SUMMARY OF SELECTED FINANCIAL DATA

The Company has revised its financial results for the third quarter of 2007 from the results released in the Company's October 15, 2007 Earnings Release and Current Report on Form 8-K filing. The revision relates to the correction of the valuation on the Company's $43 billion in Asset-Backed Securities Collateralized Debt Obligations (ABS CDOs) super senior exposures (see page 6 and 9 for further detail). The impact of this correction is a $270 million reduction in Principal Transactions Revenue, a $166 million reduction in Net Income and a $0.03 reduction in Diluted Earnings per Share.

- (1) Discontinued operations relates to residual items from the Company's sale of Travelers Life & Annuity, which closed during the 2005 third quarter, and the Company's sale of substantially all of its Asset Management Business, which closed during the 2005 fourth quarter. See Note 2 on page 57.
- (2) The return on average common stockholders' equity is calculated using net income minus preferred stock dividends.
- (3) Risk capital is a measure of risk levels and the trade-off of risk and return. It is defined as the amount of capital required to absorb potential unexpected economic losses resulting from extremely severe events over a one-year time period. Return on risk capital is calculated as annualized income from continuing operations divided by average risk capital. Invested capital is defined as risk capital plus goodwill and intangible assets excluding mortgage servicing rights (which are a component of risk capital). Return on invested capital is calculated using income adjusted to exclude a net internal charge Citigroup levies on the goodwill and intangible assets of each business, offset by each business' share of the rebate of the goodwill and intangible asset charge. Return on risk capital and return on invested capital are non-GAAP performance measures; because they are measures of risk with no basis in GAAP, there is no comparable GAAP measure to which they can be reconciled. Management uses return on risk capital to assess businesses' operational performance and to allocate Citigroup's balance sheet and risk capital capacity. Return on invested capital is used to assess returns on potential acquisitions and to compare long-term performance of businesses with differing proportions of organic and acquired growth. See page 26 for a further discussion of risk capital.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

THIRD QUARTER 2007 MANAGEMENT SUMMARY

Income from continuing operations declined 58% to $2,212 billion and diluted EPS from continuing operations was down 58%. The write-downs of highly-leveraged loans, losses in our Fixed Income structured credit and credit trading business and higher credit costs in our Global Consumer business drove the earnings decline. Results include a $729 million pretax gain on the sale of Redecard shares.

Revenues were $22.4 billion, up 5% from a year ago, primarily due to 29% growth in international revenues and partially offset by weakness in our Securities and Banking business, where revenues were down 50%. International Consumer revenues were up 35% and International Global Wealth Management revenues more than doubled reflecting double-digit organic growth and results from Nikko Cordial. U.S. Consumer revenues were flat to a year-ago while Alternative Investments revenues declined 63%. Transaction Services had another record quarter, with revenues up 38%.

Customer volume growth was strong, with average loans up 18%, average deposits up 20%, and average interest-earning assets up 36%. International Cards purchase sales were up 37%, while U.S. Cards sales were up 6%. In Global Wealth Management, client assets under fee-based management were up 38%. Branch activity included the opening or acquisition of 96 new branches during the quarter (47 internationally and 49 in the U.S.).

Since October of 2006, ten international acquisitions have been announced, consistent with our goal of expanding our international franchise through targeted acquisitions. On October 2, 2007, we announced an agreement to acquire the remaining 32% public stake in Nikko Cordial in a share-for-share exchange using Citigroup stock.

International businesses contributed 54% of the Company's revenue in the third quarter of 2007 and 79% of income, up from 44% and 43%, respectively, a year ago.

Net interest revenue increased 24% from last year reflecting volume increases across all products. Net interest margin in the third quarter of 2007 was 2.36%, down 26 basis points from the third quarter of 2006, as lower funding costs were offset by growth in lower-yielding assets in our trading businesses, and increased ownership in Nikko Cordial (see discussion of net interest margin on page 33).

Operating expenses increased 22% from the third quarter of 2006 driven by increased business volumes and acquisitions (which contributed 8%). The increase is due in large part to an unusually low level of expenses in the third quarter of 2006, which were the lowest in the last seven quarters, primarily reflecting reductions in advertising and marketing in U.S. Consumer, and lower expenses in Markets & Banking. Our business as usual expense growth of 14% was driven by higher business volumes throughout the franchise and the opening of more than 800 branches in the last 12 months. We are ahead of commitments on our Strategic Expense Initiatives. Expenses were down from the second quarter of 2007, primarily on lower compensation costs in Securities and Banking.

Credit costs increased $2.98 billion from year-ago levels, primarily driven by an increase in net credit losses of $780 million and a net charge of $2.24 billion to increase loan loss reserves. In U.S. Consumer, higher credit costs reflected an increase in net credit losses of $278 million and a net charge of $1.30 billion to increase loan loss reserves. The $1.30 billion net charge compares to a net reserve release of $197 million in the prior-year period. The increase in credit costs primarily reflected a weakening of leading credit indicators, including increased delinquencies in first and second mortgages and unsecured personal loans, as well as trends in the U.S. macro-economic environment, portfolio growth, and a change in estimate of loan losses inherent in the portfolio but not yet visible in delinquencies (referred to hereinafter as the change in estimate of loan losses). In International Consumer, higher credit costs reflected an increase in net credit losses of $460 million and a net charge of $717 million to increase loan loss reserves. The $717 million net charge compares to a net charge of $101 million in the prior-year period. The increase in credit costs primarily reflected the impact of recent acquisitions, portfolio growth, and a change in estimate of loan losses. Markets & Banking credit costs increased $98 million, primarily reflecting higher net credit losses and a $123 million net charge to increase loan loss reserves for specific counterparties. Credit costs reflected a slight weakening in portfolio credit quality. The Global Consumer loss rate was 1.81%, a 32 basis-point increase from the third quarter of 2006. Corporate cash-basis loans increased 76% from year-ago levels to $1.218 billion.

The Company's effective tax rate of 19.4% in the third quarter of 2007 reflects the tax benefits of permanent differences applied to the lower level of consolidated pretax earnings. These permanent differences primarily include the tax benefit for not providing U.S. income taxes on the earnings of certain foreign subsidiaries that are indefinitely invested. The third quarter of 2006 effective tax rate of 27.4% included a $237 million tax reserve release in continuing operations relating to the resolution of the 2006 New York Tax Audits.

Our stockholders' equity and trust preferred securities were $138.7 billion at September 30, 2007. We distributed $2.7 billion in dividends to shareholders during the quarter. Return on common equity was 6.9% for the quarter. Citigroup maintained its "well-capitalized" position with a Tier 1 Capital Ratio of 7.32% at September 30, 2007.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

In our U.S. Consumer business, revenue generated was affected by the market dislocation that also affected our fixed income business; however, the underlying business momentum that we have seen over the last few quarters continues to be very good. The Company expects that credit costs in the fourth quarter of 2007 will increase compared to the fourth quarter of 2006 with the expectation that the U.S. consumer credit environment will continue to deteriorate causing higher credit costs.

On October 12, 2007, we announced the formation of our Institutional Clients Group which combines our Markets & Banking and Alternative Investments businesses which will enhance our ability to serve institutional clients across the entire capital market spectrum. Vikram Pandit will lead this newly formed Group.

On November 4, 2007, the Company announced significant declines since September 30, 2007 in the fair value of the approximately $55 billion in U.S. sub-prime related direct exposures in its Securities and Banking business. Citigroup estimates that, at the present time, the reduction in revenues attributable to these declines ranges from approximately $8 billion to $11 billion (representing a decline of approximately $5 billion to $7 billion in net income on an after-tax basis). See page 9 for a further discussion.

On November 4, 2007, the Company's Board of Directors announced that Charles Prince, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, has elected to retire from Citigroup. Robert E. Rubin, Chairman of the Executive Committee of Citigroup and a member of the Board of Directors, will serve as Chairman of the Board. In addition, Sir Win Bischoff, Chairman of Citi Europe and a member of Citigroup's Business Heads, Operating and Management Committees, will serve as acting Chief Executive Officer (CEO). The Board also announced that The Board has designated a special committee consisting of Mr. Rubin, Alain J.P. Belda, Richard D. Parsons, and Franklin A. Thomas to conduct the search for a new CEO.

EVENTS IN 2007 AND 2006

Certain of the following statements are forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act. See "Forward-Looking Statements" on page 48. Additional information regarding "Events in 2007 and 2006" is available in the Company's Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the quarters ended March 31, 2007 and June 30, 2007, and in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2006.

3Q07 Items Impacting the Securities and Banking Business

CDO- and CLO-Related Losses

During the third quarter of 2007, unrealized losses of approximately $1.8 billion pre-tax, net of hedges, were recorded in the Securities and Banking business due to a decline in value of sub-prime mortgage-backed securities warehoused for future collateralized debt obligation (CDO) securitizations, CDO positions, and leveraged loans warehoused for future collateralized loan obligation (CLO) securitizations.

The $1.8 billion pretax of net write-downs consisted of $1.0 billion on asset-backed CDOs (primarily taken on the Company's CDO inventory which totaled $2.7 billion at September 30, 2007 inclusive of the write-down), $0.5 billion on super senior tranches of CDOs (senior-most positions of the capital structure where the predominant collateral is sub-prime U.S. residential mortgage-backed securities) and $0.3 billion on CLOs.

Certain types of credit instruments, such as investments in CDOs, high-yield bonds, debt issued in leveraged buyout transactions, mortgage- and asset-backed securities, and short-term asset-backed commercial paper, became very illiquid in the third quarter of 2007 and this contributed to the declines in value of those securities.

Write-downs on Highly-Leveraged Loans and Commitments

During the third quarter of 2007, Citigroup recorded write downs of approximately $1.352 billion pre-tax, net of underwriting fees, on funded and unfunded highly-leveraged finance commitments in the Securities and Banking business. Of this amount, approximately $901 million related to debt underwriting activities and $451 million related to lending activities. Write-downs were recorded on all highly-leveraged finance commitments where there was value impairment, regardless of the expected funding date.

Fixed Income Credit Trading Losses

During the third quarter of 2007, Citigroup recognized approximately $636 million in credit trading losses due to significant market volatility and the disruption of historical pricing relationships. This was primarily a result of the sharp decrease in the sub-prime markets in both North America and Europe. The resulting trading losses are reflected in the Securities and Banking business.

Market Value Gains Due to the Change in Citigroup Credit Spreads

SFAS 159 provides companies the ability to elect fair value accounting for many financial assets and liabilities. As part of Citigroup's adoption of this standard in the first quarter of 2007, the Company elected the fair value option on debt instruments that are provided to customers so that this debt and the associated assets the Company purchased to meet this liability are on the same fair value basis in earnings. At the end of the third quarter, $28.6 billion of debt related to customer products was classified as either short- or long-term debt on the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

Under fair value accounting, we are required to use Citigroup credit spreads in determining the market value of any Citigroup liabilities for which the fair value option was elected, as well as for Citigroup trading liabilities such as derivatives. The inclusion of Citigroup credit spreads in valuing Citigroup's liabilities gave rise to a pre-tax gain of $466 million in the third quarter of 2007 and is reflected in the Securities and Banking business.

Credit Reserves

During the third quarter of 2007, the Company recorded a net build of $2.24 billion to its credit reserves, including an increase in the allowance for unfunded lending commitments, consisting of a net build of $2.07 billion in Global Consumer and Global Wealth Management and $171 million in Markets & Banking.

The build of $2.07 billion in Global Consumer and Global Wealth Management primarily reflected a weakening of leading credit indicators, including increased delinquencies in first and second mortgages and unsecured personal loans, as well as trends in the U.S. macro-economic environment, portfolio growth, recent acquisitions, and the change in estimate of loan losses.

The build of $171 million in Markets & Banking primarily reflected loan loss reserves for specific counterparties. Credit costs reflected a slight weakening in portfolio credit quality.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

The net build to the Company's credit reserves in the third quarter of 2007 compares to the third quarter of 2006 net build of $37 million, which consisted of a net release/ utilization of $79 million in Global Consumer and Global Wealth Management, and a net build of $116 million in Markets & Banking.

Redecard IPO

During July and August 2007, Citigroup (a 31.9% shareholder in Redecard S.A., the only merchant acquiring company for MasterCard in Brazil) sold approximately 48.8 million Redecard shares in connection with Redecard's initial public offering in Brazil. Following the sale of these shares, Citigroup retained approximately 23.9% ownership in Redecard. An after-tax gain of approximately $469 million ($729 million pretax) was recorded in Citigroup's third quarter of 2007 financial results in the International Cards business.

CAI's Structured Investment Vehicles (SIVs)

CAI's Global Credit Structures investment center is the investment manager for seven Structured Investment Vehicles (SIVs). SIVs are special purpose investment companies that seek to generate attractive risk-adjusted floating-rate returns through the use of financial leverage and credit management skills, while hedging interest rate and currency risks and managing credit, liquidity and operational risks. The basic investment strategy is to earn a spread between relatively inexpensive short-term funding (commercial paper and medium-term notes) and high quality asset portfolios with a medium-term duration, with the leverage effect providing attractive returns to junior note holders, who are third-party investors and who provide the capital to the SIVs.

Citigroup has no contractual obligation to provide liquidity facilities or guarantees to any of the Citi-advised SIVs and does not own any equity positions in the SIVs. The SIVs have no direct exposure to U.S. sub-prime assets and have approximately $70 million of indirect exposure to sub-prime assets through CDOs which are AAA rated and carry credit enhancements. Approximately 98% of the SIVs' assets are fully funded through the end of 2007. Beginning in July 2007, the SIVs which Citigroup advises sold more than $19 billion of SIV assets, bringing the combined assets of the Citigroup-advised SIVs to approximately $83 billion at September 30, 2007. See additional discussion on page 46.

The current lack of liquidity in the Asset-Backed Commercial Paper (ABCP) market and the resulting slowdown of the CP market for SIV-issued CP have put significant pressure on the ability of all SIVs, including the Citi-advised SIVs, to refinance maturing CP.

While Citigroup does not consolidate the assets of the SIVs, the Company has provided liquidity to the SIVs at arm's-length commercial terms totaling $10 billion of committed liquidity, $7.6 billion of which has been drawn as of October 31, 2007. Citigroup will not take actions that will require the Company to consolidate the SIVs.

Master Liquidity Enhancing Conduit (M-LEC)

In October 2007, Citigroup, J.P. Morgan Chase and Bank of America initiated a plan to back a new fund, called the Master Liquidity Enhancing Conduit (M-LEC) that intends to buy assets from SIVs advised by Citigroup and other third-party institutions. This is being done as part of an effort to avert the situation where the SIVs will be forced to liquidate significant amounts of mortgage-backed securities, resulting in a broad-based repricing of these assets in the market at steep discounts.

SIVs, including those advised by Citigroup, have experienced difficulties in refinancing maturing commercial paper and medium-term notes, due to reduced liquidity in the market for commercial paper.

Nikko Cordial

Citigroup began consolidating Nikko Cordial's financial results and the appropriate minority interest on May 9, 2007, when Nikko Cordial became a 61%-owned subsidiary. Citigroup later increased its ownership stake in Nikko Cordial to 68%. Nikko Cordial results are included within Citigroup's Securities and Banking, Global Wealth Management and Global Consumer Group businesses.

On October 31, 2007, Citigroup announced a definitive agreement with Nikko Cordial to acquire all Nikko Cordial shares that Citigroup does not already own in exchange for shares of Citigroup. The agreement provides for the exchange ratio to be determined in mid-January 2008 and for the transaction to close on January 29, 2008. As of the date of the agreement, the transaction value for the acquisition of the remaining Nikko shares was approximately $4.6 billion.

On October 29, 2007, Citigroup received approval from the Tokyo Stock Exchange (TSE) to list Citigroup's shares on the TSE effective on November 5, 2007.

Acquisition of Bisys

On August 1, 2007, the Company completed its acquisition of Bisys Group, Inc. (Bisys) for $1.47 billion in cash. In addition, Bisys' shareholders received $18.2 million in the form of a special dividend paid by Bisys. Citigroup completed the sale of the Retirement and Insurance Services Divisions of Bisys to affiliates of J.C. Flowers & Co. LLC, making the net cost of the transaction to Citigroup approximately $800 million. Citigroup retained the Fund Services and Alternative Investment services businesses of Bisys which provides administrative services for hedge funds, mutual funds and private equity funds. Results for Bisys are included within Citigroup's Transaction Services business from August 1, 2007 forward.

Agreement to Establish Partnership with Quiñenco Banco de Chile

On July 19, 2007, Citigroup and Quiñenco entered into a definitive agreement to establish a strategic partnership that combines Citi operations in Chile with Banco de Chile's local banking franchise to create a banking and financial services institution with about 20% market share of the Chilean banking industry. The agreement gives Citigroup the option to acquire up to 50% of LQIF, the holding company through which Quiñenco controls Banco de Chile.

Under the agreement, Citigroup will initially acquire 18.77% interest in Banco de Chile through its approximate 32.85% stake in LQIF. In the initial phase, Citigroup will contribute Citigroup Chile and other assets (in cash or other businesses). As part of the overall transaction, Citigroup will also acquire the U.S. businesses of Banco de Chile. Citigroup has the option to acquire an additional 17.04% stake in LQIF within three years. The new partnership calls for active participation by Citigroup in management of Banco de Chile, including board representation at both LQIF and Banco de Chile.

The transaction is expected to close in the first quarter of 2008, and is subject to customary regulatory reviews. Citigroup will account for the investment in LQIF under the equity method of accounting.

Acquisition of Automated Trading Desk

On October 3, 2007, Citigroup completed its acquisition of Automated Trading Desk (ATD), a leader in electronic market making and proprietary trading, for approximately $680 million ($102.6 million in cash and approximately 11.17 million shares of Citigroup stock). ATD will operate as a unit of Citigroup's Global Equities business, adding a network of broker/dealer customers to Citigroup's diverse base of institutional, broker/dealer and retail customers.

Resolution of 2006 Tax Audits

New York State and New York City

In September 2006, Citigroup reached a settlement agreement with the New York State and New York City taxing authorities regarding various tax liabilities for the years 1998-2005 (referred to hereinafter as the "resolution of the 2006 New York Tax Audits").

