PRELIMINARY SUBJECT TO COMPLETION DATED SEPTEMBER [], 2013

JOINT PROXY STATEMENT AND PROSPECTUS

MERGER PROPOSED YOUR VOTE IS VERY IMPORTANT

The boards of directors of each of Mercantile Bank Corporation and Firstbank Corporation have unanimously approved a business combination. Mercantile and Firstbank entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of August 14, 2013. Under the terms of the merger agreement, Firstbank will be merged with and into Mercantile, with Mercantile as the surviving corporation.

Upon completion of the merger, Firstbank shareholders will receive one share of Mercantile common stock for each share of Firstbank common stock that they own. The exchange ratio is fixed and will not be adjusted to reflect stock price changes prior to the effective time of the merger. Based on the closing price of Mercantile common stock on the Nasdaq Stock Market on August 14, 2013, the last trading day before public announcement of the merger, the exchange ratio represented approximately $18.77 in value for each share of Firstbank common stock. Mercantile shareholders will continue to own their existing Mercantile shares. Mercantile common stock and Firstbank common stock are currently traded on Nasdaq under the symbols MBWM and FBMI, respectively. We urge you to obtain current market quotations of Mercantile and Firstbank common stock.

We intend for the merger to qualify as a reorganization for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Accordingly, Firstbank shareholders are not expected to recognize any gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes upon the exchange of shares of Firstbank common stock for shares of Mercantile common stock pursuant to the merger, except with respect to cash received in lieu of fractional shares of Mercantile common stock.

Based on the estimated number of shares of Mercantile and Firstbank common stock that will be outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the merger, we estimate that, upon the closing, former Mercantile shareholders will own approximately 52% of the combined company following the merger and former Firstbank shareholders will own approximately 48% of the combined company following the merger.

Mercantile and Firstbank will each hold special meetings of their respective shareholders in connection with the proposed merger. At the Mercantile special meeting, Mercantile shareholders will be asked to vote on a proposal to approve the merger agreement, a proposal to approve the issuance of shares of Mercantile common stock to Firstbank shareholders in connection with the merger, a proposal to approve an amendment to Mercantile's articles of incorporation to increase the number of authorized shares of Mercantile common stock and a proposal to approve, on an advisory (non-binding) basis, the compensation that may be paid or become payable to Mercantile's named executive officers that is based on or otherwise related to the proposed transactions.

Neither the Securities and Exchange Commission nor any state securities commission has approved or disapproved of the securities to be issued under this joint proxy statement and prospectus or determined if this joint proxy statement and prospectus is truthful or complete. Any representation to the contrary is a criminal offense.

This is a prospectus offering up to 8,500,000 shares of Mercantile common stock to Firstbank shareholders. This joint proxy statement and prospectus is dated _____, 2013 and is first being mailed to Mercantile shareholders and Firstbank shareholders on or about _____, 2013.

Table of Contents

At the Firstbank special meeting, Firstbank shareholders will be asked to vote on the proposal to approve the merger agreement and to vote on a proposal to approval, on an advisory (non-binding) basis, the compensation that may be paid or become payable to Firstbank's named executive officers that is based on or otherwise relates to the proposed transactions.

We cannot complete the merger unless (i) the Mercantile shareholders approve the issuance of shares of Mercantile common stock to Firstbank shareholders in connection with the merger and approve the merger agreement, and (ii) the Firstbank shareholders approve the merger agreement, in each case as described above. Your vote is very important, regardless of the number of shares that you own. Whether or not you expect to attend your special meeting in person, please submit a proxy to vote your shares as promptly as possible so that your shares may be represented and voted at the Mercantile or Firstbank special meeting, as applicable.

The Mercantile board of directors unanimously recommends that the Mercantile shareholders vote FOR the proposal to approve the merger agreement, FOR the proposal to approve the issuance of shares of Mercantile common stock to Firstbank shareholders in connection with the merger, FOR the proposal to approve the amendment to Mercantile's articles of incorporation to increase the number of authorized shares of Mercantile common stock and FOR the proposal to approve the adjournment of the Mercantile special meeting, if necessary or appropriate, to permit further solicitation of proxies. The Firstbank board of directors unanimously recommends that the Firstbank shareholders vote FOR the proposal to approve the merger agreement, FOR the proposal to approve, on an advisory (non-binding) basis, the compensation that may be paid or become payable to Firstbank's named executive officers that is based on or otherwise relates to the proposed transactions and FOR the proposal to approve the adjournment of the Firstbank special meeting, if necessary or appropriate, to permit further solicitation of proxies.

The obligations of Mercantile and Firstbank to complete the merger are subject to the satisfaction or waiver of several conditions. The accompanying joint proxy statement and prospectus contains detailed information about Mercantile, Firstbank, the special meetings, the merger agreement and the merger. You should read this joint proxy statement and prospectus carefully and in its entirety before voting, including the section entitled Risk Factors beginning on page 30.

We look forward to the successful combination of Mercantile and Firstbank.

Sincerely,

Michael H. Price
President and Chief Executive Officer

Whether or not you expect to attend the Firstbank special meeting in person, to ensure your representation at the Firstbank special meeting, we urge you to submit a proxy to vote your shares as promptly as possible by (i) accessing the internet site listed on the Firstbank proxy card, (ii) calling the toll-free number listed on the Firstbank proxy card or (iii) submitting your Firstbank proxy card by mail by using the provided self-addressed, stamped envelope. Submitting a proxy will not prevent you from voting in person, but it will help to secure a quorum and avoid added solicitation costs. In any event, a proxy may be revoked in writing at any time before the Firstbank special meeting in the manner described in the accompanying document. If your shares are held in the name of a bank, broker or other nominee, please follow the instructions on the voting instruction card furnished by such bank, broker or other nominee.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The following are some questions that you, as a Mercantile shareholder or a Firstbank shareholder, may have regarding the merger and the other matters being considered at the special meetings and the answers to those questions. Mercantile and Firstbank urge you to carefully read the remainder of this joint proxy statement and prospectus, including any documents incorporated by reference, and the Annexes in their entirety because the information in this section does not provide all of the information that might be important to you with respect to the merger and the other matters being considered at the special meetings.

Q: Why am I receiving this joint proxy statement and prospectus?

A: Mercantile and Firstbank have agreed to a business combination pursuant to the terms of the merger agreement that is described in this joint proxy statement and prospectus. A copy of the merger agreement is included in this joint proxy statement and prospectus as Annex A. In order to complete the merger, among other things, Mercantile shareholders must approve the merger agreement and the issuance of shares of Mercantile common stock to Firstbank shareholders in connection with the merger, and Firstbank shareholders must approve the merger agreement. In addition, while not a condition to the closing of the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement, Mercantile shareholders will vote on a proposal to approve an amendment to Mercantile's articles of incorporation to increase the number of authorized shares of capital stock of Mercantile and a proposal to approve, on an advisory (non-binding) basis, the compensation that may be paid or become payable to Mercantile's named executive officers that is based on or otherwise related to the proposed transactions, and Firstbank shareholders will vote on a proposal to approve, on an advisory (non-binding) basis, the compensation that may be paid or become payable to Mercantile's named executive officers that is based on or otherwise related to the merger.

Mercantile and Firstbank will hold separate special meetings of their shareholders to obtain these approvals. This joint proxy statement and prospectus, including its Annexes, contains and incorporates by reference important information about Mercantile and Firstbank, the merger and the shareholder meetings of Mercantile and Firstbank. You should read all of the available information carefully and in its entirety.

Q: What will I receive in the merger?

A: Mercantile shareholders: Whether or not the merger is completed, Mercantile shareholders will retain the Mercantile common stock that they currently own. They will not receive any merger consideration, and they will not receive any additional shares of Mercantile common stock in the merger. As part of the merger, the Mercantile board of directors expects to declare and pay a special cash dividend of $2.00 per share to Mercantile shareholders prior to the effective time of the merger, subject to the satisfaction of the closing conditions set forth in the merger agreement.

Firstbank shareholders: If the merger is completed, Firstbank shareholders will receive one share of Mercantile common stock for each share of Firstbank common stock that they hold at the effective time of the merger. Firstbank shareholders will not receive any fractional shares of Mercantile common stock in the merger. Instead, Mercantile will pay cash in lieu of any fractional shares of Mercantile common stock that a Firstbank shareholder would otherwise have been entitled to receive. Firstbank shareholders will also be entitled to any dividends declared and paid by Mercantile with a record date after the effective time of the merger after they have surrendered their certificates representing Firstbank common stock.

Q: What is the value of the merger consideration?

A: Because Mercantile will issue one share of Mercantile common stock in exchange for each share of Firstbank common stock, the value of the merger consideration that Firstbank shareholders receive will depend on the price per share of Mercantile common stock at the effective time of the merger. That price will not be known at the time of the special meetings and may be less than the current price or the price at the time of the special meetings. We urge you to obtain current market quotations of Mercantile common stock and Firstbank common stock. See the section titled "Risk Factors" beginning on page 30.

A: Mercantile shareholders: Shareholders who hold shares representing at least a majority of the shares entitled to vote at the Mercantile special meeting must be present in person or represented by proxy to constitute a quorum. All shares of Mercantile common stock represented at the Mercantile special meeting, including shares that are represented but that vote to abstain, will be treated as present for purposes of determining the presence or absence of a quorum. Broker non-votes will not be treated as present for purposes of determining the presence or absence of a quorum.

No business may be transacted at the Mercantile special meeting unless a quorum is present. If a quorum is not present, or if fewer shares than required for the necessary shareholder approvals, if necessary or appropriate to allow additional time for obtaining additional proxies, the special meeting may be adjourned if the approval of a majority of the votes cast at the special meeting is obtained. No notice of an adjourned meeting need be given unless a new record date is fixed for the adjourned meeting, in which case a notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given to each shareholder of record entitled to vote at the meeting. At any adjourned meeting, all proxies will be voted in the same manner as they would have been voted at the original convening of the special meeting, except for any proxies that have been effectively revoked or withdrawn prior to the adjourned meeting.

Firstbank shareholders: Shareholders who hold shares representing at least a majority of the shares entitled to vote at the Firstbank special meeting must be present in person or represented by proxy to constitute a quorum. All shares of Firstbank common stock represented at the Firstbank special meeting, either person or by proxy, including shares that are represented but that vote to abstain, will be treated as present for purposes of determining the presence or absence of a quorum. Q: My shares are held in street name by my broker, bank or other nominee. Will my broker, bank or other nominee automatically vote my shares for me?

A: No. If your shares are held through a stock brokerage account or a bank or other nominee, you are considered the beneficial holder of the shares held for you in what is known as street name. The record holder of such shares is your broker, bank or other nominee, and not you. You must provide the record holder of your shares with instructions on how to vote your shares. Q: Can I change my vote or revoke my proxy after I have returned a proxy or voting instruction card?

A: Yes. If you are the record holder of either Mercantile or Firstbank stock, you can change your vote or revoke your proxy at any time before your proxy is voted at the applicable special meeting. You can do this by:

timely delivering a signed written notice of revocation;

timely delivering a new, valid proxy bearing a later date (including by telephone or through the internet); or attending the special meeting and voting in person, which will automatically cancel any proxy previously given, or revoking your proxy in person. Simply attending the Mercantile special meeting or the Firstbank special meeting without voting will not revoke any proxy that you have previously given or change your vote.

If you choose either of the first two methods, your notice of revocation or your new proxy must be received by the Secretary of Mercantile or Firstbank, as applicable, no later than the beginning of the applicable special meeting.

Regardless of the method used to deliver your previous proxy, you may revoke your proxy by any of the above methods.

If you hold shares of either Mercantile or Firstbank in street name, you must contact your broker, bank or other nominee to change your vote.

Q: What are the material U.S. federal income tax consequences of the merger to U.S. holders of Firstbank common stock?

A: The merger is intended to be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (referred to as the Code). Assuming the merger qualifies as a reorganization, a holder of Firstbank common stock generally will not recognize any gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes upon the exchange of the holder's shares of Firstbank common stock for shares of Mercantile common stock in connection with the merger, except with respect to cash received in lieu of fractional shares. As permitted by the terms of the merger agreement, the Mercantile board of directors expects to declare and pay a one-time special cash dividend of $2.00 per share to Mercantile shareholders prior to the effective time of the merger, subject to the satisfaction of the closing conditions set forth in the merger agreement. Generally, holders will be taxed on the pre-merger special cash dividend at applicable U.S. Federal income tax rates.

Q: When do you expect the merger to be completed?

A: Mercantile and Firstbank hope to complete the merger as soon as reasonably possible and expect the effective time of the merger to occur on or about January 1, 2014. However, the merger is subject to various regulatory clearances and the satisfaction or waiver of other conditions, and it is possible that factors outside the control of Mercantile and Firstbank could result in the merger being completed at an earlier time, a later time or not at all. There may be a substantial amount of time between the Mercantile and Firstbank special meetings and the completion of the merger.

Q: Do I need to do anything with my shares of common stock other than vote for the proposals at the special meeting?

A: Mercantile shareholders: If you are a Mercantile shareholder, after the merger is completed, you are not required to take any action with respect to your shares of Mercantile common stock.

Firstbank shareholders: If you are a Firstbank shareholder, after the merger is completed, each share of Firstbank common stock that you hold will be converted automatically into the right to receive one share of Mercantile common stock, together with cash in lieu of any fractional shares, as applicable. You will receive instructions at that time regarding exchanging your Firstbank shares for shares of Mercantile common stock. You do not need to take any action at this time. Please do not send your Firstbank stock certificates with your proxy card.

Q: Are shareholders entitled to appraisal or dissenters' rights?

A: No. Neither the shareholders of Firstbank nor the shareholders of Mercantile are entitled to appraisal rights or dissenters' rights in connection with the merger under Michigan law or under the governing documents of either company.

Table of Contents

Q: What happens if I sell my shares of Firstbank common stock before the Firstbank special meeting?

A: The record date for the Firstbank special meeting is earlier than the date of the Firstbank special meeting and the date that the merger is expected to be completed. If you transfer your Firstbank shares after the Firstbank record date but before the Firstbank special meeting, you will retain your right to vote at the Firstbank special meeting, but will have transferred the right to receive the merger consideration in the merger. In order to receive the merger consideration, you must hold your shares through the effective date of the merger.

Q: What if I hold shares in both Mercantile and Firstbank?

A: If you are both a Mercantile shareholder and a Firstbank shareholder, you will receive two separate packages of proxy materials. A vote cast as a Mercantile shareholder will not count as a vote cast as a Firstbank shareholder, and a vote cast as a Firstbank shareholder will not count as a vote cast as a Mercantile shareholder. Therefore, please separately submit a proxy for each of your Mercantile and Firstbank shares.

Q: Who can help answer my questions?

A: Shareholders of Mercantile or Firstbank who have questions about the merger, the other matters to be voted on at the special meetings, or how to submit a proxy or who desire additional copies of this joint proxy statement and prospectus or additional proxy cards should contact:

Form of the Merger (see page 48)

Subject to the terms and conditions of the merger agreement, at the effective time of the merger, Firstbank will be merged with and into Mercantile, and the separate corporate existence of Firstbank shall cease, and Mercantile shall be the surviving corporation of the merger. The combined company may pursue a consolidation of its subsidiary banks after completing the merger.

Merger Consideration (see page 97)

Firstbank shareholders will have the right to receive one share of Mercantile common stock for each share of Firstbank common stock they hold at the effective time of the merger (referred to as the exchange ratio). The exchange ratio is fixed and will not be adjusted for changes in the market value of the common stock of Firstbank or Mercantile. As a result, the implied value of the consideration to Firstbank shareholders will fluctuate between the date of this joint proxy statement and prospectus and the effective date of the merger. Based on the closing price of Mercantile common stock on the Nasdaq Stock Market (referred to as the Nasdaq) on August 14, 2013, the last trading day before public announcement of the merger, the exchange ratio represented approximately $18.77 in value for each share of Firstbank common stock. Based on the closing price of Mercantile common stock on Nasdaq on , 2013, the latest trading day before the date of this joint proxy statement and prospectus, the exchange ratio represented approximately $[] in value for each share of Firstbank common stock.

Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences of the Merger (see page 119)

The merger is intended to be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code. Assuming the merger qualifies as a reorganization, a holder of Firstbank common stock will not recognize any gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes upon the exchange of the holder's shares of Firstbank common stock for shares of Mercantile common stock pursuant to the merger, except with respect to cash received in lieu of fractional shares of Mercantile common stock. As permitted by the terms of the merger agreement, the Mercantile board of directors expects to declare and pay a one-time special cash dividend of $2.00 per share per share to Mercantile shareholders prior to the effective time of the merger, subject to the satisfaction of the closing conditions set forth in the merger agreement. Generally, holders will be taxed on the pre-merger special cash dividend at applicable U.S. Federal income tax rates.

The completion of the merger is conditioned upon the receipt by Mercantile of an opinion of Warner Norcross & Judd LLP, counsel to Mercantile, dated as of the closing date of the merger, that the merger will be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code.

Completion of the merger is also conditioned upon the receipt by Firstbank of an opinion of Varnum LLP, counsel to Firstbank, dated as of the closing date of the merger, that the merger will be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code.

The tax opinions regarding the merger will not address any state, local or foreign tax consequences of the merger. The opinions will be based on certain assumptions and representations as to factual matters from Mercantile and Firstbank, as well as certain covenants and undertakings by Mercantile and Firstbank. If any of the assumptions, representations, covenants or undertakings is incorrect, incomplete, inaccurate or is violated in any material respect, the validity of the conclusions reached by counsel in their opinions would be jeopardized and the tax consequences of the merger could differ from those described in this joint proxy statement and prospectus. Neither Mercantile nor Firstbank is currently aware of any facts or circumstances that would cause the assumptions, representations, covenants and undertakings to be incorrect, incomplete, inaccurate or violated in any material respect.

An opinion of counsel represents such counsel's best legal judgment but is not binding on the Internal Revenue Service (referred to as the IRS) or any court, so there can be no certainty that the IRS will not challenge the conclusions reflected in the opinion or that a court would not sustain such a challenge.

You are urged to consult your own tax advisor regarding the particular consequences to you of the merger.

In addition, the merger will constitute a change in control for certain deferred compensation arrangements with Mercantile executive officers.

As of _____, 2013, the record date for the Mercantile special meeting, the directors and executive officers of Mercantile and their affiliates beneficially owned and were entitled to vote [] shares of Mercantile common stock, collectively representing approximately []% of the shares of Mercantile common stock outstanding and entitled to vote. The Mercantile board of directors was aware of these interests and considered them, among other matters, in evaluating the merger and in making its recommendations to Mercantile shareholders.

Interests of Firstbank Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger (see page 85)

Certain of Firstbank's directors and executive officers have financial interests in the merger that may be different from, or in addition to, the interests of Firstbank's shareholders generally. The Firstbank board of directors was aware of these interests and considered them, among other matters, in evaluating the merger and in making its recommendations to Firstbank shareholders.

As detailed below in Interests of Certain Firstbank Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger, the merger agreement provides that upon consummation of the merger the board of directors of Mercantile will consist of six directors, which will include (i) the President and Chief Executive Officer of Mercantile plus two members of the Mercantile board of directors selected by the Mercantile board of directors and (ii) the President and Chief Executive Officer of Firstbank plus two members of the Firstbank board of directors selected by the Firstbank board of directors.

Also as described in Interests of Certain Firstbank Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger, Firstbank and Mercantile have entered into new employment agreements with the executive officers of Firstbank to be effective upon consummation of the merger. Under these new employment agreements, the merger will result in the payment to certain executive officers of change in control cash payments or retention bonuses. Following the merger, upon a termination of employment of an executive officer by the combined company without cause or by the executive officer for good reason, the executive officers would be entitled to specified severance compensation.

Separate from the new employment agreements, the merger will result in the accelerated vesting of restricted stock held by the directors and executive officers.

Current and former directors and officers of Firstbank will also be entitled to continued indemnification and liability insurance coverage.

As of _____, 2013, the record date of the Firstbank special meeting, the directors and executive officers of Firstbank and their affiliates beneficially owned and were entitled to vote [] shares of Firstbank common stock, collectively representing approximately []% of the shares of Firstbank common stock outstanding and entitled to vote. members of the Mercantile board of directors as of the date of the merger agreement who are independent for purposes of the rules of Nasdaq selected by the Mercantile board of directors and (ii) the President and Chief Executive Officer of Firstbank plus two members of the Firstbank board of directors who are independent for purposes of the rules of Nasdaq selected by the Firstbank board of directors. The Firstbank board of directors has selected Edward Grant and Jeff Gardner to serve as directors of the combined company. The Mercantile board of directors has made a non-binding determination to select David Cassard and Calvin Murdock to serve as directors of the combined company. The fees and/or other remuneration to be provided to the non-employee directors of the combined company have not been determined.

