets were $1,368,366,316 or $16.05 per share on 85,233,262 shares outstanding as compared with $1,951,562,978 or $23.72 per share on 82,292,262 shares outstanding a year earlier.

Net investment income for 2001 was $21,091,920 compared to $20,941,465 for 2000. These earnings are equal to $0.26 and $0.26 per share, respectively, on the average number of shares outstanding throughout the year. In 2001, our 0.19% expense ratio (expenses to average net assets) was once again at a very low level compared to the industry.

Net realized gains amounted to $113,686,714 during the year, while the unrealized appreciation on investments decreased from $1,047,469,344 at December 31, 2000 to $424,993,559 at year end.

Dividends and Distributions

The total dividends and distributions paid in 2001 were $1.65 per share compared to $1.85 in 2000. As announced on November 8, 2001, a year-end distribution consisting of investment income of $0.06 and capital gains of $1.35 was made on December 27, 2001, both realized and taxable in 2001. On January 10, 2002, an additional distribution of $0.08 per share was declared payable March 1, 2002, representing the balance of undistributed net investment income and capital gains earned during 2001 and an initial distribution from 2002 net investment income, all taxable to shareholders in 2002.

Outlook for 2002

With the dramatic reductions in short-term interest rates over the course of 2001, there is little doubt that the U. S. economy will emerge from the recession fairly quickly; some economists believe it has already done so. The heavy liquidation of inventories in the final quarter of 2001 may result in increased production to refill supply pipelines in the first quarter. Following five of the past six recessions, industrial production was brought on more quickly than final demand required and cutbacks were necessary a second time to avoid excess inventory build-ups. It is believed, however, that corporations are very cautious at this point and will not bring up production too rapidly.

The consumer was the primary support for the economy during most of 2001, as spending remained healthy despite layoffs, modest wage increases, and some tightening of credit standards. Offsetting factors included attractive mortgage refinancing terms, cheap energy prices, and heavy discounting at the retail level. Confidence was boosted by the implementation of the tax cuts passed by Congress in mid-2001 and by military successes in Afghanistan. Recently, however, long-term interest rates have risen, OPEC has cut production to stabilize oil prices, and states have announced tax increases. Consumers may well decide that it is time to boost their savings, especially given the recently effective incentives provided by the federal Tax Code.

A cautious industrial sector and perhaps a more savings-conscious consumer are expected to temper the growth prospects for the economy once it does emerge from the recession. The anticipated slow growth in the rest of the world should also reduce U.S. export demand, further dampening growth. With this economic picture in mind, we do not anticipate a strong bounce in corporate earnings in 2002. The restructuring and layoffs made in 2001 have brought better operating leverage to many companies, but the benefits of that leverage cannot be realized without greater demand for products and services. We therefore expect profit growth of only 5% to 10% for the year, bringing the earnings of the Standard & Poor's 500 Composite Index to between $47 and $50 before write-offs. Based on that range of earnings estimates, the Index was trading at 23 to 24 times anticipated earnings at the end of 2001. Even in an environment of very mild inflation and low interest rates, that level of valuation is high relative to historic norms. We do not see a catalyst other than better earnings performance which would drive the stock market much higher. In a few industries, capacity has been reduced to such an extent that companies have some pricing power, but there is still a significant amount of unused capacity, which will serve to hold down prices. Any improvement in earnings must therefore be due to a level of demand higher than we can currently foresee.

We are confident that the companies represented by the stocks in the portfolio will enjoy reasonable growth as the economy recovers. Their financial condition remains strong and therefore over time they will be able to take advantage of strengthening demand to take market share from their weaker competitors. It is our firm belief that their earnings performance will eventually be reflected in their stock prices.

Share Repurchase Program

On December 13, 2001, the Board of Directors authorized the repurchase by management of an additional 5% of the outstanding shares of the Company over the ensuing year. The repurchase program is subject to the same restriction as in the past, namely that shares can only be repurchased as long as the discount of the market price of the shares from the net asset value is greater than 10%.

From the beginning of 2002 through January 10, a total of 24,200 shares have been repurchased at a total cost of $347,156 and a weighted average discount from net asset value of 11.3%.

The proxy statement for the Annual Meeting of Stockholders to be held in Phoenix, Arizona on March 26, 2002, will be mailed on or about February 22, 2002 to holders of record on February 15, 2002.

Notes To Financial Statements

1. Significant Accounting Policies

The Adams Express Company (the Company) is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as a diversified investment company. The Company's investment objectives as well as the nature and risk of its investment transactions are set forth in the Company's registration statement.

Security Valuation -- Investments in securities traded on a national security exchange are valued at the last reported sale price on the day of valuation. Over-the-counter and listed securities for which a sale price is not available are valued at the last quoted bid price. Short-term investments (excluding purchased options) are valued at amortized cost. Purchased and written options are valued at the last quoted asked price.

