Our market for trust services includes this market area but also has a national focus with respect to its business of attracting union pension fund accounts. Our clients are primarily individuals, privately-owned businesses and, with respect to the Trust Company, union pension funds.

Included in these assets under management are the ERECT and BUILD Funds which are collective investment funds for trade union controlled pension fund assets. At June 30, 2004, the Trust Company managed approximately $301 million in union pension fund assets. The Trust Company's non-management employees are members of the United Steelworkers of America.

Our Recent Financing

On October 8, 2004 we entered into a Purchase Agreement with the selling shareholders pursuant to which they purchased 2,795,000 shares of common stock, including all the shares of common stock offered hereby, and agreed to purchase an additional 2,936,533 shares of common stock if (i) our shareholders approve the issuance of these additional shares at a special meeting called for that purpose, which is expected to be held in December 2004, (ii) the volume weighted average price of our common stock for the twenty (20) trading days preceding the special meeting equals or exceeds $4.50 and (iii) we fulfill all other contingencies. If these contingencies are met, the second closing is expected to occur in December, 2004. We will file a registration statement to permit the selling shareholders to sell the shares of common stock purchased at the second closing

RISK FACTORS

You should carefully consider the risks described below before investing in our common stock. The risks described below are not the only ones facing AmeriServ. Additional risks not currently known to us or that we currently believe are immaterial may also impair our business. Our business could be harmed by any of these risks. The trading price of our common stock could decline due to any of these risks, and you may lose all or part of your investment. In assessing these risks, you should also refer to the other information contained or incorporated by reference in this prospectus, including our consolidated financial statements and related notes.

We sustained losses in 2002 and the first quarter of 2003 and we suffer from structural impediments that adversely affect our future earnings capacity, all of which have resulted in a regulatory enforcement action.

In 2002, we lost $5.2 million; we lost an additional $795,000 in the first quarter of 2003. These losses were primarily attributable to deteriorating asset quality, impairment of the value of mortgage servicing rights due to falling interest rates, poor expense management and three structural impediments that adversely affected, and continue to affect, performance. These three structural impediments are:

an excessive debt burden at AmeriServ consisting of $34.5 million of guaranteed junior subordinated deferrable interest debentures that bear interest at a rate of 8.45% and collateralize a 1998 issue of trust preferred securities of like amount;

a long-term borrowing position at the Bank level that includes $210 million of Federal Home Loan Bank advances that mature in 2010 and bear interest at 6%; and Standard Mortgage Corporation of Georgia ("SMC"), a mortgage servicing subsidiary that loses approximately $1 million annually and exposes us to earnings volatility.

The consequence of these poor results is that in February 2003, we and the Bank executed a Memorandum of Understanding ("MOU") with the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia (the "Federal Reserve") and the Pennsylvania Department of Banking (the "Department"). This Memorandum of Understanding remains in effect and, among other things, mandates corrective measures and prohibits the repurchase of stock or the payment of dividends by us or the Bank.

Failure to successfully execute our turnaround strategy would adversely affect future earnings.

At the end of 2003, we adopted a turnaround strategy that consists of three distinct elements. These were:

In 2003, stabilizing AmeriServ and taking immediate steps to eliminate or minimize those risk elements that posed a threat to our survival;

In 2004, initiating steps to eliminate the three structural impediments to sustainable, improved earnings; and Articulating and executing, over the long-term, a strategy centered on community banking and continued expansion of our successful trust business that is intended to produce consistent future earnings.

We believe we have accomplished the first element of this turnaround strategy. Our recent financing was an initial step toward achieving the second goal. The final element of our turnaround strategy requires sustained execution of our business plan. If we are unable to complete our turnaround strategy, our financial condition and results of operations will not dramatically improve and may deteriorate.

The proceeds of our recent financing will not produce sufficient capital to address all of the structural impediments to improved performance.

Our recent financing provides sufficient capital to permit us to incur the costs associated with repaying approximately $100 million of FHLB advances and selling or closing Standard Mortgage Corporation. However, the net proceeds of the financing permits us to redeem only about $5.7 million of the $34.5 million of outstanding debentures. Therefore, we will have only fully addressed two of the three structural impediments to improved performance that we have identified. We will continue to bear the high debt service costs associated with over $29 million of debentures, of which, approximately $5.0 million will not qualify as Tier I capital under applicable banking regulations.