The merger agreement provides that, upon completion of the merger, Thomas R. Sullivan will serve as Mercantile's Chairman of the Board, Michael H. Price will continue to serve as Mercantile's President and Chief Executive Officer, Robert B. Kaminski, Jr. will continue to serve as an Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of Mercantile, Charles E. Christmas will continue to service as Mercantile's Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, and Samuel G. Stone will serve as an Executive Vice President of Mercantile.

Upon completion of the merger, each right of any kind to receive Firstbank common stock or benefits measured by the value of a number of shares of Firstbank common stock granted under the Firstbank stock plans will be converted into an award with respect to a number of shares of Mercantile common stock equal to the aggregate number of shares of Firstbank common stock subject to such award. Such converted awards shall otherwise continue to have, and be subject to, the same terms and conditions set forth in the applicable Firstbank stock plan (or any other agreement to which such converted award was subject immediately prior to the effective time of the merger). The exercise or strike price (if any) per share of Mercantile common stock applicable to any such converted award shall be equal to the per share exercise price of such converted award immediately prior to the effective time of the merger. Firstbank restricted stock and unvested stock options will become fully vested as of the effective time of the merger.

Regulatory Approval Required for the Merger (see page 94)

Approval of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (FRB) is required to complete the merger. An application was filed with the FRB on September 17, 2013. Approval has not yet been obtained. Mercantile and Firstbank have each agreed to take actions in order to obtain regulatory clearance required to consummate the merger. While Mercantile and Firstbank expect to obtain all required regulatory clearances, we cannot assure you that these regulatory clearances will be obtained or that the granting of these regulatory clearances will not involve the imposition of additional conditions on the completion of the merger, including the requirement to divest assets, or require changes to the terms of the merger agreement. These conditions or changes could result in the conditions to the merger not being satisfied.

Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation of Mercantile (see page 65)

The Mercantile board of directors has approved, subject to Mercantile shareholder approval, an amendment to the Mercantile's articles of incorporation which increases the number of authorized shares of common stock from 20 million to 40 million. The form of amendment to Mercantile's articles of incorporation is included in this joint proxy statement and prospectus as Annex B. The approval of the amendment by the Mercantile shareholders is not a condition precedent to the closing of the merger. In the event this proposal is approved by Mercantile shareholders, but the merger is not completed, the amendment will not become effective.

Expected Timing of the Merger

Mercantile and Firstbank currently expect the effective time of the merger to be on or about January 1, 2014. However, the merger is subject to various regulatory clearances and the satisfaction or waiver of other conditions as described in the merger agreement, and it is possible that factors outside the control of Mercantile and Firstbank could result in the merger being completed at an earlier time, a later time or not at all.

Conditions to Completion of the Merger (see page 110)

The obligations of Mercantile and Firstbank to complete the merger are subject to the satisfaction of the following conditions:

the approval of the merger agreement by the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Mercantile common stock;

the approval of the merger agreement by the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Firstbank common stock;

the approval of the issuance of shares of Mercantile common stock to Firstbank shareholders in connection with the merger by the affirmative vote of holders of a majority of the shares present in person or represented by proxy and entitled to vote at the Mercantile special meeting, assuming a quorum;

the consents, authorizations, approvals, or exemptions required under the Bank Holding Company Act, the FDI Act, and the Michigan Banking Code;

the absence of any injunction, decree, order, statute, rule or regulation by a court or other governmental entity that makes unlawful or prohibits the consummation of the merger;

the effectiveness of the registration statement of which this joint proxy statement and prospectus forms a part and the absence of a stop order or proceedings threatened or initiated by the SEC for that purpose; and the authorization for the listing on Nasdaq of the shares of Mercantile common stock to be issued in connection with the merger and upon conversion of the Firstbank restricted stock and the shares of Mercantile common stock reserved for issuance pursuant to Mercantile stock options, subject to official notice of issuance.

In addition, each of Mercantile's and Firstbank's obligations to effect the merger is subject to the satisfaction or waiver of the following additional conditions:

the representations and warranties of the other party, other than the representations related to the ownership of subsidiaries, capitalization, and authorization of the merger (i) to the extent qualified by material adverse effect, will be true and correct, and (ii) to the extent not qualified by material adverse effect, will be true and correct except where the failure to be true and correct, individually or in the aggregate, has not had, and would not reasonably be expected to have, a material adverse effect on such party, each as of the date of the merger agreement and as of the closing date (other than those representations and warranties that were made only as of a specified date, which need only be true and correct as of such specified date);

the representations and warranties of the other party relating to the ownership of subsidiaries and capitalization will be true and correct in all respects (other than de minimis inaccuracies) as of the date of the merger agreement and as of the closing date (except

Edgar Filing: MERCANTILE BANK CORP - Form S-4

the representations and warranties of the other party relating to the authorization of the merger will be true and correct in all respects;

the other party will have performed, in all material respects, its covenants and agreements under the merger agreement required to be performed on or prior to the closing date;

a certificate executed by the other party's chief executive officer or chief financial officer as to the satisfaction of the conditions described in the preceding four bullets will have been received by each party;

there shall not have occurred a material adverse effect with respect to the other party; and a tax opinion from the party's tax counsel as described in the section titled "The Merger Agreement - Conditions to Completion of the Merger," including an opinion that the merger will be treated as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code, will have been received by each party.

No Solicitation of Alternative Proposals (see page 106)

The merger agreement generally precludes Mercantile and Firstbank from soliciting or engaging in discussions or negotiations with a third party with respect to an acquisition proposal. However, if Mercantile or Firstbank receives an unsolicited acquisition proposal from a third party and Mercantile's or Firstbank's board of directors, as applicable, among other things, determines in good faith (after consultation with its legal and financial advisors) that such unsolicited proposal is a superior proposal to approve the merger, then Mercantile or Firstbank, as applicable, may furnish non-public information to and enter into discussions with, and only with, that third party regarding such acquisition proposal.

Termination of the Merger Agreement (see page 111)

Mercantile and Firstbank may mutually agree to terminate the merger agreement at any time, notwithstanding approval of the merger agreement by shareholders. Either company may also terminate the merger agreement if the merger is not consummated by March 31, 2014, subject to certain exceptions. In addition, either company may terminate the agreement to enter into a definitive agreement with respect to a superior proposal, subject to certain conditions and the payment of a termination fee. See the section entitled "The Merger Agreement - Termination of the Merger Agreement" for a discussion of these and other rights of each of Mercantile and Firstbank to terminate the merger agreement.

Termination Fees and Expenses (see page 113)

Generally, all fees and expenses incurred in connection with the merger agreement and the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement will be paid by the party incurring those expenses, subject to the specific exceptions discussed in this joint proxy statement and prospectus where Mercantile or Firstbank, as the case may be, may be required to pay a termination fee of $7.9 million and/or expense reimbursement up to $2 million. See the section entitled "The Merger Agreement - Expenses and Termination Fees; Liability for Breach" for a discussion of the circumstances under which such termination fee will be required to be paid.

Accounting Treatment (see page 121)

Mercantile and Firstbank each prepares its respective financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, referred to as GAAP. The merger will be accounted for using the acquisition method of accounting. Mercantile will be treated as the acquiror for accounting purposes.

No Appraisal or Dissenters' Rights (see page 144)

Neither the holders of shares of Mercantile common stock nor the holders of shares of Firstbank common stock are entitled to appraisal rights or dissenters' rights in connection with the merger, in accordance with Michigan law. Neither the articles of incorporation of Mercantile or its bylaws nor the articles of incorporation of Firstbank or its bylaws confers such appraisal rights.

Comparison of Rights of Shareholders (see page 135)

Firstbank shareholders receiving merger consideration will have different rights once they become shareholders of the combined company due to differences between the governing corporate documents of Firstbank and the governing corporate documents of the combined company. These differences are described in detail under the section entitled "Comparison of Rights of Shareholders."

Listing of Shares of Mercantile Common Stock; Delisting and Deregistration of Shares of Firstbank Common Stock (see page 96)

It is a condition to the completion of the merger that the shares of Mercantile common stock to be issued to Firstbank shareholders pursuant to the merger (including those shares of Mercantile common stock to be issued upon conversion of the Firstbank stock options, restricted stock, and restricted stock units) be authorized for listing on Nasdaq at the effective time of the merger, subject to official notice of issuance. Upon completion of the merger, shares of Firstbank common stock currently listed on Nasdaq will cease to be listed on Nasdaq and will be subsequently deregistered under the Exchange Act.

Table of ContentsSUMMARY UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL INFORMATION OF MERCANTILE AND FIRSTBANK

The following table presents selected unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information about Mercantile's consolidated balance sheet and results of operations, after giving effect to the merger with Firstbank and the payment of the special cash dividend. The information under Results of Operations Data in the table below gives effect to the merger as if it had been consummated on January 1, 2012, the beginning of the earliest period presented. The information under Balance Sheet Data in the table below assumes the merger had been consummated on June 30, 2013. This unaudited pro forma combined financial information was prepared using the acquisition method of accounting with Mercantile considered the acquirer of Firstbank. See Accounting Treatment on page 121.

In addition, the unaudited pro forma combined financial information includes adjustments which are preliminary and will likely be revised as additional information becomes available and as additional analysis is performed. There can be no assurance that such revisions will not result in material changes. The unaudited pro forma combined financial information is presented for illustrative purposes only and does not indicate the financial results of the combined company.

The information presented below should be read in conjunction with the historical consolidated financial statements of Mercantile and Firstbank, including the related notes, filed by each of them with the SEC, and with the pro forma condensed combined financial statements of Mercantile and Firstbank, including the related notes, appearing elsewhere in this document. See Where You Can Find More Information beginning on page 148 and Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information beginning on page 122. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information is not necessarily indicative of results that actually would have occurred or that may occur in the future had the merger been completed on the dates indicated.

SPECIAL NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This joint proxy statement and prospectus and the documents incorporated by reference into this joint proxy statement and prospectus contain forward-looking statements within the meaning of the federal securities laws that are not limited to historical facts, but reflect Mercantile and Firstbank's current beliefs, expectations or intentions regarding future events. Words such as may, will, could, should, expect, plan, propose, intend, anticipate, believe, estimate, predict, potential, pursue, target, continue, and similar expressions are intended to identify such forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements include, without limitation, Mercantile's and Firstbank's expectations with respect to the synergies, costs and other anticipated financial impacts of the proposed transaction; future financial and operating results of the combined company; the combined company's plans, objectives, expectations and intentions with respect to future operations and services; approval of the proposed transaction by shareholders and by governmental regulatory authorities; the satisfaction of the closing conditions to the proposed transaction; and the timing of the completion of the proposed transaction. Management's determination of the provision and allowance for loan losses, the appropriate carrying value of intangible assets (including deferred pay assets) and other real estate owned and the value of investment securities involves judgments that are inherently forward-looking.

All forward-looking statements involve significant risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements, many of which are generally outside the control of Mercantile and Firstbank and are difficult to predict. These risks and uncertainties also include those set forth under "Risk Factors," beginning on page 30, as well as, among others, risks and uncertainties relating to:

the ability to obtain regulatory approvals of the merger and satisfy other closing conditions or follow the expected schedule for the transactions;

the actions of actual or potential competitors in the markets in which the combined company will operate;

the combined company's ability to effectively maintain and improve customer relationships, realize expected benefits of the merger, realize growth opportunities, maintain or expand customer base, reduce operating costs, continue to pay dividends, and successfully implement and realize the expected benefits of various programs, initiatives and goals;

difficulties and delays in integrating the Mercantile and Firstbank businesses following the merger;

changes in the value of commercial and residential real estate and the value of certain securities held in investment portfolios;

changes in interest rates and capital markets;

effects of governmental regulations and policies;

changes in asset quality and credit risk;

the effectiveness of the combined company's capital investments and marketing strategies;

general economic conditions;

the proposed merger, including the ability to complete the merger in the anticipated timeframe or at all, the diversion of each party's management in connection with the merger and the combined company's ability to realize, fully or at all, the anticipated benefits of the merger; and other financial, operational and legal risks and uncertainties detailed from time to time in each party's SEC filings.

Mercantile and Firstbank caution that the foregoing list of factors is not exclusive. Additional information concerning these and other risk factors is contained in Mercantile's and Firstbank's most recently filed Annual Reports on Form 10-K, subsequent Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q, recent Current Reports on Form 8-K and other SEC filings. All subsequent written and oral forward-looking statements concerning Mercantile, Firstbank, the proposed transaction or other matters and attributable to Mercantile or Firstbank or any person acting on their behalf are expressly qualified in their entirety by the cautionary statements above. RISK FACTORS

In addition to the other information included in and incorporated by reference into this joint proxy statement and prospectus, including the matters addressed in the section entitled Special Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements beginning on page 28, you should carefully consider the following risk factors before deciding whether to vote for the proposal to approve the merger agreement and approve the merger and, in the case of Mercantile shareholders, for the proposal to approve the Mercantile share issuance. In addition, you should read and consider the risks associated with each of the businesses of Firstbank and Mercantile because these risks will relate to the combined company following the completion of the merger. Descriptions of some of these risks can be found in the Annual Reports of Mercantile and Firstbank on Form 10-K for the fiscal years ended December 31, 2012, in each case, as such risks may be updated or supplemented in each company's subsequently filed Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q or Current Reports on Form 8-K, which are incorporated by reference into this joint proxy statement and prospectus. You should also consider the other information in this document and the other documents incorporated by reference into this document. See the section entitled Where You Can Find More Information beginning on page 148.

Risks Relating to the Merger

The merger is subject to conditions, including certain conditions that may not be satisfied or completed on a timely basis, if at all. Failure to complete the merger could have material and adverse effects on Mercantile and Firstbank.

The completion of the merger is subject to a number of conditions, including the approval by the shareholders of Mercantile and Firstbank, which make the completion and timing of the completion of the merger uncertain. See the section entitled The Merger Agreement - Conditions to Completion of the Transaction, beginning on page 110, for a more detailed discussion. Also, either Mercantile or Firstbank may terminate the merger agreement if the merger has not been consummated by March 31, 2014, except that this right to terminate the merger agreement will not be available to any party whose failure to perform any obligation under the merger agreement is the cause of or the primary factor that results in the failure of the merger to be consummated on or before that date.

If the merger is not completed on a timely basis, or at all, Mercantile's and Firstbank's respective ongoing businesses may be adversely affected and, without realizing any of the benefits of having completed the merger, Mercantile and Firstbank will be subject to a number of risks, including the following:

Mercantile and Firstbank will be required to pay their respective costs relating to the merger, such as legal, accounting, financial advisory and printing fees, whether or not the merger is completed;

time and resources committed by Mercantile's and Firstbank's respective boards of directors and management to matters relating to the merger could otherwise have been devoted to pursuing other beneficial opportunities;

the market price of Mercantile common stock or Firstbank common stock could decline to the extent that the current market price reflects a market assumption that the merger will be completed; and if the merger agreement is terminated and the board of directors of Mercantile or the board of directors of Firstbank seeks another business combination, Mercantile shareholders and Firstbank shareholders cannot be certain that Mercantile or Firstbank will be able to find a party willing to enter into a merger agreement on terms equivalent to or more attractive than the terms that the other party has agreed to in the merger agreement.

The market value of the merger consideration paid to Firstbank shareholders will fluctuate because the exchange ratio is fixed and will not be adjusted in the event of any change in either Mercantile's or Firstbank's stock price.

Upon completion of the merger, each share of Firstbank common stock will be converted into the right to receive 1 share of Mercantile common stock. This exchange ratio will not be adjusted for changes in the market price of either Mercantile common stock or Firstbank common stock between the date of signing the merger agreement and completion of the merger. Changes in the price of Mercantile common stock prior to the merger will affect the value of Mercantile common stock that Firstbank common shareholders will receive on the closing date.

The prices of Mercantile common stock and Firstbank common stock on the date of the completion of the merger may vary from their prices on the date the merger agreement was executed, on the date of this joint proxy statement and prospectus and on the date of each shareholder meeting. As a result, the value represented by the exchange ratio will also vary. For example, based on the range of closing prices of Mercantile common stock during the period from August 14, 2013, the last full trading day before the public announcement of the merger, through September [], 2013, the latest practicable trading date before the date of this joint proxy statement and prospectus, the exchange ratio represented a value ranging from a high of $[] to a low of $[] for each share of Firstbank common stock.

These variations could result from changes in the business, operations or prospects of Mercantile or Firstbank prior to or following the completion of the merger, regulatory considerations, general market and economic conditions and other factors both within and beyond the control of Mercantile or Firstbank. At the time of the special shareholders meetings, Firstbank shareholders will not know with certainty the value of the shares of Mercantile common stock that they will receive upon completion of the merger.

The merger agreement contains provisions that limit each party's ability to pursue alternatives to the merger, could discourage a potential competing acquiror of either Mercantile or Firstbank from making a favorable alternative transaction proposal and, in specified circumstances, could require either party to pay a termination fee of $7.9 million and transaction-related expenses of up to $2 million to the other party.

The merger agreement contains certain provisions that restrict each of Mercantile's and Firstbank's ability to initiate, solicit, knowingly encourage or, subject to certain exceptions, engage in discussions or negotiations with respect to, or approve or recommend, any third-party proposal for an alternative transaction. Further, even if the board of directors of either company withdraws or qualifies its recommendation with respect to the approval of the merger, unless the merger agreement has been terminated in accordance with its terms, Mercantile or Firstbank, as the case may be, will still be required to submit each of their merger-related proposals to a vote at their special meeting of shareholders. In addition, the other party generally has an opportunity to offer to modify the terms of the merger and other transactions contemplated by the merger agreement in response to any third-party alternative transaction proposal before the board of directors of the company that has received a third-party alternative transaction proposal may withdraw or qualify its recommendation with respect to the merger-related proposal. In some circumstances, upon termination of the merger agreement, a party will be required to pay a termination fee of $7.9 million and transaction-related expenses of up to $2 million to the other party. See the sections entitled "The Merger Agreement - Restrictions on Solicitation" beginning on page 106, "The Merger Agreement - Termination of the Merger Agreement" beginning on page 111 and "The Merger Agreement - Termination Fees and Expenses; Liability for Breach" beginning on page 113.

These provisions could discourage a potential third-party acquiror or merger partner that might have an interest in acquiring all or a significant portion of Mercantile or Firstbank or pursuing an alternative transaction from considering or proposing such a transaction, even if it were prepared to pay consideration with a higher per share cash or market value than market value proposed to be received or realized in the merger, or might result in a potential third-party acquiror or merger partner proposing to pay a lower price to the Mercantile shareholders or Firstbank shareholders than it might otherwise have proposed to pay because of the added expense of the $7.9 million termination fee and transaction-related expenses of up to $2 million that may become payable in certain circumstances.

If the merger agreement is terminated and either Mercantile or Firstbank determines to seek another business combination, Mercantile or Firstbank, as applicable, may not be able to negotiate a transaction with another party on terms comparable to, or better than, the terms of the merger.

If either party terminates the merger agreement because of the failure by the other party to fulfill its obligations, then the breaching party may be required to reimburse the terminating party's expenses.

The merger agreement provides that Mercantile may terminate the merger agreement, subject to certain exceptions, if Firstbank breaches or fails to perform any of its representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements therein and such breach or failure to perform is not cured within 30 business days or is incapable of being cured by March 31, 2014. Similarly, Firstbank may terminate the agreement, subject to certain exceptions, if Mercantile breaches or fails to perform any of its respective representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements therein and such breach or failure to perform is not cured within 30 business days or is incapable of being cured by March 31, 2014. If the merger agreement is terminated as a result of a breach by the other party, the breaching party will be required to reimburse up to $2 million of the terminating party's documented out-of-pocket fees and expenses in connection with the transaction. In addition, if the breaching party receives a third-party proposal for certain types of alternative transactions prior to termination of the merger agreement and consummates a takeover proposal within 12 months after termination of the merger agreement or enters into an agreement for a takeover proposal within 12 months after termination of the merger agreement and subsequently consummates such transaction, the breaching party will be required to pay a termination of $7.9 million.

