On October 21, 2014, the following letter was provided to Cleco retirees.

Dear Cleco Retiree,

As a retiree of Cleco, you are an important part of our company's family. So, we wanted to personally reach out to you regarding the recent news that Cleco has entered into a definitive agreement to be acquired by a group of North American investors led by Macquarie Infrastructure Real Assets (MIRA) and British Columbia Investment Management Corporation (bcIMC) together with John Hancock Financial and other infrastructure investors.

After a thorough evaluation, we believe this transaction is in the best interest of all Cleco stakeholders, including our employees, customers, communities, shareholders - and our retirees. This transaction preserves Cleco's heritage as an independent, Louisiana electric utility, and it allows Cleco Power to build on its success as a safe, reliable, cost-competitive electric provider to communities around Louisiana.

As you know, earlier this year, we announced that we had received indications of interest from third parties with respect to a strategic transaction. As we evaluated these indications and the opportunities available to the company, we were guided by a number of important considerations that were critical to our business and to Cleco's core values. At the top of this list was ensuring that any potential partner understood the relationship between Cleco and its retirees, employees, and communities. It was also important to us that any potential partner believed in Cleco's long-term strategy and was committed to helping us achieve continued growth.

The transaction we have announced provides Cleco with just such partners. These are long-term investors who share a philosophy of investing in high-quality infrastructure and other essential assets over the long-term. They have a strong record as owners of other large utility companies in the United States and around the world, supporting those independent businesses in their efforts to grow and prosper.

As you know, Cleco doesn't just keep the lights on. We play an important role in people's lives and help drive the economic vitality of the communities we serve throughout 23 parishes. Our new partners recognize this, and as part of the transaction, they have made broad commitments to preserve retiree benefits, employment levels, employee pay levels and benefits, customer service levels, and our long-standing community and economic development initiatives. For our retirees in particular, this means that there will be no material changes to Cleco's pension plan, pension plan design, or to current benefits for retiree medical plan participants for two years.

Following the close of the transaction, Cleco will remain a Louisiana utility, locally based and locally managed and will have Louisiana residents on its board of directors as we have had in the past. We will continue to operate as a stand-alone company with our headquarters and customer call center in Pineville. Upon closing, Darren Olagues, currently president of Cleco Power LLC, is expected to become president and CEO of Cleco. Additional details regarding the management team and board of directors will be provided over the coming months as we move closer to the transaction's closing.

In terms of next steps, there are a number of approvals that are required before the transaction can close, which is currently expected in the second half of 2015. In the meantime, it should be business as usual. Indeed, while the corporate structure is changing, most things are staying the same.

We will keep you informed and are committed to answering any questions you may have. You will have an opportunity to ask questions of management at the next retiree group meeting scheduled for November 10, 2014, in Lafayette.

A copy of the press release is attached to this letter.

At the end of the day, this transaction is about preserving Cleco's heritage and securing our future. We hope you will share our enthusiasm about this transaction and look forward to talking with you more about it.

Thank you for your continued loyalty to and support of Cleco.

Sincerely,

Bruce Williamson	Darren Olagues
Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer	President, Cleco Power

Forward-Looking Statements

Statements in this communication include "forward-looking statements" about future events, circumstances and results within the meaning of the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, both as amended by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. All statements other than statements of historical fact included in this press release, including, without limitation, statements containing the words "may," "might," "will," "should," "could," "anticipate," "estimate," "expect," "predict," "project," "future", "potential," "intend," "seek to," "plan," "assume," "believe," "goal," "objective," "continue" or the negative of such terms or other variations thereof and similar expressions, are statements that could be deemed forward-looking statements. These statements are based on the current expectations of Cleco's management.

Although Cleco believes that the expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are reasonable, such forward-looking statements are based on numerous assumptions (some of which may prove to be incorrect) and are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause the actual results and events in future periods to differ materially from Cleco's expectations and those expressed or implied by these forward-looking statements because of a number of risks, uncertainties and other factors. Risks, uncertainties and other factors include, but are not limited to: (i) the occurrence of any event, change or other circumstances that could give rise to the termination of the merger agreement; or could otherwise cause the failure of the merger to close, including the failure to obtain shareholder approval for the proposed merger; (ii) the failure to obtain regulatory approvals required for the merger, or required regulatory approvals delaying the merger or causing the parties to abandon the merger; (iii) the failure to obtain any financing necessary to complete the merger; (iv) risks related to disruption of management's attention from Cleco's ongoing business operations due to the transaction; (v) the outcome of any legal proceedings, regulatory proceedings or enforcement matters that may be instituted against Cleco and others relating to the merger agreement; (vi) the risk that the pendency of the proposed merger disrupts current plans and operations and the potential difficulties in employee retention as a result of the pendency of the proposed merger; (vii) the fact that actual or expected credit ratings of Cleco or any of its affiliates, or otherwise relating to the merger, may be different from what the parties expect; (viii) the effect of the announcement of the proposed merger on Cleco's relationships with its customers, operating results and business generally; (ix) the amount of the costs, fees, expenses and charges related to the proposed merger; (x) the receipt of an unsolicited offer from another party to acquire assets or capital stock of Cleco that could interfere with the proposed merger; (xi) future regulatory or legislative actions that could adversely affect Cleco; and (xii) other economic, business and/or competitive factors. Other unknown or unpredictable factors could also have material adverse effects on future results, performance or achievements of Cleco. Therefore, forward-looking statements are not guarantees or assurances of future performance, and actual results could differ materially from those indicated by the forward-looking statements. Given these risks and uncertainties, investors should not place undue reliance on any forward-looking statements.

Additional factors that may cause results to differ materially from those described in the forward-looking statements are set forth in Cleco's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2013, which was filed with the SEC on February 25, 2014, under the headings Part I, Item 1A, "Risk Factors" and Part II, Item 7, "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations," and in subsequently filed Forms 10-Q and 8-K. All subsequent written and oral forward-looking statements attributable to Cleco or persons acting on its behalf are expressly qualified in their entirety by the factors identified above. The forward-looking statements represent Cleco's views as of the date on which such statements were made and Cleco undertakes no obligation to update any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of changes in actual results, change in assumptions, or other factors affecting such statements.