For the 2006 third quarter, the Company released $254 million from its tax contingency reserves, which resulted in increases of $237 million in after-tax income from continuing operations and $17 million in after-tax income from discontinued operations, which are reflected in the year-to-date 2006 totals.

Federal

In March 2006, the Company received a notice from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that they had concluded the tax audit for the years 1999 through 2002 (referred to hereinafter as the "resolution of the 2006 Federal Tax Audit"). For the 2006 first quarter, the Company released a total of $657 million from its tax contingency reserves related to the resolution of the Federal Tax Audit, which are reflected in the segment and product year-to-date 2006 income tax expense disclosures.

The following table summarizes the 2006 tax benefits, by business, from the resolution of the New York Tax Audits and Federal Tax Audit (collectively, the 2006 Tax Audits):

Adoption of the Accounting for Share-Based Payments

On January 1, 2006, the Company adopted Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 123 (revised 2004), "Share-Based Payment" (SFAS 123(R)), which replaced the existing SFAS 123 and superseded Accounting Principles Board (APB) Opinion No. 25. SFAS 123(R) requires companies to measure and record compensation expense for stock options and other share-based payments based on the instruments' fair value, reduced by expected forfeitures.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

In adopting this standard, the Company conformed to recent accounting guidance that restricted or deferred stock awards issued to retirement-eligible employees who meet certain age and service requirements must be either expensed on the grant date or accrued over a service period prior to the grant date. This charge consisted of $398 million after-tax ($648 million pretax) for the immediate expensing of awards granted to retirement-eligible employees in January 2006.

The following table summarizes the SFAS 123(R) impact, by segment, on the first quarter of 2006 and year-to-date 2006 pretax compensation expense for stock awards granted to retirement-eligible employees in January 2006 ("the 2006 initial adoption of SFAS 123(R)"):

In millions of dollars	2006 First Quarter
Global Consumer	$ 121
Markets & Banking	354
Global Wealth Management	145
Alternative Investments	7
Corporate/Other	21
Total	$ 648

The Company recorded the quarterly accrual for the stock awards that were granted in January 2007 during each of the quarters in 2006. During the first, second and third quarters of 2007, the Company recorded the quarterly accrual for the estimated stock awards that will be granted in January 2008.

Fourth Quarter of 2007 Subsequent Event

Sub-prime Related Exposure in Securities and Banking

On November 4, 2007, the Company announced significant declines since September 30, 2007 in the fair value of the approximately $55 billion in U.S. sub-prime related direct exposures in its Securities and Banking (S&B) business. Citi estimates that, at the present time, the reduction in revenues attributable to these declines ranges from approximately $8 billion to $11 billion (representing a decline of approximately $5 billion to $7 billion in net income on an after-tax basis).

These declines in the fair value of Citi's sub-prime related direct exposures followed a series of rating agency downgrades of sub-prime U.S. mortgage related assets and other market developments, which occurred after the end of the third quarter. The impact on Citi's financial results for the fourth quarter from changes in the fair value of these exposures will depend on future market developments and could differ materially from the range above.

Citi also announced that, while significant uncertainty continues to prevail in financial markets, it expects, taking into account maintaining its current dividend level, that its capital ratios will return within the range of targeted levels by the end of the second quarter of 2008. Accordingly, Citi has no plans to reduce its current dividend level.

The $55 billion in U.S. sub-prime direct exposure in S&B as of September 30, 2007 consisted of (a) approximately $11.7 billion of sub-prime related exposures in its lending and structuring business, and (b) approximately $43 billion of exposures in the most senior tranches (super senior tranches) of collateralized debt obligations which are collateralized by asset-backed securities (ABS CDOs).

Lending and Structuring Exposures

Citi's approximately $11.7 billion of sub-prime related exposures in the lending and structuring business as of September 30, 2007 compares to approximately $13 billion of sub-prime related exposures in the lending and structuring business at the end of the second quarter and approximately $24 billion at the beginning of the year. (See Note 1 below.) The $11.7 billion of sub-prime related exposures includes approximately $2.7 billion of CDO warehouse inventory and unsold tranches of ABS CDOs, approximately $4.2 billion of actively managed sub-prime loans purchased for resale or securitization at a discount to par primarily in the last six months, and approximately $4.8 billion of financing transactions with customers secured by sub-prime collateral. (See Note 2 below.) These amounts represent fair value determined based on observable transactions and other market data. Following the downgrades and market developments referred to above, the fair value of the CDO warehouse inventory and unsold tranches of ABS CDOs has declined significantly, while the declines in the fair value of the other sub-prime related exposures in the lending and structuring business have not been significant.

ABS CDO Super Senior Exposures

Citi's $43 billion in ABS CDO super senior exposures as of September 30, 2007 is backed primarily by sub-prime RMBS collateral. These exposures include approximately $25 billion in commercial paper principally secured by super senior tranches of high grade ABS CDOs and approximately $18 billion of super senior tranches of ABS CDOs, consisting of approximately $10 billion of high grade ABS CDOs, approximately $8 billion of mezzanine ABS CDOs and approximately $0.2 billion of ABS CDO-squared transactions. Although the principal collateral underlying these super senior tranches is U.S. sub-prime RMBS, as noted above, these exposures represent the most senior tranches of the capital structure of the ABS CDOs. These super senior tranches are not subject to valuation based on observable market transactions. Accordingly, fair value of these super senior exposures is based on estimates about, among other things, future housing prices to predict estimated cash flows, which are then discounted to a present value. The rating agency downgrades and market developments referred to above have led to changes in the appropriate discount rates applicable to these super senior tranches, which have resulted in significant declines in the estimates of the fair value of S&B super senior exposures.

Other Information

The fair value of S&B sub-prime related exposures depends on market conditions and assumptions that are subject to change over time. In addition, if sales of super senior tranches of ABS CDOs occur in the future, these sales might represent observable market transactions that could then be used to determine fair value of the S&B super senior exposures described above. As a result, the fair value of these exposures at the end of the fourth quarter will depend on future market developments.

Citi has provided specific targets for its two primary capital ratios: the Tier 1 capital ratio and the ratio of tangible common equity to risk-weighted managed assets (TCE/RWMA ratio). Those targets are 7.5% for Tier 1 and 6.5% for TCE/RWMA. At September 30, 2007, Citi had a Tier 1 ratio of 7.3% and a TCE/RWMA ratio of 5.9%.

Citi expects that market conditions will continue to evolve, and that the fair value of Citi's positions will frequently change.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

- (1) In the third quarter, Citi recorded declines in the aggregate of approximately $1.0 billion on a revenue basis in the lending and structuring business, and to a much lesser extent the trading positions described in footnote 2 below, and declines of approximately $0.5 billion on a revenue basis on its super senior exposures (approximately $0.3 billion greater on a revenue basis than the losses reported in Citi's October 15 earnings release). Citi also recorded declines in the third quarter of approximately $0.3 billion on a revenue basis on collateralized loan obligations warehouse inventory unrelated to sub-prime exposures.
- (2) S&B also has trading positions, both long and short, in U.S. sub-prime residential mortgage-backed securities (RMBS) and related products, including ABS CDOs, that are not included in these figures. The exposure from these positions is actively managed and hedged, although the effectiveness of the hedging products used may vary with material changes in market conditions. Since the end of the third quarter, such trading positions have not had material losses.

Net Interest Revenue was 3% higher than the prior year, as growth in average deposits and loans of 16% and 9%, respectively, was partially offset by a decrease in net interest margins (interest revenue less interest expense divided by average interest-earning assets). Net interest margin declined due to a shift in customer deposits to higher cost direct bank and time deposit balances, a mix toward lower-yielding mortgage assets, and the securitization of higher margin credit card receivables, partially offset by lower promotional credit card receivable balances.

Non-Interest Revenue decreased 2% primarily due to the absence of pilot-year gain on sale of Mortgage-Backed Securities (MBS) in Consumer Lending, and lower securitization gains and a decline in the residual interest in Cards.

Operating expenses increased primarily due to acquisitions and increased investment spending, including 49 new branch openings during the quarter (35 in CitiFinancial and 14 in Citibank) and lower marketing spending in the prior year.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

Provisions for loan losses and for benefits and claims increased substantially primarily reflecting weakening credit indicators, including increased delinquencies in first and second mortgages and unsecured personal loans, as well as trends in the U.S. macro-economic environment and the change in estimate of loan losses. The increase in provision for loan losses also reflected the absence of loan loss reserve releases recorded in the prior year. The net credit loss ratio increased 22 basis points to 1.37%.

The Net Income decline also reflected the absence of the 2006 third quarter $54 million tax benefit resulting from the resolution of the 2006 New York Tax Audits.

2007 YTD vs. 2006 YTD

Net Interest Revenue was 2% better than the prior year, as growth in average deposits and loans of 19% and 9%, respectively, and higher risk-based fees in Cards, was partially offset by a decrease in net interest margin. Net interest margin declined due to a shift in customer deposits to higher cost direct bank and time deposit balances and the securitization of higher margin credit card receivables.

Non-Interest Revenue increased 4% primarily due to higher loan and deposit volumes and 6% growth in Card purchase sales. The increase also reflected a pretax gain on the sale of MasterCard shares of $246 million, the impact of the acquisition of ABN AMRO Mortgage Group in the first quarter of 2007, and growth in net servicing revenues. Second quarter of 2006 results also included $132 million pretax gain from the sale of upstate New York branches.

Operating expenses increased primarily due to acquisitions, increased investment spending related to the 124 new branch openings during the nine months of 2007 (80 in CitiFinancial and 44 in Citibank) and costs associated with Citibank Direct. The increase in 2007 was also favorably affected by the absence of the charge related to the initial adoption of SFAS 123(R) in the first quarter of 2006. Higher volume-related expenses primarily reflected 14% growth in loan originations in Consumer Lending businesses.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

Provisions for loan losses and for benefits and claims increased primarily reflecting portfolio growth and weakening credit indicators, including increased delinquencies in first and second mortgages and unsecured personal loans, as well as trends in the U.S. macro-economic environment and the change in estimate of loan losses. The increase in provision for loan losses also reflects the absence of loan loss reserve releases recorded in the prior year, as well as an increase in bankruptcy filings in 2007 versus unusually low filing levels experienced in the first three quarters of 2006. The net credit loss ratio increased 14 basis points to 1.31%.

The Net income decline in 2007 also reflects the absence of $229 million tax benefit resulting from the resolution of the 2006 Tax Audits.

3Q07 vs. 3Q06

Net Interest Revenue increased 18%. Growth was driven by higher average deposits and loans of 18% and 29%, respectively, as well as the impact of the acquisitions of Grupo Financiero Uno (GFU), Egg and Grupo Cuscatlan.

Non-Interest Revenue increased 72%, primarily due to the gain on the sale of Redecard shares $(729 million pretax), a 37% increase in Card purchase sales and increased investment product sales. The positive impact of foreign currency translation also contributed to increases in revenues.

Operating expenses increased 31%, reflecting the acquisitions of GFU, Grupo Cuscatlan and Egg, and an increase in ownership in Nikko Cordial. Expense growth also reflects volume growth across the regions (excluding Japan Consumer Finance), the impact of foreign currency translation, write-downs of $152 million on customer intangibles and fixed assets and continued investment spending, including the opening of 47 branches.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

Provisions for loan losses and for benefits and claims increased substantially, primarily due to the change in estimate of loan losses, portfolio growth, and the impact of recent acquisitions.

Net income was affected, in part, by the absence of the 2006 third quarter $24 million tax benefit resulting from the resolution of the 2006 New York Tax Audits.

Net income in Japan Consumer Finance declined significantly due to charges to increase reserves for customer refunds and credit losses, higher expenses due to write-downs on customer intangibles and fixed assets, and a decline in revenues primarily due to lower receivable balances. Financial results reflect recent adverse changes in the operating environment and the impact of consumer lending laws passed in the fourth quarter 2006.

Given the Company's recent experience with the level of Grey Zone related issues, the Company anticipates that the business will have net losses in 2007. The Company continues to analyze the prospects for this business thereafter in light of the difficult operating conditions.

2007 YTD vs. 2006 YTD

Net Interest Revenue increased 16% overall, 28% after excluding the impact of Japan Consumer Finance. Growth was driven by higher average receivables, as well as the impact of the acquisitions of GFU, Egg, Grupo Cuscatlan and CrediCard, and increased ownership in Nikko Cordial.

Non-Interest Revenue increased 35%, primarily due to the gain on sale of Redecard, a 31% increase in purchase sales, a 19% increase in investment product sales and growth across all regions. The positive impact of foreign currency translation and a pretax MasterCard gain of $53 million also contributed to the increase in revenues.

Operating expenses increased, reflecting the integration of the CrediCard portfolio and the acquisitions of GFU, Grupo Cuscatlan and Egg, and increased ownership in Nikko Cordial along with volume growth across the products and regions, the impact of foreign currency translation and continued investment spending driven by 316 branches opened or acquired. The increase in 2007 expenses was favorably affected by the absence of the charge related to the initial adoption of FAS 123(R) in the first quarter of 2006.

Provisions for loan losses and for benefits and claims increased substantially, primarily due to portfolio growth, higher past due accounts in Mexico cards, the impact of recent acquisitions, and the change in estimate of loan losses.

Net Income was also affected by the absence of prior-year tax benefit of $214 million primarily from APB 23, as well as the absence of a prior-year $99 million tax benefit resulting from the resolution of the 2006 Tax Audits.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

Revenues, net of interest expense, decreased due to a significant decline in Securities and Banking, which was partially offset by strong growth in Transaction Services revenues. Securities and Banking revenues declined due to write-downs on highly-leveraged loans and commitments, CDO and CLO losses, and credit trading losses, related to dislocations in the mortgage-backed securities and credit markets. Decreased revenues in Fixed Income Markets, Debt Underwriting and Lending were partially offset by increased revenues in Equity Markets, Equity Underwriting and Advisory and other fees. Transaction Services revenues increased to a record level, driven by higher customer volumes, stable net interest margins and the acquisition of The Bisys Group, which closed in August 2007.

Operating expenses increased due to the acquisition of Grupo Cuscatlan, Ameriquest, Bisys, and increased ownership in Nikko Cordial, increased headcount, annual salary growth, increased legal expenses and higher business development costs offset by a decline in incentive compensation costs in Securities and Banking.

The provision for credit losses increased driven by higher net credit losses and an increase in loan loss reserves for specific counterparties.

2007 YTD vs. 2006 YTD

Revenues, net of interest expense, increased, driven by increased revenues in Equity Markets, driven by strong growth globally, including cash trading, derivatives products, equity finance, convertibles and prime brokerage, in Equity Underwriting, and in Advisory and other fees, and the $402 million benefit from the adoption of SFAS 157. Revenues decreased in Fixed Income Markets and Debt Underwriting due to the dislocations in the mortgage-backed securities and credit markets in the third quarter of 2007, which resulted in write-downs on highly-leveraged loans, CDO and CLO losses, and credit trading losses. Transaction Services revenues increased reflecting growth in liability balances and assets under custody, higher net interest margins in Cash Management and Securities and Funds Services.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

Operating expenses growth was primarily driven by higher business volumes and compensation costs related to acquisitions and increased business volumes. Expense growth in 2007 was favorably affected by the absence of a $354 million charge related to the initial adoption of SFAS 123(R) in the first quarter of 2006 and a $300 million pretax release of litigation reserves in the second quarter of 2007.

The provision for credit losses increased due to net charges of $431 million to increase loan loss reserves due to portfolio growth, including higher commitments to leveraged transactions and an increase in average loan tenor, as well as an increase in reserve requirements for specific counterparties. These changes compare to a $267 million net increase to loan loss reserves recorded in the prior-year period.

Net flows were $14 billion compared to $2 billion in the prior-year period.

Operating expenses increased 21%, driven by the Nikko Cordial and Quilter acquisitions and higher variable compensation associated with increased business volumes, as well as the absence of a $145 million charge related to the initial adoption of SFAS 123(R) in the first quarter of 2006.

The provision for loan losses increased $56 million, primarily driven by portfolio growth and a reserve increase for specific non-performing loan in the Private Bank.

Net income growth also reflected a $65 million APB 23 benefit in the Private Bank in 2007 and the absence of a $47 million tax benefit resulting from the 2006 Tax Audits.

3Q07 vs. 3Q06

Revenues, net of interest expense, decreased $209 million or 63%.

Total proprietary revenues, net of interest expense, for the third quarter of 2007 of ($45) million were composed of revenues from private equity of $233 million, other investment activity of ($70) million and hedge funds of ($208) million. Private equity revenue increased $177 million from the 2006 third quarter, primarily driven by higher realized and unrealized gains. Hedge fund revenue declined by $209 million, largely due to a lower investment performance. Other investment activities revenue decreased $250 million from the 2006 third quarter, largely due to a lower market value on Legg Mason shares and the absence of prior-year gains from the sale of Citigroup's investment in MetLife shares. Client revenues increased $73 million, reflecting the acquisition of Old Lane and a 46% growth in average client capital under management excluding Old Lane.

Operating expenses in the third quarter of 2007 of $238 million increased $101 million from the third quarter of 2006, primarily due to the inclusion of Old Lane, increased performance-driven compensation and higher employee-related expenses.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

Minority interest, net of taxes, in the third quarter of 2007 of ($1) million decreased $11 million from the third quarter of 2006, primarily due to lower private equity gains related to underlying investments held by consolidated majority-owned legal entities. The impact of minority interest is reflected in fees, dividends, and interest, and net realized and net change in unrealized gains (losses) consistent with proceeds received by minority interests.

Proprietary capital under management of $11.6 billion increased $1.4 billion from the third quarter 2006 due to new investments in private equity and hedge funds.

Client capital under management of $50.4 billion in the 2007 third quarter increased $16.9 billion from the 2006 third quarter, due to the inclusion of Old Lane and inflows from institutional and high-net-worth clients.