Mercantile's and Firstbank's executive officers and directors have interests in the merger that may be different from, or in addition to, the interests of Mercantile and Firstbank shareholders generally.

Mercantile's and Firstbank's executive officers and directors have interests in the merger that may be different from, or in addition to, the interests of Mercantile and Firstbank shareholders generally. The executive officers of Firstbank have agreements and arrangements with Firstbank that provide for severance, accelerated vesting of certain rights and other benefits if their employment is terminated under certain circumstances following the completion of the merger. In addition, certain of Firstbank's compensation and benefit plans and arrangements provide for payment or accelerated vesting or distribution of certain rights or benefits upon completion of the merger. Executive officers and directors of Firstbank also have rights to indemnification, advancement of expenses and directors' and officers' liability insurance that will survive completion of the merger. Certain executive officers of Mercantile have arrangements with Mercantile that provide for the accelerated vesting of restricted stock and deferred compensation upon completion of the merger.

The merger agreement contains certain provisions relating to the governance of the combined company following completion of the merger. Completion of the merger is subject to the conditions described under "The Merger Agreement - Conditions to Completion of the Transaction" beginning on page 110.

The board of directors of the combined company and its committees will consist of six directors, which will include (i) the current President and Chief Executive Officer of Mercantile plus two members of the current Mercantile board of directors selected by the Mercantile board of directors and (ii) the current President and Chief Executive Officer of Firstbank plus two members of the current Firstbank board of directors selected by the Firstbank board of directors. The current President and Chief Executive Officer of Firstbank will serve as Chairman of the Board following the Merger.

The current President and Chief Executive Officer of Mercantile will serve as the President and Chief Executive Officer of the combined company. The current Chief Operating Officer of Mercantile will serve as an Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of the combined company. The Chief Financial Officer of Mercantile will serve as a Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer of the combined company. The current Chief Financial Officer of Firstbank will serve as an Executive Vice President of the combined company.

The Mercantile and Firstbank boards of directors were aware of these interests at the time each approved the merger agreement, the merger and the other transactions contemplated by the merger agreement. These interests may cause Mercantile's and Firstbank's directors and executive officers to view the proposed merger differently and more favorably than you may view them. These interests are described in greater detail in the sections entitled "The Merger - Interests of Mercantile Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger" beginning on page 83, The Merger Interests of Certain Firstbank Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger beginning on page 85, and The Merger Board of Directors and Management Following the Merger beginning on page 94.

Each party is subject to business uncertainties and contractual restrictions while the proposed merger is pending, which could adversely affect each party's business and operations.

In connection with the pendency of the merger, it is possible that some customers and other persons with whom Mercantile or Firstbank has a business relationship may delay or defer certain business decisions or might seek to terminate, change or renegotiate their relationships with Mercantile or Firstbank, as the case may be, as a result of the merger, which could negatively affect Mercantile's or Firstbank's respective revenues, earnings and cash flows, as well as the market price of Mercantile's or Firstbank's common stock, regardless of whether the merger is completed.

Under the terms of the merger agreement, each of Mercantile or Firstbank is subject to certain restrictions on the conduct of its business prior to completing the merger, which may adversely affect its ability to execute certain of its business strategies, including the ability in certain cases to enter into or amend contracts, acquire or dispose of assets, incur indebtedness or incur capital expenditures. Such limitations could negatively affect each party's businesses and operations prior to the completion of the merger.

The merger is subject to the receipt of approvals, consents or clearances from regulatory authorities which, if not obtained, could prevent completion of the merger.

Before the merger may be completed, the consents, authorizations, approvals, or exemptions required under the Bank Holding Company Act, the FDI Act, the Michigan Banking Code and other applicable law must have been obtained. Under the merger agreement, Mercantile and Firstbank have agreed to use their commercially reasonable efforts to obtain such approvals, consents and clearances. There is no assurance that such approvals, consents, and clearances will be obtained. For a more detailed description of the regulatory review process, see the section entitled The Merger Regulatory Clearances Required for the Merger beginning on page 94.

Uncertainties associated with the merger may cause a loss of management personnel and other key employees which could adversely affect the future business and operations of the combined company.

Mercantile and Firstbank are dependent on the experience and industry knowledge of their officers and other key employees to execute their business plans. The combined company's success after the completion of the merger will depend in part upon the ability of Mercantile and Firstbank to retain key management personnel and other key employees. Current and prospective employees of Mercantile and Firstbank may experience uncertainty about their roles within the combined company following the completion of the merger, which may have an adverse effect on the ability of each of Mercantile and Firstbank to attract or retain key management and other key personnel. Accordingly, no assurance can be given that the combined company will be able to attract or retain key management personnel and other key employees of Mercantile and Firstbank to the same extent that Mercantile and Firstbank have previously been able to attract or retain their own employees.

Litigation may be filed against Mercantile, Firstbank and/or their respective boards of directors could prevent or delay the consummation of the merger or result in the payment of damages following completion of the merger.

In connection with the merger, it is possible that Firstbank shareholders may file putative shareholder class action lawsuits against Firstbank and its board of directors, and against Mercantile, and it is possible that Mercantile shareholders may file putative shareholder class action lawsuits against Mercantile and its board of directors. Among other remedies, the plaintiffs may seek to enjoin the merger. The outcome of any such litigation is uncertain. If a dismissal is not granted or a settlement is not reached, such potential lawsuits could prevent or delay completion of the merger and result in substantial costs to Mercantile and Firstbank, including any costs associated with indemnification. The defense or settlement of any lawsuit or claim that remains unresolved at the time the merger is consummated may adversely affect the combined company's business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and market price. See "The Merger – Litigation Related to the Merger" beginning on page 96 for more information about the lawsuit that has been filed related to the merger.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information in this joint proxy statement and prospectus is presented for illustrative purposes only and may not be reflective of the operating results and financial condition of the combined company following completion of the merger.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information in this joint proxy statement and prospectus is presented for illustrative purposes only and is not necessarily indicative of what the combined company's actual financial position or results of operations would have been had the merger been completed on the date indicated. Further, the combined company's actual results and financial position after the merger may differ materially and adversely from the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial data that is included in this joint proxy statement and prospectus. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information has been prepared based on the determination that Mercantile will be identified as the acquiror under GAAP and reflects adjustments based upon preliminary estimates of the fair value of assets to be acquired and liabilities to be assumed. The final acquisition accounting will be based upon the actual purchase price and the fair value of the assets and liabilities of Firstbank as of the date of the completion of the merger. In addition, subsequent to the closing date, there will be further refinements of the acquisition accounting as additional information becomes available. Accordingly, the final acquisition accounting may differ materially from the pro forma condensed combined financial information reflected in this document. See "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information" beginning on page 122 for more information.

Completion of the merger will trigger change in control or other provisions in certain agreements to which Mercantile or Firstbank is a party.

The completion of the merger will trigger change in control or other provisions in certain agreements to which Mercantile or Firstbank is a party. If Mercantile and Firstbank are unable to negotiate waivers of those provisions, the counterparties may exercise their rights and remedies under the agreements, potentially terminating the agreements or seeking monetary damages. Even if Mercantile and Firstbank are able to negotiate waivers, the counterparties may require a fee for such waivers or seek to renegotiate the agreements on terms less favorable to Firstbank, Mercantile or the combined company.

Risks Relating to the Combined Company after Completion of the Merger

The combined company may be unable to successfully integrate the businesses of Mercantile and Firstbank and realize the anticipated benefits of the merger.

The merger involves the combination of two companies that currently operate, and will continue to operate until the effective date of the merger, as independent public companies. The combined company will be required to devote significant management attention and resources to integrating the business practices and operations of Mercantile and Firstbank. Potential difficulties the combined company may encounter as part of the integration process include the following:

inability to successfully combine the businesses of Mercantile and Firstbank in a manner that permits the combined company to achieve the full benefits anticipated to result from the merger;

complexities associated with managing the businesses of the combined company, including the challenge of integrating complex systems, technology, networks and other assets of each of the companies in a seamless manner that minimizes any adverse impact on customers, employees and other constituencies; and potential unknown liabilities and unforeseen increased expenses or delays associated with the merger, including capital expenditures and one-time cash costs to integrate the two companies.

Table of Contents

In addition, Mercantile and Firstbank have operated and, until the completion of the merger, will continue to operate independently and may not begin the actual integration process. Although the parties are conducting an integration planning process as permitted by legal restrictions, this process could result in:

diversion of the attention of each company's management; and the disruption of, or the loss of momentum in, each company's ongoing businesses or inconsistencies in standards, controls, procedures and policies, any of which could adversely affect each company's ability to maintain relationships with customers, employees and other constituencies or Mercantile's and Firstbank's ability to achieve the anticipated benefits of the merger or could reduce each company's earnings or otherwise adversely affect the business and financial results of the combined company.

Mercantile shareholders and Firstbank shareholders will have a reduced ownership and voting interest after the merger and will exercise less influence over management.

Mercantile shareholders presently have the right to vote in the election of Mercantile's board of directors and on other matters affecting Mercantile. Firstbank shareholders presently have the right to vote in the election of Firstbank's board of directors and on other matters affecting Firstbank. Immediately after the merger is completed, it is expected that current Mercantile shareholders will own approximately 52% of the combined company's common stock outstanding and current Firstbank shareholders will own approximately 48% of the combined company's common stock outstanding, respectively.

As a result, current Mercantile shareholders and current Firstbank shareholders will have less influence on the management and policies of the combined company than they now have on the management and policies of Mercantile and Firstbank, respectively.

The future results of the combined company will suffer if the combined company does not effectively manage its expanded operations following the completion of the merger.

Following the completion of the merger, the size of the business of the combined company will increase significantly beyond the current size of either Mercantile's or Firstbank's business. The combined company's future success depends, in part, upon its ability to manage this expanded business, which will pose substantial challenges for management, including challenges related to the management and monitoring of new operations and associated increased costs and complexity. There can be no assurances that the combined company will be successful or that it will realize the expected operating efficiencies, cost savings and other benefits currently anticipated from the merger.

The combined company is expected to incur substantial expenses related to the completion of the merger and the integration of Mercantile and Firstbank.

The combined company is expected to incur substantial expenses in connection with the completion of the merger and the integration of Mercantile and Firstbank. There are a large number of processes, policies, procedures, operations, technologies and systems that must be integrated, including banking operations software and systems, accounting and finance, payroll, revenue management, marketing and benefits. While Mercantile and Firstbank have assumed that a certain level of expenses will be incurred, there are many factors beyond their control that could affect the total amount or the timing of the integration expenses. Moreover, many of the expenses that will be incurred are, by their nature, difficult to estimate accurately. These expenses could, particularly in the near term, exceed the savings that the combined company expects to achieve from the elimination of duplicative expenses and the realization of economies of scale and cost savings. These integration expenses likely will result in the combined company taking significant charges against earnings following the completion of the merger, and the amount and timing of such charges are uncertain at present.

The market price of the combined company's common stock may be affected by factors different from those affecting the price of Mercantile or Firstbank common stock.

Upon completion of the merger, holders of Mercantile common stock and Firstbank common stock will become holders of common stock in the combined company. As the businesses of Mercantile and Firstbank are different, the results of operations of the combined company as well as the price of the combined company's common stock may in the future be affected by factors different from those factors affecting Mercantile and Firstbank as independent, stand-alone companies. The combined company will face additional risks and uncertainties to which Mercantile or Firstbank may not currently be exposed as independent companies.

Other Risks Relating to Mercantile and Firstbank

Mercantile's and Firstbank's businesses are and will be subject to the risks described above. In addition, Mercantile and Firstbank are and will continue to be subject to the risks described in Mercantile's and Firstbank's respective Annual Reports on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2012, as updated by subsequent Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q and Current Reports on Form 8-K, all of which are filed with the SEC and incorporated by reference into this joint proxy statement and prospectus. To help assure the presence in person or by proxy of the largest number of shareholders possible, we have engaged Georgeson Inc., a proxy solicitation firm, which we refer to as Georgeson, to solicit proxies on Mercantile's behalf. We have agreed to pay Georgeson a proxy solicitation fee of $6,000. We will also reimburse Georgeson for its reasonable out-of-pocket costs and expenses.

Any adjournment of the Mercantile special meeting may be made from time to time if the approval of the holders of a majority of the votes cast at the Mercantile special meeting is obtained, whether or not a quorum exists, without further notice other than by an announcement made at the special meeting (unless a new record date is fixed). If a quorum is not present at the special meeting then the chairman may adjourn the meeting to solicit additional proxies. If a quorum is present at the special meeting but there are not sufficient votes to obtain the necessary shareholder approvals, then Mercantile shareholders may be asked to approve an adjournment of the meeting to permit the further solicitation of proxies.

The Firstbank board of directors regularly reviews Firstbank's performance, risks, opportunities and strategy and discusses such matters at board meetings. Firstbank's board of directors and management team review and evaluate the possibility of pursuing various strategic alternatives and relationships as part of Firstbank's ongoing efforts to strengthen its businesses and improve its operations and financial performance in order to create value for its shareholders, taking into account economic, regulatory, competitive and other conditions. Representatives from Sandler O'Neill were present both in person and telephonically, and representatives of Varnum were present in person. Varnum provided a written outline of the proposed merger agreement for the transaction between Firstbank and Mercantile and reviewed the outline and agreement with the board of directors. The board of directors' review and discussion of the proposed agreement and plan of merger included discussion and deliberation concerning the transaction structure, merger consideration, treatment of stock options and restricted stock awards, suspension of the Firstbank dividend reinvestment plan, the board of directors and management team of the combined company, the Mercantile special dividend and regular dividends of the combined company, covenants (including the covenant of non-solicitation), representations and warranties, closing condition, proxy statement and other securities matters, regulatory approvals, termination fees, indemnification and insurance, end date, employee matters and the proposed voting agreements. Sandler O'Neill reviewed with the board of directors its financial analysis of the merger. Sandler O'Neill provided its oral opinion, subsequently confirmed in writing, that the exchange ratio is fair to Firstbank shareholders, from a financial point of view. Following deliberations, the Firstbank board of directors unanimously approved the merger agreement and recommended to the shareholders of Firstbank that they vote to adopt the merger agreement. In addition, in accordance with the merger agreement, the Firstbank board of directors voted to designate Edward Grant and Jeff Gardner, who are independent directors of Firstbank, to become directors of the combined company on the effective date of the merger.

Firstbank and Mercantile executed the merger agreement on August 14, 2013 and, before the financial markets opened on August 15, 2013, issued a joint press release announcing the execution of the merger agreement and the terms of the merger.

Mercantile's Reasons for the Merger; Recommendation of the Mercantile Board of Directors

In approving the merger agreement and recommending approval of the issuance of shares of Mercantile common stock to Firstbank shareholders in connection with the merger, the Mercantile board of directors consulted with members of Mercantile's management, as well as with Mercantile's legal, financial, and business advisors, and also considered a number of factors that the Mercantile board of directors viewed as supporting its decisions. The principal factors that the Mercantile board of directors viewed as supporting its decisions are:

the complementary business strengths of Mercantile and Firstbank, with Mercantile as a leader in commercial lending and Firstbank having a strong retail branch network;

the expected strengthened competitive positioning of the combined company throughout Michigan, which Mercantile expects will enhance its ability to serve customers;

the expectation that the combined company will have an attractive and increasingly diversified loan portfolio;

the expectation that the combined company will be able to offer an increase breadth of banking products;

the potential opportunities for greater efficiencies from conducting Mercantile's and Firstbank's operations as part of a single enterprise;

the board of director's belief that the merger represents a superior opportunity for increasing shareholder value compared to the other strategic alternatives available to Mercantile;

the expectation that the combined company will have increased resources to invest in future growth opportunities in comparison to Mercantile on a stand-alone basis;

the expectation that shareholders will experience opportunities for share price growth driven by a more liquid public company stock and a more diversified business profile;

that the board of directors of the combined company following the merger will have representation from the two companies consisting of three directors chosen by the current Mercantile directors and the three current Firstbank directors who are independent for the purposes of Nasdaq rules, as described under "Board of Directors and Management Following the Merger"; and the opinion of KBW, dated August 14, 2013, addressed to Mercantile's board of directors as to the fairness to Mercantile, from a financial point of view and as of the date of such opinion, of the Exchange Ratio, as more fully described below under the caption "Opinion of Mercantile's Financial Advisor."

In addition to considering the factors described above, the Mercantile board of directors also considered the following factors:

its knowledge of Mercantile's business, operations, financial condition, earnings and prospects and its knowledge of Firstbank's business, operations, financial condition, earnings and prospects, taking into account Firstbank's publicly-filed information and the results of Mercantile's due diligence review of Firstbank;

the long-term and recent historical trading prices with respect to shares of Mercantile common stock and Firstbank common stock and the amount of the merger consideration;

the fact that the exchange ratio is fixed and will not fluctuate based upon changes in the market price of Mercantile or Firstbank common stock between the date of the merger agreement and the date of the completion of the merger;

the terms and conditions of the merger agreement, including the commitments by both Mercantile and Firstbank to complete the merger and certain reciprocal provisions that may have the effect of discouraging alternative acquisition proposals involving Firstbank or Mercantile, and the likelihood of completing the merger; and the fact that the merger agreement does not preclude a third party from making an unsolicited proposal for a competing transaction with Mercantile or Firstbank and, that under certain circumstances more fully described in the sections The Merger Agreement Restrictions on Solicitation beginning on page 106 and The Merger Agreement Changes in Board Recommendations beginning on page 107, Mercantile or Firstbank, as applicable, may furnish non-public information to and enter into discussions with such third party regarding the competing transaction and the Mercantile or Firstbank board, as applicable, may withdraw or modify its recommendations to Mercantile or Firstbank shareholders regarding the merger and terminate the merger agreement to enter into a competing transaction under certain circumstances.

The Mercantile board of directors weighed the foregoing against a number of potentially negative factors, including:

the restrictions on the conduct of Mercantile's business during the period between the execution of the merger agreement and the completion of the merger;

the costs associated with the completion of the merger and the realization of the benefits expected to be obtained in connection with the merger, including management's time and energy and potential opportunity cost;

the challenges in absorbing the effect of any failure to complete the merger, including potential termination fees and shareholder and market reactions;

the risk that regulatory agencies may not approve the merger or may impose terms and conditions on their approvals that adversely affect the business and financial results of the combined company as more fully described under the caption Regulatory Clearances Required for the Merger beginning on page 94;

the challenges inherent in the combination of two businesses of the size and complexity of Mercantile and Firstbank, including the possible diversion of management attention for an extended period of time;

the risk of not being able to realize all of the anticipated cost savings and operational synergies between Mercantile and Firstbank and the risk that other anticipated benefits might not be realized; and the risks of the type and nature described under Risk Factors, beginning on page 30, and the matters described under Special Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements, beginning on page 28.

This discussion of the information and factors considered by Mercantile's board of directors in reaching its conclusions and recommendation includes the principal factors considered by the board of directors, but is not intended to be exhaustive and may not include all of the factors considered by the Mercantile board of directors. In view of the wide variety of factors considered in connection with its evaluation of the merger and the other transactions contemplated by the merger agreement, and the complexity of these matters, the Mercantile board of directors did not find it useful and did not attempt to quantify, rank or assign any relative or specific weights to the various factors that it considered in reaching its determination to approve the merger and the other transactions contemplated by the merger agreement, and to make its recommendation to Mercantile shareholders. Rather, the Mercantile board of directors viewed its decisions as being based on the totality of the information presented to it and the factors it considered, including its discussions with and questioning of members of Mercantile's management and outside legal and financial advisors. In addition, individual members of the Mercantile board of directors may have assigned different weights to different factors.

Certain of Mercantile's directors and executive officers have financial interests in the merger that are different from, or in addition to, those of Mercantile's shareholders generally. The Mercantile board of directors was aware of and considered these potential interests, among other matters, in evaluating the merger and in making its recommendation to Mercantile shareholders. For a discussion of these interests, see Interests of Mercantile Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger.