We may need to raise additional capital to fully address our structural impediments to improved performance but we may not be able to do so when needed or on favorable terms.

We may need to raise additional capital if we want to redeem the balance of our subordinated debentures and reduce our debt service burden significantly prior to maturity. We cannot predict the timing and amount of our future capital formation activities. Failure to raise capital and redeem the debentures could limit or eliminate our ability to grow and increase earnings. Moreover, even if capital is available, it may be upon terms that are not favorable to existing common shareholders and could dilute their interest.

Restructuring steps we are taking will cause us to incur a significant loss in 2004.

In the near future we expect the following things to occur:

We will use approximately $5.7 million of the net proceeds of our recent financing to redeem a portion of our guaranteed junior subordinated deferrable interest debentures that do not qualify as Tier I capital under applicable banking regulations. This will result in the write-off of approximately $100,000, after tax, in deferred issuance costs.

The Bank is repaying approximately $100.0 million of long-term Federal Home Loan Bank advances, which bear interest at a rate of 6% and mature in 2010. As a result of this prepayment, the Bank expects to incur a prepayment penalty of approximately $8.0 million, after tax.

The Bank will sell or close SMC. SMC is a residential mortgage loan servicer based in Atlanta, Georgia. SMC derives fees from servicing and subservicing approximately $250 million in residential mortgages. SMC no longer originates mortgages and we expect to sell or close SMC's remaining servicing business by the end of 2004. The Bank expects that the sell or close of SMC will result in a charge of approximately $700,000, after tax, consisting principally of severance and lease termination expenses. These costs may be incurred in the last two quarters of 2004 or in 2005.

The result of these steps will be that we will incur a consolidated loss in 2004.

Failure to obtain shareholder approval for the issuance of shares in the second offering could cause us to obtain less favorable financing in the future.

It is possible that we may seek additional capital in the future that would permit us to fully redeem the remaining trust preferred securities or further deleverage our balance sheet. However, there is no plan or arrangement to seek additional capital at this time, other than the through the proposed issuance of additional shares. If our shareholders do not approve the proposed issuance of the additional shares, we will have significantly less capital to address the identified structural impediments to improved performance. As a result, it would be more likely that we will seek additional capital either in a public offering that does not require shareholder approval or in a subsequent institutional placement after we been advised by counsel after consultation with The Nasdaq Stock Market, that shareholder approval would not be required. No assurance can be given that any subsequent offering will be on similar terms and conditions as the proposed institutional placement for which shareholder approval is currently being sought.

The Memorandum of Understanding imposes other restrictions on our operations that may adversely affect our financial results.

We signed a Memorandum of Understanding with the Federal Reserve and the Pennsylvania Department of Banking that imposed restrictions on the payment of dividends and a number of other restrictions. In addition to the restrictions on payment of dividends, the MOU does not permit us to redeem any of our stock or incur any additional debt other than in the ordinary course of business, in each case, without the prior written approval of the Federal Reserve and the Department.

Other provisions of the MOU require us to:

improve credit quality and credit administration practices, improve data security and disaster recovery procedures, make periodic reports to the Federal Reserve and the Department regarding compliance with the MOU, and appoint a committee of independent directors to monitor compliance with the MOU.

The MOU will remain in effect until modified or terminated by the Federal Reserve and the Department. We believe that we are in substantial compliance with the terms of the MOU, but we cannot predict when or if the MOU will be terminated.

If we fail to comply with the MOU or our financial condition deteriorates, we may be subject to additional enforcement action.

An MOU is an enforcement action that the Federal Reserve and the Department impose on companies under their regulatory authority. An MOU is more severe than a request that a company adopt a board resolution to effect some corrective action, but it is less severe than a formal written enforcement agreement or a cease and desist order. We believe we are in material compliance with the terms of the MOU, but if we fail to comply with the MOU or our financial condition deteriorates in the opinion of the Federal Reserve or the Department, these regulators could impose more severe enforcement sanctions. In particular, if we are unable to raise capital to begin to address some of our structural impediments or we are unable to reduce our leverage program to mitigate our risk profile, we may be subject to further regulatory enforcement action. A full-scope regulatory exam began in late September and we expect that it will be completed in the fourth quarter.

We operate a significant leverage program that is subject to material interest rate risk.