On July 2, 2007, the Company completed the acquisition of Old Lane Partners, L.P. and Old Lane Partners, GP, LLC (Old Lane). Old Lane is the manager of a global, multi-strategy hedge fund and a private equity fund with total assets under management and private equity commitments of approximately $4.5 billion. Old Lane will operate as part of Alternative Investments.

Revenues, net of interest expense, of $1.719 billion in the first nine months of 2007 increased $126 million, or 8%.

Total proprietary revenues, net of interest expense, for the first nine months of 2007 of $1.301 billion, were composed of revenues from private equity of $1.305 billion, other investment activity of $38 million and hedge funds of ($42) million. Private equity revenue increased $520 million from the first nine months of 2006, primarily driven by higher realized and unrealized gains. Hedge fund revenue decreased $107 million, largely due to lower investment performance. Other investment activities revenue decreased $420 million from the first nine months of 2006, largely due to the absence of gains from the liquidation during 2006 of Citigroup's investment in St. Paul shares and MetLife shares and a lower market value on Legg Mason shares. Client revenues increased $133 million, reflecting increased management fees from a 49% growth in average client capital under management excluding Old Lane.

Operating expenses in the first nine months of 2007 of $633 million increased $116 million from the first nine months of 2006, primarily due to increased performance-driven compensation, higher employee-related expenses and the inclusion of Old Lane.

Minority interest, net of taxes, in the first nine months of 2007 of $84 million increased $41 million from the first nine months of 2006, primarily due to higher private equity gains related to underlying investments held by consolidated majority-owned legal entities. The impact of minority interest is reflected in fees, dividends, and interest, and net realized gains (losses) consistent with proceeds received by minority interests.

Net Income in the first nine months of 2006 reflects higher tax benefits for $58 million resulting from the resolution of the 2006 Federal Tax Audit.

Citigroup's total allowance for loans, leases and unfunded lending commitments of $13.878 billion is available to absorb probable credit losses inherent in the entire portfolio. For analytical purposes only, the portion of Citigroup's allowance for credit losses attributed to the Consumer portfolio was $9.200 billion at September 30, 2007, $7.206 billion at June 30, 2007 and $6.087 billion at September 30, 2006. The increase in the allowance for credit losses from September 30, 2006 of $3.113 billion included net builds of $2.839 billion.

The build primarily reflected a weakening of leading credit indicators, including increased delinquencies on mortgages and unsecured personal loans, as well as trends in the U.S. macro-economic environment, portfolio growth, recent acquisitions, and the change in estimate of loan losses.

On-balance sheet consumer loans of $568.9 billion increased $82.7 billion, or 17%, from September 30, 2006, primarily driven by U.S. Consumer Lending, U.S. Retail Distribution, International Cards, International Retail Banking and Global Wealth Management. Net credit losses, delinquencies and the related ratios are affected by the credit performance of the portfolios, including bankruptcies, unemployment, global economic conditions, portfolio growth and seasonal factors, as well as macro-economic and regulatory policies.

The Company expects that credit costs in the fourth quarter of 2007 will increase compared to the fourth quarter of 2006 with the expectation that the U.S. consumer credit environment will continue to deteriorate causing higher credit costs.

EXPOSURE TO U.S. RESIDENTIAL REAL ESTATE

Sub-prime Related Exposure in Securities and Banking

The Company has approximately $55 billion in U.S. sub-prime related direct exposures in its Securities and Banking (S&B) business.

The $55 billion in U.S. sub-prime direct exposure in S&B as of September 30, 2007 consisted of (a) approximately $11.7 billion of sub-prime related exposures in its lending and structuring business, and (b) approximately $43 billion of exposures in the most senior tranches (super senior tranches) of collateralized debt obligations which are collateralized by asset-backed securities (ABS CDOs).

Lending and Structuring Exposures

The $11.7 billion of sub-prime related exposures includes approximately $2.7 billion of CDO warehouse inventory and unsold tranches of ABS CDOs, approximately $4.2 billion of actively managed sub-prime loans purchased for resale or securitization at a discount to par primarily in the last six months, and approximately $4.8 billion of financing transactions with customers secured by sub-prime collateral. (See Note 1 below.) These amounts represent fair value determined based on observable transactions and other market data. Following the downgrades and market developments discussed on page 9, the fair value of the CDO warehouse inventory and unsold tranches of ABS CDOs has declined significantly, while the declines in the fair value of the other sub-prime related exposures in the lending and structuring business have not been significant.

ABS CDO Super Senior Exposures

Citi's $43 billion in ABS CDO super senior exposures as of September 30, 2007 is backed primarily by sub-prime RMBS collateral. These exposures include approximately $25 billion in commercial paper principally secured by super senior tranches of high grade ABS CDOs and approximately $18 billion of super senior tranches of ABS CDOs, consisting of approximately $10 billion of high grade ABS CDOs, approximately $8 billion of mezzanine ABS CDOs and approximately $0.2 billion of ABS CDO-squared transactions.

Although the principal collateral underlying these super senior tranches is U.S. sub-prime RMBS, as noted above, these exposures represent the most senior tranches of the capital structure of the ABS CDOs. These super senior tranches are not subject to valuation based on observable market transactions. Accordingly, fair value of these super senior exposures is based on estimates about, among other things, future housing prices to predict estimated cash flows, which are then discounted to a present value. The rating agency downgrades and market developments referred to above have led to changes in the appropriate discount rates applicable to these super senior tranches, which have resulted in significant declines in the estimates of the fair value of S&B super senior exposures.

S&B also has trading positions, both long and short, in U.S. sub-prime residential mortgage-backed securities (RMBS) and related products, including ABS CDOs, that are not included in the figures above. The exposure from these positions is actively managed and hedged, although the effectiveness of the hedging products used may vary with material changes in market conditions. Since the end of the third quarter, such trading positions have not had material losses.

U.S. Consumer Mortgage Lending

The Company's U.S. Consumer Mortgage portfolio consists of both first and second mortgages. As of September 30, 2007, the first mortgage portfolio totaled approximately $155 billion, of which 84% ($131 billion) had a FICO (Fair Isaac Corporation) credit score of at least 620 at origination; the other 16% ($24 billion) were originated in the FICO<620 category, which is one working definition for "sub-prime" mortgages in the industry. The Company observed higher delinquencies in the under 620 FICO category (at origination), as well as across some higher FICO bands during the third quarter of 2007.

In the Company's $62 billion second mortgage portfolio, the vast majority of loans are in the higher FICO categories. However, the Company has approximately 34% ($21 billion) of its portfolio in the category where LTV \geq 90% at origination, where higher levels of delinquencies were observed during the third quarter of 2007.

In light of increased delinquencies in both its first and second mortgage portfolios during the first nine months of 2007, the Company has increased reserves for loans in these portfolios during this period of 2007. There were minimal changes in the (origination FICO/LTV) composition of the U.S. Consumer Mortgage portfolio from June 30, 2007 to September 30, 2007. The disclosures above exclude approximately $21 billion of consumer mortgage loans in Global Wealth Management (GWM). The GWM loans are largely in the U.S. and do not have any sub-prime classifications.

MARKET RISK MANAGEMENT PROCESS

Market risk encompasses liquidity risk and price risk, both of which arise in the normal course of business of a global financial intermediary. Liquidity risk is the risk that an entity may be unable to meet a financial commitment to a customer, creditor, or investor when due. Liquidity risk is discussed in the "Capital Resources and Liquidity" on page 41. Price risk is the earnings risk from changes in interest rates, foreign exchange rates, equity and commodity prices, and in their implied volatilities. Price risk arises in non-trading portfolios, as well as in trading portfolios.

The exposures in the following table represent the approximate annualized risk to Net Interest Revenue assuming an unanticipated parallel instantaneous 100bp change, as well as a more gradual 100bp (25bp per quarter) parallel change in rates as compared with the market forward interest rates in selected currencies.

The exposures in the following tables do not include interest rate exposures (IRE) for Nikko Cordial due to the unavailability of information. Nikko Cordial's IRE exposure is primarily denominated in Japanese yen.

The changes in the U.S. dollar interest rate exposures from June 30, 2007 primarily reflect movements in customer-related asset and liability mix, as well as Citigroup's view of prevailing interest rates.

The following table shows the risk to NIR from six different changes in the implied forward rates. Each scenario assumes that the rate change will occur on a gradual basis every three months over the course of one year.

A significant portion of the Company's business activities are based upon gathering deposits and borrowing money and then lending or investing those funds, including market-making activities in tradable securities. Net interest margin is calculated by dividing gross interest revenue less gross interest expense by average interest earning assets.

During 2007, pressure on net interest margin continued. Net Interest Margin was mainly affected by the results of Nikko Cordial, which was consolidated from May 9, 2007 forward. The average rate on assets reflected a highly competitive loan pricing environment, as well as a

CAPITAL RESOURCES AND LIQUIDITYCAPITAL RESOURCES

Citigroup is subject to risk-based capital ratio guidelines issued by the FRB. Capital adequacy is measured via two risk-based ratios, Tier 1 and Total Capital (Tier 1 + Tier 2 Capital). Tier 1 Capital is considered core capital while Total Capital also includes other items such as subordinated debt and loan loss reserves. Both measures of capital are stated as a percent of risk-adjusted assets. Risk-adjusted assets are measured primarily on their perceived credit risk and include certain off-balance sheet exposures, such as unfunded loan commitments and letters of credit and the notional amounts of derivative and foreign exchange contracts. Citigroup is also subject to the Leverage Ratio requirement, a non-risk-based asset ratio, which is defined as Tier 1 Capital as a percentage of adjusted average assets.

To be "well capitalized" under federal bank regulatory agency definitions, a bank holding company must have a Tier 1 Capital Ratio of at least 6%, a Total Capital Ratio of at least 10%, and a Leverage Ratio of at least 3%, and not be subject to an FRB directive to maintain higher capital levels.

Citigroup maintained a "well capitalized" position during the first nine months of 2007 and the full year of 2006:

Citigroup Regulatory Capital Ratios(1)

	Sept. 30, 2007(3)	June 30, 2007(3)	Dec. 31, 2006
Tier 1 Capital	7.32%	7.91%	8.59%
Total Capital (Tier 1 and Tier 2)	10.61%	11.23	11.65
Leverage(2)	4.13%	4.37	5.16

- (1) The FRB granted interim capital relief for the impact of adopting SFAS 158.
- (2) Tier 1 Capital divided by adjusted average assets.
- (3) The impact related to using Citigroup's credit rating under the adoption of SFAS 157 is excluded from Tier 1 Capital at September 30, 2007 and June 30, 2007, respectively.

SFAS 157, for $75 million,

SFAS 159, for ($99) million,

FSP FAS No. 13-2, "Accounting for a Change or Projected Change in the Timing of Cash Flows Relating to Income Taxes Generated by a Leveraged Lease Transaction" (FSP 13-2) for ($148) million, and See Notes 1 and 16 on pages 55 and 77, respectively.

(2) The after-tax adjustment to the opening balance of Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) represents the reclassification of the unrealized gains (losses) related to the Legg Mason securities as well as several miscellaneous items previously reported in accordance with SFAS No. 115, "Accounting for Certain Investments in Debt and Equity Securities" (SFAS 115). These available-for-sale securities were reclassified to Retained earnings upon the adoption of the fair value option in accordance with SFAS 159. See Notes 1 and 16 on pages 55 and 77, respectively, for further discussions.

The decrease in the common stockholders' equity ratio during the nine months ended September 30, 2007 reflected the above items and a 25.2% increase in total assets.

On April 17, 2006, the Board of Directors authorized up to an additional $10 billion in share repurchases. As of September 30, 2007, $6.7 billion remained under authorized repurchase programs after the repurchase of $663 million and $7.0 billion in shares during the nine months ended September 30, 2007 and full year 2006, respectively. As a result of the Company's recent acquisitions, the pending Nikko Cordial transaction, and other growth opportunities, it is anticipated that the Company will not resume its share repurchase program until capital ratios improve. This is a forward-looking statement within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act. See "Forward-Looking Statements" on page 48. Citibank, N.A. Regulatory Capital Ratios(1)

Citigroup's subsidiary depository institutions in the United States are subject to risk-based capital guidelines issued by their respective primary federal bank regulatory agencies, which are similar to the FRB's guidelines. To be "well capitalized" under federal bank regulatory agency definitions, Citigroup's depository institutions must have a Tier 1 Capital Ratio of at least 6%, a Total Capital (Tier 1 + Tier 2 Capital) Ratio of at least 10% and a Leverage Ratio of at least 5%, and not be subject to a regulatory directive to meet and maintain higher capital levels. At September 30, 2007, all of Citigroup's subsidiary depository institutions were "well capitalized" under the federal regulatory agencies' definitions, including Citigroup's primary depository institution, Citibank, N.A., as noted in the following table:

	Sept. 30, 2007(2)	June 30, 2007(2)	Dec. 31, 2006
Tier 1 Capital	8.22%	8.21%	8.32%
Total Capital (Tier 1 and Tier 2)	12.30	12.24	12.39
Leverage(3)	6.31	5.83	6.09

- (1) The U.S. banking agencies granted interim capital relief for the impact of adopting SFAS 158.
- (2) The impact related to using Citigroup's credit rating under the adoption of SFAS 157 is excluded from Tier 1 Capital at September 30, 2007 and June 30, 2007, respectively.
- (3) Tier 1 Capital divided by adjusted average assets.

- (2) The impact related to using Citigroup's credit rating under the adoption of SFAS 157 is excluded from Tier 1 Capital at September 30, 2007 and June 30, 2007, respectively.

Citibank, N.A. had net income for the third quarter of 2007 and for the nine months ended September 30, 2007 of $1.6 billion and $6.8 billion, respectively. During the third quarter of 2007 and for the nine months ended September 30, 2007, Citibank received contributions from parent company of $6.1 billion and $11.8 billion, respectively.

During the first nine months of 2007 and full year 2006, Citibank issued an additional $4.2 billion and $7.8 billion, respectively, of subordinated notes to Citicorp Holdings Inc. that qualify for inclusion in Citibank, N.A.'s Tier 2 Capital. Total subordinated notes issued to Citicorp Holdings Inc. that were outstanding at September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006 and included in Citibank, N.A.'s Tier 2 Capital amounted to $27.2 billion and $23.0 billion, respectively.

Broker-Dealer Subsidiaries

At September 30, 2007, Citigroup Global Markets Inc., an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Citigroup Global Markets Holdings, Inc. (CGMHI), had net capital, computed in accordance with the Net Capital Rule, of $6.2 billion, which exceeded the minimum requirement by $5.3 billion.

In addition, certain of the Company's broker-dealer subsidiaries are subject to regulation in the other countries in which they do business, including requirements to maintain specified levels of net capital or its equivalent. The Company's broker-dealer subsidiaries were in compliance with their capital requirements at September 30, 2007.

Regulatory Capital Standards Developments

Citigroup generally supports the move to a new set of risk-based regulatory capital standards, published on June 26, 2004 (and subsequently amended in November 2005) by the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision (the Basel Committee), consisting of central banks and bank supervisors from 13 countries. The international version of the Basel II framework will allow Citigroup to leverage internal risk models used to measure credit, operational, and market risk exposures to drive regulatory capital calculations.

On July 20, 2007, the U.S. banking regulators announced that the implementation of Basel II in the U.S. should be technically consistent in most aspects with the international version. This should lead to the finalization of a rule for implementing the advanced approaches for computing Citigroup's risk-based capital requirements under Basel II. The U.S. implementation timetable is expected to consist of parallel calculations under the current regulatory capital regime (Basel I) and Basel II, starting January 1, 2008, and an implementation transition period, starting January 1, 2009 through year-end 2011 or possibly later. The U.S. regulators have reserved the right to change how Basel II is applied in the U.S. following a review at the end of the second year of the transitional period, and to retain the existing Prompt Corrective Action and leverage capital requirements applicable to U.S. banking organizations.

Citigroup continues to monitor, analyze and comment on the developing capital standards in the U.S. and in countries where Citigroup has a significant presence, in order to assess their collective impact and allocate project management and funding resources accordingly.

LIQUIDITY

At September 30, 2007, at the Holding Company level for Citigroup, for CGMHI, and for the Combined Holding Company and CGMHI, Citigroup maintained sufficient liquidity to meet all maturing unsecured debt obligations due within a one-year time horizon without accessing the unsecured markets.

FUNDINGOverview

As a financial holding company, substantially all of Citigroup's net earnings are generated within its operating subsidiaries. These subsidiaries make funds available to Citigroup, primarily in the form of dividends. Certain subsidiaries' dividend paying abilities may be limited by covenant restrictions in credit agreements, regulatory requirements and/or rating agency requirements that also impact their capitalization levels.

At September 30, 2007, long-term debt and commercial paper outstanding for Citigroup parent company, CGMHI, Citigroup Funding Inc. and Citigroup's other subsidiaries were as follows:

In billions of dollars	Citigroup Parent Company	CGMHI	Citigroup Funding Inc.	Other Citigroup Subsidiaries
Long-term debt	$ 154.0	$ 28.9	$ 33.6	$ 148.0(1)
Commercial paper	$	$	$ 46.3	$ 2.2

(1) At September 30, 2007, approximately $91.0 billion relates to collateralized advances from the Federal Home Loan Bank.

See Note 12 on page 66 for further detail on long-term debt and commercial paper outstanding.

Citigroup's ability to access the capital markets and other sources of wholesale funds, as well as the cost of these funds, is highly dependent on its credit ratings. The accompanying chart shows the ratings for Citigroup at September 30, 2007. The outlook for all of Citigroup's ratings is "stable."

Banking Subsidiaries

There are various legal limitations on the ability of Citigroup's subsidiary depository institutions to extend credit, pay dividends or otherwise supply funds to Citigroup and its nonbank subsidiaries. The approval of the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, in the case of national banks, or the Office of Thrift Supervision, in the case of federal savings banks, is required if total dividends declared in any calendar year exceed amounts specified by the applicable agency's regulations. State-chartered depository institutions are subject to dividend limitations imposed by applicable state law.