The Mercantile board of directors unanimously approved the merger, adopted the merger agreement, and determined that the merger and the other transactions contemplated by the merger agreement, including the issuance of shares of Mercantile common stock to Firstbank shareholders in connection with the merger, are in the best interests of Mercantile and its shareholders. Accordingly, the Mercantile board of directors unanimously recommends that Mercantile shareholders vote FOR the proposal to approve the merger agreement, FOR the proposal to approve the issuance of shares of Mercantile common stock to Firstbank shareholders in connection with the merger, FOR the proposal to approve the amendment to Mercantile's articles of incorporation, FOR the a proposal to approve, on an advisory (non-binding) basis, the compensation that may be paid or become payable to Mercantile's named executive officers that is based on or otherwise related to the proposed transactions and FOR the proposal to approve the adjournment of the Mercantile special meeting, if necessary or appropriate, to permit further solicitation of proxies.

Opinion of Mercantile's Financial Advisor in Connection with the Merger

On January 24, 2013, Mercantile entered into an engagement agreement with Stifel, Nicolaus & Company, Incorporated, an affiliate of KBW, to render financial advisory and investment banking services to Mercantile, which services were subsequently performed by KBW. As part of its engagement, KBW agreed to assist Mercantile in analyzing, structuring, negotiating and, if appropriate, effecting a transaction between Mercantile and Firstbank. KBW also agreed to provide Mercantile with an opinion as to the fairness to Mercantile, from a financial point of view, of the exchange ratio in the proposed merger. Mercantile engaged KBW because KBW is a nationally recognized investment banking firm with substantial experience in transactions similar to the merger and is familiar with Mercantile and its business. As part of its investment banking business, KBW is continually engaged in the valuation of financial businesses and their securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions.

On August 14, 2013, the Mercantile board of directors held a meeting to evaluate the proposed merger. At that meeting, KBW reviewed the financial aspects of the proposed merger and rendered an opinion to the Mercantile board that, as of such date and based upon and subject to factors and assumptions set forth therein, the exchange ratio in the merger is fair, from a financial point of view, to Mercantile. The Mercantile board of directors approved the merger agreement at that meeting.

The full text of KBW's written opinion, dated August 14, 2013, which sets forth the assumptions made, procedures followed, matters considered and limitations on the review undertaken in connection with the opinion, is attached as Annex C to this document and is incorporated herein by reference. The description of the opinion set forth herein is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of such opinion. Mercantile's shareholders are urged to read the opinion in its entirety.

KBW's opinion speaks only as of the date of the opinion and KBW undertakes no obligation to revise or update its opinion. The opinion is directed solely to the Mercantile board of directors and addresses only the fairness, from a financial point of view to Mercantile, of the exchange ratio in the merger. The opinion does not address, and KBW expresses no view or opinion with respect to, (i) the underlying business decision of Mercantile to engage in the merger or enter into the merger agreement, (ii) the underlying decision of the Mercantile board of directors to announce its intention to declare and pay, and any subsequent declaration and payment of, the $2.00 special cash dividend (referred to as the pre-merger special dividend) per share of common stock of Mercantile, as described in and contemplated by the merger agreement, including the merits of such decision as compared to any other alternatives that are, have been or may be available to Mercantile or the Mercantile board of directors, (iii) the relative merits of the merger as compared to any strategic alternatives that are, have been or may be available to or contemplated by Mercantile or the Mercantile board of directors, (iv) the fairness of the amount or nature of any compensation to any of Mercantile's officers directors or employees, or any class of such persons, relative to the compensation to the public shareholders of Mercantile, (v) the effect of the merger on, or the fairness of the consideration to be received by, holders of any class of securities of Mercantile or any other party to any transaction contemplated by the merger agreement, (vi) any advice or opinions, including tax advice, provided by any other advisor to any of the parties to the merger or any other transaction contemplated by the merger agreement, or (vii) any legal, regulatory, accounting, tax or similar matters relating to Mercantile, Firstbank, their respective shareholders, or relating to or arising out of the merger, including whether or not the merger would qualify as a tax-free reorganization for United States federal income tax purposes. The opinion has been reviewed and approved by KBW's Fairness Opinion Committee in conformity with its policies and procedures established under the requirements of Rule 5150 of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority.

In connection with its opinion, KBW reviewed, analyzed and relied upon material bearing upon the merger and the financial and operating condition of Mercantile and Firstbank, including among other things, the following:

a version of the merger agreement dated August 12, 2013 (the most recent version made available to KBW at the time of its opinion); the Annual Report to Shareholders for the year ended December 31, 2012 and Annual Reports on Form 10-K for the three years ended December 31, 2012 of Mercantile;

the Annual Reports to Shareholders and Annual Reports on Form 10-K for the three years ended December 31, 2012 of Firstbank; certain interim reports to shareholders and the Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the three months ended March 31, 2013 and the three months ended June 30, 2013 of Mercantile and Firstbank, and certain other communications from Mercantile and Firstbank to their respective shareholders; and other financial information concerning the businesses and operations of Mercantile and Firstbank furnished to KBW by Mercantile and Firstbank for purposes of its analysis.

KBW also held discussions with members of senior management of Mercantile and Firstbank regarding the past and current business operations, regulatory relations, financial condition, and future prospects of the respective companies and other matters that KBW deemed relevant to its inquiry. In addition, KBW reviewed the historical and current financial position and results of operations of Mercantile and Firstbank, reviewed the assets and liabilities of Mercantile and Firstbank, compared certain financial and stock market information for Mercantile and Firstbank with similar information for certain other companies the securities of which are publicly traded, reviewed the financial terms of certain recent business combinations in the banking industry, and performed other studies and analyses that it considered appropriate. KBW's opinion was necessarily based upon conditions as they existed and could be evaluated on the date of such opinion and the information made available to KBW by members of senior management of Mercantile and Firstbank through the date of such opinion.

In conducting its review and arriving at its opinion, KBW relied upon, and assumed the accuracy and completeness of, all of the financial and other information provided to it or publicly available, and did not independently verify the accuracy or completeness of any such information or assume any responsibility or liability for such verification, accuracy or completeness. KBW relied upon members of the senior management of Mercantile and Firstbank as to the reasonableness and achievability of the financial and operating forecasts and projections (and assumptions and bases therefore, including cost savings, operating synergies and merger-related costs) provided to KBW, and KBW assumed that such forecasts and projections reflected the best currently-available estimates and judgments of such managements and that such forecasts and projections will be realized in the amounts and in the time periods currently estimated by such senior members of management. KBW also assumed that the merger will be consummated in a manner that complies with the applicable provisions the Securities Act, the Exchange Act and all other applicable federal and state statutes, rules and regulations. As stated in its opinion, KBW is not an expert in the independent valuation of the adequacy of allowances for loan and lease losses, and without independent verification, assumed that the aggregate allowances for loan and lease losses for Mercantile and Firstbank are adequate to cover those losses. In rendering its opinion, KBW did not make or obtain any evaluations or appraisals of any assets or liabilities of Mercantile or Firstbank, the collateral securing of any such assets or liabilities or the collectability of any such assets, nor did KBW examine or review any individual credit files. KBW did not evaluate the solvency, financial capability or fair value of Mercantile or Firstbank under any state or federal laws, including those related to bankruptcy, insolvency or other matters.

The projections and associated assumptions furnished to and used by KBW in certain of its analyses were prepared by Mercantile's and Firstbank's senior management teams. Mercantile and Firstbank do not publicly disclose internal management projections of the type provided to KBW in connection with its review of the merger. As a result, such projections were not prepared with a view towards public disclosure. The projections were based on numerous variables and assumptions, which are inherently uncertain, including factors related to general economic and competitive conditions. Accordingly, actual results could vary significantly from those set forth in the projections. Any estimates or projections contained in the analyses performed by KBW are not necessarily indicative of actual values or future results, which may be significantly more or less favorable than suggested by these analyses. Additionally, estimates or projections of the value of businesses or securities do not purport to be appraisals or to reflect the prices at which such businesses or securities might actually be sold. Accordingly, these analyses and estimates are inherently subject to substantial uncertainty, and KBW expressly disclaims responsibility or liability for their accuracy.

KBW was not asked to, and it did not, offer any opinion as to the terms of the merger agreement or the form of the merger or any aspect of the merger, other than the exchange ratio to the extent expressly specified in KBW's opinion. For purposes of rendering its opinion, KBW assumed that, in all respects material to its analyses:

the merger will be completed substantially in accordance with the terms set forth in the merger agreement (the final terms of which will not differ in any respect material to KBW's analyses from the draft reviewed) with no additional payments or adjustments to the exchange ratio;

the representations and warranties of each party in the merger agreement and in all related documents and instruments referred to in the merger agreement are true and correct;

each party to the merger agreement and all related documents will perform all of the covenants and agreements required to be performed by such party under such documents;

all conditions to the completion of the merger will be satisfied without any waivers or modifications to the merger agreement; and in the course of obtaining the necessary regulatory, contractual or other consents or approvals for the merger, no restrictions, including any divestiture requirements, termination or other payments or amendments or modifications, will be imposed that will have a material adverse effect on the future results of operations or financial condition of the combined entity or the contemplated benefits of the merger, including the cost savings, revenue enhancements and related expenses expected to result from the merger.

KBW further assumed that the merger will be accounted for as a purchase transaction under generally accepted accounting principles, and that the merger will qualify as a tax-free reorganization for United States federal income tax purposes. KBW's opinion does not in any manner address the prices at which the Mercantile common stock will trade following (i) the announcement or consummation of the merger, (ii) the announcement of the Mercantile board of directors' intention to declare and pay the pre-merger special dividend, or (iii) any actual declaration or payment of the pre-merger special dividend (or the occurrence of the ex-dividend date with respect thereto).

In performing its analyses, KBW considered such financial and other factors it deemed appropriate under the circumstances, including, among others, the following: (i) the historical and current financial position and results of operations of Mercantile and Firstbank; (ii) the assets and liabilities of Mercantile and Firstbank; and

(iii) the nature and terms of certain other merger transactions involving banks and bank holding companies. KBW also took into account its assessment of general economic, market and financial conditions and its experience in other transactions, as well as its experience in securities valuation and knowledge of the banking industry generally.

The exchange ratio was determined through negotiation between Mercantile and Firstbank and the decision to enter into the merger was solely that of Mercantile's board of directors. In addition, the KBW opinion was among several factors taken into consideration by the Mercantile board in making its determination to approve the merger agreement and the merger. Consequently, the analyses described below should not be viewed as determinative of the decision of the Mercantile board with respect to the fairness of the exchange ratio in the merger.

Summary of Analysis by KBW

The following is a summary of the material financial analyses performed by KBW and presented to the Mercantile board on August 14, 2013, in connection with rendering the fairness opinion described above. The following summary is not a complete description of the financial analyses performed by KBW in rendering its opinion or the presentation made by KBW to the Mercantile board, nor does the order of analysis described represent relative importance or weight given to any particular analysis by KBW and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the written opinion of KBW attached as Annex C. The preparation of a fairness opinion is a complex analytic process involving various determinations as to the most appropriate and relevant methods of financial analysis and the application of those methods to the particular circumstances. Therefore, a fairness opinion is not readily susceptible to partial analysis or summary description. Selecting portions of the analysis or of the summary set forth herein, without considering the analysis as a whole, could create an incomplete view of the processes underlying KBW's opinion. In arriving at its opinion, KBW considered the results of its entire analysis and KBW did not attribute any particular weight to any analysis or factor that it considered. Rather, KBW made its determination as to fairness on the basis of its experience and professional judgment after considering the results of its entire analysis. The financial analyses summarized below include information presented in tabular format. Accordingly, KBW's analyses and the summary of its analyses must be considered as a whole and selecting portions of its analyses and factors or focusing on the information presented below in tabular format, without considering all analyses and factors or the full narrative description of the financial analyses, including the methodologies and assumptions underlying the analyses, could create a misleading or incomplete view of the process underlying its analyses and opinion. Transaction multiples for the merger were derived from an implied aggregate offer price per share of $19.02, prior to giving effect to the pre-merger special dividend of $2.00 per share paid to Mercantile shareholders, and $17.02 after giving effect to the pre-merger special dividend of $2.00 per share paid to Mercantile shareholders. For each transaction referred to above, KBW derived and compared, among other things, the following implied ratios:

price per common share paid for the acquired company to tangible book value per share of the acquired company based on the latest publicly available financial statements of the company available prior to the announcement of the acquisition;

Financial Impact Analysis

KBW performed pro forma merger analyses that combined projected income statement and balance sheet information of Mercantile and Firstbank. Assumptions regarding the accounting treatment, acquisition adjustments and cost savings were provided by Mercantile and Firstbank management, were relied on by KBW and were used to calculate the financial impact that the merger would have on certain projected financial results of Mercantile. In the course of this analysis, KBW used earnings estimates for Mercantile and Firstbank for 2014 and 2015, as prepared and provided by Mercantile and Firstbank management, respectively. This analysis indicated that the merger is expected to be accretive to Mercantile's estimated earnings per share in 2014 and 2015. The analysis also indicated that the merger is expected to be dilutive to tangible book value per share for Mercantile and that Mercantile is expected to maintain well-capitalized capital ratios, after giving effect to the $2.00 per share pre-merger special dividend. For all of the above analyses, the actual results achieved by Mercantile following the merger will vary from the estimates used and the projected results, and the variations may be material.

Table of Contents*Firstbank Discounted Cash Flow Analysis*

KBW performed a discounted cash flow analysis to estimate a range of the present values of after-tax cash flows that Firstbank could provide to equity holders through 2018 on a stand-alone basis. In performing this analysis, KBW used earnings estimates for Firstbank, cost savings estimates, loan credit mark adjustments and restructuring charges, all as prepared and provided by Mercantile and Firstbank management, and assumed discount rates ranging from 11.0% to 16.0%. The range of values was determined by adding (i) the present value of projected cash flows to Firstbank shareholders from 2014 to 2018 and (ii) the present value of the terminal value of Firstbank's common stock. In determining cash flows available to shareholders, KBW assumed balance sheet growth provided by Firstbank management and assumed that Firstbank would maintain a tangible common equity/tangible asset ratio of 8.00% and would retain sufficient earnings to maintain these levels. Any earnings in excess of what would need to be retained represented dividendable cash flows for Firstbank. In calculating the terminal value of Firstbank, KBW applied multiples ranging from 10.0 times to 14.0 times the 2019 forecasted earnings provided by Firstbank. This resulted in a range of values of Firstbank from $15.93 to $26.27 per share. The discounted cash flow present value analysis is a widely used valuation methodology that relies on numerous assumptions, including asset and earnings growth rates, terminal values and discount rates. The analysis did not purport to be indicative of the actual values or expected values of Firstbank.

Mercantile Discounted Cash Flow Analysis

KBW performed a discounted cash flow analysis to estimate a range of the present values of after-tax cash flows that Mercantile could provide to equity holders through 2018 on a stand-alone basis. In performing this analysis, KBW used earnings estimates for Mercantile prepared and provided by Mercantile management and assumed discount rates ranging from 11.0% to 16.0%. The range of values was determined by adding (i) the present value of projected cash flows to Mercantile shareholders from 2014 to 2018 and (ii) the present value of the terminal value of Mercantile's common stock. In determining cash flows available to shareholders, KBW assumed balance sheet growth provided by Mercantile management and assumed that Mercantile would maintain a tangible common equity/tangible asset ratio of 8.00%, and would retain sufficient earnings to maintain these levels. Any earnings in excess of what would need to be retained represented dividendable cash flows for Mercantile. In calculating the terminal value of Mercantile, KBW applied multiples ranging from 10.0 times to 14.0 times the 2019 forecasted earnings provided by Mercantile. This resulted in a range of values of Mercantile from $18.48 to $26.06 per share. To illustrate the implied offer to Firstbank, KBW applied the exchange ratio of 1.000 shares of Mercantile to the aforementioned implied discounted cash flow value per Mercantile share, resulting in an implied offer range of values to Firstbank of $18.48 to $26.06 per share, without giving effect to the $2.00 per share special dividend. The discounted cash flow present value analysis is a widely used valuation methodology that relies on numerous assumptions, including asset and earnings growth rates, terminal values and discount rates. The analysis did not purport to be indicative of the actual values or expected values of Mercantile.

Pro Forma Discounted Cash Flow Analysis

KBW performed a discounted cash flow analysis to estimate a range of the present values of after-tax cash flows that Mercantile (pro forma for the merger) could provide to equity holders through 2018 on a pro forma basis. In performing this analysis, KBW used earnings estimates, cost savings estimates, purchase accounting adjustments, and restructuring charges provided by Mercantile management and assumed discount rates ranging from 10.0% to 15.0%. The range of values was determined by adding (i) the present value of projected cash flows to Mercantile (pro forma for the merger) shareholders from 2014 to 2018 and (ii) the present value of the terminal value of Mercantile's (pro forma for the merger) common stock. In determining cash flows available to shareholders, KBW assumed balance sheet growth prepared and provided by Mercantile management and assumed, at the direction of Mercantile management, that Mercantile (pro forma for the merger) would maintain a tangible common equity/tangible asset ratio of 8.00% and would retain sufficient earnings to maintain these levels. Any earnings in excess of what would need to be retained represented dividendable cash flows for Mercantile (pro forma for the merger). In calculating the terminal value of Mercantile (pro forma for the merger), KBW applied multiples ranging from 10.0 times to 14.0 times 2019 forecasted earnings. This resulted in a range of share values of Mercantile (pro forma for the merger) from $16.78 to $26.11 per share, prior to giving effect to the pre-merger special dividend, and from $18.78 to $28.11 after giving effect to the pre-merger special dividend. The discounted cash flow present value analysis is a widely used valuation methodology that relies on numerous assumptions, including asset and earnings growth rates, terminal values and discount rates. The analysis did not purport to be indicative of the actual values or expected values of Mercantile (pro forma for the merger).

Engagement of KBW by Mercantile

The Mercantile board retained KBW as financial adviser to Mercantile regarding the merger. As part of its investment banking business, KBW is continually engaged in the valuation of banking businesses and their securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions, negotiated underwritings, competitive biddings, secondary distributions of listed and unlisted securities, private placements and valuations for various other purposes. As specialists in the securities of banking companies, KBW has experience in, and knowledge of, the valuation of banking enterprises. In the ordinary course of its business as a broker-dealer, KBW may, from time to time, purchase securities from, and sell securities to, Mercantile and Firstbank. As a market maker in securities, KBW may from time to time have a long or short position in, and buy or sell, debt or equity securities of Mercantile and Firstbank for KBW's own account and for the accounts of its customers. To the extent KBW held any such positions, it was disclosed to the Mercantile board of directors on or before the August 14, 2013 board of directors meeting.

KBW has acted exclusively for the Mercantile board of directors in rendering its opinion in connection with the merger. Pursuant to the KBW engagement agreement, Mercantile agreed to pay to KBW a cash fee of $200,000 concurrently with the rendering of KBW's opinion as well as a cash contingent advisory fee equal to approximately $1,459,000 to be paid at the time of closing of the merger. In addition, pursuant to the engagement agreement, Mercantile also agreed to reimburse KBW for all reasonable out-of-pocket expenses and disbursements up to $25,000, including fees and reasonable expenses of counsel, incurred in connection with the engagement and to indemnify KBW and related parties against certain liabilities, including but not limited to liabilities under federal securities laws, relating to, or arising out of, its engagement. During the two years preceding the date of its opinion to the Mercantile board of directors, KBW and its affiliates have received $24,000 in compensation for investment banking services from Mercantile, and KBW has not received compensation for investment banking services from Firstbank.

Amendment to Mercantile's Articles of Incorporation

The Mercantile board of directors has approved, subject to Mercantile shareholder approval and completion of the merger, an amendment to the Mercantile's articles of incorporation to provide for an increase in the number of authorized shares of common stock of Mercantile from 20,000,000 to 40,000,000. The approval of this amendment to the articles of incorporation is not a condition to completion of the merger. In the event this proposal is approved by Mercantile shareholders but the merger is not completed, this amendment will not become effective.