Affiliated Companies -- Investments in companies 5% or more of whose outstanding voting securities are held by the Company are defined as "Affiliated Companies" in Section 2(a)(3) of the Investment Company Act of 1940.

Security Transactions and Investment Income -- Investment transactions are accounted for on the trade date. Gain or loss on sales of securities and options is determined on the basis of identified cost. Dividend income and distributions to shareholders are recognized on the ex-dividend date, and interest income is recognized on the accrual basis.

Edgar Filing: ADAMS EXPRESS CO - Form N-30D

2. Federal Income Taxes

The Company's policy is to distribute all of its taxable income to its shareholders in compliance with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies. Therefore, no federal income tax provision is required. For federal income tax purposes, the identified cost of securities, including options, at December 31, 2001 was $939,118,880, and net unrealized appreciation aggregated $425,480,810, of which the related gross unrealized appreciation and depreciation were $565,138,939 and $139,658,129, respectively. The undistributed ordinary income was $3,611,897 and undistributed long-term capital gain was $2,382,982.

Distributions paid by the Company during the year ended December 31, 2001 were classified as ordinary income of $27,592,066, and long-term capital gain of $105,485,207. The distributions are determined in accordance with income tax regulations which may differ from generally accepted accounting principles. Accordingly, periodic reclassifications are made within the Company's capital accounts to reflect income and gains available for distribution under income tax regulations.

3. Investment Transactions

Purchases and sales of portfolio securities, other than options and short-term investments, during the year ended December 31, 2001 were $296,492,022 and $410,430,542, respectively. The Company, as writer of an option, bears the market risk of an unfavorable change in the price of the security underlying the written option. The risk associated with purchasing options is limited to the premium originally paid. Option transactions comprised an insignificant portion of operations during the year ended December 31, 2001. All investment decisions are made by a committee, and no one person is primarily responsible for making recommendations to that committee.

4. Capital Stock

On March 28, 2000, stockholders approved an increase in the number of authorized shares of Common Stock from 75,000,000 to 150,000,000. The Company has 10,000,000 authorized and unissued preferred shares without par value.

On October 19, 2000 the Company effected a 3-for-2 stock split. All references to the number of outstanding shares and per share amounts have been adjusted retroactively to reflect the stock split.

On December 27, 2000, the Company issued 3,517,794 shares of its Common Stock at a price of $22.00 per share (the average market price on December 11, 2000) to stockholders of record November 20, 2000 who elected to take stock in payment of the distribution from 2000 capital gain and investment income.

On December 27, 2001, the Company issued 4,755,400 shares of its Common Stock at a price of $14.36 per share (the average market price on December 10, 2001) to stockholders of record November 19, 2001 who elected to take stock in payment of the distribution from 2001 capital gain and investment income.

The Company may purchase shares of its Common Stock from time to time at such prices and amounts as the Board of Directors may deem advisable. Transactions in Common Stock for 2001 and 2000 were as follows:

The Company has an employee incentive stock option and stock appreciation rights plan which provides for the issuance of options and stock appreciation rights for the purchase of up to 2,610,146 shares of the Company's Common Stock at 100% of the fair market value at date of grant. Options are exercisable beginning not less than one year after the date of grant and extend and vest over ten years from the date of grant. Stock appreciation rights are exercisable beginning not less than two years after the date of grant and extend over the period during which the option is exercisable. The stock appreciation rights allow the optionees to surrender their rights to exercise their options and receive cash or shares in an amount equal to the difference between the option price and the fair market value of the common stock at the date of surrender.

Under the plan, the exercise price of the options and related stock appreciation rights is reduced by the per share amount of capital gain paid by the Company during subsequent years. At the beginning of 2001, there were 339,403 options outstanding with a weighted average exercise price of $8.1169 per share. During 2001, the Company granted options, including stock appreciation rights, for 44,214 shares of common stock with a weighted average exercise price of $20.5776 per share. During the year stock options or stock appreciation rights relating to 38,050 stock option shares were exercised at a weighted average market price of $16.8985 per share and the stock options relating to these rights which had a weighted average exercise price of $4.4995 per share were cancelled. At December 31, 2001, there were outstanding exercisable options to purchase 104,090 common shares at $2.3533-$19.1917 per share (weighted average price of $5.9143), and unexercisable options to purchase 241,477 common shares at $2.3533-$19.6100 per share (weighted average price of $9.9644). The weighted average remaining contractual life of outstanding exercisable and unexercisable options was 3.2283 years and 5.5261 years, respectively. Total compensation expense recognized in 2001 related to the stock option and stock appreciation rights plan was a credit of $1,010,184. At December 31, 2001, there were 1,266,371 shares available for future option grants.