As of September 30, 2007, Citigroup's subsidiary depository institutions can declare dividends to their parent companies, without regulatory approval, of approximately $17.9 billion. In determining the dividends, each depository institution must also consider its effect on applicable risk-based capital and Leverage Ratio requirements, as well as policy statements of the federal regulatory agencies that indicate that banking organizations should generally pay dividends out of current operating earnings. Consistent with these considerations, Citigroup estimates that, as of September 30, 2007, its subsidiary depository institutions can distribute dividends to Citigroup of approximately $15.2 billion of the available $17.9 billion.

OFF-BALANCE SHEET ARRANGEMENTSOverview

Citigroup and its subsidiaries are involved with several types of off-balance sheet arrangements, including special purpose entities (SPEs), lines and letters of credit, and loan commitments.

The securitization process enhances the liquidity of the financial markets, may spread credit and interest rate risk among several market participants, and makes new funds available to extend credit to consumers and commercial entities.

Securitization of Citigroup's Assets

In some of these off-balance sheet arrangements, including credit card receivable and mortgage loan securitizations, Citigroup is securitizing assets that were previously recorded on its Consolidated Balance Sheet. A summary of certain cash flows received from and paid to securitization trusts is included in Note 13 to the Consolidated Financial Statements on page 68.

Credit Card Receivables

The following table reflects amounts related to the Company's securitized credit card receivables at September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006:

In billions of dollars	Sept. 30, 2007	Dec. 31, 2006
Principal amount of credit card receivables in trusts	$ 116.0	$ 112.4
Ownership interests in principal amount of trust credit card receivables:
Sold to investors via trust-issued securities	99.2	93.1
Retained by Citigroup as trust-issued securities	3.6	5.1
Retained by Citigroup via non-certificated interest recorded as consumer loans	13.2	14.2
Total ownership interests in principal amount of trust credit card receivables	$ 116.0	$ 112.4
Other amounts recorded on the balance sheet related to interests retained in the trusts:
Amounts receivable from trusts	$ 4.4	$ 4.5
Amounts payable to trusts	1.6	1.7
Residual interest retained in trust cash flows	2.7	2.5

In the third quarters of 2007 and 2006, the Company recorded net gains from securitization of credit card receivables of $74 million and $264 million, respectively, and $470 million and $719 million in the first nine months of 2007 and 2006, respectively. Net gains reflect the following:

incremental gains from new securitizations

the reversal of the allowance for loan losses associated with receivables sold

net gains on replenishments of the trust assets

offset by other-than-temporary impairments for the portion of the residual interest classified as available-for-sale

Mark-to-market changes for the portion of the residual interest classified as trading

See Note 13 on page 68 for additional information regarding the Company's securitization activities.

Mortgages and Other Assets

The Company provides a wide range of mortgage and other loan products to its customers. In addition to providing a source of liquidity and less expensive funding, securitizing these assets also reduces the Company's credit exposure to the borrowers. In addition to servicing rights, the Company also retains a residual interest in its student loan and other asset securitizations, consisting of securities and interest-only strips that arise from the calculation of gain or loss at the time assets are sold to the SPE. The Company recognized gains related to the securitization of mortgages and other assets of $60 million and $110 million in the third quarters of 2007 and 2006, respectively, and $249 million and $263 million in the first nine months of 2007 and 2006, respectively.

Securitization of Client Assets

The Company acts as an intermediary for its corporate clients, assisting them in obtaining liquidity by selling their trade receivables or other financial assets to an SPE.

In addition, Citigroup administers several third-party-owned, special purpose, asset-backed commercial paper conduits that purchase pools of trade receivables, credit card receivables, and other financial assets from its clients. As administrator of these multi-seller finance companies, the Company provides accounting, funding, and operations services to these conduits. The Company has no ownership interest in the conduits. In the event of liquidity problems in the commercial paper market, the Company's asset purchase agreements require the Company to purchase only high quality performing assets from the conduits at their fair values.

At September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, total assets in the unconsolidated asset-backed commercial paper conduits were $73.3 billion and $66.3 billion, respectively.

Creation of Other Investment and Financing Products

The Company has established SIVs, which issue junior notes, medium-term notes and short-term commercial paper to fund the purchase of high quality assets. The SIVs provide a return to their investors based on the net spread between the cost to issue the short-term debt and the return realized by the medium-term assets. The Company acts as investment manager for the SIVs, but is not contractually obligated to provide liquidity facilities or guarantees to the SIVs.

The following tables summarize the seven Citigroup-advised SIVs as of September 30, 2007 and the aggregate asset mix and credit quality of the SIV assets. See page 7 for a further discussion.

(2) The SIVs have no direct exposure to U.S. sub-prime assets and have approximately $70 million of indirect exposure to sub-prime assets through CDOs which are AAA rated and carry credit enhancements.

The Company packages and securitizes assets purchased in the financial markets in order to create new securities offerings, including arbitrage CDOs and synthetic CDOs for institutional clients and retail customers, which match the clients' investment needs and preferences. An arbitrage CDO is an investment vehicle designed to take advantage of the difference between the yield on a portfolio of selected assets and the cost of funding the CDO through the sale of notes to investors. Arbitrage CDOs are classified as either "cash flow" CDOs, in which the vehicle passes on cash flows from a relatively static pool of assets, or "market value" CDOs, where the pool of assets is actively managed by a third party. In a synthetic CDO, the entity enters into derivative transactions which provide a return similar to a cash instrument to the entity, rather than the entity's actually purchasing the cash instrument. Typically these instruments diversify investors' risk to a pool of assets as compared with investments in individual assets.

At September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, unconsolidated CDO assets where the Company has significant involvement totaled $84.2 billion and $52.1 billion, respectively.

See Note 13 on page 68 for additional information about off-balance sheet arrangements.

Credit Commitments and Lines of Credit

The table below summarizes Citigroup's credit commitments as of September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006.

Commercial and other consumer loan commitments(2)	513,668	439,931
Total	$ 1,705,612	$ 1,563,464

(1) Credit card lines are unconditionally cancelable by the issuer.

(2) Includes commercial commitments to make or purchase loans, to purchase third-party receivables, and to provide note issuance or revolving underwriting facilities. Amounts include $282 billion and $251 billion with original maturity of less than one year at September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, respectively.

Highly-Leveraged Financing Commitments

Included in the line item "Commercial and other consumer loan commitments" in the table above are highly-leveraged financing commitments which are agreements that provide funding to a borrower with higher levels of debt (measured by the ratio of debt capital to equity capital of the borrower) than is generally considered normal for other companies. Highly-leveraged financing is commonly employed in corporate acquisitions, management buy-outs and similar transactions.

As a result, debt service (that is, principal and interest payments) absorbs a significant portion of the cash flows generated by the borrower's business. Consequently, the risk that the borrower may not be able to service its debt obligations is greater. However, to compensate for this risk, the interest rate and fees charged for this type of financing is generally higher.

Citigroup manages the risk associated with highly-leveraged financings it has entered into by selling a majority of its exposures to the market prior to or shortly after funding. In certain cases, all or a portion of a highly-leveraged financing to be retained is hedged with credit derivatives or other hedging instruments. Thus, when a highly-leveraged financing is funded, Citigroup records the resulting loan as follows:

The portion that will be sold is recorded as a loan held-for-sale in Other Assets on the Consolidated Balance Sheet, and measured at the lower-of-cost-or-market (LOCOM)

The portion that will be retained is recorded as a loan held-for-investment in Loans and measured at amortized cost less impairment.

Prior to funding, highly-leveraged financing commitments are assessed for impairment in accordance with SFAS 5 and losses are recorded when they are probable and reasonably estimable. For the portion of loan commitments that relate to loans that will be held-for-investment, loss estimates are made based on the borrower's ability to repay the facility according to its contractual terms. For the portion of loan commitments that relate to loans that will be held-for-sale, loss estimates are made in reference to current conditions in the resale market (both interest rate risk and credit risk are considered in the estimate). Loan origination, commitment, underwriting, other fees have been netted against the impairment losses.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

Due to the dislocation of the credit markets during the quarter, liquidity in the market for highly-leveraged financings has declined significantly. Consequently, Citigroup has been unable to sell a number of highly-leveraged financings that it entered into during the quarter, resulting in total exposure of $57 billion as of September 30, 2007 ($19 billion for funded and $38 billion for unfunded commitments). The reduction in liquidity has resulted in Citigroup's recognizing total losses on such products during the quarter of $1.4 billion pre-tax of which $552 million is on funded highly-leveraged loans and $800 million on unfunded highly-leveraged financing commitments.

CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Disclosure

The Company's management, with the participation of the Company's CEO and CFO, has evaluated the effectiveness of the Company's disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rule 13a-15(e) under the Exchange Act) as of September 30, 2007 and, based on that evaluation, the CEO and CFO have concluded that at that date the Company's disclosure controls and procedures were effective.

CITIGROUP INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Unaudited)

1. Basis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements as of September 30, 2007 and for the three- and nine-month periods ended September 30, 2007 include the accounts of Citigroup Inc. (Citigroup) and its subsidiaries (collectively, the Company). In the opinion of management, all adjustments, consisting of normal recurring adjustments, necessary for a fair presentation, have been reflected. The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and related notes included in Citigroup's 2006 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Certain financial information that is normally included in annual financial statements prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, but is not required for interim reporting purposes, has been condensed or omitted.

Management must make estimates and assumptions that affect the Consolidated Financial Statements and the related footnote disclosures. While management makes its best judgment, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Certain reclassifications have been made to the prior-period's financial statements to conform to the current period's presentation.

Significant Accounting Policies

The Company's accounting policies are fundamental to understanding management's discussion and analysis of results of operations and financial condition. The Company has identified five policies as being significant because they require management to make subjective and/or complex judgments about matters that are inherently uncertain. These policies relate to Valuations of Financial Instruments, Allowance for Credit Losses, Securitizations, Income Taxes and Legal Reserves. The Company, in consultation with the Audit and Risk Management Committee of the Board of Directors, has reviewed and approved these significant accounting policies, which are further described in the Company's 2006 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Accounting Changes

Fair Value Measurements (SFAS 157)

The Company elected to early-adopt SFAS 157, "Fair Value Measurements" (SFAS 157), as of January 1, 2007. SFAS 157 defines fair value, establishes a consistent framework for measuring fair value and expands disclosure requirements about fair value measurements. SFAS 157 requires, among other things, Citigroup's valuation techniques used to measure fair value to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs. In addition, SFAS 157 precludes the use of block discounts for instruments traded in an active market, which were previously applied to large holdings of publicly-traded equity securities, and requires the recognition of trade-date gains related to certain derivative trades that use unobservable inputs in determining the fair value. This guidance supersedes the guidance in EITF Issue No. 02-3, which prohibited the recognition of day-one gains on certain derivative trades when determining the fair value of instruments not traded in an active market. The cumulative effect of these two changes resulted in an increase to January 1, 2007 retained earnings of $75 million.

In moving to maximize the use of observable inputs as required by SFAS 157, Citigroup began to reflect external credit ratings as well as other observable inputs when measuring the fair value of our derivative positions. The cumulative effect of making this derivative valuation adjustment was a gain of $250 million after-tax ($402 million pretax, which was recorded in the Markets & Banking business), or $0.05 per diluted share, included in 2007 first quarter earnings. The primary drivers of this change were the requirement that Citigroup include its own credit rating in pricing derivatives and the elimination of a valuation adjustment, which is no longer necessary under SFAS 157.

See Note 16 on page 77 for additional information.

Fair Value Option (SFAS 159)

In conjunction with the adoption of SFAS 157, the Company early-adopted SFAS 159, "The Fair Value Option for Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities" (SFAS 159), as of January 1, 2007. SFAS 159 provides an option for most financial assets and liabilities to be reported at fair value on an instrument-by-instrument basis with changes in fair value reported in earnings. After the initial adoption, the election is made at the acquisition of a financial asset, financial liability, or a firm commitment and it may not be revoked. Under the SFAS 159 transition provisions, the Company has elected to report certain financial instruments and other items at fair value on a contract-by-contract basis, with future changes in value reported in earnings. SFAS 159 provides an opportunity to mitigate volatility in reported earnings that was caused by measuring hedged assets and liabilities that were previously required to use an accounting method other than fair value, while the related economic hedges were reported at fair value.

The adoption of SFAS 159 resulted in a decrease to January 1, 2007 retained earnings of $99 million.

See Note 16 on page 77 for additional information.

Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes

In July 2006, the FASB issued FIN 48, "Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes" (FIN 48), which sets out a framework for preparers to use to determine the appropriate level of tax reserves to maintain for uncertain tax positions. This interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109 uses a two-step approach wherein a tax benefit is recognized if a position is more likely than not to be sustained. The amount of the benefit is then measured to be the highest tax benefit that is greater than 50 percent likely to be realized. FIN 48 also sets out disclosure requirements to enhance transparency of an entity's tax reserves.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

Citigroup adopted FIN 48 as of January 1, 2007, resulting in a decrease to January 1, 2007 retained earnings of $14 million.

The total unrecognized tax benefits as of January 1, 2007 were $3.1 billion. There was no material change to this balance during the first, second or third quarters of 2007. The total amount of unrecognized tax benefits as of January 1, 2007 that would affect the effective tax rate was $1.0 billion. The remaining $2.1 billion represents temporary differences or amounts for which offsetting deductions or credits are available in a different taxing jurisdiction. The total amount of interest and penalties recognized in the Consolidated Balance Sheet at January 1, 2007 was approximately $510 million ($320 million net of tax). There was no material change to this balance during the first, second or third quarters of 2007. The Company classifies interest and penalties as income tax expense. The Company is currently under audit by the IRS and other major taxing jurisdictions around the world. It is thus reasonably possible that significant changes in the gross balance of unrecognized tax benefits may occur within the next 12 months (an estimate of the range of such gross changes cannot be made), but the Company does not expect such audits to result in amounts that would cause a significant change to its effective tax rate.

The following are the major tax jurisdictions in which the Company and its affiliates operate and the earliest tax year subject to examination:

Jurisdiction	Tax year
United States	2003
Mexico	2004
New York State and City	2005(1)
United Kingdom	1998
Germany	2000
Korea	2001

- (1) During the first quarter of 2007, one of the major filing groups completed an audit for 2001 - 2004.

Leveraged Leases

On January 1, 2007, the Company adopted FASB Staff Position FAS No. 13-2, "Accounting for a Change or Projected Change in the Timing of Cash Flows Relating to Income Taxes Generated by a Leverage Lease Transaction" (FSP 13-2), which provides guidance regarding changes or projected changes in the timing of cash flows relating to income taxes generated by a leveraged lease transaction.

Leveraged leases can provide significant tax benefits to the lessor, primarily as a result of the timing of tax payments. Since changes in the timing and/or amount of these tax benefits may have a significant effect on the cash flows of a lease transaction, a lessor, in accordance with FSP 13-2, will be required to perform a recalculation of a leveraged lease when there is a change or projected change in the timing of the realization of tax benefits generated by that lease. Previously, Citigroup did not recalculate the tax benefits if only the timing of cash flows had changed.

The adoption of FSP 13-2 resulted in a decrease to January 1, 2007 retained earnings of $148 million. This decrease to retained earnings will be recognized in earnings over the remaining lives of the leases as tax benefits are realized.

Stock-Based Compensation

On January 1, 2006, the Company adopted SFAS No. 123 (revised 2004), "Share-Based Payment" (SFAS 123(R)), which replaced the existing SFAS 123 and APB 25, "Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees." SFAS 123(R) requires companies to measure compensation expense for stock options and other share-based payments based on the instruments' grant date fair value, and to record expense based on that fair value reduced by expected forfeitures.

The Company maintains a number of incentive programs in which equity awards are granted to eligible employees. The most significant of the programs offered is the Capital Accumulation Program (CAP). Under the CAP program, the Company grants deferred and restricted shares to eligible employees. The program provides that employees who meet certain age plus years-of-service requirements (retirement-eligible employees) may terminate active employment and continue vesting in their awards provided they comply with specified non-compete provisions. For awards granted to retirement-eligible employees prior to the adoption of SFAS 123(R), the Company has been and will continue to amortize the compensation cost of these awards over the full vesting periods. Awards granted to retirement-eligible employees after the adoption of SFAS 123(R) must be either expensed on the grant date or accrued in the year prior to the grant date.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

The impact to 2006 was a charge of $648 million ($398 million after-tax) for the immediate expensing of awards granted to retirement-eligible employees in January 2006, and $824 million ($526 million after-tax) for the accrual of the awards that were granted in January 2007.

In adopting SFAS 123(R), the Company began to recognize compensation expense for restricted or deferred stock awards net of estimated forfeitures. Previously, the effects of forfeitures were recorded as they occurred.

Accounting for Certain Hybrid Financial Instruments

On January 1, 2006, the Company elected to early-adopt, primarily on a prospective basis, SFAS No. 155, "Accounting for Certain Hybrid Financial Instruments" (SFAS 155). In accordance with this standard, hybrid financial instruments such as structured notes containing embedded derivatives that otherwise would require bifurcation, as well as certain interest-only instruments may be accounted for at fair value if the Company makes an irrevocable election to do so on an instrument-by-instrument basis. The changes in fair value are recorded in current earnings. The impact of adopting this standard was not material.

Accounting for Servicing of Financial Assets

On January 1, 2006, the Company elected to early-adopt SFAS No. 156, "Accounting for Servicing of Financial Assets" (SFAS 156). This pronouncement requires all servicing rights to be initially recognized at fair value. Subsequent to initial recognition, it permits a one-time irrevocable election to remeasure each class of servicing rights at fair value, with the changes in fair value being recorded in current earnings. The classes of servicing rights are identified based on the availability of market inputs used in determining their fair values and the methods for managing their risks. The Company has elected fair value accounting for its mortgage and student loan classes of servicing rights. The impact of adopting this standard was not material.

Future Application of Accounting Standards

Investment Company Audit Guide (SOP 07-1)

In July 2007, the AICPA issued Statement of Position 07-1, Clarification of the Scope of the Audit and Accounting Guide for Investment Companies and Accounting by Parent Companies and Equity Method Investors for Investments in Investment Companies (SOP 07-1), which was expected to be effective for fiscal years beginning on or after December 15, 2007. However, the FASB has recently proposed to delay the effective date indefinitely. The proposal to delay the effectiveness is exposed for a 30-day comment period. SOP 07-1 sets forth more stringent criteria for qualifying as an investment company than does the predecessor Audit Guide. In addition, SOP 07-1 establishes new criteria for a parent company or equity method investor to retain investment company accounting in their consolidated financial statements. Investment companies record all their investments at fair value with changes in value reflected in earnings. The Company is currently evaluating the potential impact of adopting SOP 07-1.