At June 30, 2004, the Bank had outstanding approximately $397 million from the Federal Home Loan Bank of Pittsburgh and used the proceeds of these borrowings to fund the majority of its investment securities portfolio. Our goal is to make money on the difference between the interest rate earned on the investment securities and the rate paid on the borrowings. This is sometimes called a leverage program. Leverage programs entail greater risk than the traditional banking activity of gathering deposits and lending this money to borrowers. Although both deposit gathering and lending and a leverage program expose a financial institution to interest rate risk, a leverage program arguably exposes a bank to greater risk for two reasons. First, the difference between the interest rate earned on investment securities and the rate paid on borrowed funds is typically much smaller than the difference between the rate earned on loans and the rate paid on deposits. As a result the margin for error is smaller. Second, deposits are gathered from multiple customers in small amounts and changes in deposit behavior generally occur gradually even in changing interest rate environments. Borrowings are generally in large amounts and can be for significant duration. Changes in interest rates during the term of any borrowing can cause a material change in the value of the assets funded with the proceeds of the borrowings, the prepayment of these assets and the risk that the proceeds can be profitably reinvested. If we do not prudently manage our leverage program and the related interest rate risk, we may incur losses that could adversely affect our financial condition and results of operation.

Our leverage program has contributed positively to earnings since 1995, but it does constitute approximately 33.7% of total assets at June 30, 2004, which is greater than the leverage program conducted by most banking institutions. The Federal Reserve believes that this results in an increased risk profile for our institution compared to peer institutions and has indicated that it wants us to reduce our leverage program. In the near future we expect to repay approximately $100 million of FHLB advances and incur a related prepayment penalty of approximately $8 million, after tax, to address the Federal Reserve's concern. This would reduce our leverage program as a percent of total assets to approximately 27%.

Securities gains have contributed significantly to profits in recent quarters and may not be available in future periods.

In four of the last five quarters we have generated profits by taking advantage of falling interest rates to capture gains from the sale of securities in our investment portfolio. As interest rates rise, our ability to realize gains on the sale of investment securities is diminished or eliminated and we will be more dependent on net interest income to generate profits in future periods. For the six months ended June 30, 2004, our net interest margin was only 2.32% and therefore our ability to generate sufficient net interest income to generate profits in future periods may not be strong.

Our tangible common equity is below the tangible common equity of peer institutions and may be inconsistent with our risk profile.

At June 30, 2004, our ratio of tangible common equity to assets was 4.61%. This compares unfavorably to most similarly sized institutions. Moreover, given our poor recent earnings, our large leverage program, and our reduced ability to realize investment gains due to rising interest rates, the Federal Reserve believes this level of tangible common equity is inconsistent with the risk embedded in our balance sheet. Failure to increase capital to more appropriately balance tangible common equity and our embedded risk could lead to significant capital depletion in the event of adverse events such as deteriorating asset quality or sharp interest rate movements. As a result of our recent financing we expect that our ratio of tangible common equity to assets will increase to approximately 5.50%.

AmeriServ operates under significant liquidity constraints and may do so in the future because of planned losses at the Bank.

AmeriServ's current liquidity is unsatisfactory. The payment of dividends by the Bank to us is a primary source of funding for us and is also the principal source of funds for us to pay dividends to our shareholders. Under federal banking law, the Bank may only pay dividends out of accumulated earnings for the current year and the prior two calendar years. Because the Bank incurred $2.6 million in losses in 2002, the Bank's ability to pay dividends to us was eliminated. As a consequence, since 2002 we have relied on dividends from non-bank subsidiaries, a tax refund, inter-company tax payments and other short-term solutions to raise sufficient funds to make our interest payments on the debentures. Our ability to rely on these alternative sources of cash flow is temporary and uncertain. Moreover, we have no significant secondary sources of liquidity such as lines of credit. Since 2002, the Bank has earned $3.4 million and therefore it has limited dividend authority under federal law equal to the excess of earnings of the Bank since 2002 over the $2.6 million loss amount, or $721,000. However, under the MOU, any dividend payment requires the prior approval of the Federal Reserve and the Department. Furthermore, we expect that the Bank will incur a loss in 2004 as a result of restructuring steps the Bank is taking. This will once again eliminate the Bank's dividend capacity until such time as it earns back this loss. We cannot assure you that the Bank will generate greater earnings in future periods or that the Bank's dividend authority will be restored. If the Bank is not able to generate greater earnings in the future and have its dividend authority restored or we are not able to develop meaningful secondary sources of liquidity, AmeriServ may continue to operate with less than satisfactory liquidity.