As of [record date], Mercantile had no shares of Mercantile preferred stock and [] shares of Mercantile common stock issued and outstanding. As of [record date], there were approximately [] shares of Mercantile common stock reserved for issuance. Based on the number of shares of Firstbank common stock outstanding as of such date, if the merger is completed, Mercantile would be required to issue approximately [] additional shares of Mercantile common stock to the Firstbank shareholders. In addition, upon completion of the merger, Mercantile would likely reserve for issuance approximately [] million additional shares of Mercantile common stock to cover, among other things, stock options, restricted stock, and other share-based awards assumed from Firstbank. Although the number of shares of common stock currently authorized under Mercantile's articles of incorporation will be sufficient to complete the merger, unless Mercantile's capital stock is increased, upon completion of the merger the combined company is expected to have fewer than 3 million authorized shares of common stock available for issuance. The Mercantile board of directors believes that it is advisable to have additional authorized shares of common stock available for important corporate purposes, such as to provide the ability to react quickly to strategic opportunities and to attract and retain talented employees through the use of equity incentive compensation. Although there are no present plans or commitments for the issuance of any of the additional shares that would be authorized upon approval of this amendment, such shares would be available for equity incentive plans, possible future stock splits and dividends, public or private offerings of common stock or securities convertible into common stock, equity-based acquisitions and other corporate purposes that might be proposed. The additional shares of Mercantile common stock will not be entitled to preemptive rights nor will existing shareholders have any preemptive right to acquire any of those shares when issued. The Mercantile Board of Directors unanimously recommends that the Mercantile shareholders vote FOR the proposal to approve the amendment to the articles of incorporation to increase the number of authorized shares to 40,000,000.

Firstbank s Reasons for the Merger; Recommendation of the Firstbank Board of Directors

After careful consideration, Firstbank s board of directors, at a meeting held on August 14, 2013, unanimously determined that the merger agreement is in the best interests of Firstbank and its shareholders. Accordingly, Firstbank s board of directors adopted and approved the merger agreement and unanimously recommends that Firstbank shareholders vote FOR the approval of the Firstbank merger proposal, FOR the approval of the advisory compensation proposal and FOR the approval of the Firstbank adjournment proposal.

In reaching its decision to adopt and approve the merger agreement and to recommend that its shareholders approve the merger agreement, the Firstbank board of directors consulted with Firstbank management, as well as its financial and legal advisors, and considered a number of factors, including, without limitation, the following material factors:

the business strategy and strategic plan of Firstbank, its prospects for the future, projected financial results and expectations relating to the proposed merger with Mercantile;

a review of the risks and prospects of Firstbank remaining independent, including the challenges of the current financial and regulatory climate;

the board s belief that the merger has the potential to deliver a higher value to Firstbank s shareholders than the alternatives to the merger;

whether there might be other potential merger parties that might be attractive and have sufficient market capitalization or other resources to consummate a merger with Firstbank;

a review of the historical financial statements and condition of Firstbank and certain other internal information, primarily financial in nature, relating to the business, earnings and balance sheet of Firstbank;

the fact that the merger would combine two established banking franchises to create a well-positioned, Michigan based community bank with approximately $3.0 billion in assets;

comparative stand alone and pro forma analyses of Firstbank, Mercantile and the combined entity, and the book and tangible book values per share, earnings per share, dividends and capital levels of each entity;

the anticipated future earnings growth of Firstbank compared to the potential future earnings growth of Mercantile and the combined entity;

the anticipated future trading value of the Firstbank common stock compared to the value of the common stock consideration offered by Mercantile and the potential future trading value of the combined entity's common stock;

the anticipated future receipt by Firstbank shareholders of an increase in dividends after completion of the merger as Mercantile shareholders, based on Mercantile's current and forecasted dividend payout ratio;

the prospects for increased commercial loan growth opportunities and improved market demographics resulting from Mercantile's market presence in the large and desirable Grand Rapids, Michigan metropolitan area;

the complementary nature of the businesses of Firstbank and Mercantile and the anticipated improved stability of the combined company's business and earnings in varying economic and market climates;

the familiarity of certain members of Firstbank's senior management team with Mercantile's senior management team and the belief of Firstbank's senior management that the management and employees of both Firstbank and Mercantile possess complementary skills and expertise, as well as the potential advantages of a combined larger institution when pursuing, or seeking to retain, capable personnel;

the value of Mercantile's common stock consideration being offered to Firstbank shareholders in relation to the historic and current market value, tangible book value per share, earnings per share and projected earnings per share of Firstbank and the combined entity;

the form and amount of the merger consideration, including the tax effects of stock consideration and the fact that Firstbank shareholders would own approximately 48% of the combined company;

the anticipated greater market capitalization of the combined organization and trading volume and liquidity of Mercantile common stock after the merger in the event Firstbank shareholders desire to sell the shares of Mercantile common stock to be received by them upon completion of the merger;

the fact that the merger consideration represented more than a 12% premium to the closing price of Firstbank common stock on August 14, 2013 (the business day prior to the news report of a potential transaction), 13.8x LTM earnings per share and 1.58 times the June 30, 2013 tangible book value per share of Firstbank common stock;

the ability of Mercantile to complete a merger transaction from a financial and regulatory perspective;

the geographic fit and increased customer convenience of the branch networks of the combined entity;

the scale, scope, strength and diversity of operations, product lines and delivery systems that could be achieved by combining Firstbank with Mercantile;

the potential cost-saving opportunities resulting from the merger;

the ability of the combined company to provide comprehensive financial services to its customers, and the potential for operating synergies and cross-marketing of products and services across the combined company;

the continued representation of Firstbank's management and directors on the management team and board of directors of the combined entity, with Firstbank directors to comprise half of the combined company's board of directors immediately following the merger in order to continue to influence the actions and profitability of the combined entity;

the shared community banking cultures of Firstbank and Mercantile;

the likelihood of successful integration and operation of the combined company;

the likelihood of obtaining the regulatory approvals needed to complete the transaction;

the analyses presented by Varnum LLP, Firstbank's outside legal counsel, as to the structure of the merger, the merger agreement, duties of the Firstbank board of directors under applicable law, and the process that Firstbank (including its board of directors) employed in considering potential strategic alternatives, including the merger with Mercantile;

the thorough process conducted by Firstbank, with the assistance of its advisors;

certain structural protections included in the merger agreement, including the ability of Firstbank to terminate the merger agreement in certain circumstances; and the financial analyses reviewed and discussed with the Firstbank board of directors by representatives of Sandler O'Neill, as well as the oral opinion of Sandler O'Neill rendered to the Firstbank board of directors on August 14, 2013 (which was subsequently confirmed in writing by delivery of Sandler O'Neill's written opinion dated August 16, 2013) with respect to the fairness of the exchange ratio in the merger pursuant to the merger agreement, from a financial point of view, to the holders of Firstbank common stock.

The Firstbank board of directors also considered a number of potential risks and uncertainties associated with the merger in connection with its deliberation of the proposed transaction, including, without limitation, the following:

the challenges of integrating Firstbank's business, operations and employees with those of Mercantile;

the need to obtain approval by shareholders of Firstbank and Mercantile, as well as regulatory approvals in order to complete the transaction;

the risks associated with the operations of the combined company including the ability to achieve the anticipated cost savings;

the risks and costs associated with entry into the merger agreement and restrictions on the conduct of Firstbank's business before the merger is completed;

the impact that provisions of the merger agreement relating to payment of a termination fee by Firstbank may have on Firstbank receiving superior acquisition offers;

the Board's review of the potential costs associated with executing the merger agreement, including change in control payments and related costs, as well as estimated advisor fees;

that the fixed exchange ratio, by its nature, would not adjust upwards to compensate for declines in Mercantile's stock price prior to the completion of the merger, meaning that Firstbank shareholders would not be protected against decreases in Mercantile's stock price prior to the completion of the merger; based upon its review of Mercantile and its historical stock prices and prospects, the Firstbank board of directors believes that a fixed exchange ratio is appropriate and in the best interests of Firstbank shareholders and achieves the intended 48% percentage ownership by Firstbank shareholders of the combined company; and the possibility of litigation in connection with the merger.

The Firstbank board of directors also noted that it could terminate the merger agreement in order to concurrently enter into an agreement with respect to an unsolicited acquisition proposal that was received and considered by Firstbank in compliance with the nonsolicitation provisions of the merger agreement and that would, if consummated, result in a transaction that is more favorable to Firstbank shareholders than the merger. This termination right is conditioned on Firstbank providing notice of the unsolicited acquisition proposal to Mercantile, Mercantile not making a revised offer to Firstbank that is at least as favorable as the unsolicited acquisition proposal and Firstbank paying a $7.9 million break-up fee to Mercantile. The amount of this potential fee was negotiated at arm's-length and was deemed by the Firstbank board of directors to be reasonable. As of the date of this joint proxy statement and prospectus, no unsolicited acquisition proposals have been received. See "The Merger Agreement Termination Fees and Expenses; Liability for Breach" on page 113 for more information.

Based on the factors described above, the board of directors of Firstbank determined that the merger with Mercantile would be advisable and in the best interests of Firstbank shareholders and unanimously approved the merger agreement.

The foregoing discussion of the information and factors considered by Firstbank's board of directors is not intended to be exhaustive but includes the material factors considered by Firstbank's board of directors. In view of the wide variety of the factors considered in connection with its evaluation of the merger and the complexity of these matters, Firstbank's board of directors did not find it useful, and did not attempt, to quantify, rank or otherwise assign relative weights to these factors. In considering the factors described above, the individual members of Firstbank's board of directors may have given different weight to different factors. Firstbank's board of directors conducted an overall analysis of the factors described above including thorough discussions with, and questioning of, Firstbank management and Firstbank's legal and financial advisors, and considered the factors overall to be favorable to, and to support, its determination.

The foregoing explanation of Firstbank's board of directors' reasoning and all other information presented in this section is forward-looking in nature and, therefore, should be read in light of the factors discussed in the section entitled "Cautionary Statement Concerning Forward-Looking Statements."

Opinion of Firstbank's Financial Advisor in Connection with the Merger

By letter dated February 4, 2013, Firstbank retained Sandler O'Neill to act as its financial advisor in connection with Firstbank's merger with Mercantile. Sandler O'Neill is a nationally recognized investment banking firm whose principal business specialty is financial institutions. In the ordinary course of its investment banking business, Sandler O'Neill is regularly engaged in the valuation of financial institutions and their securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions and other corporate transactions.

Sandler O'Neill acted as financial advisor to Firstbank in connection with the proposed transaction and participated in certain of the negotiations leading to the execution of the merger agreement. At a meeting of the Firstbank board of directors on August 14, 2013, Sandler O'Neill delivered to the Firstbank board of directors its oral opinion, followed by delivery of its written opinion, that, as of such date, the exchange ratio was fair to the holders of Firstbank common stock from a financial point of view. The full text of Sandler O'Neill's written opinion dated August 14, 2013 is attached as Annex D to this proxy statement. The opinion outlines the procedures followed, assumptions made, matters considered and qualifications and limitations on the review undertaken by Sandler O'Neill in rendering its opinion. The description of the opinion set forth below is qualified in its entirety by reference to the opinion. Firstbank shareholders are urged to read the entire opinion carefully in connection with their consideration of the proposed merger.

Sandler O'Neill's opinion speaks only as of the date of the opinion. The opinion was directed to the Firstbank board of directors and is directed only to the fairness of the common stock consideration to be paid to the holders of Firstbank common stock from a financial point of view. It does not address the underlying business decision of Firstbank to engage in the merger or any other aspect of the merger and is not a recommendation to any Firstbank shareholder as to how such shareholder should vote with respect to the merger or any other matter.

In connection with its opinion on August 14, 2013, Sandler O'Neill reviewed and considered, among other things:

- (1) the Agreement;
- (2) certain financial statements and other historical financial information of Firstbank that Sandler O'Neill deemed relevant;
- (3) certain financial statements and other historical financial information of Mercantile that Sandler O'Neill deemed relevant;
- (4) internal financial projections for Firstbank for the years ending December 31, 2013 through 2018 as provided by with senior management of Firstbank;
- (5) internal financial projections for Mercantile for the year ended December 31, 2013 through 2018 as provided by with senior management of Mercantile;
- (6) the pro forma financial impact of the Merger on the combined company based on assumptions relating to transaction expenses, purchase accounting adjustments, cost savings and other synergies as determined by the senior management of Firstbank and

Mercantile;

- (7) a comparison of certain financial and other information for Firstbank and Mercantile with similar publicly available information for certain other banking institutions, the securities of which are publicly traded;
- (8) the terms and structures of other recent mergers and acquisition transactions in the banking sector;
- (9) the current market environment generally and in the banking sector in particular; and
- (10) such other information, financial studies, analyses and investigations and financial, economic and market criteria as Sandler O Neill considered relevant.

Sandler O Neill also discussed with certain members of senior management of Firstbank the business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects of Firstbank and held similar discussions with the senior management of Mercantile regarding the business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects of Mercantile.

In performing its review, Sandler O Neill relied upon the accuracy and completeness of all of the financial and other information that was available to it from public sources, that was provided to it by Firstbank and Mercantile or that was otherwise reviewed by it and assumed such accuracy and completeness for purposes of rendering its opinion. Sandler O Neill further relied on the assurances of the management of Firstbank and Mercantile that they are not aware of any facts or circumstances that would make any of such information inaccurate or misleading in any material respect. Sandler O Neill did not make an independent evaluation or appraisal of the specific assets, the collateral securing assets or the liabilities (contingent or otherwise) of Firstbank or Mercantile or any of their respective subsidiaries. Sandler O Neill did not make an independent evaluation of the adequacy of the allowance for loan losses of Firstbank and Mercantile or the combined entity after the Merger and did not review any individual credit files relating to Firstbank and Mercantile. Sandler O Neill has assumed, with Firstbank's consent, that the respective allowances for loan losses for both Firstbank and Mercantile are adequate to cover such losses and will be adequate on a pro forma basis for the combined entity.

In preparing its analyses, Sandler O Neill used internal financial projections as provided by the senior managements of Firstbank and Mercantile. Sandler O Neill also received and used in its analyses certain projections of transaction costs, purchase accounting adjustments, expected cost savings and other synergies which were prepared by and/or reviewed with representatives and senior management of Mercantile and Firstbank. With respect to those projections, estimates and judgments, the respective managements of Firstbank and Mercantile confirmed those projections, estimates and judgments reflected the best currently available estimates and judgments of those respective managements of the future financial performance of Firstbank and Mercantile, respectively, and Sandler O Neill has assumed that such performance would be achieved. Sandler O Neill expressed no opinion as to such estimates or the assumptions on which they were based. Sandler O Neill assumed that there has been no material change in the respective assets, liabilities, financial condition, results of operations, business or prospects of Firstbank and Mercantile since the date of the most recent financial data made available to it. Sandler O Neill also assumed in all respects material to its analysis that Firstbank and Mercantile would remain as going concerns for all periods relevant to its analyses. Sandler O Neill expressed no opinion as to any of the legal, accounting and tax matters relating to the Merger and any other transactions contemplated in connection therewith.

Sandler O Neill's analyses and the views expressed herein were necessarily based on financial, economic, regulatory, market and other conditions as in effect on, and the information made available to it as of, the date of its opinion. Events occurring after the date of Sandler O Neill's opinion could materially affect its opinion. Sandler O Neill has not undertaken to update, revise, reaffirm or withdraw this opinion or otherwise comment upon events occurring after the date hereof.

Sandler O Neill has acted as Firstbank's financial advisor in connection with the Merger and a significant portion of its fees are contingent upon closing of the Merger. Sandler O Neill will receive a fee from Firstbank for providing this opinion. Firstbank has also agreed to indemnify Sandler O'Neill against certain liabilities arising out of its engagement. In the ordinary course of Sandler O'Neill's business as a broker-dealer, it may purchase securities from and sell securities to Firstbank and Mercantile and their affiliates. Sandler O'Neill may also actively trade the equity and debt securities of Firstbank and Mercantile or their affiliates for its own account and for the accounts of its customers.

Sandler O'Neill's opinion was directed to the Board of Directors of Firstbank in connection with its consideration of the Merger and does not constitute a recommendation to any shareholder of Firstbank as to how such shareholder should vote at any meeting of Firstbank shareholders called to consider and vote upon the Merger. Sandler O'Neill's opinion is directed only to the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the Exchange Ratio to holders of Firstbank common stock and does not address the underlying business decision of Firstbank to engage in the Merger, the relative merits of the Merger as compared to any other alternative business strategies that might exist for Firstbank or the effect of any other transaction in which Firstbank might engage. This opinion shall not be reproduced or used for any other purposes, without Sandler O'Neill's prior written consent. This Opinion has been approved by Sandler O'Neill's fairness opinion committee. Sandler O'Neill does not express any opinion as to the fairness of the amount or nature of the compensation to be received in the Merger by Firstbank's officers, directors, or employees, or class of such persons, relative to the compensation to be received in the Merger by any other shareholders of Firstbank.

In rendering its August 14, 2013 opinion, Sandler O'Neill performed a variety of financial analyses. The following is a summary of the material analyses performed by Sandler O'Neill, but is not a complete description of all the analyses underlying Sandler O'Neill's opinion. The summary includes information presented in tabular format. In order to fully understand the financial analyses, these tables must be read together with the accompanying text. The tables alone do not constitute a complete description of the financial analyses. The preparation of a fairness opinion is a complex process involving subjective judgments as to the most appropriate and relevant methods of financial analysis and the application of those methods to the particular circumstances. In arriving at its opinion, Sandler O'Neill did not attribute any particular weight to any analysis or factor that it considered. Rather Sandler O'Neill made qualitative judgments as to the significance and relevance of each analysis and factor. Sandler O'Neill did not form an opinion as to whether any individual analysis or factor (positive or negative) considered in isolation supported or failed to support its opinion; rather Sandler O'Neill made its determination as to the fairness of the common stock consideration on the basis of its experience and professional judgment after considering the results of all its analyses taken as a whole. The process, therefore, is not necessarily susceptible to a partial analysis or summary description. Sandler O'Neill believes that its analyses must be considered as a whole and that selecting portions of the factors and analyses to be considered without considering all factors and analyses, or attempting to ascribe relative weights to some or all such factors and analyses, could create an incomplete view of the evaluation process underlying its opinion. Also, no company included in Sandler O'Neill's comparative analyses described below is identical to Firstbank or Mercantile and no transaction is identical to the merger. Accordingly, an analysis of comparable companies or transactions involves complex considerations and judgments concerning differences in financial and operating characteristics of the companies and other factors that could affect the public trading values or merger transaction values, as the case may be, of Firstbank or Mercantile and the companies to which they are being compared.

In performing its analyses, Sandler O'Neill also made numerous assumptions with respect to industry performance, business and economic conditions and various other matters, many of which cannot be predicted and are beyond the control of Firstbank, Mercantile and Sandler O'Neill. The analysis performed by Sandler O'Neill is not necessarily indicative of actual values or future results, both of which may be significantly more or less favorable than suggested by such analyses. Sandler O'Neill prepared its analyses solely for purposes of rendering its opinion and provided such analyses to the Firstbank board of directors at the August 14, 2013 meeting. Estimates on the values of companies do not purport to be appraisals or necessarily reflect the prices at which companies or their securities may actually be sold. Such estimates are inherently subject to uncertainty and actual values may be materially different. Accordingly, Sandler O'Neill's analyses do not necessarily reflect the value of Firstbank's common stock or the prices at which Firstbank's common stock may be sold at any time.

The analysis and opinion of Sandler O'Neill was among a number of factors taken into consideration by the Firstbank board of directors in making its determination to adopt the plan of merger contained in the merger agreement and the analyses described below should not be viewed as determinative of the decision the Firstbank board of directors with respect to the fairness of the merger.

At the August 14, 2013 meeting of the Firstbank board of directors, Sandler O'Neill presented certain financial analyses of the merger. The summary below is not a complete description of the analyses underlying the opinions of Sandler O'Neill or the presentation made by Sandler O'Neill to the Firstbank board of directors, but is instead a summary of the material analyses performed and presented in connection with the opinion.

Pro Forma Merger Analysis

Sandler O Neill analyzed certain potential pro forma effects of the merger, assuming the following: (1) the merger is completed in the fourth quarter of 2013; (2) an exchange ratio of 1.00 share of Mercantile common stock for each share of Firstbank common stock; (3) Firstbank options exchanged into Mercantile options; (4) purchase accounting marks including $24.5 million gross credit mark, $8.1 million interest rate write-up accreted straight line over 5 years, $2.3 million deposit write-up accreted over 1 year, $1.1 million borrowings write-up accreted straight line over 3 years and $15 million trust preferred write-down amortized straight line over 23 years; (5) cost savings of Firstbank projected operating expenses up to $5.5 million annually of which 60% realized in 2014 and 100% in 2015 and thereafter; (6) incremental provision expense of the pro forma company based on 20% of Firstbank's projected stand-alone provision expense; (7) approximately $11.2 million in pre-tax transaction costs and expenses; (8) Firstbank's performance was calculated in accordance with Firstbank management's prepared earnings projections; (9) Mercantile's performance was calculated in accordance with Mercantile management's prepared earnings projections; (10) Mercantile pays a special one-time cash dividend of $2.00 per Mercantile common share immediately prior to closing; (11) certain other assumptions pertaining to costs and expenses associated with the transaction, intangible amortization, opportunity cost of cash and other items. The analyses indicated that, for the full years 2014 and 2015, the merger (excluding transaction expenses) would be accretive to Mercantile's projected earnings per share and would be accretive to tangible book value per share by 2018. The actual results achieved by the combined company may vary from projected results and the variations may be material.