Potential Amendments to Various Current Accounting Standards

The FASB is currently working on amendments to the existing accounting standards governing asset transfers and fair value measurements in business combinations and impairment tests. Upon completion of these standards, the Company will need to reevaluate its accounting and disclosures. Due to the ongoing deliberations of the standard setters, the Company is unable to accurately determine the effect of future amendments or proposals at this time.

2. Discontinued Operations

Sale of the Asset Management Business

On December 1, 2005, the Company completed the sale of substantially all of its Asset Management Business, which had total assets of approximately $1.4 billion and liabilities of approximately $0.6 billion at the closing date, to Legg Mason, Inc. (Legg Mason) in exchange for Legg Mason's broker-dealer and capital markets businesses, $2.298 billion of Legg Mason's common and preferred shares (valued as of the closing date), and $500 million in cash. The transaction did not include Citigroup's asset management business in Mexico, its retirement services business in Latin America (both of which are included in International Retail Banking) or its interest in the CitiStreet joint venture (which is included in Smith Barney). The total value of the transaction at the time of closing was approximately $4.369 billion, resulting in an after-tax gain to Citigroup of approximately $2.082 billion ($3.404 billion pretax, which was reported in discontinued operations). (The transactions described above are referred to as the "Sale of the Asset Management Business.")

On January 31, 2006, the Company completed the sale of its Asset Management Business within Bank Handlowy (an indirect banking subsidiary of Citigroup located in Poland) to Legg Mason. This transaction, which was originally part of the overall Asset Management Business sold to Legg Mason Inc. on December 1, 2005, was postponed due to delays in obtaining local regulatory approval. A gain from this sale of $18 million after-tax and minority interest ($31 million pretax and minority interest) was recognized in the first quarter of 2006 within discontinued operations.

During March 2006, the Company sold 10.3 million shares of Legg Mason stock through an underwritten public offering. The net sale proceeds of $1.258 billion resulted in a pretax gain of $24 million.

In September 2006, the Company received from Legg Mason the final closing adjustment payment related to this sale. This payment resulted in an additional after-tax gain of $51 million ($83 million pretax), recorded in discontinued operations.

The businesses sold were the primary vehicles through which Citigroup engaged in the Life Insurance & Annuities Business, which had total assets of approximately $93.2 billion and liabilities of approximately $83.8 billion.

Citigroup received $1.0 billion in MetLife equity securities and $10.830 billion in cash, which resulted in an after-tax gain of approximately $2.120 billion ($3.386 billion pretax), which was reported in discontinued operations.

(The transaction described in the preceding two paragraphs is referred to as the "Sale of the Life Insurance & Annuities Business.")

During the first quarter of 2006, $15 million of the total $657 million federal tax contingency reserve release was reported within discontinued operations as it related to the Life Insurance & Annuities Business sold to MetLife.

In July 2006, the Company received the final closing adjustment payment related to this sale, resulting in an after-tax gain of $75 million ($115 million pretax), which was recorded in discontinued operations.

In addition, during the 2006 third quarter, a release of $42 million of deferred tax liabilities was reported in discontinued operations as it related to the Life Insurance & Annuities Business sold to MetLife.

6. Retirement Benefits

The Company has several non-contributory defined benefit pension plans covering substantially all U.S. employees and has various defined benefit pension and termination indemnity plans covering employees outside the United States. The U.S. defined benefit plan provides benefits under a cash balance formula. Employees satisfying certain age and service requirements remain covered by a prior final pay formula. The Company also offers postretirement health care and life insurance benefits to certain eligible U.S. retired employees, as well as to certain eligible employees outside the United States. For information on the Company's Retirement Benefit Plans and Pension Assumptions, see Citigroup's 2006 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

(2) In 2006, the Company announced that commencing January 1, 2008, the U.S. qualified pension plan would be frozen. Accordingly, no additional contributions would be credited to the cash balance plan for existing plan participants. However, employees still covered under the prior final pay plan will continue to accrue benefits.

Employer Contributions

Citigroup's pension funding policy for U.S. plans and non-U.S. plans is generally to fund to applicable minimum funding requirements, rather than to the amounts of accumulated benefit obligations. For the U.S. plans, the Company may increase its contributions above the minimum required contribution under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), if appropriate to its tax and cash position and the plan's funded position. At September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, there were no minimum required contributions and no discretionary cash or non-cash contributions are currently planned for the U.S. plans. For the non-U.S. plans, the Company contributed $85 million as of September 30, 2007. Citigroup presently anticipates contributing an additional $29 million to fund its non-U.S. plans in 2007 for a total of $114 million.

7. Restructuring

During the first quarter of 2007, the Company completed a review of its structural expense base in a Company-wide effort to create a more streamlined organization, reduce expense growth and provide investment funds for future growth initiatives.

The primary goals of the 2007 Structural Expense Review are as follows:

- Eliminate layers of management/improve workforce management;
- Consolidate certain back-office, middle-office and corporate functions;
- Increase the use of shared services;
- Expand centralized procurement; and
- Continue to rationalize operational spending on technology.

For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2007, Citigroup recorded a pretax restructuring charge of $35 million and $1.475 billion, respectively.

The implementation of these restructuring initiatives also caused certain related premises and equipment assets to become redundant. The remaining depreciable lives of these assets were shortened, and accelerated depreciation charges began in the second quarter of 2007 in addition to normal scheduled depreciation.

Additional charges totaling approximately $32 million pretax are anticipated to be recorded by the end of 2007. Of this charge, $16 million is attributable to Global Consumer, $11 million to Global Wealth Management and $5 million to Corporate/Other.

The following table details the Company's restructuring reserves.

The severance costs noted above reflect the accrual to eliminate approximately 17,300 positions, after considering attrition and redeployment within the Company.

The total restructuring reserve balance as of September 30, 2007 and the restructuring charges for the three- and nine-month periods then ended are presented below by business segment. The Company issues both fixed and variable rate debt in a range of currencies. It uses derivative contracts, primarily interest rate swaps, to effectively convert a portion of its fixed rate debt to variable rate debt and variable rate debt to fixed rate debt. The maturity structure of the derivatives generally corresponds to the maturity structure of the debt being hedged. In addition, the Company uses other derivative contracts to manage the foreign exchange impact of certain debt issuances.

13. Securitizations and Variable Interest Entities

The Company primarily securitizes credit card receivables and mortgages. Other types of assets securitized include corporate debt securities, auto loans, and student loans.

After securitization of credit card receivables, the Company continues to maintain credit card customer account relationships and provides servicing for receivables transferred to the trusts. The Company also arranges for third parties to provide credit enhancement to the trusts, including cash collateral accounts, subordinated securities and letters of credit. The Company also retains an interest in the residual cash flows of the securitized credit card receivables. The residual cash flows are the finance charge collections on the securitized receivables reduced by payment of investor coupon on trust securities, servicing fees, and net credit losses. The residual cash flows are periodically remitted to the Citigroup subsidiary that sold the receivables, assuming certain trust performance measures that protect the investors of the trust are met. A residual interest asset, which is an estimate of the amount and timing of these future residual cash collections, and gain on sale are recognized at the time receivables are sold.

The Company provides a wide range of mortgage and other loan products to a diverse customer base. In connection with the securitization of these loans, the servicing rights entitle the Company to a future stream of cash flows based on the outstanding principal balances of the loans and the contractual servicing fee. Failure to service the loans in accordance with contractual requirements may lead to a termination of the servicing rights and the loss of future servicing fees. In non-recourse servicing, the principal credit risk to the Company is the cost of temporary advances of funds. In recourse servicing, the servicer agrees to share credit risk with the owner of the mortgage loans such as FNMA or FHLMC or with a private investor, insurer, or guarantor. Losses on recourse servicing occur primarily when foreclosure sale proceeds of the property underlying a defaulted mortgage are less than the outstanding principal balance and accrued interest of the loan and the cost of holding and disposing of the underlying property. The Company's mortgage loan securitizations are primarily non-recourse, thereby effectively transferring the risk of future credit losses to the purchaser of the securities issued by the trust.

The Company recognized gains on securitizations of U.S. Consumer mortgages of $46 million and $21 million for the three-month periods ended September 30, 2007 and 2006, respectively, and $129 million and $55 million during the first nine months of 2007 and 2006, respectively. In the third quarter of 2007 and 2006, the Company recorded gains of $74 million and $264 million related to the securitization of credit card receivables, and $470 million and $719 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2007 and 2006, respectively. Gains recognized on the securitization of Markets & Banking and other assets during the third quarter of 2007 and 2006 were $15 million and $89 million, respectively, and $120 million and $203 million for the nine months ended 2007 and 2006, respectively.

Key assumptions used for securitizations of credit cards, mortgages, and other asset securitizations during the three months ended September 30, 2007 and 2006 in measuring the fair value of retained interests at the date of sale or securitization follow:

As required by SFAS No. 140, "Accounting for Transfers and Servicing of Financial Assets and Extinguishments of Liabilities" (SFAS 140), the effect of two negative changes in each of the key assumptions used to determine the fair value of retained interests must be disclosed. The negative effect of each change must be calculated independently, holding all other assumptions constant. Because the key assumptions may not in fact be independent, the net effect of simultaneous adverse changes in the key assumptions may be less than the sum of the individual effects shown below.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

At September 30, 2007, the key assumptions used to value retained interests and the sensitivity of the fair value to adverse changes of 10% and 20% in each of the key assumptions were as follows:

Managed Loans

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

After securitization of credit card receivables, the Company continues to maintain credit card customer account relationships and provides servicing for receivables transferred to the trusts. As a result, the Company considers the securitized credit card receivables to be part of the business it manages.

The following tables present reconciliation between the managed basis and on-balance sheet credit card portfolios and the related delinquencies (loans which are 90 days or more past due) at September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, and credit losses, net of recoveries for the three-month and nine-month periods ended September 30, 2007 and 2006.

Mortgage Servicing Rights

The fair value of capitalized mortgage loan servicing rights (MSRs) was $10.0 billion, $10.1 billion and $5.5 billion at September 30, 2007, June 30, 2007 and September 30, 2006, respectively.

The following table summarizes the changes in capitalized MSRs:

In millions of dollars	Three Months Ended Sept. 30,

(1) Represents changes due to customer payments and passage of time.

The market for MSRs is not sufficiently liquid to provide participants with quoted market prices. Therefore, the Company uses an option-adjusted spread valuation approach to determine the fair value of MSRs. This approach consists of projecting servicing cash flows under multiple interest rate scenarios, and discounting these cash flows using risk-adjusted discount rates. The key assumptions used in the valuation of MSRs include mortgage prepayment speeds and discount rates. The model assumptions and the MSRs' fair value estimates are compared to observable trades of similar MSR portfolios and interest-only security portfolios, as well as to MSR broker valuations and industry surveys. The cash flow model and underlying prepayment and interest rate models used to value these MSRs are subject to validation in accordance with the Company's model validation policies. Refer to key assumptions at September 30, 2007 on page 70 for the key assumptions used in the MSR valuation process.

The fair value of the MSRs is primarily affected by changes in prepayments that result from shifts in mortgage interest rates. In managing this risk, the Company hedges a significant portion of the value of its MSRs through the use of interest rate derivative contracts, forward purchase commitments of mortgage-backed securities, and purchased securities classified as trading. The amount of contractually specified servicing fees, late fees and ancillary fees earned were $481 million, $24 million and $16 million, respectively, for the third quarter of 2007; and $264 million, $14 million and $11 million, respectively, for the third quarter of 2006. These fees are classified in the Consolidated Statement of Income as Commissions and Fees.

Variable Interest Entities

FASB Interpretation No. 46-R, "Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities" (FIN 46-R) applies to those entities which have either a total equity investment that is insufficient to permit the entity to finance its activities without additional subordinated financial support or whose equity investors lack the characteristics of a controlling financial interest (i.e., ability to make significant decisions through voting rights, rights to receive the expected residual returns of the entity, and obligation to absorb the expected losses of the entity). Those investors who provide the additional support necessary to finance the VIE are variable interest holders in the entity. The variable interest holder, if any, that will absorb a majority of the entity's expected losses, receive a majority of the entity's expected residual returns, or both, is deemed to be the primary beneficiary and must consolidate the VIE.

The following table represents the carrying amounts and classification of consolidated assets that are collateral for VIE obligations, including VIEs that were consolidated prior to the implementation of FIN 46-R under existing guidance and VIEs that the Company became involved with after July 1, 2003:

In billions of dollars	Sept. 30, 2007	December 31, 2006(1)
Cash	$ 1.7	$ 0.5
Trading account assets	24.5	16.7

Loans	9.5	6.8
Other assets	4.2	5.7
Total assets of consolidated VIEs	$ 66.9	$ 54.7

Reclassified to conform to the current period's presentation.

The Company may provide various products and services to the VIEs. It may provide liquidity facilities, may be a party to derivative contracts with VIEs, may provide loss enhancement in the form of letters of credit and other guarantees to the VIEs, may be the investment manager, and may also have an ownership interest or other investment in certain VIEs. All of these facts and circumstances are taken into consideration when determining whether the Company has significant variable interests that would deem it the primary beneficiary and, therefore, require consolidation of the related VIE. In general, the investors in the obligations of consolidated VIEs have recourse only to the assets of the VIEs and do not have recourse to the Company, except where the Company has provided a guarantee to the investors or is the counterparty to a derivative transaction involving the VIE.

The consolidated VIEs included in the table above represent hundreds of separate entities with which the Company is involved and include VIEs consolidated as a result of adopting FIN 46-R and FIN 46. Of the $66.9 billion and $54.7 billion of total assets of VIEs consolidated by the Company at September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, respectively, $17.7 billion and $39.2 billion represent structured transactions where the Company packages and securitizes assets purchased in the financial markets or from clients in order to create new security offerings and financing opportunities for clients; $46.9 billion and $13.1 billion represent investment vehicles that were established to provide a return to the investors in the vehicles; and $2.2 billion and

$2.4 billion represent vehicles that hold lease receivables and equipment as collateral to issue debt securities, thus obtaining secured financing at favorable interest rates.

In addition to the VIEs that are consolidated in accordance with FIN 46-R, the Company has significant variable interests in certain other VIEs that are not consolidated because the Company is not the primary beneficiary. These include asset-backed commercial paper conduits, structured investment vehicles (SIVs), collateralized debt obligations (CDOs), structured finance transactions, and numerous investment funds. In addition to these VIEs, the Company issues preferred securities to third-party investors through trust vehicles as a source of funding and regulatory capital.

The following table represents the total assets of unconsolidated VIEs where the Company has significant involvement:

In billions of dollars	Sept. 30, 2007	Dec. 31, 2006
Asset-backed commercial paper (ABCP) conduits	$ 73.3	$ 66.3
Structured investment vehicles (SIVs)	83.1	79.5

Collateralized debt obligations (CDOs)	84.2	52.1
Mortgage-related transactions	11.9	2.7
Trust preferred securities	11.7	9.8

Total assets of significant unconsolidated VIEs	$ 343.4	$ 294.1

Asset-Backed Commercial Paper Conduits

The Company administers several third-party-owned, special purpose, asset-backed commercial paper conduits that purchase pools of trade receivables, credit card receivables, and other financial assets from multiple third-party clients of the Company. As administrator of these multi-seller finance companies, the Company provides accounting, funding, and operations services to these conduits. Generally, the Company has no ownership interest in the conduits. The sellers continue to service the assets they transferred. The conduits' asset purchases are funded by issuing commercial paper and medium-term notes. The sellers absorb the first losses of the conduits by providing collateral in the form of excess assets. Typically, the issuance of commercial paper is done on a revolving basis, in which the maturing paper is retired with the funds received from issuing new commercial paper at current market terms. The Company, along with other financial institutions, provides liquidity facilities, such as liquidity asset purchase agreements and commercial paper backstop lines of credit to the conduits, which offer an alternative source of funding should the conduit be unable to replace fully the maturing commercial paper in the commercial paper market. In the event of liquidity problems in the commercial paper market, the Company's asset purchase agreements require the Company to purchase only high quality performing assets from the conduits at their fair values. The Company also provides loss enhancement in the form of letters of credit and other guarantees. All fees are charged on a market basis.

To comply with FIN 46-R, many of the conduits issued "first loss" subordinated notes such that one third-party investor in each conduit would be deemed the primary beneficiary and would consolidate the conduit.

A SIV is a special purpose investment company, which holds high quality asset portfolios that are funded through the issuance of junior notes, medium-term notes and short-term commercial paper. The junior notes are subject to the "first loss" risk of the vehicle. The spread between the short-term funding (commercial paper and medium-term notes) and high quality asset portfolios provides a leveraged return to the junior note holders. SIVs are subject to liquidity and refinancing risk and must repay a significant portion of maturing commercial paper and medium-term notes through the issuance of new debt. Should a SIV not be able to meet its funding needs due to a lack of liquidity in the market, it may be forced to sell assets at a time when prices are depressed.

CAI's Global Credit Structures investment center is the investment manager for seven SIVs. Citigroup has no contractual obligation to provide liquidity facilities or guarantees to any of the Citi-advised SIVs. Citigroup is not the primary beneficiary of any of the Citi-advised SIVs and therefore does not include the SIVs in its consolidated financial statements.