We have unionized employees, which increases our costs and may deter any acquisition proposal.

The Bank is party to a collective bargaining agreement with the United Steelworkers of America, which represents approximately 60% of our employees. As a result of provisions in the contract, generally known as work rules, we sometimes cannot take steps that would reduce our operating costs. Furthermore, to our knowledge, we are one of only 13 unionized banking institutions in the United States. The banking industry is a consolidating industry in which acquisitions are frequent. However, some banking institutions may be reluctant to buy a unionized bank because of a perception that operating costs may be higher or that it could result in unionization of its work force. Therefore, our stock price may be adversely affected because investors may conclude that there is a reduced likelihood that we will be acquired.

We will incur significant expense to comply with a provision of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002.

Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 requires all public companies to prepare a report stating its responsibility for establishing and maintaining an adequate internal control structure and procedures for financial reporting and to make an assessment of the internal control structure and procedure for financial reporting. The auditor of each public company must also attest to, and report on, management's assessment of its internal controls. We become subject to Section 404 for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2005. We estimate that the initial external, pre-tax cost of complying with this new requirement will be approximately $300,000, substantially all of which will be incurred in 2005.

Because our earnings capacity has been depressed, this expense may be significant relative to our 2005 earnings.

A significant portion of our trust business is dependent on a union client base.

In an effort to capitalize on the Bank's union affiliation, our Trust Company operates two funds, the ERECT Fund and the BUILD Fund that seek to attract investment from union pension funds. These funds then use the investments to make loans on construction projects that use union labor. At June 30, 2004, approximately $301 million was invested by unions in the ERECT and BUILD Funds. This represents approximately 24% of the total assets under management held by the Trust Company. Furthermore, investments by union pension funds can be significant. The largest single union investment is approximately $38 million and the total number of unions invested in the funds is only 62. This means that the Trust Company is dependent on a relatively narrow union client base for a significant portion of its assets under management and its resulting revenue and net income.

Changes in interest rates could reduce our income, cash flows and asset values.

Our income and cash flows and the value of our assets depend to a great extent on the difference between the interest rates we earn on interest-earning assets, such as loans and investment securities, and the interest rates we pay on interest-bearing liabilities such as deposits and borrowings. These rates are highly sensitive to many factors which are beyond our control, including general economic conditions and policies of various governmental and regulatory agencies and, in particular, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. Changes in monetary policy, including changes in interest rates, will influence not only the interest we receive on our loans and investment securities and the amount of interest we pay on deposits and borrowings, but it also will affect our ability to originate loans and obtain deposits and the value of our investment portfolio. If the rate of interest we pay on our deposits and other borrowings increases more than the rate of interest we earn on our loans and other investments, our net interest income, and therefore our earnings, could be adversely affected. Our earnings also could be adversely affected if the rates on our loans and other investments fall more quickly than those on our deposits and other borrowings.

Because our operations are concentrated in Cambria and Somerset Counties, Pennsylvania, we are subject to economic conditions in this area, which typically lag behind economic activity in other areas.

Our loan and deposit activities are largely based in Cambria and Somerset Counties, Pennsylvania. As a result, our financial performance will depend largely upon economic conditions in this area. Economic activity in this geographic market generally lags behind the economic activity in Pennsylvania and the nation. Similarly, unemployment in this market area is typically higher than the unemployment rate in Pennsylvania and the nation. Adverse local economic conditions could cause us to experience an increase in loan delinquencies, a reduction in deposits, an increase in the number of borrowers who default on their loans and a reduction in the value of the collateral securing their loans, all of which could adversely affect our profitability.

We are subject to lending risks.

There are risks inherent in making all loans. These risks include interest rate changes over the time period in which loans may be repaid and changes in the national economy or the economy of our regional market that affect the ability of our borrowers to repay their loans or the value of the collateral securing these loans.

At June 30, 2004, 56% of our loan portfolio consisted of commercial, construction and commercial mortgage loans. Commercial loans are generally viewed as having more risk of default than residential real estate loans or consumer loans. These types of loans also are typically larger than residential real estate loans and consumer loans. Because our loan portfolio contains a significant number of commercial, construction and commercial mortgage loans with relatively large balances, the deterioration of one or a few of these loans would cause a significant increase in nonperforming loans.

An increase in nonperforming loans could result in a net loss of earnings from these loans, an increase in our provision for loan losses and an increase in loan charge-offs.

