Employment Agreements

We entered into an employment agreement with Dr. Borow, as of March 31, 2003. Pursuant to the employment agreement (which replaced a prior agreement), which has a term of three years expiring March 31, 2006, Dr. Borow received an annual base salary of $325,000, subject to increases in each subsequent year tied to increases in the consumer price index. In addition, the Company paid to Dr. Borow the sum of $35,937 in 2003 (which is the difference between the base salary actually paid for the period February 1, 2002 through January 31, 2003 and the base salary he would have been paid had his base salary been equal to $300,000). Pursuant to the employment agreement, Dr. Borow is eligible to receive an annual bonus of up to 50% of his base salary, depending upon the Company's attainment of its operating goals and his individual performance. Up to one-half of Dr. Borow's maximum annual bonus is based on objective tests and up to one-half of his maximum bonus is determined in the sole discretion of the Compensation Committee. Under certain circumstances relating to the termination of Dr. Borow's employment, the Company may be obligated to pay Dr. Borow severance compensation for up to one year (at a rate equal to his then base salary) and, in such event, the Company also would be obligated to continue group health coverage for Dr. Borow for a period of one year and, to the extent not already vested, all of Dr. Borow's stock options would vest. In addition, if a change in control (as defined in the agreement) occurs during the term of Dr. Borow's employment agreement (or within one year thereafter under certain circumstances), the Company would be obligated to pay Dr. Borow a change in control payment in an amount ranging from one to five times his then base salary, depending upon the growth in stockholder value as reflected by the trading price of the Company's common stock (or, under certain circumstances, the amount of the consideration to be received by the stockholders in such transaction).

We do not have employment agreements with any other current executive officers.

Compensation of Directors

Non-employee directors receive $37,500 per year for their service as directors paid at the rate of $3,125 per month, and are reimbursed for reasonable expenses incurred in connection with attendance at meetings of the Board. Non-employee directors who are Chairmen of the Audit and Compensation Committees receive an annual option grant to purchase 25,000 shares of Common Stock.
