On July 12, 2007, Neoprobe Corporation (the “Company”) issued a press release announcing that it had signed a term sheet with Cardinal Health for the marketing and distribution of Lymphoseek® on an exclusive basis in the United States through Cardinal Health’s network of over 150 nuclear pharmacies as well as their wholesale distribution operations to in-hospital nuclear pharmacies. Lymphoseek (Technetium Tc99m DTPA-mannosyl-dextran) is a proprietary radioactive lymphatic mapping targeting agent being developed by the Company for use with hand-held gamma detection devices, such as the Company’s neo2000® system, in a surgical procedure known as Sentinel Lymph Node Biopsy (SLNB). The Company recently announced positive preliminary data from a Phase 2 multi-center clinical trial for Lymphoseek and is preparing to submit a proposed Phase 3 protocol to the United States Food and Drug Administration. A copy of the complete text of the Company’s July 12, 2007, press release is furnished as Exhibit 99.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K and is incorporated herein by reference.

The words “believe,” “expect,” “anticipate,” “estimate,” “project,” and similar expressions identify forward-looking statements that speak only as of the date hereof. Investors are cautioned that such statements involve risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from historical or anticipated results due to many factors including, but not limited to, the Company’s continuing operating losses, uncertainty of market acceptance, reliance on third party manufacturers, accumulated deficit, future capital needs, uncertainty of capital funding, dependence on limited product line and distribution channels, competition, limited marketing and manufacturing experience, and other risks detailed in the Company’s most recent Annual Report on Form 10-KSB and other Securities and Exchange Commission filings.