Collateralized Debt Obligations

The Company also packages and securitizes assets purchased in the financial markets in order to create new security offerings, including arbitrage CDOs and synthetic CDOs for institutional clients and retail customers, which match the clients' investment needs and preferences. An arbitrage CDO is an investment vehicle designed to take advantage of the difference between the yield on a portfolio of selected assets and the cost of funding the CDO through the sale of notes to investors. Arbitrage CDOs are classified as either "cash flow" CDOs, in which the vehicle passes on cash flows from a relatively static pool of assets, or "market value" CDOs, where the pool of assets is actively managed by a third party. In a synthetic CDO, the entity enters into derivative transactions which provide a return similar to a cash instrument to the entity, rather than the entity's actually purchasing the cash instrument. Typically, these instruments diversify investors' risk to a pool of assets as compared with investments in an individual asset. The VIEs, which are issuers of CDO securities, are generally organized as limited liability corporations. The Company typically receives fees for structuring and/or distributing the securities sold to investors. In some cases, the Company may repackage the investment with higher rated debt CDO securities or U.S. Treasury securities to provide a greater or a very high degree of certainty of the return of invested principal. A third-party manager is typically retained by the VIE to select collateral for inclusion in the pool and then actively manage it, or, in other cases, only to manage work-out credits. The Company may also provide other financial services and/or products to the

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

VIEs for market-rate fees. These may include: the provision of liquidity or contingent liquidity facilities; interest rate or foreign exchange hedges and credit derivative instruments; and the purchasing and warehousing of securities until they are sold to the SPE. The Company is not the primary beneficiary of these VIEs under FIN 46-R due to its limited continuing involvement and, as a result, does not consolidate their assets and liabilities in its financial statements.

Trust Preferred Securities

Trust preferred securities are issued by entities which were formed by the Company and 100% of whose common stock belongs to the Company. The proceeds obtained by the trust from the issuance of these securities are used to purchase long-term notes (generally 30 or 60 years) issued or guaranteed by the Company. These trusts are considered to be VIEs, as defined above, and are not consolidated by the Company under FIN 46-R. The Company is not deemed to be the primary beneficiary due to its limited exposure to the risks of the entity. For further discussion regarding these securities, see Note 12 on page 66.

Other VIEs

The Company has also established a number of investment funds as opportunities for qualified employees to invest in venture capital investments. The Company acts as investment manager to these funds and may provide employees with financing on both a recourse and non-recourse basis for a portion of the employees' investment commitments.

In addition, the Company administers numerous personal estate trusts. The Company may act as trustee and may also be the investment manager for the trust assets.

As mentioned above, the Company may, along with other financial institutions, provide liquidity facilities, such as commercial paper backstop lines of credit to the VIEs. The Company may be a party to derivative contracts with VIEs, may provide loss enhancement in the form of letters of credit and other guarantees to VIEs, may be the investment manager, and may also have an ownership interest in certain VIEs. The Company's maximum exposure to loss as a result of its involvement with VIEs that are not consolidated was $141 billion and $109 billion at September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, respectively. For this purpose, maximum exposure is considered to be the notional amounts of credit lines, guarantees, other credit support, and liquidity facilities, the notional amounts of credit default swaps and certain total return swaps, and the amount invested where Citigroup has an ownership interest in the VIEs. This maximum amount of exposure bears no relationship to the anticipated losses on these exposures.

The after-tax adjustment to the opening balance of Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) represents the reclassification of the unrealized gains (losses) related to the Legg Mason securities, as well as several miscellaneous items previously reported in accordance with SFAS 115. 15. Derivatives Activities

In the ordinary course of business, Citigroup enters into various types of derivative transactions. These derivative transactions include:

Futures and forward contracts which are commitments to buy or sell at a future date a financial instrument, commodity or currency at a contracted price and may be settled in cash or through delivery.

Swap contracts which are commitments to settle in cash at a future date or dates that may range from a few days to a number of years, based on differentials between specified financial indices, as applied to a notional principal amount.

Option contracts which give the purchaser, for a fee, the right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell within a limited time a financial instrument or currency at a contracted price that may also be settled in cash, based on differentials between specified indices.

Citigroup enters into these derivative contracts for the following reasons:

Trading Purposes Customer Needs Citigroup offers its customers derivatives in connection with their risk-management actions to transfer, modify or reduce their interest rate, foreign exchange and other market/credit risks or for their own trading purposes. As part of this process, Citigroup considers the customers' suitability for the risk involved, and the business purpose for the transaction. Citigroup also manages its derivative-risk positions through offsetting trade activities, controls focused on price verification, and daily reporting of positions to senior managers.

Trading Purposes Own Account Citigroup trades derivatives for its own account. Trading limits and price verification controls are key aspects of this activity.

Asset/Liability Management Hedging Citigroup uses derivatives in connection with its risk-management activities to hedge certain risks. For example, Citigroup may issue a fixed rate long-term note and then enter into a receive-fixed, pay-variable-rate interest rate swap with the same tenor and notional amount to convert the interest payments to a net variable-rate basis. This strategy is the most common form of an interest rate hedge, as it minimizes interest cost in certain yield curve environments. Derivatives are also used to manage risks inherent in specific groups of on-balance sheet assets and liabilities, including investments, corporate and consumer loans, deposit liabilities, as well as other interest-sensitive assets and liabilities. In addition, foreign exchange contracts are used to hedge non-U.S. dollar denominated debt, available-for-sale securities, net capital exposures and foreign exchange transactions.

Citigroup accounts for its hedging activity in accordance with SFAS 133. As a general rule, SFAS 133 hedge accounting is permitted for those situations where the Company is exposed to a particular risk, such as interest rate or foreign exchange risk, that causes changes in the fair value of an asset or liability, or variability in the expected future cash flows of an existing asset, liability, or a forecasted transaction that may affect earnings.

Derivative contracts hedging the risks associated with the changes in fair value are referred to as fair value hedges, while contracts hedging the risks affecting the expected future cash flows are called cash flow hedges. Hedges that utilize derivatives to manage the foreign exchange risk associated with equity investments in non-U.S. dollar functional currency foreign subsidiaries are called net investment hedges.

All derivatives are reported on the balance sheet at fair value. If certain hedging criteria specified in SFAS 133 are met, including testing for hedge effectiveness, special hedge accounting may be applied. The hedge effectiveness assessment methodologies for similar hedges are performed in a similar manner and are used consistently throughout the hedging relationships. For fair value hedges, the changes in value of the hedging derivative, as well as the changes in value of the related hedged item, due to the risk being hedged, are reflected in current earnings. For cash flow hedges and net investment hedges, the changes in value of the hedging derivative are reflected in Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) in stockholders' equity, to the extent the hedge was effective. Hedge ineffectiveness, in either case, is reflected in current earnings.

Continuing with the example referred to above, the fixed rate long-term note is recorded at amortized cost under current U.S. GAAP. However, by electing to use SFAS 133 hedge accounting, the carrying value of this note is adjusted for changes in the benchmark interest rate, with any changes in fair value recorded in current earnings. The related interest rate swap is also recorded on the balance sheet at fair value, with any changes in fair value reflected in earnings. Thus, any ineffectiveness resulting from the hedging relationship is recorded in current earnings.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

Alternatively, an economic hedge, which does not meet the SFAS 133 hedging criteria, would involve only recording the derivative at fair value on the balance sheet, with its associated changes in value recorded in earnings. The note would continue to be carried at amortized cost and, therefore, current earnings would be impacted only by the interest rate shifts that cause the change in the swap's value. This type of hedge is undertaken when SFAS 133 hedge requirements cannot be achieved.

Fair value hedges

Hedging of benchmark interest rate risk Citigroup hedges exposure to changes in the fair value of fixed-rate financing transactions, including liabilities related to outstanding debt, borrowings and time deposits. The fixed cash flows from those financing transactions are converted to benchmark-variable-rate cash flows by entering into receive-fixed, pay-variable interest rate swaps. Typically these fair value hedge relationships use dollar-offset ratio analysis to assess whether the hedging relationships are highly effective at inception and on an ongoing basis.

Citigroup also hedges exposure to changes in the fair value of fixed-rate assets, including available-for-sale securities and inter-bank placements. The hedging instruments mainly used are receive-variable, pay-fixed interest rate swaps for the remaining hedged asset categories. Most of these fair value hedging relationships use dollar-offset ratio analysis to assess whether the hedging relationships are highly effective at inception and on an ongoing basis, while others use regression analysis.

For a limited number of fair value hedges of benchmark interest rate risk, Citigroup uses the "shortcut" method as

SFAS 133 allows the Company to assume no ineffectiveness if the hedging relationship involves an interest-bearing financial asset or liability and an interest rate swap. In order to assume no ineffectiveness, Citigroup ensures that all the shortcut method requirements of SFAS 133 for these types of hedging relationships are met.

Hedging of foreign exchange risk Citigroup hedges the change in fair value attributable to foreign exchange rate movements in available-for-sale securities that are denominated in currencies other than the functional currency of the entity holding the securities, which may be in or outside the U.S. Typically, the hedging instrument employed is a forward foreign exchange contract. In this type of hedge, the change in fair value of the hedged available-for-sale security attributable to the portion of foreign exchange risk hedged is reported in earnings and not Accumulated other comprehensive income a process that serves to offset substantially the change in fair value of the forward contract that is also reflected in earnings. Citigroup typically considers the premium associated with forward contracts (differential between spot and contractual forward rates) as the cost of hedging; this is generally excluded from the assessment of hedge effectiveness and reflected directly in earnings. Dollar-offset method is typically used to assess hedge effectiveness retrospectively and prospectively. Since that assessment is based on changes in fair value attributable to changes in spot rates on both the available-for-sale securities and the forward contracts for the portion of the relationship hedged, the amount of hedge ineffectiveness is not significant.

Hedging the overall changes in fair value Citigroup primarily hedges the change in the overall fair value of portfolios of similar held-for-sale mortgage loans. Derivatives used in these hedging relationships are mainly forward sales of mortgage-backed securities. Citigroup assesses effectiveness at inception and on an ongoing basis using regression analysis.

Cash flow hedges

Hedging of benchmark interest rate risk Citigroup hedges variable cash flows resulting from floating-rate liabilities and roll-over of short-term liabilities. Variable cash flows from those liabilities are converted to fixed-rate cash flows by entering into receive-variable, pay-fixed interest rate swaps. Efforts are made to match all critical terms of the hedged item and the hedging derivative at inception and on an ongoing basis to eliminate hedge ineffectiveness. To the extent all critical terms are not matched, these cash flow hedging relationships use regression or dollar-offset ratio analysis to assess whether the hedging relationships are highly effective at inception and on an ongoing basis. Since efforts are made initially to align the terms of the derivatives to those hedged forecasted cash flows, the amount of hedge ineffectiveness is not significant.

Citigroup also hedges variable cash flows resulting from investments in floating-rate available-for-sale securities. Variable cash flows from those assets are converted to fixed-rate cash flows by entering into receive-fixed, pay-variable interest rate swaps. These cash flow hedging relationships use regression or dollar-offset ratio analysis to assess whether the hedging relationships are highly effective at inception and on an ongoing basis. Efforts are made initially to align the terms of the derivatives to those hedged forecasted cash flows. As a result, the amount of hedge ineffectiveness is not significant.

Hedging of foreign exchange risk Citigroup locks in the functional currency equivalent of cash flows of various balance sheet exposures, including deposits, short-term borrowings and long-term debt (and the forecasted issuances or rollover of such items) that are denominated in a currency other than the functional currency of the issuing entity. Depending on the risk management objectives, these types of hedges are designated as either cash flow hedges of only foreign exchange risk or cash flow hedges of both foreign exchange and interest rate risk. Generally, the hedging instruments used are foreign exchange forward contracts and cross-currency swaps. Citigroup matches all critical terms of the hedged item and the hedging derivative at inception and on an ongoing basis to eliminate hedge ineffectiveness. To the extent all critical terms are not matched, any ineffectiveness is measured using the "hypothetical derivative method." Efforts are made initially to match up the terms of the hypothetical and actual derivatives used. As a result, the amount of hedge ineffectiveness is not significant.

Hedging the overall changes in cash flows In situations where the contractual rate of a variable rate asset or liability is not a benchmark rate, Citigroup designates the risk of overall changes in cash flows as the hedged risk. Citigroup primarily hedges variability in the total cash flows related to non-benchmark-rate-based liabilities, such as customer deposits with stated maturities, and uses receive-variable, pay-fixed interest rate swaps as the hedging instrument. These cash flow hedging relationships use regression or dollar-offset ratio analysis to assess effectiveness at inception and on an ongoing basis.

Citigroup also hedges the forecasted purchase of mortgage-backed securities and designates the overall change in the purchase price as a hedged risk. The assessment of effectiveness is based on ensuring that the critical terms of the hedging instrument and the hedged item match exactly.

Net investment hedges

Consistent with SFAS No. 52, "Foreign Currency Translation" (SFAS 52), SFAS 133 allows hedging of the foreign currency risk of a net investment in a foreign operation. Citigroup primarily uses foreign currency forwards, swaps and foreign-currency-denominated debt instruments to manage the foreign exchange risk associated with Citigroup's equity investments in several non-U.S. dollar functional currency foreign subsidiaries. In accordance with SFAS 52, Citigroup records the change in the carrying amount of these investments in the cumulative translation adjustment account within Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). Simultaneously, the effective portion of the hedge of this exposure is also recorded in the cumulative translation adjustment account, and any ineffective portion of net investment hedges is immediately recorded in earnings.

For derivatives used in net investment hedges, Citigroup follows the forward rate method from FASB Derivative Implementation Group Issue H8. According to that method, all changes in fair value, including changes related to the forward rate component of the foreign currency forward contracts, are recorded in the cumulative translation adjustment account. For foreign currency-denominated debt instruments that are designated as hedges of net investments, the translation gain or loss that is recorded in the cumulative translation adjustment account is based on the spot exchange rate between the functional currency of the respective subsidiary and the U.S. dollar, which is the functional currency of Citigroup.

Achieving hedge accounting in compliance with SFAS 133 guidelines is extremely complex. Key aspects of achieving SFAS 133 hedge accounting are documentation of hedging strategy and hedge effectiveness at the hedge inception and substantiating hedge effectiveness on an ongoing basis. A derivative must be highly effective in accomplishing the hedge objective of offsetting either changes in the fair value or cash flows of the hedged item for the risk being hedged. Any ineffectiveness in the hedge relationship is recognized in current earnings. The assessment of effectiveness excludes changes in the value of the hedged item that are unrelated to the risks being hedged. Similarly, the assessment of effectiveness may exclude changes in the fair value of a derivative related to time value that, if excluded, are recognized in current earnings.

The following table summarizes certain information related to the Company's hedging activities for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2007 and 2006:

Derivatives may expose Citigroup to market, credit or liquidity risks in excess of the amounts recorded on the Consolidated Balance Sheet. Market risk on a derivative product is the exposure created by potential fluctuations in interest rates, foreign exchange rates and other values, and is a function of the type of product, the volume of transactions, the tenor and terms of the agreement, and the underlying volatility. Credit risk is the exposure to loss in the event of nonperformance by the other party to the transaction where the value of any collateral held is not adequate to cover such losses. The recognition in earnings of unrealized gains on these transactions is subject to management's assessment as to collectibility. Liquidity risk is the potential exposure that arises when the size of the derivative position may not be able to be rapidly adjusted in periods of high volatility and financial stress at a reasonable cost.

16. Fair Value

Effective January 1, 2007, the Company adopted SFAS 157 and SFAS 159. Both standards address aspects of the expanding application of fair value accounting.

SFAS 157 defines fair value, establishes a consistent framework for measuring fair value and expands disclosure requirements about fair value measurements. SFAS 157, among other things, requires the Company to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs when measuring fair value. In addition, SFAS 157 precludes the use of block discounts when measuring the fair value of instruments traded in an active market, which were previously applied to large holdings of publicly traded equity securities. It also requires recognition of trade-date gains related to certain derivative transactions whose fair value has been determined using unobservable market inputs. This guidance supersedes the guidance in Emerging Issues Task Force Issue No. 02-3, "Issues Involved in Accounting for Derivative Contracts Held for Trading Purposes and Contracts Involved in Energy Trading and Risk Management Activities" (EITF Issue 02-3), which prohibited the recognition of trade-date gains for such derivative transactions when determining the fair value of instruments not traded in an active market.

In moving to maximize the use of observable inputs as required by SFAS 157, the Company has made some amendments to the techniques used in measuring the fair value of derivative positions. These amendments change the way that the probability of default of a counterparty is factored into the valuation of derivative positions, include for the first time the impact of Citigroup's own credit standing on liabilities measured at fair value, and also eliminate the portfolio servicing adjustment that is no longer necessary under SFAS 157.

Under SFAS 159, the Company may elect to report most financial instruments and certain other items at fair value on an instrument-by-instrument basis with changes in fair value reported in earnings. After the initial adoption, the election is made at the acquisition of an eligible financial asset, financial liability, or firm commitment or when certain specified reconsideration events occur. The fair value election may not be revoked once an election is made.

Additionally, the transition provisions of SFAS 159 permit a one-time election for existing positions at the adoption date with a cumulative-effect adjustment included in opening retained earnings and future changes in fair value reported in earnings.

On January 1, 2006, the Company also elected to early-adopt the fair value accounting provisions permitted under SFAS 155 and SFAS 156. In accordance with SFAS 155, which was primarily adopted on a prospective basis, hybrid financial instruments such as structured notes containing embedded derivatives that otherwise would require bifurcation, as well as certain interest-only instruments may be accounted for at fair value if the Company makes an irrevocable election to do so on an instrument-by-instrument basis. The changes in fair value are recorded in current earnings. Additional discussion regarding the applicable areas in which SFAS 155 was adopted is presented below.

SFAS 156 requires all servicing rights to be initially recognized at fair value. At its initial adoption, the standard permits a one-time irrevocable election to re-measure each class of servicing rights at fair value, with the changes in fair value recorded in current earnings. The classes of servicing rights are identified based on the availability of market inputs used in determining their fair values and the methods for managing their risks. The Company has elected fair value accounting for its mortgage and student loan classes of servicing rights. The impact of adopting this standard was not material. See Note 13 on page 68 for further discussions regarding the accounting and reporting of mortgage servicing rights.

Fair Value Hierarchy

Statement 157 specifies a hierarchy of valuation techniques based on whether the inputs to those valuation techniques are observable or unobservable. Observable inputs reflect market data obtained from independent sources, while unobservable inputs reflect the Company's market assumptions. In accordance with SFAS 157, these two types of inputs have created the following fair value hierarchy:

Level 1 Quoted prices for identical instruments in active markets.