Firstbank has also agreed to indemnify Sandler O Neill against certain liabilities arising out of its engagement and to reimburse Sandler O Neill for certain of its reasonable out-of-pocket expenses.

In the ordinary course of their respective broker and dealer businesses, Sandler O Neill may purchase securities from and sell securities to Firstbank and Mercantile and their affiliates. Sandler O Neill may also actively trade the debt and/or equity securities of Firstbank and Mercantile or their affiliates for their own accounts and for the accounts of their customers and, accordingly, may at any time hold a long or short position in such securities.

Interests of Mercantile Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger

In considering the recommendation of the Mercantile board of directors that you vote to approve the proposals submitted for the Mercantile shareholder vote set forth in this joint proxy statement and prospectus, you should be aware that some of Mercantile's directors and executive officers have financial interests in the merger that are different from, or in addition to, those of Mercantile's shareholders generally. The Mercantile board of directors was aware of and considered these potential interests, among other matters, in evaluating the merger agreement and the merger and in recommending to you that you approve the proposals submitted for the Mercantile shareholder vote set forth in this joint proxy statement and prospectus.

Positions with the Combined Company

As detailed below under "The Merger - Board of Directors and Management Following the Merger," the merger agreement provides that upon consummation of the merger, the board of directors of Mercantile will consist of six directors, which will include (i) the President and Chief Executive Officer of Mercantile plus two members of the Mercantile board of directors selected by the Mercantile board of directors and (ii) the President and Chief Executive Officer of Firstbank plus two members of the Firstbank board of directors selected by the Firstbank board of directors. In addition, it is expected that, upon consummation of the merger:

Michael H. Price, the Chairman of the Board, President and Chief Executive Officer of Mercantile, will serve as the President and Chief Executive Officer of the combined company;

Robert B. Kaminski, Jr., the Executive Vice President, Chief Operating Officer and Secretary of Mercantile, will serve as Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of the combined company; and Charles E. Christmas, the current Senior Vice President, Chief Financial Officer and Treasurer of Mercantile will serve as Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer of the combined company.

In addition, the Mercantile board of directors has made a non-binding determination to select David Cassard and Calvin Murdock to serve as directors of the combined company. The fees and/or other remuneration to be provided to the non-employee directors of the combined company have not been determined.

Merger-Related Compensation

Under Mercantile's compensation arrangements with its named executive officers, other than the payments set forth in the table below, no named executive officers will receive any compensation on account of the Merger.

The following table sets forth the information required by Item 402(t) of Regulation S-K regarding certain compensation related to the merger for Mercantile's named executive officers, assuming the merger is consummated. This compensation is referred to as "golden parachute compensation." The "golden parachute" compensation payable by Mercantile to these individuals is subject to a non-binding advisory vote of Mercantile shareholders, as described under "The Mercantile Special Meeting" on page 38.

The amounts set forth below are or may become payable in connection with the consummation of the Merger, as detailed in the footnotes below.

- (1) Because current Mercantile directors will not constitute a majority of the board of directors of the combined company, the completion of the merger will constitute a "change in control" for the purposes of the Mercantile Bank Corporation Stock Incentive Plan of 2006. Under the terms of that plan, outstanding stock options and shares of restricted stock become fully vested upon a change in control. All previously awarded stock options are fully vested and will not become exercisable by virtue of the merger. The amounts shown in the table represent the aggregate value of shares of restricted stock that would otherwise vest on November 29, 2014, based on a per share price of $20.31, which represents the average closing price of Mercantile common stock as reported on Nasdaq for the five trading days following the first public announcement of the merger.
- (2) Represents the distribution of the named executive officer's account pursuant to the Mercantile Bank of Michigan Amended and Restated Executive Deferred Compensation Agreement with the named executive officer. The account balance is as of August 31, 2013. This is a "double-trigger" arrangement, meaning that the executive will receive a distribution only if his employment terminates within 12 months after a change in control.

In addition, each non-employee member of the board of directors of Mercantile holds 1,000 shares of restricted stock having a value of $20,310 based on a per share price of $20.31. The restricted stock was granted under the Mercantile Stock Incentive Plan of 2006 and will become fully vested as of the effective time of the merger. The shares would otherwise vest on November 29, 2014.

As of , 2013, the record date for the Mercantile special meeting, the directors and executive officers of Mercantile and their affiliates beneficially owned and were entitled to vote [] shares of Mercantile common stock, collectively representing approximately []% of the shares of Mercantile common stock outstanding and entitled to vote. Mercantile's directors have entered into agreements obligating them to vote their shares in favor of the merger agreement and the issuance of shares of Mercantile common stock to Firstbank shareholders in connection with the Merger.

Interests of Certain Firstbank Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger

In considering the unanimous recommendations of the Firstbank board of directors that Firstbank shareholders vote in favor of the Firstbank merger and compensation proposals, Firstbank shareholders should be aware that Firstbank directors and executive officers may have interests in the merger that differ from, or are in addition to, their interests as shareholders of Firstbank. The Firstbank board of directors was aware of these interests and took them into account in its decision to approve the merger agreement and the merger. The following discussion sets forth certain of these interests in the merger of directors and certain key officers of Firstbank.

Director Appointments

Thomas R. Sullivan, current President and Chief Executive Officer of Firstbank, Jeff A. Gardner and Edward B. Grant have been chosen by Firstbank's board of directors to serve on the six-member board of directors of Mercantile following the merger. Additionally, after the merger, Thomas R. Sullivan will serve as chairman of Mercantile's board of directors for a period of one year following the merger.

If the merger is completed, it is expected that Firstbank and Keystone Community Bank, Firstbank's wholly-owned bank subsidiaries, will be consolidated with Mercantile Bank of Michigan, Mercantile's wholly-owned bank subsidiary, after the effective date of the merger. Effective at the time of the consolidation, the current directors of Mercantile Bank of Michigan will continue to be directors of the consolidated bank and an equal number of additional directors of the consolidated bank will be designated by Firstbank or by the chairman of Mercantile's board of directors, if the bank consolidation occurs after the effective time of the merger, from among the incumbent directors of the boards of directors of Firstbank's subsidiary banks and other qualified individuals. The individuals who will become directors of the consolidated bank have not been determined as of the date of this joint proxy statement and prospectus, other than as noted in the description of the employment agreements below.

Prior Employment Agreements

Prior to August 14, 2013, Firstbank and each of Firstbank's nine executive officers had entered into separate agreements requiring Firstbank to provide compensation to each executive officer following a change of control and certain terminations of employment. Those agreements provided for severance equal to 150% of the executive's highest rate of annual base salary during the 12 months prior to the date of termination plus 150% of any incentive bonus that may have been earned through the date of termination, plus continued health insurance, life insurance and disability insurance benefits. In connection with the merger, on August 14, 2013, those prior agreements were amended to confirm the amounts payable under certain circumstances involving a change of control and to eliminate the disability insurance benefit.

On August 14, 2013, Firstbank and each of Firstbank's executive officers entered into new employment agreements, as described below, that become effective as of the effective date of the merger, at which time they will supersede the prior employment agreements. The new agreements describe the position and duties of each officer after the effective date of the merger. Under the new agreements, the Firstbank executive officers (other than Mr. Sullivan, Mr. Stone and Mr. Benear) no longer have the right to obtain a severance payment by terminating their employment for a substantial change based on a significant reduction or material change in their authority or responsibility after the merger compared to their authority or responsibility prior to the merger. In addition, the new employment agreements for all of Firstbank's executive officers include noncompetition and nonsolicitation covenants designed to protect the combined organization, as described in more detail below.

Employment Agreements with Firstbank Executive Officers

In connection with the contemplated merger, Firstbank and Mercantile entered into new employment agreements with each of Thomas R. Sullivan, William L. Benear, Samuel G. Stone, Douglas J. Ouellette, James E. Wheeler, II, David L. Miller, Daniel H. Grenier, Richard D. Rice and Thomas O. Schlueter, each of whom is an executive officer of Firstbank. At the effective time of the merger, these new employment agreements supersede the prior agreements providing for change of control benefits.

Employment Agreement with Mr. Sullivan

Mr. Sullivan's employment agreement provides that he will be employed by Mercantile for a period of one year from the effective date of the merger as the Chairman of the Board of Directors of Mercantile and as a director and Vice-Chairman of the Board of Directors of the consolidated bank. The board of directors of Mercantile will nominate and vote for Mr. Sullivan's re-election to the board of directors of Mercantile at any meeting of Mercantile's shareholders within three years of the effective date of the agreement. Mr. Sullivan will be paid an annual salary of $364,750 and fringe and welfare benefits (other than life insurance, as described below) consistent with those provided to the Chief Executive Officer of Mercantile. Mr. Sullivan may also purchase the company vehicle he used while employed by Firstbank at its depreciated value as of December 31, 2013.

Mr. Sullivan's employment agreement entitles him to certain change in control benefits if the merger becomes effective. Following the effective date of the merger, Mercantile will pay Mr. Sullivan a lump sum cash change in control payment equal to the sum of (i) $525,000 (150% of his salary, plus (ii) $157,500 (150% of his target incentive compensation), plus (iii) a pro-rated cash bonus, being $105,000 multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of days from and including January 1, 2013 through the effective date of the merger and the denominator of which is 365, minus (iv) amount of any bonus or incentive compensation previously paid for 2013.

Under Mr. Sullivan's new employment agreement, if Mercantile terminates his employment prior to the end of the one year term, then as severance Mercantile will continue to pay his salary through the end of the 12 month term.

When Mr. Sullivan's employment with Mercantile terminates, Mercantile will also reimburse Mr. Sullivan for COBRA continuation coverage premiums to continue his and his dependents' then current health, dental and prescription drug coverage beginning on the date of his termination and continuing for 18 months thereafter, subject to certain conditions. In addition, following the 18 month COBRA continuation period, Mr. Sullivan will be paid a lump sum cash payment of $9,000 which may be used to offset the cost of obtaining individual health insurance or for any other purpose. When Mr. Sullivan's employment with Mercantile terminates, he will further be entitled to life insurance coverage or reimbursement for the cost of such coverage for a period of two years following the termination of his employment, with a death benefit equal to the largest death benefit provided to him under Firstbank's group life insurance plan in the 12 month period prior to the merger.

If any part of the benefits to Mr. Sullivan under his new employment agreement constitute a parachute payment under Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, then, if the aggregate present value of such payments exceeds 2.99 times Mr. Sullivan's base amount as defined in such Section 280G, the parachute payments will be reduced to an amount equal to 2.99 times Mr. Sullivan's base amount.

Employment Agreement with Mr. Stone

Mr. Stone's employment agreement provides that he will be employed by Mercantile for a period of 18 months from the effective date of the merger as the Executive Vice President Corporate Finance and Strategic Planning. Mr. Stone will be paid an annual salary of $274,000 and fringe and welfare benefits (other than life insurance, as described below) consistent with those provided to similarly situated executives of Mercantile. Mr. Stone may also purchase the company vehicle he used while employed by Firstbank at its depreciated value as of December 31, 2013.

Mr. Stone's employment agreement entitles him to certain change in control benefits if the merger becomes effective. Following the effective date of the merger, Mercantile will pay Mr. Stone a lump sum cash change in control payment equal to the sum of (i) $390,000 (150% of his salary), plus (ii) $97,500 (150% of his target incentive compensation), plus (iii) a pro-rated cash bonus, being $65,000 multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of days from and including January 1, 2013 through the effective date of the merger and the denominator of which is 365, minus (iv) amount of any bonus or incentive compensation previously paid for 2013.

Under Mr. Stone's new employment agreement, if Mercantile terminates his employment prior to the end of the 18 month term, then as severance Mercantile will continue to pay his salary through the end of the 18 month term.

When Mr. Stone's employment with Mercantile terminates, Mercantile will also reimburse Mr. Stone for COBRA continuation coverage premiums to continue his and his dependents' then current health, dental and prescription drug coverage beginning on the date of his termination and continuing for 18 months thereafter, subject to certain conditions. In addition, following the 18 month COBRA continuation period, Mr. Stone will be paid a lump sum cash payment of $9,000 which may be used to offset the cost of obtaining individual health insurance or for any other purpose. When Mr. Stone's employment with Mercantile terminates, he will further be entitled to life insurance coverage or reimbursement for the cost of such coverage for a period of two years following the termination of his employment, with a death benefit equal to the largest death benefit provided to him under Firstbank's group life insurance plan in the 12 month period prior to the merger.

If any part of the benefits to Mr. Stone under his new employment agreement constitute a parachute payment under Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, then, if the aggregate present value of such payments exceeds 2.99 times Mr. Stone's base amount as defined in such Section 280G, by 2% or less, then the parachute payments will be reduced to an amount equal to 2.99 times Mr. Stone's base amount. If the federal excise tax intended to be avoided by the above adjustment cannot be avoided without reducing the amounts otherwise owing to Mr. Stone by more than 2%, then Mercantile will make a gross-up payment to Mr. Stone to make him whole for the excise tax and associated interest and penalties. However, Mr. Stone will be entitled to this gross-up payment only if Mercantile terminates his employment without cause or he terminates his employment for good reason as such terms are defined in his new employment agreement.

Employment Separation Agreement with Mr. Benear

Mr. Benear's employment agreement provides that he will be employed by Mercantile for a period of up to 30 days from the effective date of the merger as an employee of Mercantile. Mr. Benear will be paid at an annual salary rate of $180,000. Mr. Benear may also purchase the company vehicle he used while employed by Firstbank at its depreciated value as of December 31, 2013.

Mr. Benear's employment agreement entitles him to certain change in control benefits if the merger becomes effective payable after his employment terminates, which is expected to occur within 30 days following the effective date of the merger. Mercantile will pay Mr. Benear a lump sum cash change in control payment equal to the sum of (i) $292,500 (150% of his salary), plus (ii) $73,125 (150% of his target incentive compensation), plus (iii) a pro-rated cash bonus, being $45,000 multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of days from and including January 1, 2013 through the effective date of the merger and the denominator of which is 365, minus (iv) amount of any bonus or incentive compensation previously paid for 2013.

When Mr. Benear's employment with Mercantile terminates, Mercantile will also reimburse Mr. Benear for COBRA continuation coverage premiums to continue his and his dependents' then current health, dental and prescription drug coverage beginning on the date of his termination and continuing for 18 months thereafter, subject to certain conditions. In addition, following the 18 month COBRA continuation period, Mr. Benear will be paid a lump sum cash payment of $9,000 which may be used to offset the cost of obtaining individual health insurance or for any other purpose. When Mr. Benear's employment with Mercantile terminates, he will further be entitled to life insurance coverage or reimbursement for the cost of such coverage for a period of two years following the termination of his employment, with a death benefit equal to the largest death benefit provided to him under Firstbank's group life insurance plan in the 12 month period prior to the merger.

If any part of the benefits to Mr. Benear under his new employment agreement constitute a parachute payment under Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, then, if the aggregate present value of such payments exceeds 2.99 times Mr. Benear's base amount as defined in such Section 280G, the parachute payments will be reduced to an amount equal to 2.99 times Mr. Benear's base amount.

Employment Agreement with Mr. Ouellette

Mr. Ouellette's employment agreement provides that he will be employed by Mercantile for a period of 12 months from the effective date of the merger as the Senior Vice President & Director, Central Region President and President - Mt. Pleasant. Mr. Ouellette will be paid an annual salary of $215,000 and fringe and welfare benefits consistent with those provided to similarly situated executives of Mercantile. Mr. Ouellette may also purchase the company vehicle he used while employed by Firstbank at its depreciated value as of December 31, 2013.

Under the new employment agreement, Mercantile will make a severance payment to Mr. Ouellette if (i) during the first 12 months of his employment, Mr. Ouellette has his employment terminated or his salary reduced, is assigned a position or duties that are substantially diminished from his initial position or duties with Mercantile, or is relocated more than 25 miles from his initial primary work location with Mercantile and (ii) Mr. Ouellette terminates his employment with Mercantile. The severance payment will be a lump sum cash payment equal to the sum of (i) $292,500 (150% of his salary), plus (ii) $73,125 (150% of his target incentive compensation), minus (iii) amount of any bonus or incentive compensation previously paid for 2013.

Under the new employment agreement, Mercantile will pay Mr. Ouellette retention bonuses of $60,937.50 each (25% of his salary and target incentive compensation), payable on the first payroll following each of: (i) the effective date of the merger, (ii) six months of his employment with Mercantile, and (iii) 12 months of his employment with Mercantile.

If any part of the benefits to Mr. Ouellette under his new employment agreement constitute a parachute payment under Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, then, if the aggregate present value of such payments exceeds 2.99 times Mr. Ouellette's base amount as defined in such Section 280G, the parachute payments will be reduced to an amount equal to 2.99 times Mr. Ouellette's base amount.

Employment Agreement with Mr. J. Wheeler

Mr. J. Wheeler's employment agreement provides that he will be employed by Mercantile for a period of 12 months from the effective date of the merger as Senior Vice President, Senior Loan Officer - Central Region and President Alma. Mr. J. Wheeler will be paid an annual salary of $191,400 and fringe and welfare benefits consistent with those provided to similarly situated executives of Mercantile. Mr. J. Wheeler may also purchase the company vehicle he used while employed by Firstbank at its depreciated value as of December 31, 2013.

Under the new employment agreement, Mercantile will make a severance payment to Mr. J. Wheeler if (i) during the first 12 months of his employment, Mr. J. Wheeler has his employment terminated or his salary reduced, is assigned a position or duties that are substantially diminished from his initial position or duties with Mercantile, or is relocated more than 25 miles from his initial primary work location with Mercantile and (ii) Mr. J. Wheeler terminates his employment with Mercantile. The severance payment will be a lump sum cash payment equal to the sum of (i) $292,500 (150% of his salary), plus (ii) $73,125, (150% of his target incentive compensation), minus (iii) amount of any bonus or incentive compensation previously paid for 2013.

Under the new employment agreement, Mercantile will pay Mr. J. Wheeler retention bonuses of $60,937.50 each (25% of his salary and target incentive compensation), payable on the first payroll following each of: (i) the effective date of the merger, (ii) six months of his employment with Mercantile, and (iii) 12 months of his employment with Mercantile.

If any part of the benefits to Mr. J. Wheeler under his new employment agreement constitute a parachute payment under Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, then, if the aggregate present value of such payments exceeds 2.99 times Mr. J. Wheeler's base amount as defined in such Section 280G, the parachute payments will be reduced to an amount equal to 2.99 times Mr. J. Wheeler's base amount.

Employment Agreements with Other Firstbank Executive Officers

The agreements with Thomas O. Schlueter, David L. Miller, Richard D. Rice and Daniel H. Grenier specify (i) their respective titles and duties as of the effective time of the Merger, (ii) their respective initial annual salary and benefits, (iii) their respective severance benefits if during the first twelve months of their employment with Mercantile they are terminated or if certain adverse changes occur, (iv) certain retention bonuses they will earn if they remain an active employee of Mercantile for specified periods and (v) that they are at will employees who may be terminated by Mercantile at any time, without or without cause. Each agreement provides that under certain circumstances, payments to the individual upon termination of employment may be reduced to avoid the application of federal excise taxes under Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

Non-Competition and Non-Solicitation Agreements with Firstbank Executive Officers

In addition to entering into the new agreements described above, each executive officer entered into a Non-Compete and Non-Solicitation Agreement with Mercantile and its subsidiaries and affiliates that will become effective as of the effective date of the merger. These non-competition agreements were entered into as a condition to entering into the new employment agreements described above.

Generally, the restrictions in the non-competition agreements prohibit the officers for a period of one year from the date their employment with Mercantile terminates (unless terminated without cause, as defined in the agreement) or, if earlier, until a change in control of Mercantile occurs, from directly or indirectly competing with Mercantile or its subsidiaries or affiliates within a 50 mile radius of any of Mercantile's bank branches or offices and from soliciting customers and employees of Mercantile or its subsidiaries or affiliates. For purposes of these non-competition agreements, cause generally means an act of dishonesty intended for personal gain, intentional neglect that continues unremedied after notice, conviction of a felony, an intentional breach of certain duties, or regulatory or court order.