Our financial condition and results of operations would be adversely affected if our allowance for loan losses is not sufficient to absorb actual losses or if we are required to increase our allowance.

Despite our underwriting criteria, we may experience loan delinquencies and losses for reasons beyond our control, such as general economic conditions. We maintain an allowance for loan losses based on, among other things, historical experience, an evaluation of economic conditions, and regular reviews of delinquencies and loan portfolio quality. Determination of the allowance inherently involves a high degree of subjectivity and requires us to make significant estimates of current credit risks and future trends, all of which may undergo material changes. We may be required to increase our allowance for loan losses for any of several reasons. State and federal regulators, in reviewing our loan portfolio as part of a regulatory examination, may request that we increase our allowance for loan losses. Changes in economic conditions affecting borrowers, new information regarding existing loans, identification of additional problem loans and other factors, both within and outside of our control, may require an increase in our allowance. In addition, if charge-offs in future periods exceed our allowance for loan losses, we will need additional increases in our allowance for loan losses. Any increases in our allowance for loan losses will result in a decrease in our net income and, possibly, our capital, and may materially affect our results of operations in the period in which the allowance is increased.

Our future success will depend on our ability to compete effectively in a highly competitive market and geographic area.

We face substantial competition in all phases of our operations from a variety of different competitors, including commercial banks, savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks, credit unions, consumer finance companies, factoring companies, insurance companies and money market mutual funds. There is very strong competition among financial services providers in our principal service area. Due to their size, many competitors can achieve economies of scale and, as a result, may offer a broader range of products and services as well as better pricing for those products and services than we can.

We believe that our ability to compete successfully depends on a number of factors, including:

our ability to build upon existing customer relationships and market position;

competitors' interest rates and service fees;

the scope of our products and services;

the relevance of our products and services to customer needs and demands and the rate at which we and our competitors introduce them;

satisfaction of our customers with our customer service; and industry and general economic trends.

If we experience difficulty in any of these areas, our competitive position could be materially adversely affected, which will affect our growth and profitability.

Some of the financial services organizations with which we compete are not subject to the same degree of regulation as is imposed on federally insured financial institutions. As a result, those nonbank competitors may be able to access funding and provide various services more easily or at less cost than we can, adversely affecting our ability to compete effectively.

Environmental liability associated with lending activities could result in losses.

In the course of our business, we may foreclose on and take title to properties securing our loans. If hazardous substances were discovered on any of these properties, we may be liable to governmental entities or third parties for the costs of remediation of the hazard, as well as for personal injury and property damage. Many environmental laws can impose liability regardless of whether we knew of, or were responsible for, the contamination. In addition, if we arrange for the disposal of hazardous or toxic substances at another site, we may be liable for the costs of cleaning up and removing those substances from the site, even if we neither own nor operate the disposal site. Environmental laws may require us to incur substantial expenses and may materially limit use of properties we acquire through foreclosure, reduce their value or limit our ability to sell them in the event of a default on the loans they secure. In addition, future laws or more stringent interpretations or enforcement policies with respect to existing laws may increase our exposure to environmental liability.

We may be adversely affected by government regulation.

We are subject to extensive federal and state banking regulation and supervision. Banking regulations are intended primarily to protect our depositors' funds and the federal deposit insurance funds, not shareholders. Regulatory requirements affect our lending practices, capital structure, investment practices, dividend policy and growth. Our failure to meet minimum capital requirements will result in the imposition of limitations on our operations that would adversely impact our operations and could, if capital levels drop significantly, result in our being required to cease operations. Changes in governing law, regulations or regulatory practices could impose additional costs on us or adversely affect our ability to obtain deposits or make loans and, as a consequence, our revenues and profitability.

An investment in our common stock is not an insured deposit.

Our common stock is not a bank deposit and, therefore, is not insured against loss by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, commonly referred to as the FDIC, any other deposit insurance fund or by any other public or private entity. Investment in our common stock is inherently risky for the reasons described in this "Risk Factors" section and elsewhere in this prospectus and is subject to the same market forces that affect the price of common stock in any company. As a result, if you acquire our common stock, you may lose some or all of your investment.

Banking laws, our articles of incorporation and our by-laws may have an anti-takeover effect.

Federal law imposes restrictions, including regulatory approval requirements, on persons seeking to acquire control over us. Pennsylvania law also has provisions that may have an anti-takeover effect. In addition, our articles of incorporation and bylaws permit our board of directors to issue, without shareholder approval, preferred stock and additional shares of common stock that could adversely affect the voting power and other rights of existing common shareholders.