Level 2 Quoted prices for similar instruments in active markets; quoted prices for identical or similar instruments in markets that are not active; and model-derived valuations in which all significant inputs and significant value drivers are observable in active markets.

Level 3 Model derived valuations in which one or more significant inputs or significant value drivers are unobservable.

This hierarchy requires the use of observable market data when available.

Determination of Fair Value

The Company measures fair value using the procedures set out below for all assets and liabilities measured at fair value, irrespective of whether they are carried at fair value as a result of an election under SFAS 159, SFAS 156, or SFAS 155 or whether they were previously carried at fair value pursuant to other accounting guidelines.

When available, the Company generally uses quoted market prices to determine fair value, and classifies such items within Level 1. In some cases where a market price is available the Company will make use of acceptable practical expedients (such as matrix pricing) to calculate fair value, in which case the items are classified within Level 2.

If observable transactions and other market data are not available, fair value is based upon internally developed models that use, where possible, current market-based or independently-sourced market parameters such as interest rates, currency rates, option volatilities etc. Items valued using internally generated models are classified according to the lowest level input or value driver that is most significant to the valuation. Thus, an item may be classified in Level 3 even though there may be significant inputs that are readily observable.

If observable transactions and other market data are not available, the valuation model used generally depends on the specific asset or liability being valued. The determination of fair value considers various factors including interest rate yield curves, time value and volatility factors, underlying options, warrants and derivatives and price activity for equivalent synthetic instruments. For fixed income securities and derivatives, as well as mortgage servicing rights and residual interests in securitizations, the Company generally uses a discounted cash flow analysis using discount rates commensurate with the credit quality and duration of the investment. For loans, valuations are generally based upon observable market prices for similar instruments, including bonds, credit derivatives and loans with similar credit characteristics. For loans that are expected to be securitized, fair value is estimated based upon observable pricing of asset-backed securities with similar collateral. In determining the value of the Company's obligations, various factors are considered depending on the nature of the liability. These factors may include closing exchange or over-the-counter market price quotations, time value and volatility factors underlying options, warrants, and derivatives, and price activity for equivalent or synthetic instruments.

In order to ensure that the fair value of financial instruments is calculated appropriately the Company adjusts the 'base valuations' calculated using the methodologies described above for a number of parameters that market participants would consider in determining fair value. The adjustments are applied consistently over time and are summarized below:

Counterparty credit risk adjustments are applied to financial instruments such as over-the-counter derivatives, where the base valuation uses market parameters based on an AA (or equivalent) credit rating. Not all counterparties have an AA (or equivalent credit rating), so it is necessary to take into account the actual credit rating of a counterparty in order to arrive at the true fair value of such an item.

Bilateral or own-credit risk adjustments are applied to reflect the Company's own credit risk when valuing all liabilities measured at fair value, in accordance with the requirements of SFAS 157. The methodology is consistent with that applied in generating counterparty credit risk adjustments, but incorporates the Company's own credit risk as observed in the credit default swap market.

Other market value adjustments are applied in circumstances where certain risk characteristics of the instrument are not fully incorporated into the base valuation methodology. The Company measures such market value adjustments based on the relevant factors, including: (1) the amount of time since the last relevant pricing point; (2) whether there was an actual trade or relevant external quote; (3) the volatility of the principal components of the financial instrument; and (4) other risk factors that the Company believes would be considered by market participants in determining the fair value of the instrument.

The Company's processes include a number of key controls that are designed to ensure that fair value is calculated appropriately. Such controls include a model validation policy requiring that models that provide values used in financial statements be validated by qualified personnel independent from those who created the models and escalation procedures to ensure that valuations using unverifiable inputs are identified and monitored on a regular basis by senior management.

Fair Value Elections

The following table presents, as of September 30, 2007, those positions selected for fair value accounting in accordance with SFAS 159, SFAS 156, and SFAS 155, as well as the changes in fair value for the three- and nine-month periods then ended.

The fair value of liabilities for which the fair value option was elected was impacted by the widening of the Company's credit spread. The estimated change in the fair value of these liabilities due to such changes in the Company's own credit risk (or instrument-specific credit risk) was a gain of $112 million and $241 million for the quarter and nine months ended September 30,

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

2007, respectively. Changes in fair value resulting from changes in instrument-specific credit risk were estimated by incorporating the Company's current observable credit spreads into the discounted cash flow analysis used to value the relevant liability.

Impact on retained earnings of certain fair value elections in accordance with SFAS 159

Detailed below are the December 31, 2006 carrying values prior to adoption of SFAS 159, the transition adjustments booked to opening retained earnings and the fair values (that is, the carrying values at January 1, 2007 after adoption) for those items that were selected for fair value option accounting and that had an impact on retained earnings:

The cumulative-effect adjustment represents the reclassification of the related unrealized gain/loss from Accumulated other comprehensive income to Retained earnings upon the adoption of the fair value option.

(2) Excludes netting of the amounts due from securities purchased under agreements to resell and the amounts owed under securities sold under agreements to repurchase in accordance with FASB Interpretation No. 41, "Offsetting of Amounts Related to Certain Repurchase and Reverse Repurchase Agreements."

Additional information regarding each of these items follows.

Legg Mason convertible preferred equity securities

The Legg Mason convertible preferred equity securities (Legg shares) were acquired in connection with the sale of Citigroup's Asset Management business in December 2005. We hold these shares as a non-strategic investment for long-term appreciation and, therefore, selected fair value option accounting in anticipation of the January 2008 implementation of the Investment Company Audit Guide Statement of Position 07-1, "Clarification of the Scope of Audit and Accounting Guide Audits of Investment Companies and Accounting by Parent Companies and Equity Method Investors for Investment Companies" (SOP). In October 2007, the FASB proposed to delay the implementation of the SOP indefinitely.

Under the current investment company accounting model, investments held in investment company vehicles are recorded at full fair value (where changes in fair value are recorded in earnings) and are not subject to consolidation guidelines. Under the SOP, non-strategic investments not held in investment companies, which are deemed similar to non-strategic investments held in Citigroup's investment companies, must be accounted for at full fair value in order for Citigroup to retain investment company accounting in the Company's Consolidated Financial Statements. If investment company accounting requirements cannot be met (for example, if we failed to account for similar non-strategic investments at fair value with changes in value recorded in earnings), Citigroup would be required to account for each investment in the investment company under other relevant accounting standards, including consolidation of majority-owned or controlled investees. We believe that Citigroup's consolidation of non-strategic investments would not provide meaningful information and would confuse readers of our financial statements. Therefore, we have utilized the fair value option to migrate the Legg shares from available-for-sale (where changes in fair value are recorded in Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss)) to a full fair value model (where changes in value are recorded in earnings). On a prospective basis, as we acquire non-strategic public or private equity investments, we will consider electing fair value accounting for investments that are similar to those held in our investment companies.

Prior to the election of fair value option accounting, the shares were classified as available-for-sale securities with the unrealized loss of $232 million as of December 31, 2006 included in Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). In connection with the Company's adoption of SFAS 159, this unrealized loss was recorded as a reduction of January 1, 2007 retained earnings as part of the cumulative-effect adjustment. We have no intention of selling the Legg shares prior to our previously estimated recovery period. The Legg shares, which have a fair value of $707 million as of September 30, 2007, are now included in Trading account assets on Citigroup's Consolidated Balance Sheet. Dividends are included in Interest revenue.

Selected portfolios of securities purchased under agreements to resell, securities borrowed, securities sold under agreements to repurchase, securities loaned, and certain non-collateralized short-term borrowings

The Company elected the fair value option retrospectively for our United States and United Kingdom portfolios of fixed income securities purchased under agreements to resell and fixed income securities sold under agreements to repurchase (and certain non-collateralized short-term borrowings). The fair value option was also elected prospectively from April 2007 for certain portfolios of fixed income securities lending and borrowing transactions based in Japan. In each case, the election was made because these positions are managed on a fair value basis. Specifically, related interest rate risk is managed on a portfolio basis, primarily with derivative instruments that are accounted for at fair value through earnings. Previously, these positions were accounted for on an accrual basis.

The cumulative effect of $58 million pretax ($37 million after-tax) from adopting the fair value option for the U.S. and U.K. portfolios was recorded as an increase in the January 1, 2007 retained earnings balance. The September 30, 2007 net balance of $125.3 billion for securities purchased under agreements to resell and securities borrowed and $313.4 billion for securities sold under agreements to repurchase and securities loaned are included in their respective accounts in the Consolidated Balance Sheet. The uncollateralized short-term borrowings of $5.3 billion are recorded in that account in the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

Changes in fair value for transactions in these portfolios are recorded in Principal transactions. The related interest revenue and interest expense are measured based on the contractual rates specified in the transactions and are reported as interest revenue and expense in the Consolidated Statement of Income.

Selected letters of credit and revolving loans hedged by credit default swaps or participation notes

The Company has elected fair value option accounting for certain letters of credit that are hedged with derivative instruments or participation notes. Upon electing the fair value option, the related portions of the allowance for loan losses and the allowance for unfunded lending commitments were reversed. Citigroup elected the fair value option for these transactions because the risk is managed on a fair value basis, and to mitigate accounting mismatches.

The cumulative effect of $14 million pretax ($9 million after-tax) from adopting fair value option accounting was recorded as an increase in the January 1, 2007 retained earnings balance. The change in fair value as well as the receipt of related fees was reported as Principal transactions in the Company's Consolidated Statement of Income.

The notional amount of these unfunded letters of credit was $1.4 billion as of September 30, 2007. The amount funded was insignificant with no amounts 90 days or more past due, or on a non-accrual status at September 30, 2007.

These items have been classified appropriately in Trading account assets or Trading account liabilities on the Consolidated Balance Sheet.

Various miscellaneous eligible items

Several miscellaneous eligible items previously classified as available-for-sale securities were selected for fair value option accounting. These items were selected in preparation for the adoption of the Investment Company Audit Guide SOP, as previously discussed.

Other items for which the fair value option was selected in accordance with SFAS 159

The Company has elected fair value option for the following eligible items, which did not affect opening retained earnings:

Certain credit products

Certain investments in private equity and real estate ventures

Certain structured liabilities

Certain non-structured liabilities

Certain equity-method investments

Certain mortgage loans held-for-sale

Certain credit products

Citigroup has elected the fair value option for certain originated and purchased loans, including certain unfunded loan products, such as guarantees and letters of credit, executed by Citigroup's trading businesses. None of these credit products are highly leveraged financing commitments. Significant groups of transactions include loans and unfunded loan products that will either be sold or securitized in the near term, or where the economic risks are hedged with derivative instruments. Citigroup has elected the fair value option to mitigate accounting mismatches in cases where hedge accounting is complex; and to achieve operational simplifications. Fair value was not elected for most lending transactions across the Company, including where those management objectives would not be met.

The balances for these loan products, which are classified with Trading account assets or Loans, were $25.1 billion and $2.1 billion as of September 30, 2007, respectively. The aggregate unpaid principal balances exceeded the aggregate fair values by $1.1 billion as of September 30, 2007. $81 million of these loans were on a non-accrual basis. For those loans that are on a non-accrual basis, the aggregate unpaid principal balances exceeded the aggregate fair values by $34 million as of September 30, 2007.

In addition, $141 million of unfunded loan commitments related to certain credit products selected for fair value accounting were outstanding as of September 30, 2007.

Changes in fair value of funded and unfunded credit products are classified in Principal transactions in the Company's Consolidated Statement of Income. Related interest revenue is measured based on the contractual interest rates and reported as interest revenue on trading account assets or loans depending on their balance sheet classifications. The changes in fair value during the third quarter 2007 due to instrument-specific credit risk totaled to a loss of $136 million.

Certain investments in private equity and real estate ventures

Citigroup invests in private equity and real estate ventures for the purpose of earning investment returns and for capital appreciation. The Company has elected the fair value option for certain of these ventures in anticipation of the January 2009 implementation of the Investment Company Audit Guide SOP, because such investments are considered similar to many private equity or hedge fund activities in our investment companies, which are reported at fair value. See previous discussion regarding the SOP. The fair value option brings consistency in the accounting and evaluation of certain of these investments. As required by SFAS 159, all investments (debt and equity) in such real estate entities are accounted for at fair value.

These investments, which totaled $479 million as of September 30, 2007, are classified as Investments on Citigroup's Consolidated Balance Sheet. Changes in the fair values of these investments are classified in Other revenue in the Company's Consolidated Statement of Income.

Certain structured liabilities

The Company has elected the fair value option for certain structured liabilities whose performance is linked to structured interest rates, inflation or currency risks ("structured liabilities"), but do not qualify for the fair value election under SFAS 155.

The Company has elected the fair value option for structured liabilities, because these exposures are considered to be trading-related positions and, therefore, are managed on a fair value basis. These positions will continue to be classified as debt, deposits or derivatives according to their legal form on the Company's Consolidated Balance Sheet. The balances for these structured liabilities, which are classified as Interest-bearing deposits and Long-term debt on the Consolidated Balance Sheet, are $233 million and $2.6 billion as of September 30, 2007, respectively.

For these structured liabilities classified as Long-term debt for which the fair value option has been elected, the aggregate unpaid principal balance exceeds the aggregate fair value of such instruments by $48 million as of September 30, 2007.

The change in fair value for these structured liabilities is reported in Principal transactions in the Company's Consolidated Statement of Income.

Related interest expense is measured based on the contractual interest rates and reported as such in the Consolidated Income Statement.

Certain non-structured liabilities

The Company has elected the fair value option for certain non-structured liabilities with fixed and non-structured floating interest rates ("non-structured liabilities"). The Company has elected the fair value option where the interest rate risk of such liabilities is economically hedged with derivative contracts or the proceeds are used to purchase financial assets that will also be fair valued. The election has been made to mitigate accounting mismatches and to achieve operational simplifications. These positions are reported in Long-term debt on the Company's Consolidated Balance Sheet. The balances of these non-structured liabilities as of September 30, 2007 is $3.1 billion.

For these non-structured liabilities classified as Long-term debt for which the fair value option has been elected, the aggregate fair value exceeds the aggregate unpaid principal balance of such instruments by $26 million as of September 30, 2007.

The change in fair value for these non-structured liabilities is reported in Principal transactions in the Company's Consolidated Statement of Income.

Related interest expense continues to be measured based on the contractual interest rates and reported as such in the Consolidated Income Statement.

Certain equity method investments

Citigroup adopted fair value accounting for various non-strategic investments in leveraged buyout funds and other hedge funds that previously were required to be accounted for under the equity method. Management elected fair value accounting to reduce operational and accounting complexity, in particular related to the future implementation of the Investment Company Audit Guide SOP. Since the funds account for all of their underlying assets at full fair value, the impact of applying the equity method to Citigroup's investment in these funds was equivalent to fair value accounting. Thus, this fair value election had no impact on opening retained earnings.

These fund investments, which totaled $2.0 billion as of September 30, 2007, are classified as Investments on the Consolidated Balance Sheet. Changes in the fair values of these investments are classified in Other revenue in the Consolidated Statement of Income.

Certain mortgage loans held-for-sale

Citigroup has elected the fair value option for certain purchased and originated prime fixed-rate and conforming adjustable-rate first mortgage loans held-for-sale. These loans are intended for sale or securitization and are hedged with derivative instruments. The Company has elected the fair value option to mitigate accounting mismatches in cases where hedge accounting is complex and to achieve operational simplifications. The fair value option was not elected for loans held for investment, as those loans are not hedged with derivative instruments. This election was effective for applicable instruments originated or purchased since September 1, 2007.

The balance for these mortgage loans held-for-sale, classified as Other assets, was $5.2 billion as of September 30, 2007. The aggregate fair value exceeded the unpaid principal balances by $36 million as of September 30, 2007. None of these loans were 90 days or more past due, nor were any on a non-accrual basis.

The changes in fair values of these mortgage loans held-for-sale is reported in Other revenue in the Company's Consolidated Statement of Income. The changes in fair value during the third quarter 2007 due to instrument-specific credit risk were immaterial. Related interest income continues to be measured based on the contractual interest rates and reported as such in the Consolidated Income Statement.

Items selected for fair value accounting in accordance with SFAS 155 and SFAS 156

Certain hybrid financial instruments

The Company has elected to apply fair value accounting under SFAS 155 for certain hybrid financial assets and liabilities whose performance is linked to risks other than interest rate, foreign exchange or inflation (e.g., equity, credit or commodity risks). In addition, the Company has elected fair value accounting under SFAS 155 for residual interests retained from securitizing certain financial assets. These elections are applicable only to those transactions originated after January 1, 2006.

The Company has elected fair value accounting for these instruments, because these exposures are considered to be trading-related positions and, therefore, are managed on a fair value basis. In addition, the accounting for these instruments is simplified under a fair value approach as it eliminates the complicated operational requirements of bifurcating the embedded derivatives from the host contracts and accounting for each separately. The hybrid financial instruments are classified as loans, deposits, trading liabilities (for pre-paid derivatives) or debt on the Company's Consolidated Balance Sheet according to their legal form, while residual interests in certain securitizations are classified as trading account assets.

The outstanding balances for these hybrid financial instruments classified in Loans is $686 million, while $3.2 billion is in Interest-bearing deposits, $7.2 billion in Trading account liabilities, $4.0 billion in Short-term borrowings and $26.1 billion in Long-term debt on the Consolidated Balance Sheet as of September 30, 2007. In addition, $2.4 billion was reported in Trading account assets for the residual interests in securitizations.

For hybrid financial instruments for which fair value accounting has been elected under SFAS 155 and that are classified as Long-term debt, the aggregate fair value exceeds the aggregate unpaid principal balance by $852 million as of September 30, 2007, while the difference for those instruments classified as Loans is immaterial.

Changes in fair value for hybrid financial instruments, which in most cases includes a component for accrued interest, are recorded in Principal transactions in the Company's Consolidated Statement of Income. Interest accruals for certain hybrid instruments classified as trading assets are recorded separately from the change in fair value as interest revenue in the Company's Consolidated Statement of Income.