Table of Contents*Payments and Benefits to Firstbank Executive Officers*

The table below shows the amounts that would be realized with respect to each of Firstbank's executive officer's severance payments and benefits, including certain benefits that have been previously earned and/or are currently fully vested, (i) upon a change in control pursuant to the merger or (ii) in the event each executive officer incurs a qualifying termination following the merger, in each case, assuming the merger and qualifying termination occurred on August 31, 2013.

Potential Payments Upon a Change in Control Resulting from the Merger

Upon the change in control resulting from the merger:

Name	Cash ($) (1)	Restricted Stock ($) (2)	Total ($)
Thomas R. Sullivan	752,405	56,327	808,732
Samuel G. Stone	530,774	36,340	567,114
William L. Benear	395,584	23,985	419,569
Douglas J. Ouellette	60,938	25,438	86,376

David L. Miller	42,540	23,621	66,161
Richard D. Rice	42,750	23,985	66,735

- (1) For each of Mr. Sullivan, Mr. Stone and Mr. Benear, the lump sum cash payment is set forth in their employment agreements described above, and is calculated based on each of their respective salaries, target incentive compensation and pro-rata bonuses. These calculations assume that no bonus or incentive compensation for 2013 has been previously paid to any of Mr. Sullivan, Mr. Stone or Mr. Benear. In the case of Mr. Benear, the cash payment becomes payable after his brief employment with Mercantile terminates, but such termination is intended to be on or soon after the effective date of the merger. For Mr. Ouellette, Mr. J. Wheeler, Mr. Grenier, Mr. Schlueter, Mr. Miller, and Mr. Rice, the cash payment represents the first retention bonus payable on the first payroll period following the effective time of the merger.
- (2) Represents acceleration of outstanding Firstbank restricted stock awards which are unvested at the time of the merger, expressed as an aggregate dollar value which represents $18.17 (the average closing market price of Firstbank common stock over the first five business days following the first public announcement of the merger) for each unvested share of restricted common stock for which vesting will be accelerated as a result of the merger.

Upon a qualifying termination:

In addition to the amounts disclosed above which are payable upon the change of control resulting from the merger, Firstbank's executive officers (except for Mr. Benear) will be entitled to certain severance benefits under their employment agreements only if their employment is terminated by Mercantile without cause or if they terminate their employment for "good reason" as defined in their employment agreement. The executives will receive the full "Cash Severance" disclosed in the table below only if their employment is terminated immediately after the effective date of the merger without cause or if they terminate under circumstances that qualify as "good reason" under the terms of their respective employment agreements. The amount of cash severance payable to any of the executives will decrease over time as their employment continues.

- (1) Mr. Sullivan's health and welfare benefits include: (a) $25,298 for continuation of his and his dependents' elected health, dental and prescription drug benefit coverage, based on Mercantile's 2013 COBRA rates, for 18 months following a qualifying termination, (b) $9,000 as a lump sum payable at the end of such 18 month period, and (c) $51,690 for coverage or reimbursement for life insurance for two years following a qualifying termination. Mr. Stone's health and welfare benefits include: (a) $25,049 for continuation of his and his dependents' elected health, dental and prescription drug benefit coverage, based on Mercantile's 2013 COBRA rates, for 18 months following a qualifying termination, (b) $9,000 as a lump sum payable at the end of such 18 month period, and (c) $45,383 for coverage or reimbursement for life insurance for two years following a qualifying termination. Mr. Benear's health and welfare benefits include: (a) $25,298 for continuation of his and his dependents' elected health, dental and prescription drug benefit coverage, based on Mercantile's 2013 COBRA rates, for 18 months following a qualifying termination, (b) $9,000 as a lump sum payable at the end of such 18 month period, and (c) $32,676 for coverage or reimbursement for life insurance for two years following a qualifying termination.
- (2) Under certain circumstances, Mr. Stone may be subject to certain excise taxes pursuant to Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code. Mr. Stone's employment agreement provides that he will be reimbursed for all excise taxes that are imposed on the executive under Section 280G and any income and excise taxes that are payable by the executive as a result of any reimbursements for Section 280G excise taxes only if Mercantile terminates the executive's employment without cause or the executive terminates his employment for good reason. The total 280G tax gross-up amount in the above table assumes that the executive is entitled to a full reimbursement by us of (i) any excise taxes that are imposed upon the executive as a result of the change in control, (ii) any income and excise taxes imposed upon the executive as a result of our reimbursement of the excise tax amount and (iii) any additional income and excise taxes that are imposed upon the executive as a result of our reimbursement of the executive for any excise or income taxes. The calculation of the 280G gross-up amount in the above table is based upon his average compensation for the years 2008 through 2012, a 280G excise tax rate of 20%, a 35% federal income tax rate, a 1.45% Medicare tax rate and a 4.25% state income tax rate. For the purposes of the 280G calculation it is assumed that no amounts will be discounted as attributable to reasonable compensation or noncompetition covenants. The payment of the 280G tax gross-up will be payable to the executive for an excise tax incurred only if Mercantile terminates the executive's employment without cause or the executive terminates his employment for good reason. However, the amount of the 280G tax gross-up will change based upon whether the executive's employment with us is terminated and when it is terminated because the amount of compensation subject to Section 280G will change.
- (3) Each of Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Stone would be entitled to a continuation of each of their respective salaries through the end of the term of their respective employment agreements. Amounts disclosed assume a qualifying termination occurs immediately following the effective date of the merger. Mr. Benear's cash severance would be paid as a change in control payment, as described above. These calculations assume that no bonus or incentive compensation for 2013 have been paid. Each of Mr. Ouellette, Mr. J. Wheeler, Mr. Grenier, Mr. Schlueter, Mr. Miller and Mr. Rice would be entitled to the lump sum cash payments set forth in their employment agreements described above, and is calculated based on each of their respective salaries, target incentive compensation and retention bonuses. These calculations assume that only the retention bonuses payable on the first payroll period following the effective time of the merger have been paid.

Golden Parachute Compensation

The following table sets forth the information required by Item 402(t) of Regulation S-K promulgated by the SEC regarding certain compensation which Firstbank named executive officers may receive that is based on or that otherwise relates to the merger. The amounts are calculated assuming that the effective date of the merger and a subsequent qualifying termination of employment both occurred on August 31, 2013 and that all required conditions to the payment of the below amounts have been satisfied. The merger-related compensation payable to the Firstbank named executive officers is the subject of a non-binding advisory vote of Firstbank shareholders, as described under Advisory Vote on Golden Parachute Compensation Firstbank beginning on page 145.

As discussed above, Firstbank's executive officers (except for Mr. Benear) will be entitled to certain severance benefits under their employment agreements in addition to the change of control payments resulting from the merger, but only if their employment is terminated by Mercantile without cause or if they terminate their employment for good reason as defined in their employment agreement. The executives will receive the full Cash amount disclosed in the table below under the section entitled Upon termination by Mercantile without cause or by executive officer for good reason only if their employment is terminated immediately after the effective date of the merger without cause or if they terminate under circumstances that qualify as good reason under the terms of their respective employment agreements. The amount of cash severance payable to any of the executives will decrease over time as their employment continues.

- (1) For Mr. Sullivan, the cash amount due upon a qualifying termination is the sum of two components: (a) the $752,405 he will receive as a lump sum change of control payment in the first payroll period following the effective time of the merger and (b) a severance payment of $364,750, which is 12 month's base salary, payable through the end of the 12 month term of his agreement. For Mr. Stone, the cash amount due upon a qualifying termination is the sum of two components: (a) the $530,774 he will receive as a lump sum change of control payment in the first payroll period following the effective time of the merger and (b) a severance payment of $411,000, which is 18 month's base salary, payable through the end of the 18 month term of his agreement. For Mr. Benear, the cash amount is a change in control payment he will receive as severance upon termination of his brief employment at the same time as or soon after the effective time of the merger.

These calculations assume that no bonus or incentive compensation for 2013 have been paid. For Mr. Ouellette and Mr. J. Wheeler, the cash amount is their respective lump sum severance payment to which they will be entitled if Mercantile terminates their employment or if they terminate employment for certain specified good reasons, in each case within 12 months of the effective date of the merger. These calculations assume that only the retention bonuses payable on the first payroll period following the effective time of the merger have been paid.

- (2) Represents acceleration of outstanding Firstbank restricted stock awards which are unvested at the time of the merger, expressed as an aggregate dollar value which represents $18.17 (the average closing market price of Firstbank common stock over the first five business days following the first public announcement of the merger) for each unvested share of restricted common stock for which vesting will be accelerated as a result of the merger. These values are different from the restricted stock valuation for purposes of Section 280G of the Code (the 280G restricted stock value). The 280G restricted stock value is determined as of the date of the change of control and is based on several factors, including the stock's fair market value, and the length of time until the unvested shares would otherwise have vested, assuming no change of control.
- (3) The named executive officers do not participate in any pension or deferred compensation plan.
- (4) Consists of the costs of continuing each applicable named executive officer's and dependents' elected health, dental and prescription drug benefit coverage for a period of 18 months following a qualifying termination, as well as a $9,000 lump sum payment at the end of such extended coverage period. Also includes, for each applicable named executive officer, the maximum payment obligation or reimbursable cost of premiums for life insurance coverage for a period of two years following a qualifying termination. These aggregated amounts are broken down in footnotes to the preceding table above.
- (5) Mr. Sullivan, Mr. Benear, Mr. Ouellette and Mr. Wheeler will not receive tax reimbursements in connection with the merger. Mr. Stone will receive tax reimbursements in connection with the merger under certain specific circumstances. The employment agreement for Mr. Stone provides for certain tax reimbursement payments if Mercantile terminates his employment without cause or if he terminates his employment for good reason resulting in a severance payment that causes him to be subject to an excise tax under Sections 280G and 4999 of the Internal Revenue Code and if such excise tax cannot be avoided by a 2% reduction in the termination payment.

Stock Options and Restricted Stock Awards

Firstbank has awarded certain employees, officers and directors stock options and grants of restricted stock pursuant to its equity compensation plans. To the extent the options have not been exercised, upon completion of the merger the options will be converted into options to acquire Mercantile common stock, subject to any accelerated vesting as a result of the merger to the extent provided by the terms of the applicable plan or agreements under such plans. The vesting of the restricted stock awards will accelerate as a result of the merger. Those shares will become shares of Mercantile common stock upon consummation of the merger.

The number of shares of unvested restricted stock that will vest at the effective time of the merger for each of Firstbank's directors and executive officers is as follows: Thomas R. Sullivan (3,100 shares), Samuel G. Stone (2,000 shares), William L. Benear (1,320 shares), Douglas J. Ouellette (1,400 shares), James E. Wheeler, II (1,320 shares), Thomas O. Schlueter (1,320 shares), Daniel H. Grenier (1,200 shares), Richard D. Rice (1,320 shares) and David L. Miller (1,300 shares).

Indemnification and Insurance

Mercantile has agreed to indemnify the officers and directors of Firstbank for a period of six years following the merger against certain liabilities arising on or before the effective date of the merger. Mercantile has also agreed for a period of six years to continue in effect the current policies of directors' and officers' liability insurance and fiduciary liability insurance maintained by Firstbank, or, alternatively, substitute policies of substantially the same coverage, subject to a cap on the cost of such policies equal to an annual premium not to exceed 300% of Firstbank's last annual premium.

Employee Benefit Plans

On or as soon as reasonably practicable following the merger, employees of Firstbank or its subsidiary banks will continue on as employees of Mercantile or Mercantile Bank of Michigan will be entitled to participate in the Mercantile or Mercantile Bank of Michigan health and welfare benefit and similar plans on the same terms and conditions as employees of Mercantile and Mercantile Bank of Michigan. Subject to certain exceptions, these employees will receive credit for their years of service to Firstbank or its subsidiary banks for participation, vesting and benefit accrual purposes.

Share Ownership

As of the close of business on _____, 2013, the record date for the special meeting, Firstbank's directors and executive officers beneficially owned in the aggregate, [] shares of Firstbank common stock, or [] shares of common stock giving effect to the receipt of shares thereby upon vesting of outstanding restricted stock awards under the restricted stock award plan, in each case, without reduction for any cashless tax withholding of shares, representing approximately []% (or []% giving effect to such vesting of outstanding equity awards) of Firstbank's outstanding shares of common stock. Additional details of the voting interests of Firstbank's directors and executive officers are described under "Security Ownership of Management" in Firstbank's Proxy Statement on Schedule 14A for its Annual Meeting of Shareholders filed with the SEC on March 15, 2013.

Board of Directors and Management Following the Merger

Immediately following the effective time of the merger, the board of directors of the combined company will consist of six members, which will include the President and Chief Executive Officer of Mercantile plus two members of the Mercantile board of directors as of the date of the merger agreement who are independent for purposes of the rules of Nasdaq selected by the Mercantile board of directors, and the President and Chief Executive Officer of Firstbank plus two members of the Firstbank board of directors who are independent for purposes of the rules of Nasdaq selected by the Firstbank board of directors. The Firstbank board of directors has selected Edward Grant and Jeff Gardner, who are currently independent directors of Firstbank, to serve as directors of the combined company. The Mercantile board of directors has made a non-binding determination to select David Cassard and Calvin Murdock to serve as directors of the combined company.

Thomas R. Sullivan will serve as Mercantile's Chairman of the Board for one year following the merger, Michael H. Price will continue to serve as President and Chief Executive Officer, Robert B. Kaminski, Jr. will continue to serve as an Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer, Charles E. Christmas will continue to service as Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, and Samuel G. Stone will serve as an Executive Vice President.

Regulatory Clearances Required for the Merger

The merger must be approved by the Federal Reserve System, which will review, among other things, the effect of the merger on competition, the companies' capital position, safety and soundness, legal and regulatory compliance matters and Community Investment Act matters. There can be no assurance as to whether this and other regulatory approvals will be obtained, the timing of such approvals or whether any conditions will be imposed on such approvals.

Mercantile and Firstbank have agreed to use their reasonable best efforts to obtain as promptly as practicable applicable regulatory approvals, and any other approval required under any applicable federal or state law. Mercantile and Firstbank have agreed to cooperate with one another to determine which regulatory filings or approvals are required to be made or obtained prior to the effective date of the merger and to timely make all such filings and seek all such approvals. Mercantile and Firstbank are currently reviewing which such regulatory filings and approvals, if any, are required and expect to timely make all such filings and seek all such approvals.

Table of Contents

Mercantile and Firstbank cannot assure you that other government agencies or private parties will not initiate actions to challenge the merger before or after it is completed. Any such challenge to the merger could result in a court order enjoining the merger or in restrictions or conditions that would have a material adverse effect on the combined company following the merger if the merger is completed. Such restrictions and conditions could include requiring the divestiture or spin-off of assets or businesses. Under the terms of the merger agreement, neither Mercantile nor Firstbank is required to agree to separate or divest any of its assets, facilities, properties or businesses, or to agree to any limitations on its conduct or business practices. No additional shareholder approval is expected to be required or sought for any decision by Mercantile or Firstbank after the Mercantile special meeting and the Firstbank special meeting to agree to any terms and conditions necessary to resolve any regulatory objections to the merger.

Exchange of Shares in the Merger

Prior to the effective time of the merger, Mercantile will appoint an exchange agent to handle the exchange of shares of Firstbank common stock for shares of Mercantile common stock. At the effective time of the merger, each share of Firstbank common stock will be converted into the right to receive one share of Mercantile common stock without the need for any action by the holders of Firstbank common stock.

Promptly after the effective time of the merger, but in no event later than three business days after the closing of the merger, Mercantile will cause the exchange agent to mail to each holder of a Firstbank stock certificate a letter of transmittal specifying, among other things, that delivery will be effected, and risk of loss and title to any certificates representing Firstbank common stock shall pass, only upon proper delivery of such certificates to the exchange agent. The letter will also include instructions explaining the procedure for surrendering Firstbank stock certificates in exchange for shares of Mercantile common stock. Firstbank shareholders should not return Firstbank stock certificates with the enclosed proxy card.

After the effective time of the merger, shares of Firstbank common stock will no longer be outstanding, will be automatically canceled and will cease to exist and each certificate, if any, that previously represented shares of Firstbank common stock will represent only the right to receive the merger consideration as described above. With respect to such shares of Mercantile common stock deliverable upon the surrender of Firstbank stock certificates, until holders of such Firstbank stock certificates have surrendered such stock certificates to the exchange agent for exchange, those holders will not receive dividends or distributions with respect to such shares of Mercantile common stock with a record date after the effective time of the merger.

Firstbank shareholders will not receive any fractional shares of Mercantile common stock pursuant to the merger. Instead of any fractional shares, Firstbank shareholders will be paid an amount in cash for such fraction calculated by multiplying the fractional share interest to which such holder would otherwise be entitled by the closing price for a share of Mercantile common stock as reported on Nasdaq on the first trading day immediately following the date on which the merger is effective. Because the exchange ratio is 1.0 to 1.0, fractional share payments are not expected.

Mercantile shareholders need not take any action with respect to their shares of Mercantile common stock.

Treatment of Firstbank Equity-Based Awards

Upon completion of the merger, each right of any kind to receive Firstbank common stock or benefits measured by the value of a number of shares of Firstbank common stock granted under the Firstbank stock plans will be converted into an award with respect to a number of shares of Mercantile common stock equal to the aggregate number of shares of Firstbank common stock subject to such award. Such converted awards shall otherwise continue to have, and be subject to, the same terms and conditions set forth in the applicable Firstbank stock plan (or any other agreement to which such converted award was subject immediately prior to the effective time of the merger). The exercise or strike price (if any) per share of Mercantile common stock applicable to any such converted award shall be equal to the per share exercise price of such converted award immediately prior to the effective time of the merger. Firstbank restricted stock and unvested stock options will become fully vested as of the effective time of the merger.

Bank Consolidation Following the Merger

In connection with planning the integration of the businesses of Mercantile and Firstbank after the merger, the management teams of Firstbank and Mercantile have been evaluating and expect to continue evaluating the possible consolidation of Mercantile Bank, Firstbank, and Keystone Community Bank, each a Michigan bank. The consolidation would be subject to, among other things, regulatory approval, the continuing evaluation of such consolidation and approval of the board of directors of the combined company and each of the banks following the completion of the merger.

Mercantile Dividend Policy

Mercantile currently pays quarterly cash dividends of $0.12 per share on shares of its common stock and currently intends to consider the declaration of a dividend on a quarterly basis. Any future determination regarding dividend or distribution payments will be at the discretion of the Mercantile board of directors, subject to applicable limitations under Michigan law, and will depend upon many factors, including results of operations, financial condition, liquidity, capital requirements and legal requirements.

Mercantile Special Dividend

As part of the merger, the Mercantile board of directors expects to declare and pay a special cash dividend of $2.00 per share to Mercantile shareholders prior to the effective time of the merger, subject to the satisfaction of the closing conditions set forth in the merger agreement.

Listing of Mercantile Common Stock

It is a condition to the completion of the merger that the shares of Mercantile common stock to be issued to Firstbank shareholders pursuant to the merger (including those shares of Mercantile common stock to be issued upon conversion of the Firstbank share-based awards) be authorized for listing on Nasdaq, subject to official notice of issuance.

De-Listing and Deregistration of Firstbank Stock

Upon completion of the merger, the Firstbank common stock currently listed on Nasdaq will cease to be listed on Nasdaq and will subsequently be deregistered under the Exchange Act.

No Appraisal or Dissenters Rights

Under Michigan law, as well as the governing instruments of each company, neither the holders of Mercantile common stock nor the holders of Firstbank common stock are entitled to appraisal rights or dissenters rights in connection with the merger. See the section entitled No Appraisal Rights or Dissenters Rights beginning on page 144.

The following describes the material provisions of the merger agreement, which is included as Annex A to this joint proxy statement and prospectus and incorporated by reference herein. The summary of the material provisions of the merger agreement below and elsewhere in this joint proxy statement and prospectus is qualified in its entirety by reference to the merger agreement. This summary does not purport to be complete and may not contain all of the information about the merger agreement that is important to you. Mercantile and Firstbank encourage you to read carefully the merger agreement in its entirety before making any decisions regarding the merger as it is the legal document governing the merger and related transactions.

