PART III NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail why Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q, 10-D, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

As disclosed in the Current Report on Form 8-K filed by Petrohawk Energy Corporation (the Company) with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC) on November 8, 2011, the Company announced that it intends to restate its previously issued financial statements as of and for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2010 and unaudited interim consolidated financial statements as of and for the periods ended June 30, 2010, September 30, 2010, March 31, 2011 and June 30, 2011 to reflect a change in the accounting treatment of the Company's May 2010 transfer to the Kinderhawk joint venture of its interests in the Haynesville gas gathering system for approximately $917 million and a 50% ownership in the Kinderhawk joint venture. In addition, the Company's former independent registered public accounting firm have indicated that its audit report for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2010, including its report on internal controls over financial reporting, may no longer be relied upon.

The transfer of interests to the Kinderhawk joint venture was originally accounted for as a sale giving rise to a $719.4 million deferred gain. Of the $719.4 million deferred gain, approximately $155 million was recognized in the year ended December 31, 2010 and $95 million was recognized in the first two quarters of 2011 combined. It has since been determined that the transfer of interests to the Kinderhawk joint venture should have been accounted for as an in substance real estate transaction with continuing involvement under Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 360-20. Under ASC 360-20, the transaction did not qualify as a sale due to, among other factors, the Company's continuing involvement with the joint venture under a gas gathering agreement, which requires the Company to deliver to the joint venture gas from a dedicated lease area. The change in accounting treatment is not expected to impact the joint venture's commercial arrangements or the Company's historical or expected net cash flows arising from the joint venture.

The Board of Directors of the Company determined on November 8, 2011 that the Company's previously issued audited consolidated financial statements as of and for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2010 and unaudited interim consolidated financial statements as of and for the periods ended June 30, 2010, September 30, 2010, March 31, 2011 and June 30, 2011 should no longer be relied upon because of this error in the financial statements. The Company intends to restate these financial statements. Because of the timing of this process, the Company is unable to file its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the period ended September 30, 2011 with the SEC on November 9, 2011, the prescribed due date. The Company does not expect that such filing will be made within the extension period provided for under Rule 12b-25. The Company's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the period ended September 30, 2011 will be filed as soon as practicable after the Company has completed the restatement process, which the Company expects to be able to complete by December 9, 2011. The delay could not be eliminated without unreasonable effort or expense.

SEC 1344 (04-09) Persons who are to respond to the collection of information contained in this form are not required to respond unless the form displays a currently valid OMB control number.
