Limin Li, VisionChina Media's chairman and chief executive officer, commented, "2007 was an exciting year for VisionChina Media. Following our IPO in December, we harnessed our leadership position in the mobile digital television industry to execute our strategy, expand our network and attract new advertisers. Our screens display the programming that viewers demand and reach the audiences that national brands target. The combination of these factors allows us to compete directly with traditional indoor television. This summer, the Olympic Games will be aired on our screens on buses and subways in Beijing and other cities, giving us an unprecedented opportunity to showcase our offerings to China and the world."

Mr. Li continued, "Since our successful IPO, we have expanded our network coverage to include Taiyuan, the capital city of Shanxi province, bringing the total number of cities we cover to 15. We have also increased our sales force dramatically, hiring over 70 new employees, the vast majority of whom have over five years experience in digital outdoor media and bring with them strong existing relationships.

Dina Liu, VisionChina Media's chief financial officer, added, "Our national advertising network, strong brand name and operational expertise further enhance our ability to draw top quality advertising dollars and attract bus companies hoping to partner with us. Our strong fourth quarter results demonstrate the continued operating leverage inherent in our business model. Additionally, our strong balance sheet, enhanced by our IPO, positions us well to continue our expansion both organically and through acquisitions

Fourth Quarter 2007 Results

VisionChina's total revenues were $12.0 million for the fourth quarter of 2007, an increase of 495.2% compared to $2.0 million for the fourth quarter of 2006 and an increase of 29.0% compared to $9.3 million in the third quarter of 2007.

Other Recent Developments

In January 2008, VisionChina promoted Mr. Haijun Liu to be its chief development officer in charge of the Company's network expansion. Previously, Mr. Liu was in charge of the Company's Beijing operations. Under his leadership, the Company was not only able to rapidly bring the number of digital television displays on buses to approximately 18,000 as of December 31, 2007, a respectable level of penetration on Beijing buses, in August 2007, the Company also successfully secured contracts with Beijing subways to expand VisionChina's presence on two of Beijing's subway lines.

In February 2008, VisionChina entered an exclusive agency agreement with Shanxi Da Zhong Mobile Television Co., Ltd. (Shanxi Da Zhong) to operate mobile digital television advertising on all public buses covered by the Shanxi Da Zhong network in the city of Taiyuan, the capital city of Shanxi province, for 8 years beginning February 3, 2008.

On February 25, 2008, VisionChina appointed Alfred Tong, former marketing director of PepsiCo International, China, who has had a long career working for 4A agencies in China, as chief marketing officer. Alfred will lead a team of 180 sales and marketing personnel to sell minutes on the Company's network, that's utilization, to great extent, is driven by sales efforts. 70 of the sales personnel are recent additions, coming to VisionChina Media from other well-established out-of-home media companies in China, since the Company's December 2007 IPO.

Business Outlook

The Company estimates its total revenues for the first quarter of 2008 will range from $12.5 million to $13.5 million, out of which advertising service revenues is expected to be between $12.0 to $13.0 million. First quarter 2008 net income excluding share-based compensation expenses (non-GAAP) is expected to be between $4.0 million and $4.5 million. Margins will be negatively impacted by fixed media cost payments in the first quarter of 2008 due to three new exclusive agency agreements that the Company entered into during the first quarter to secure fixed cost long-term capacity. Excluding these incremental costs, the Company expects first quarter 2008 net income, excluding share-based compensation expenses (non-GAAP), to be between $4.8 million and $5.4 million.

Table of Contents

The Company estimates its total revenues for full year 2008 to range from $90 million to $94 million. Net income for full year 2008, excluding share-based compensation expenses (non-GAAP), is expected to be between $38 million to $40 million.

About VisionChina Media, Inc.

VisionChina (Nasdaq: VISN) operates an out-of-home advertising network on mass transportation systems, including buses and subways that reach over 26 million viewers each day in China, according to CTR Market Research. As of December 31, 2007, VisionChina's advertising network included over 41,400 digital television displays on mass transportation systems in 15 of China's most affluent cities, including Beijing, Guangzhou and Shenzhen. VisionChina has the unique ability to deliver real-time, location-specific broadcasting, including news, stock quotes, weather and traffic reports and other entertainment programming. For more information, please visit <http://www.visionchina.cn>.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In addition to VisionChina's consolidated financial results under GAAP, the company also provides non-GAAP financial measures, including non-GAAP net income, excluding non-cash share-based compensation. The company believes that the non-GAAP financial measures provide investors with another method for assessing VisionChina's operating results in a manner that is focused on the performance of its ongoing operations. Readers are cautioned not to view non-GAAP results on a stand-alone basis or as a substitute for results under GAAP, or as being comparable to results reported or forecasted by other companies. The company believes that both management and investors benefit from referring to these non-GAAP financial measures in assessing the performance of VisionChina's liquidity and when planning and forecasting future periods.