Mortgage servicing rights

On January 1, 2006, the Company elected to early-adopt fair value accounting under SFAS 156 for mortgage servicing rights (MSRs). The fair value for these MSRs is determined using an option-adjusted spread valuation approach. This approach consists of projecting servicing cash flows under multiple interest rate scenarios, and discounting these cash flows using risk-adjusted discount rates. The model assumptions used in the valuation of MSRs include mortgage prepayment speeds and discount rates. The fair value of MSRs is primarily affected by changes in prepayments that result from shifts in mortgage interest rates. In managing this risk, the Company hedges a significant portion of the values of its MSRs through the use of interest rate derivative contracts, forward purchase commitments of mortgage-backed securities, and purchased securities classified as trading. See Note 13 on page 68 for further discussions regarding the accounting and reporting of MSRs.

These MSRs, which totaled $10.0 billion as of September 30, 2007, are classified as Intangible assets on Citigroup's Consolidated Balance Sheet. Changes in fair value for MSRs are recorded in Commissions and fees in the Company's Consolidated Statement of Income.

Items Measured at Fair Value on a Recurring Basis

The following table presents for each of the fair value hierarchy levels, the Company's assets and liabilities that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis at September 30, 2007. The Company often hedges positions that have been classified in the Level 3 category with financial instruments that have been classified as Level 1 or Level 2. The Company also hedges items classified in the Level 3 category with instruments also classified in Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy. The effects of these hedges are presented gross in the following table.

(2) There is no allowance for loan losses recorded for loans reported at fair value.

The following tables present the changes in the Level 3 fair value category for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2007. The Company classifies financial instruments in Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy when there is reliance on at least one significant unobservable input to the valuation model. In addition to these unobservable inputs, the valuation models for Level 3 financial instruments typically also rely on a number of inputs that are readily observable either directly or indirectly. Thus, the gains and losses presented below include changes in the fair value related to both observable and unobservable inputs.

The Company often hedges positions with offsetting positions that are classified in a different level. For example, the gains and losses for assets and liabilities in the Level 3 category presented in the tables below do not reflect the effect of offsetting losses and gains on hedging instruments that have been classified by the Company in the Level 1 and Level 2 categories. The Company also hedges items classified in the Level 3 category with instruments also classified in Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy. The effects of these hedges are presented gross in the following table.

Components of Level 3

The following are the major components of the Level 3 fair value hierarchy:

Residual interests from the securitization of US credit card receivables (IO Strip) A residual interest from a securitization is an asset that represents a retained beneficial interest in the future cash flows created by the securitization that qualifies as a sale.

Mortgage servicing rights A mortgage servicing right (MSR) arises from a contract to service mortgage loans under which Citigroup is obligated to perform specific loan administration functions (i.e., send bills, deposit payments, update account balances, follow up on delinquent accounts) and is compensated with contractually specified servicing fees. A MSR asset represents the amount by which the present value of the estimated future net cash flows to be received from servicing mortgage loans are expected to more than adequately compensate Citigroup for performing the servicing. MSRs may either be purchased from an existing servicer or created through the sale of a loan to an investor with servicing retained.

Private equity investments managed by CAI and CMB Private equity involves the purchase of an ownership stake in a company which is privately held. The securities are not listed on an exchange. In addition, there may be transfer restrictions on private equities.

Asset-backed commercial paper (ABCP) ABCP is short-term debt issued by an SPE. The SPE issuer uses proceeds from the issuance to purchase asset-backed securities. Repayment of ABCP is dependent on collections from these investments or the issuance of new ABCP. This inventory is classified as Level 3 due to illiquidity in the ABCP market during the 2007 third quarter.

Loans classified as trading assets Loans pending securitization or loans purchased in connection with the Company's trading activities where prices are unobservable during the period are classified as Level 3.

Structured credit products Structured credit products include synthetic CDOs and other complex derivatives. Synthetic CDOs are not collateralized by a physical portfolio of assets like bonds or loans. Instead, synthetic CDOs gain credit exposure to a portfolio of fixed income assets through the use of credit default swaps. Only structured credit products where key inputs, such as correlation, are not observable are classified as Level 3.

Items Measured at Fair Value on a Nonrecurring Basis

Certain assets and liabilities are measured at fair value on a non-recurring basis and therefore are not included in the tables above. These include assets such as loans held-for-sale that are measured at the lower of cost or market (LOCOM) that were recognized at fair value below cost at the end of the period. Assets measured at cost that have been written down to fair value during the period as a result of an impairment are also included.

As of September 30, 2007, loans held-for-sale carried at LOCOM with an aggregate cost of $20.9 billion were written down to fair value totaling $19.8 billion, of which $4.7 billion and $15.1 billion were determined based on Level 2 and Level 3 inputs, respectively. For both the three and nine months ended September 30, 2007, the resulting charges taken on loans held-for-sale carried at fair value below cost were $1.1 billion. For loans that are expected to be securitized that are carried at LOCOM, the inputs used to measure fair value include observable prices of asset-backed securities with similar collateral. These prices are adjusted to account for securitization uncertainties including portfolio composition, market conditions and liquidity.

Customer relationship intangibles and fixed assets in the Japan Consumer Finance business were written down to their fair value of zero, resulting in an impairment charge of $152 million pre-tax ($98 million after-tax). For those assets that were written down due to impairment, fair value measurements were determined based upon discounted expected cash flows or a comparison to liquidation prices of comparable assets.

17. Guarantees and Credit Commitments

Guarantees

The Company provides a variety of guarantees and indemnifications to Citigroup customers to enhance their credit standing and enable them to complete a wide variety of business transactions. The following table summarizes at September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006 all of the Company's guarantees and indemnifications, where management believes the guarantees and indemnifications are related to an asset, liability, or equity security of the guaranteed parties at the inception of the contract. The maximum potential amount of future payments represents the notional amounts that could be lost under the guarantees and indemnifications if there were a total default by the guaranteed parties, without consideration of possible recoveries under recourse provisions or from collateral held or pledged. Such amounts bear no relationship to the anticipated losses on these guarantees and indemnifications and greatly exceed anticipated losses.

The following tables present information about the Company's guarantees at September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006:

The carrying values of securities lending indemnifications, credit card merchant processing, and custody indemnifications are not material as the Company has determined that the amount and probability of potential liabilities arising from these guarantees are not significant and the carrying amount of the Company's obligations under these guarantees is immaterial.

(2)

Reclassified to conform to the current period's presentation.

Financial Standby Letters of Credit

Citigroup issues standby letters of credit which substitute its own credit for that of the borrower. If a letter of credit is drawn down, the borrower is obligated to repay Citigroup. Standby letters of credit protect a third party from defaults on contractual obligations. Financial standby letters of credit include guarantees of payment of insurance premiums and reinsurance risks that support industrial revenue bond underwriting and settlement of payment obligations to clearing houses, and also support options and purchases of securities or in lieu of escrow deposit accounts. Financial standbys also backstop loans, credit facilities, promissory notes and trade acceptances.

Performance Guarantees

Performance guarantees and letters of credit are issued to guarantee a customer's tender bid on a construction or systems installation project or to guarantee completion of such projects in accordance with contract terms. They are also issued to support a customer's obligation to supply specified products, commodities, or maintenance or warranty services to a third party.

Derivative Instruments

Derivatives are financial instruments whose cash flows are based on a notional amount or an underlying instrument, where there is little or no initial investment, and whose terms require or permit net settlement. The main use of derivatives is to reduce risk for one party while offering the potential for high return (at increased risk) to another. Financial institutions often act as intermediaries for their clients, helping clients reduce their risks. However, derivatives may also be used to take a risk position. Derivative instruments include credit default swaps, total return swaps, written foreign exchange options, written put options, and written equity warrants.

Loans Sold with Recourse

Loans sold with recourse represent the Company's obligations to reimburse the buyers for loan losses under certain circumstances. Recourse refers to the clause in a sales agreement under which a lender will fully reimburse the buyer/investor for any losses resulting from the purchased loans. This may be accomplished by the seller's taking back any loans that become delinquent.

Securities Lending Indemnifications

Owners of securities frequently lend those securities for a fee to other parties who may sell them short or deliver them to another party to satisfy some other obligation. Banks may administer such securities lending programs for their clients. Securities lending indemnifications are issued by the bank to guarantee that a securities lending customer will be made whole in the event that the security borrower does not return the security subject to the lending agreement and collateral held is insufficient to cover the market value of the security.

Credit Card Merchant Processing

Credit card merchant processing guarantees represent the Company's indirect obligations in connection with the processing of private label and bankcard transactions on behalf of merchants.

Custody Indemnifications

Custody indemnifications are issued to guarantee that custody clients will be made whole in the event that a third-party subcustodian fails to safeguard clients' assets. Beginning with the 2006 third quarter, the scope of the custody indemnifications was broadened to cover all clients' assets held by third-party subcustodians.

Other Guarantees and Indemnifications

Citigroup's primary credit card business is the issuance of credit cards to individuals. In addition, the Company provides transaction processing services to various merchants with respect to bankcard and private label cards. In the event of a billing dispute with respect to a bankcard transaction between a merchant and a cardholder, that is ultimately resolved in the cardholder's favor, the third party holds the primary contingent liability to credit or refund the amount to the cardholder and charge back the transaction to the merchant. If the third party is unable to collect this amount from the merchant, it bears the loss for the amount of the credit or refund paid to the cardholder.

The Company continues to have the primary contingent liability with respect to its portfolio of private label merchants. The risk of loss is mitigated as the cash flows between the third party or the Company and the merchant are settled on a net basis and the third party or the Company has the right to offset any payments with cash flows otherwise due to the merchant. To further mitigate this risk, the third party or the Company may require a merchant to make an escrow deposit, delay settlement, or include event triggers to provide the third party or the Company with more financial and operational control in the event of the financial deterioration of the merchant, or require various credit enhancements (including letters of credit and bank guarantees). In the unlikely event that a private label merchant is unable to deliver products, services or a refund to its private label cardholders, Citigroup is contingently liable to credit or refund cardholders. In addition, although a third party holds the primary contingent liability with respect to the processing of bankcard transactions, in the event that the third party does not have sufficient collateral from the merchant or sufficient financial resources of its own to provide the credit or refunds to the cardholders, Citigroup would be liable to credit or refund the cardholders.

The Company's maximum potential contingent liability related to both bankcard and private label merchant processing services is estimated to be the total volume of credit card transactions that meet the requirements to be valid chargeback transactions at any given time. At September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, this maximum potential exposure was estimated to be $61 billion and $52 billion, respectively.

However, the Company believes that the maximum exposure is not representative of the actual potential loss exposure, based on the Company's historical experience and its position as a secondary guarantor (in the case of bankcards). In most cases, this contingent liability is unlikely to arise, as most products and services are delivered when purchased and amounts are refunded when items are returned to merchants. The Company assesses the probability and amount of its contingent liability related to merchant processing based on the financial strength of the primary guarantor (in the case of bankcards) and the extent and nature of unresolved chargebacks and its historical loss experience. At September 31, 2007 and December 31, 2006, the estimated losses incurred and the carrying amounts of the Company's contingent obligations related to merchant processing activities were immaterial.

In addition, the Company, through its credit card business, provides various cardholder protection programs on several of its card products, including programs that provide insurance coverage for rental cars, coverage for certain losses associated with purchased products, price protection for certain purchases and protection for lost luggage. These guarantees are not included in the table, since the total outstanding amount of the guarantees and the Company's maximum exposure to loss cannot be quantified. The protection is limited to certain types of purchases and certain types of losses and it is not possible to quantify the purchases that would qualify for these benefits at any given time. The Company assesses the probability and amount of its potential liability related to these programs based on the extent and nature of its historical loss experience. At September 30, 2007, the actual and estimated losses incurred and the carrying value of the Company's obligations related to these programs were immaterial.

In the normal course of business, the Company provides standard representations and warranties to counterparties in contracts in connection with numerous transactions and also provides indemnifications that protect the counterparties to the contracts in the event that additional taxes are owed due either to a change in the tax law or an adverse interpretation of the tax law. Counterparties to these transactions provide the Company with comparable indemnifications. While such representations, warranties and tax indemnifications are essential components of many contractual relationships, they do not represent the underlying business purpose for the transactions. The indemnification clauses are often standard contractual terms related to the Company's own performance under the terms of a contract and are entered into in the normal course of business based on an assessment that the risk of loss is remote. Often these clauses are intended to ensure that terms of a contract are met at inception (for example, that loans transferred to a counterparty in a sales transaction did in fact meet the conditions specified in the contract at the transfer date). No compensation is received for these standard representations and warranties, and it is not possible to determine their fair value because they rarely, if ever, result in a payment. In many cases, there are no stated or notional amounts included in the indemnification clauses and the contingencies potentially triggering the obligation to indemnify have not occurred and are not expected to occur. There are no amounts reflected on the Consolidated Balance Sheet as of September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, related to these indemnifications and they are not included in the table.

In addition, the Company is a member of or shareholder in hundreds of value transfer networks (VTNs) (payment clearing and settlement systems as well as securities exchanges) around the world. As a condition of membership, many of these VTNs require that members stand ready to backstop the net effect on the VTNs of a member's default on its obligations. The Company's potential obligations as a shareholder or member of VTN associations are excluded from the scope of FIN 45, since the shareholders and members represent subordinated classes of investors in the VTNs. Accordingly, the Company's participation in VTNs is not reported in the table and there are no amounts reflected on the Consolidated Balance Sheet as of September 30, 2007 or December 31, 2006 for potential obligations that could arise from the Company's involvement with VTN associations.

At September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, the carrying amounts of the liabilities related to the guarantees and indemnifications included in the table amounted to approximately $54 billion and $17 billion, respectively. The carrying value of derivative instruments is included in either Trading liabilities or Other liabilities, depending upon whether the derivative was entered into for trading or non-trading purposes. The carrying value of financial and performance guarantees is included in Other liabilities. For loans sold with recourse, the carrying value of the liability is included in Other liabilities. In addition, at September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, Other liabilities on the Consolidated Balance Sheet include an allowance for credit losses of $1.15 billion and $1.1 billion, respectively, relating to letters of credit and unfunded lending commitments.

In addition to the collateral available in respect of the credit card merchant processing contingent liability discussed above, the Company has collateral available to reimburse potential losses on its other guarantees. Cash collateral available to the Company to reimburse losses realized under these guarantees and indemnifications amounted to $110 billion and $92 billion at September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, respectively. Securities and other marketable assets held as collateral amounted to $53 billion and $42 billion and letters of credit in favor of the Company held as collateral amounted to $233 million and $142 million at September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, respectively. Other property may also be available to the Company to cover losses under certain guarantees and indemnifications; however, the value of such property has not been determined.

Credit Commitments

The table below summarizes Citigroup's other commitments as of September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006.

In millions of dollars	September 30, 2007	December 31, 2006
Commercial and similar letters of credit	$ 9,177	$ 7,861
One- to four-family residential mortgages	7,424	3,457

Credit card lines	1,030,123	987,409
Commercial and other consumer loan commitments	513,668	439,931
Total	$ 1,601,746	$ 1,475,114

Commercial and similar letter of credit

A commercial letter of credit is an instrument by which Citigroup substitutes its credit for that of a customer to enable the customers to finance the purchase of goods or to incur other commitments. Citigroup issues a letter on behalf of its client to a supplier and agrees to pay them upon presentation of documentary evidence that the supplier has performed in accordance with the terms of the letter of credit. When drawn, the customer then is required to reimburse Citigroup.

One- to four-family residential mortgages

A one-to-four family residential mortgage commitment is a written confirmation from Citigroup to a seller of a property that the bank will advance the specified sums enabling the buyer to complete the purchase.

Edgar Filing: CITIGROUP INC - Form 10-Q

Revolving open-end loans secured by one- to four-family residential properties

Revolving open-end loans secured by one- to four-family residential properties are essentially home equity lines of credit. A home equity line of credit is a loan secured by a primary residence or second home to the extent of the excess of fair market value over the debt outstanding for the first mortgage.

Credit card lines

Citigroup provides credit to customers by issuing credit cards. The credit card lines are unconditionally cancellable by the issuer.

Commercial and other consumer loan commitments

Commercial and other consumer loan commitments include commercial commitments to make or purchase loans, to purchase third-party receivables, and to provide note issuance or revolving underwriting facilities. Amounts include $282 billion and $251 billion with original maturity of less than one year at September 30, 2007 and December 31, 2006, respectively.

In addition, included in this line item are highly-leveraged financing commitments which are agreements that provide funding to a borrower with higher levels of debt (measured by the ratio of debt capital to equity capital of the borrower) than is generally considered normal for other companies. This type of financing is commonly employed in corporate acquisitions, management buy-outs and similar transactions.

18. Contingencies

As described in the "Legal Proceedings" discussion on page 103, the Company has been a defendant in numerous lawsuits and other legal proceedings arising out of alleged misconduct in connection with:

- (i) underwritings for, and research coverage of, WorldCom;
- (ii) underwritings for Enron and other transactions and activities related to Enron;
- (iii) transactions and activities related to research coverage of companies other than WorldCom; and
- (iv) transactions and activities related to the IPO Securities Litigation.

As of September 30, 2007, the Company's litigation reserve for these matters, net of amounts previously paid or not yet paid but committed to be paid in connection with the Enron class action settlement and other settlements arising out of these matters, was approximately $2.8 billion.

The Company believes that this reserve is adequate to meet all of its remaining exposure for these matters. However, in view of the large number of these matters, the uncertainties of the timing and outcome of this type of litigation, the novel issues presented, and the significant amounts involved, it is possible that the ultimate costs of these matters may exceed or be below the reserve. The Company will continue to defend itself vigorously in these cases, and seek to resolve them in the manner management believes is in the best interests of the Company.

In addition, in the ordinary course of business, Citigroup and its subsidiaries are defendants or co-defendants or parties in various litigation and regulatory matters incidental to and typical of the businesses in which they are engaged. In the opinion of the Company's management, the ultimate resolution of these legal and regulatory proceedings would not be likely to have a material adverse effect on the consolidated financial condition of the Company but, if involving monetary liability, may be material to the Company's operating results for any particular period.