It is possible that the Company may seek additional capital in the future that would permit it to fully redeem the remaining trust preferred securities or further deleverage its balance sheet. Except for the proposed sale of 2,936,533 shares of our common stock, upon shareholder approval in December 2004, there is no present plan or arrangement to seek additional capital at this time. On the other hand, if shareholders of AmeriServ do not approve the proposed issuance of the additional shares, the Company will have significantly less capital to address the identified structural impediments to improved performance. As a result, it would be more likely that the Company will seek additional capital either in a public offering that does not require shareholder approval or in a subsequent institutional placement at such time as the Company is advised by counsel, after consultation with The Nasdaq Stock Market, that shareholder approval would not be required. No assurance can be given that any subsequent offering of Common Stock will be on similar terms and conditions as the proposed institutional placement for which shareholder approval is currently being sought.

USE OF PROCEEDS

We will receive no proceeds from the sale of the shares of common stock by the selling shareholders.

2. Prior to the offering, Tontine Financial Partners, L.P., held 533,929 shares of common stock. Upon completion of the offering and absent any other sales, Tontine Financial Partners' ownership will represent 3.9% of AmeriServ.

We prepared this table based on the information supplied to us by the selling shareholders named in the table, and we have not sought to verify such information. No selling shareholder has indicated that it has held any position or office or had any other material relationship with us or our affiliates (other than, the purchase of the shares of common stock from us) during the past three years. The selling shareholders listed in the above table may have sold or transferred, in transactions exempt from the registration requirements of the Securities Act, some or all of their shares of common stock since the date as of which the information is presented in the above table. Information about the selling shareholders may change over time. Any changed information supplied to us will be set forth in prospectus supplements or amendments to this prospectus.

Because the selling shareholders may offer all or some of their shares of common stock from time to time, we cannot estimate the amount of shares of common stock that will be held by the selling shareholders upon the termination of any particular offering. See "Plan of Distribution." The above table does not include any shares of common stock beneficially owned by the shareholders other than those purchased from us in the private placement, and therefore does not reflect any shares of common stock that the selling shareholders may have acquired, or may in the future acquire, through privately negotiated transactions, open market purchases, or by means of any other method of transfer.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

We will not receive any of the proceeds of the sale of the shares of common stock offered by this prospectus. The shares of common stock may be sold from time to time to purchasers:

directly by the selling shareholders through pledges, donee, transferees or other successors in interest; or through underwriters, broker-dealers or agents who may receive compensation in the form of discounts, concessions or commissions from the selling shareholders or the purchasers of the shares of common stock.

The selling shareholders and any such broker-dealers or agents who participate in the distribution of the shares of common stock may be deemed to be "underwriters." As a result, any profits on the sale of shares of the common stock by selling shareholders and any discounts, commissions or concessions received by any such broker-dealers or agents may be deemed to be underwriting discounts and commissions under the Securities Act. If the selling shareholders were deemed to be underwriters, the selling shareholders may be subject to statutory liabilities including, but not limited to, those of Sections 11, 12 and 17 of the Securities Act and Rule 10b-5 under the Exchange Act.

If the shares of common stock are sold through underwriters or broker-dealers, the selling shareholders will be responsible for underwriting discounts or commissions or agent's commissions.

The shares of common stock may be sold in one or more transactions at:

fixed prices;

prevailing market prices at the time of sale;

varying prices determined at the time of sale; or negotiated prices.

The selling shareholders may sell the securities from time to time on any stock exchange or automated interdealer quotation system on which the securities are listed, including The Nasdaq Stock Market in the case of the common stock, in the over-the-counter market, in privately negotiated transactions or otherwise. The selling shareholders may sell the securities by one or more of the following methods, without limitation:

block trades in which the broker or dealer so engaged will attempt to sell the securities as agent but may position and resell a portion of the block as principal to facilitate the transaction;

purchases by a broker or dealer as principal and resale by the broker or dealer for its own account pursuant to this prospectus; an exchange distribution in accordance with the rules of any stock exchange on which the securities are listed;

ordinary brokerage transactions and transactions in which the broker solicits purchases; privately negotiated transactions;

short sales;

through the writing of options on the securities, whether or not the options are listed on an options exchange;

through the distribution of the securities by the selling shareholders to its partners, members or stockholders/shareholders;

one or more underwritten offerings on a firm commitment or best efforts basis; and any combination of any of these methods of sale.