5. Retirement Plans

The Company provides retirement benefits for its employees under a non-contributory qualified defined benefit pension plan. The benefits are based on years of service and compensation during the last five years of employment. The Company's current funding policy is to contribute annually to the plan only those amounts that can be deducted for federal income tax purposes. The plan assets consist primarily of investments in individual stocks, bonds, and mutual funds.

The actuarially computed net pension cost credit for the year ended December 31, 2001 was $416,875, and consisted of service expense of $204,411, interest expense of $362,246, expected return on plan assets of $897,113, and net amortization credit of $86,419.

In determining the actuarial present value of the projected benefit obligation, the interest rate used for the weighted average discount rate was 7.5%, the expected rate of annual salary increases was 7.0%, and the expected long-term rate of return on plan assets was 8.0%.

On January 1, 2001, the projected benefit obligation for service rendered to date was $4,932,613. During 2001, the projected benefit obligation increased due to service cost and interest cost of $204,411 and $362,246 respectively, and decreased due to benefits paid in the amount of $205,337. The projected benefit obligation at December 31, 2001 was $5,293,933.

On January 1, 2001, the fair value of plan assets was $11,316,574. During 2001, the fair value of plan assets increased due to the expected return on plan assets of $897,113 and decreased due to benefits paid in the amount of $205,337. At December 31, 2001, the projected fair value of plan assets amounted to $12,008,350, which resulted in excess plan assets of $6,714,417. The remaining components of prepaid pension cost on December 31, 2001 included $908,031 in unrecognized gain and $427,930 in unrecognized prior service cost. Prepaid pension cost included in other assets at December 31, 2001 was $6,234,316.

In addition, the Company has a nonqualified benefit plan which provides employees with defined retirement benefits to supplement the qualified plan. The Company does not provide postretirement medical benefits.

Shareholder Information and Services

WE ARE OFTEN ASKED --

How do I invest in Adams Express?

Adams Express Common Stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange and the Pacific Exchange. The stock's ticker symbol is "ADX" and may be bought and sold through registered investment security dealers. Your broker will be able to assist you in this regard. In addition, stock may be purchased through the Bank of New York's BuyDIRECT Purchase and Sale Plan (see page 20).

Where do I get information on the stock's price, trading and/or net asset value?

The daily net asset value (NAV) per share and closing market price may be obtained from our website at www.adamsexpress.com. The daily NAV is also available on the NASDAQ Mutual Fund Quotation System under the symbol XADEX. The week-ending NAV is published on Saturdays in various newspapers and on Mondays in The Wall Street Journal in a table titled "Closed-End Funds." The table compares the net asset value at the close of the week's last business day to the market price of the shares, and shows the amount of the discount or premium.

Adams' daily trading is shown in the stock tables of most daily newspapers, usually with the abbreviated form "AdaEx." Local newspapers determine, usually by volume of traded shares, which securities to list. If your paper does not carry our listing, please telephone the Company at (800) 638-2479 or visit our website.

How do I replace a lost certificate(s) or how do I correct a spelling error on my certificate?

Your Adams Express stock certificates are valuable documents and should be kept in a safe place. For tax purposes, keep a record of each certificate, including the cost or market value of the shares it covers at the time acquired. If a certificate is lost, destroyed or stolen, notify the Transfer Agent immediately so a "stop transfer" order can be placed on the records to prevent an unauthorized transfer of your certificate. The necessary forms and requirements to permit the issuance of a replacement certificate will then be sent to you. A certificate can be replaced only after the receipt of an affidavit regarding the loss accompanied by an open penalty bond, for which a small premium is paid by the stockholder.

In the event a certificate is issued with the holder's name incorrectly spelled, a correction can only be made if the certificate is returned to the Transfer Agent with instructions for correcting the error. Transferring shares to another name also requires that the certificate be forwarded to the Transfer Agent with the appropriate assignment forms completed and the signature of the registered owner Medallion guaranteed by a bank or member firm of The New York Stock Exchange, Inc.

Can you send my dividend checks directly to my bank?

Yes, provide the Transfer Agent with your bank's name, your branch's mailing address and your account number at your bank. (Sorry, electronic transfer of funds is not offered at this time.)

Who do I notify of a change of address?

The Transfer Agent.

Edgar Filing: ADAMS EXPRESS CO - Form N-30D

We go to Florida (Arizona) every winter. How do we get our mail from Adams Express?

The Transfer Agent can program a seasonal address into its system; simply send the temporary address and the dates you plan to be there to The Bank of New York.

I want to give shares to my children, grandchildren, etc. as a gift. How do I go about it?

Giving shares of Adams Express is simple and is handled through our Transfer Agent. The stock transfer rules are clear and precise for most forms of transfer. They will vary slightly depending on each transfer, so write to the Transfer Agent stating the exact intent of your gift plans and the Agent will send you the instructions and forms necessary to effect your transfer.