The selling shareholders may engage brokers and dealers, and any brokers or dealers may arrange for other brokers or dealers to participate in effecting sales of the securities. These brokers, dealers or underwriters may act as principals, or as an agent of selling shareholders. Broker-dealers may agree with selling shareholders to sell a specified number of the securities at a stipulated price per security. If the broker-dealer is unable to sell securities acting as agent for selling shareholders, it may purchase as principal any unsold securities at the stipulated price. Broker-dealers who acquire securities as principals may thereafter resell the securities from time to time in transactions in any stock exchange or automated interdealer quotation system on which the securities are then listed, at prices and on terms then prevailing at the time of sale, at prices related to the then-current market price or in negotiated transactions. Broker-dealers may use block transactions and sales to and through broker-dealers, including transactions of the nature described above.

In connection with the sale of the shares of common stock, the selling shareholders may enter into hedging transactions with broker-dealers. These broker-dealers may in turn engage in short sales of the shares of common stock in the course of hedging their positions. The selling shareholders may also sell the shares of common stock short and deliver the shares of common stock to close out short positions, or loan or pledge the shares of common stock to broker-dealers that, in turn, may sell the shares of common stock.

To our knowledge, there are currently no plans, arrangements or understandings between any selling shareholders and any underwriter, broker-dealer or agent regarding the sale of the common stock by the selling shareholders. Selling shareholders may decide not to sell all or a portion of the shares of common stock offered by them pursuant to this prospectus or may decide not to sell the common stock under this prospectus. In addition, any selling shareholder may transfer, devise or give the shares of common stock by other means not described in this prospectus. Any shares of common stock covered by this prospectus that qualifies for sale pursuant to Rule 144 or Rule 144A of the Securities Act, or Regulation S under the Securities Act, may be sold under Rule 144 or Rule 144A or Regulation S rather than pursuant to this prospectus. Our common stock is listed on The Nasdaq Stock Market under the trading symbol "ASRV."

The selling shareholders and any other persons participating in the distribution of the shares of common stock will be subject to the Exchange Act. The Exchange Act rules include, without limitation, Regulation M, which may limit the timing of purchases and sales of shares of the underlying common stock by the selling shareholders and any such other person. In addition, Regulation M of the Exchange Act may restrict the ability of any person engaged in the distribution of the shares of the common stock to engage in market-making activities with respect to the common stock being distributed for a period of up to five business days prior to the commencement of such distribution. This may affect the marketability of the shares of common stock and the ability to engage in market-making activities with respect to the shares of common stock.

Under the Purchase Agreement that is an exhibit to the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part, we agreed to use our commercially reasonable best efforts to keep the registration statement effective until the earliest of:

two years after the date of the original issuance of the shares of common stock pursuant to the Purchase Agreement; the date when the purchasers pursuant to the Purchase Agreement are able to sell the shares of common stock immediately without restriction pursuant to the volume limitation provisions of Rule 144(k) under the Securities Act; and the date when all of the common stock purchased by the purchasers pursuant to the Purchase Agreement is registered and sold under the registration statement and disposed of in accordance with the registration statement.

Under the Purchase Agreement, we and the selling shareholders will each indemnify the other against certain liabilities, including certain liabilities under the Securities Act, or will be entitled to contribution in connection with these liabilities.

We have agreed to pay all of the expenses incidental to our performance of or compliance with the Purchase Agreement, including all registration and filing fees and printing expenses.

EXPERTS

The financial statements incorporated in this prospectus by reference from the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2003 have been audited by Deloitte & Touche LLP, an independent registered public accounting firm, as stated in their report, which is incorporated herein by reference, and have been so incorporated in reliance upon the report of such firm given upon their authority as experts in accounting and auditing.

With respect to the unaudited interim financial information for the periods ended March 31, 2004 and 2003 and June 30, 2004 and 2003 which is incorporated herein by reference, Deloitte & Touche LLP, an independent registered public accounting firm, have applied limited procedures in accordance with standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) for a review of such information. However, as stated in their reports included in the Company's Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the quarters ended March 31, 2004 and June 30, 2004 and incorporated by reference herein, they did not audit and they do not express an opinion on that interim financial information. Accordingly, the degree of reliance on their reports on such information should be restricted in light of the limited nature of the review procedures applied. Deloitte & Touche LLP are not subject to the liability provisions of Section 11 of the Securities Act of 1933 for their reports on the unaudited interim financial information because those reports are not "reports" or a "part" of the registration statement prepared or certified by an accountant within the meaning of Sections 7 and 11 of the Act.

Our financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2001 incorporated in this prospectus by reference to the Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 1, 2003 were audited by Arthur Andersen LLP. Arthur Andersen has ceased operations and, therefore, we are unable to obtain its consent to the incorporation by reference in this prospectus of its audit report with respect to these financial statements. Pursuant to Rule 437a under the Securities Act, we have filed the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part without Arthur Andersen's written consent. Because it has not consented to the incorporation by reference of its audit report, Arthur Andersen will not be liable to you under Section 11 of the Securities Act for any untrue statement of material fact contained in the financial statements audited by Arthur Andersen or any omission to state a material fact required to be stated in those financial statements.

Item 15. Indemnification of Directors and Officers.

Pennsylvania law provides that a Pennsylvania corporation may indemnify directors, officers, employees and agents of the corporation against liabilities they may incur in such capacities for any action taken or any failure to act, whether or not the corporation would have the power to indemnify the person under any provision of law, unless such action or failure to act is determined by a court to have constituted recklessness or willful misconduct. Pennsylvania law also permits the adoption of a bylaw amendment, approved by shareholders, providing for the elimination of a director's liability for monetary damages for any action taken or any failure to take any action unless (i) the director has breached or failed to perform the duties of his office and (ii) the breach or failure to perform constitutes self-dealing, willful misconduct or recklessness.

Our bylaws provide for (i) indemnification of our directors, officers, employees and agents and (ii) the elimination of a director's liability for monetary damages, to the fullest extent permitted by Pennsylvania law unless the director has breached or failed to perform the duties of his or her office under Subchapter B of Chapter 17 of the Pennsylvania Business Corporation Law, and such breach or failure to perform constitutes self-dealing, willful misconduct or recklessness.

Directors and officers also are insured against certain liabilities for their actions, as such, by an insurance policy obtained by us.

Item 17. Undertakings.

The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes:

- (1) To file, during any period in which offers or sales are being made, a post-effective amendment to this registration statement:
 - (i) To include any prospectus required by section 10(a)(3) of the Securities Act;
 - (ii) To reflect in the prospectus any facts or events arising after the effective date of the registration statement (or the most recent post-effective amendment thereof) which, individually or in the aggregate, represent a fundamental change in the information set forth in the registration statement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any increase or decrease in volume of securities offered (if the total dollar value of securities offered would not exceed that which was registered) and any deviation from the low or high end of the estimated maximum offering range may be reflected in the form of prospectus filed with the Commission pursuant to Rule 424(b) if, in the aggregate, the changes in volume and price represent no more than a 20 percent change in the maximum aggregate offering price set forth in the "Calculation of Registration Fee" table in the effective registration statement.
 - (iii) To include any material information with respect to the plan of distribution not previously disclosed in the registration statement or any material change to such information in the registration statement.

Provided, however, that paragraphs (1)(i) and (1)(ii) above do not apply if the information required to be included in a post-effective amendment by those paragraphs is contained in periodic reports filed with or furnished to the Commission by the registrant pursuant to Section 13 or Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act that are incorporated by reference in the registration statement.

- (2) That for the purpose of determining any liability under the Securities Act, each such post-effective amendment shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.
- (3) To remove from registration by means of a post-effective amendment any of the securities being registered which remain unsold at the termination of the offering.

The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes that, for purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act, each filing of the registrant's annual report pursuant to Section 13(a) or Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act that is incorporated by reference in the registration statement shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

Insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act may be permitted to directors, officers, and controlling persons of the registrant pursuant to the foregoing provisions, or otherwise, the registrant has been advised that in the opinion of the Securities and Exchange Commission such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Act and is, therefore, unenforceable. In the event that a claim for indemnification against such liabilities (other than the payment by the registrant of expenses incurred or paid by a director, officer or controlling person of the registrant in the successful defense of any action, suit or proceeding) is asserted by such director, officer or controlling person in connection with the securities being registered, the registrant will, unless in the opinion of its counsel the matter has been settled by controlling precedent, submit to a court of appropriate jurisdiction the question whether such indemnification by it is against public policy as expressed in the Act and will be governed by the final adjudication of such issue.