*The merger agreement and this summary of its terms have been included to provide you with information regarding the terms of the merger agreement and are not intended to provide any factual information about Mercantile or Firstbank. Mercantile and Firstbank are responsible for considering whether additional disclosure of material information is required to make the statements in this joint proxy statement and prospectus not misleading. Factual disclosures about Mercantile or Firstbank contained in this joint proxy statement and prospectus or Mercantile's or Firstbank's public reports filed with the SEC may supplement, update or modify the factual disclosures about Mercantile or Firstbank contained in the merger agreement and described in the summary. The representations, warranties and covenants made in the merger agreement by Mercantile and Firstbank are qualified and subject to important limitations agreed to by Mercantile and Firstbank in connection with negotiating the terms of the merger agreement. In particular, in your review of the representations and warranties contained in the merger agreement and described in this summary, it is important to bear in mind that the representations and warranties were made solely for the benefit of the parties to the merger agreement, and were negotiated with the principal purpose of allocating risk between the parties to the merger agreement rather than establishing matters as facts. The representations and warranties may also be subject to a contractual standard of materiality that may be different from that generally relevant to shareholders or applicable to reports and documents filed with the SEC, and in some cases are qualified by confidential disclosures that were made by each party to the other, which disclosures are not reflected in the merger agreement or otherwise publicly disclosed. The representations and warranties in the merger agreement will not survive the completion of the transactions. Moreover, information concerning the subject matter of the representations and warranties may have changed since the date of the merger agreement, and subsequent developments or new information qualifying a representation or warranty may have been included or incorporated by reference into this joint proxy statement and prospectus. General; The Merger

At the effective time of the merger, upon the terms and subject to the satisfaction or waiver of the conditions of the merger agreement and in accordance with the Michigan Business Corporation Act, Firstbank will be merged with and into Mercantile, the separate corporate existence of Firstbank shall cease, and Mercantile shall be the surviving corporation of the merger. As of the effective time of the merger, the articles of incorporation of the surviving corporation will be the articles of incorporation of Mercantile as in effect immediately prior to the effective time, and the bylaws of Mercantile as in effect immediately prior to the effective time will be the bylaws of the surviving corporation. Effective as of the effective time of the merger, Mercantile will cause the size of the board of directors of the surviving corporation to be six directors and will cause the members of the board of directors of the Surviving Corporation to be comprised of (i) the President and Chief Executive Officer of Mercantile plus two members of the Mercantile board of directors as of the date of the merger agreement who are independent for purposes of the rules of Nasdaq selected by the Mercantile board of directors and (ii) the President and Chief Executive Officer of Firstbank plus two members of the Firstbank board of directors as of the date of the merger agreement who are independent for purposes of the rules of Nasdaq selected by the Firstbank board of directors.

When the Merger Becomes Effective

Mercantile and Firstbank will file a certificate of merger (referred to as the Certificate of Merger) with the Michigan Department of Legal and Regulatory Affairs as soon as practical on a date to be agreed upon by Mercantile and Firstbank, which will be no later than two business days immediately following the day on which the last of the conditions to the closing of the merger described under The Merger Agreement Conditions to Completion of the Transaction beginning on page 110 have been satisfied or waived (other than those conditions that by their nature are to be satisfied or waived at the closing of the merger), or at such other date and time as the parties may agree. For further discussion of the conditions to the closing of the transactions, see The merger agreement Conditions to Completion of the Transaction. The merger will be effective when the Certificate of Merger is duly filed with the Michigan Department of Legal and Regulatory Affairs or at such later time as is agreed to by the parties and specified in the Certificate of Merger.

Mercantile and Firstbank currently expect to complete the transaction by December 31, 2013, subject to receipt of required shareholder approvals and regulatory approvals and to the satisfaction or waiver of the other conditions to the transactions described below.

Consideration to be Received Pursuant to the Merger

Conversion of Firstbank Common Stock

The merger agreement provides that, at the effective time of the merger, each share of Firstbank common stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the merger (except those shares of Firstbank common stock owned by Firstbank or any of its wholly owned subsidiaries or Mercantile or any of its wholly owned subsidiaries immediately before the effective time of the merger, which will be cancelled and cease to exist for no consideration) shall be converted into the right to receive one (referred to as the exchange ratio) fully paid and nonassessable share of Mercantile common stock (referred to as the merger consideration) and, whereupon, such shares of Firstbank common stock will no longer be outstanding and all rights with respect to such shares will cease to exist, except for the right to receive the merger consideration (and cash in lieu of fractional shares).

Pursuant to the merger, Mercantile will not, in exchange for shares of Firstbank common stock, issue any certificates or scrip representing fractional shares of Mercantile common stock or pay any dividends or distributions with respect to such fractional share interests, and such fractional share interests will not entitle the holder thereof to vote or to have any rights as a holder of shares of Mercantile common stock. Instead, a shareholder of Firstbank who otherwise would have been entitled to receive a fraction of a share of Mercantile common stock in connection with the merger will receive, in lieu thereof, cash (without interest) in an amount equal to the product of (a) such fractional part of a share of Mercantile common stock, multiplied by (b) the closing price for a share of Mercantile common stock as reported on Nasdaq on the trading day immediately before the date on which the effective time of the merger occurs.

At 5:00 p.m., eastern time, on the date of the closing of the merger, the share transfer books of Firstbank shall be closed, and there shall be no further registrations of transfers on the share transfer books of Firstbank of shares of Firstbank common stock that were outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the merger.

Dividends and Distributions

No dividends or other distributions with respect to Mercantile common stock with a record date on or after the effective time of the merger will be paid to the holder of any unsurrendered certificate or book-entry share, and no cash payment in lieu of fractional shares of Mercantile common stock will be paid to any such holder, until the holder of such certificate or book-entry share will have surrendered such certificate or book-entry share. Following such surrender, there will be paid, without interest, with respect to whole shares of Mercantile common stock (a) at the time of such surrender, the amount of dividends or other distributions with a record date and a payment date on or after the effective time of the merger and on or prior to the date of such surrender and (b) the amount of any cash payable in lieu of a fractional share of Mercantile common stock to which such holder is entitled.

Treatment of Firstbank Awards

As of the effective time of the merger, each right of any kind, contingent or accrued, to receive Firstbank common stock or benefits measured in whole or in part by the value of a number of shares of Firstbank common stock granted under Firstbank employee equity award plans, whether vested or unvested, that is outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the merger shall cease to represent an award with respect to Firstbank common stock and shall be converted into an award with respect to a number of shares of Mercantile common stock equal to the aggregate number of shares of Firstbank common stock subject to such award. The value of any fractional shares related to any converted award will be paid in cash at the time such converted award is otherwise settled pursuant to its terms under the applicable Firstbank equity award plan. All such converted awards shall continue to have, and be subject to, the terms set forth in the applicable Firstbank employee equity award plan to which it was subject immediately prior to the effective time of the merger, with an exercise price per share of Mercantile common stock equal to the per share exercise price of such award immediately prior to the effective time of the merger. Prior to the effective time of the merger, Firstbank will make such amendments and take such other actions with respect to the Firstbank stock plans as necessary to effect the adjustment, including notifying all participants in the Firstbank equity award plans of such adjustment. Firstbank restricted stock and unvested stock options will become fully vested as of the effective time of the merger.

Procedure for Receiving Merger Consideration

Prior to, or at the effective time of the merger, Mercantile shall deposit with the exchange agent shares of Mercantile common stock, in the aggregate amount equal to the number of shares of Mercantile common stock to which holders of Firstbank common stock are entitled based on the exchange ratio. In addition, Mercantile shall deposit with the exchange agent, as necessary, from time to time after the effective time of the merger, cash in an amount sufficient to make payments in lieu of any fractional shares and payments of any dividends or other distributions payable pursuant to the merger agreement. The shares deposited pursuant to the foregoing are referred to as the exchange fund.

As soon as reasonably practicable after the effective time of the merger (but in any event, no later than three business days after the effective time of the merger), Mercantile shall cause the exchange agent to mail to each holder of record of shares of Firstbank common stock (other than excluded shares), as of the effective time of the merger, (a) a form of letter of transmittal and (b) instructions for use in effecting the surrender of such certificates or book-entry shares of Firstbank common stock in exchange for the merger consideration and any cash in lieu of fractional shares and any dividends or other distributions payable pursuant to the merger agreement. Each holder of Firstbank common stock will be entitled to receive the appropriate merger consideration and cash in lieu of any fractional shares payable and any dividends or distributions payable pursuant to the merger agreement upon surrendering to the exchange agent such shareholders certificates or book-entry shares, together with a properly executed letter of transmittal and any other documents required by the exchange agent. The merger consideration and any other consideration paid under the merger agreement may be reduced by any applicable withholding taxes as required by law. You should not return your certificates representing shares of Firstbank common stock to the exchange agent without a letter of transmittal, and you should not return your certificates representing Firstbank common stock to Firstbank.

If payment of the merger consideration is to be made to a person other than the person in whose name the certificates or book-entry shares representing shares of Firstbank common stock are registered, it will be a condition of exchange that such certificate or book-entry share is properly endorsed or otherwise in proper form for transfer and that the person requesting payment will have paid all applicable taxes relating to the person requesting such payment and any transfer or other taxes required by reason of the transfer or establish, to the reasonable satisfaction of Mercantile, that such taxes have been paid or are not applicable.

Table of Contents

The exchange agent shall invest any cash included in the exchange fund as directed by Mercantile subject to certain restrictions, provided, however, that no gain or loss thereon shall affect the amounts payable to holders of Firstbank common stock. No interest will be paid or will accrue on the merger consideration payable in respect of any certificate or book-entry share of Firstbank common stock.

Unclaimed Amounts

Any portion of the exchange fund that remains undistributed to Firstbank shareholders after the first anniversary of the effective time of the merger shall be delivered to Mercantile, upon demand, and any Firstbank shareholders shall thereafter look only to Mercantile for, and Mercantile shall remain liable for, payment of their claims for the merger consideration, any cash in lieu of any fractional shares payable and any dividends or other distributions payable pursuant to the merger agreement.

Lost, Stolen or Destroyed Certificates

If any certificate representing shares of Firstbank common stock has been lost, stolen or destroyed, Mercantile or the exchange agent will deliver the applicable merger consideration, any cash in lieu of any fractional shares payable and any dividends or other distributions payable pursuant to the merger agreement with respect to the shares formerly represented by such certificate if the shareholder asserting the claim of a lost, stolen or destroyed certificate has delivered an affidavit of that fact to Mercantile or the exchange agent, as the case may be, provided that Mercantile or the exchange agent, as the case may be, may require such shareholder to deliver a bond as indemnity against any claim that may be made against Mercantile or the exchange agent with respect to such certificate.

The merger agreement contains a number of representations and warranties made by each of Firstbank and Mercantile that relate to, among other things:

Many of the representations and warranties in the merger agreement are qualified by a materiality or material adverse effect standard (that is, they will not be deemed to be untrue or incorrect unless their failure to be true or correct, individually or in the aggregate, as the case may be, would be material or have a material adverse effect, as the case may be). For purposes of the merger agreement, a material adverse effect with respect to any person is any event, occurrence, fact, condition or change that (a) is, individually or in the aggregate, materially adverse to the business, results of operations, condition (financial or otherwise) or assets of such person and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole, or (b) prohibits or materially impairs the ability of such person to consummate the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement on a timely basis, except, in the case of clause (a), for any event, occurrence, fact, condition or change arising out of, relating to or resulting from (either alone or in combination):

- i. conditions or changes generally affecting the economy, or the financial or securities markets;
- ii. any outbreak or escalation of hostilities, war (whether or not declared) or military action or any act of terrorism, the occurrence of any natural disaster, or occurrence of any man-made disaster of wide-spread consequences;

- v. changes in generally accepted accounting principles or accounting standards (or interpretations thereof);
- vi. compliance with the terms of, or the taking of any action required by, the merger agreement;
- vii. any decline in the market price, or change in trading volume, of Firstbank common stock or Mercantile common stock, as applicable (except that any event, occurrence, fact, condition or change that caused or contributed to any decline in market price, or change in trading volume, of Firstbank common stock or Mercantile common stock, as applicable, will not be excluded unless otherwise specifically excluded);
- viii. the announcement or pendency of the merger or any other transaction contemplated by the merger agreement;
- ix. acts or omissions of (1) Firstbank prior to the effective time of the merger taken at the written request of Mercantile or with the prior written consent of Mercantile, or (2) Mercantile prior to the effective time of the merger taken at the written request of Firstbank or with the prior written consent of Firstbank, in each case in connection with the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement or applicable law;

provided, however, that any event, occurrence, fact, condition or change referred to in clauses (i), (ii), (iii), (iv) and (v) above shall be taken into account for purposes of such clause only to the extent such event, occurrence, fact, condition or change has a disproportionate effect on such person or its subsidiaries, taken as a whole, compared to other participants in the industries or geographic regions in which such person and its subsidiaries conduct their businesses.

The representations and warranties of the parties to the merger agreement will expire upon the effective time of the merger or the termination of the merger agreement pursuant to its terms.

Conduct of Business Pending the Completion of the Transaction

Each of Firstbank and Mercantile has agreed to certain covenants in the merger agreement restricting the conduct of its business between the date of the merger agreement and the effective time of the merger. Table of ContentsRestrictions on Solicitation

Except as described below, each of Mercantile and Firstbank has agreed that, from the time of the execution of the merger agreement until the earlier of the effective time of the merger or the termination of the merger agreement in accordance with the terms of the merger agreement, it will not and will cause its subsidiaries and representatives to not: (A) solicit, initiate, facilitate or encourage (including by way of furnishing non-public information) any inquiries regarding, or the making of any proposal or offer that constitutes or could reasonably be expected to lead to, a proposal that constitutes takeover proposal; or (B) engage or enter into, continue or otherwise participate in any discussions or negotiations regarding, or furnish to any other party material nonpublic information in connection with any proposal, or otherwise cooperate with or assist or participate in, or encourage or knowingly facilitate any such inquiries, proposals, discussions or negotiations or any effort or attempt to make a takeover. Each of Mercantile and Firstbank will, and will cause each of its respective subsidiaries and each of its and its respective subsidiaries representatives to, immediately upon execution of the merger agreement, cease any solicitation, encouragement, discussions or negotiations with any person that may be ongoing with respect to any takeover proposal.

A takeover proposal with respect to Mercantile means any inquiry, proposal or offer from any person (other than Firstbank and its subsidiaries) or group, within the meaning of Section 13(d) of the Exchange Act, relating to, in a single transaction or series of related transactions, any (i) acquisition of assets of Mercantile and its subsidiaries equal to more than ten percent (10%) of Mercantile's consolidated assets or to which more than ten percent (10%) of Mercantile's revenues or earnings on a consolidated basis are attributable, (ii) acquisition of more than ten percent (10%) of the outstanding Mercantile common stock or the capital stock of any subsidiary of Mercantile, (iii) tender offer or exchange offer that if consummated would result in any person beneficially owning more than ten percent (20%) of the outstanding Mercantile common stock, (iv) merger, consolidation, share exchange, business combination, recapitalization, liquidation, dissolution or similar transaction involving Mercantile or any of its subsidiaries or (v) any combination of the foregoing types of transactions if the sum of the percentage of consolidated assets, consolidated revenues or earnings and Mercantile common stock involved is more than ten percent (10%); in each case, other than the merger.

A takeover proposal with respect to Firstbank means any inquiry, proposal or offer from any person (other than Mercantile and its subsidiaries) or group, within the meaning of Section 13(d) of the Exchange Act, relating to, in a single transaction or series of related transactions, any (i) acquisition of assets of Firstbank and its subsidiaries equal to more than ten percent (10%) of Firstbank's consolidated assets or to which more than ten percent (10%) of Firstbank's revenues or earnings on a consolidated basis are attributable, (ii) acquisition of more than ten percent (10%) of the outstanding Firstbank common stock or the capital stock of any subsidiary of Firstbank, (iii) tender offer or exchange offer that if consummated would result in any person beneficially owning more than ten percent (10%) of the outstanding Firstbank common stock, (iv) merger, consolidation, share exchange, business combination, recapitalization, liquidation, dissolution or similar transaction involving Firstbank or any of its subsidiaries or (v) any combination of the foregoing types of transactions if the sum of the percentage of consolidated assets, consolidated revenues or earnings and Firstbank common stock involved is more than ten percent (10%); in each case, other than the merger.

Notwithstanding the restrictions described above, at any time prior to obtaining the relevant shareholder approval, if a party receives a takeover proposal, it and its representatives are permitted, subject to certain conditions, to furnish information with respect to Mercantile or Firstbank, as applicable, contact the person who made such proposal to request written clarifications of any term or condition of the takeover proposal such party's board of directors determines in good faith to be ambiguous or unclear and enter into negotiations or discussion with the person who has made such takeover proposal if the board of directors of such party determines in good faith, after consultation with its independent financial advisors and outside legal counsel, that such takeover proposal constitutes superior proposal.

A superior proposal means, with respect to each of Firstbank and Mercantile, any bona fide written takeover proposal that the relevant party's board of directors has determined in its good-faith judgment, after consultation with its independent financial advisors and outside legal counsel, is reasonably likely to be consummated in accordance with its terms and that is reasonably likely to result in the consummation of a transaction more favorable to the relevant party's shareholders from a financial point of view than the merger, taking into account (A) all relevant legal, regulatory and financial aspects of the proposal (including certainty of closing) and the person making the proposal, and (B) any changes to the terms of the merger agreement proposed by the other party to the merger agreement in response to such proposal or otherwise, provided that for purposes of the definition of superior proposal, the references to ten percent (10%) in the definitions of takeover proposal above shall be deemed to be references to fifty percent (50%).

The merger agreement requires that the parties notify each other promptly of, among other things, the status of any takeover proposal, including any material developments, discussions or negotiations regarding any takeover proposal. The parties must provide to each other promptly, subject to any confidentiality agreements, any written material nonpublic information provided to a third party in connection with a takeover proposal, if such information has not already been provided to the other party, and must provide to each other within two business days any written materials received by the other party in connection with any takeover proposal.

If the board of directors of either party changes, qualifies, withholds, withdraws or modifies (in a manner adverse to the other party) its recommendation, such party will nonetheless continue to be obligated to hold its shareholder meeting and submit the proposals as set forth herein to its shareholders.

Changes in Board Recommendations

The respective boards of directors of Mercantile and Firstbank have each agreed, subject to certain exceptions discussed below, not to (i) fail to recommend the approval of the transaction, (ii) change, qualify, withhold, withdraw or modify, or publicly propose to take such action, in a manner adverse to the other party, their respective recommendations with respect to the merger, (iii) take any formal action or make any recommendation or public statement in connection with a tender offer of exchange offer other than a recommendation of rejection of such offer, taking no position with respect to such offer, or a temporary stop, look and listen communication pursuant to Rule 14d-9(f) of the Exchange Act, or (iv) adopt, approve or recommend a takeover proposal.

Notwithstanding the restrictions described above, prior to obtaining the relevant shareholder approval, the board of directors of each of Mercantile or Firstbank is permitted to change, qualify, withhold, withdraw or modify in a manner adverse to the other party their respective recommendations with respect to the merger if, subject to certain conditions, the board of directors of Mercantile or Firstbank, as applicable, among other things, determines in good faith that a takeover proposal constitutes a superior proposal.

Prior to making a change in recommendation as described above, the applicable party whose board of directors is making such change must inform the other party in writing of its board of directors' intention to change its recommendation and provide to such other party the material terms and conditions of and identity of the person making the takeover proposal, and must allow five (5) business days (or three (3) business days in the case of any amendment to the financial or other material terms of the takeover proposal) to elapse following such other party's receipt of such written notice. During such time, if requested by such other party, the party whose board of directors is intending to make a change in recommendation must negotiate in good faith changes to the merger agreement that would allow such board of directors not to make such recommendation change.

Efforts to Obtain Required Shareholder Approvals

Mercantile has agreed to hold its special meeting, as soon as practicable following the date of the merger agreement, for the purposes of seeking the required Mercantile shareholder approvals related to the merger agreement and the merger and to use its commercially reasonable efforts to solicit the requisite shareholder approval for such proposal. The merger agreement requires Mercantile to submit these proposals to a shareholder vote even if its board of directors has changed its recommendation related to the merger.

Mercantile and Firstbank agreed to cooperate in the preparation of this joint proxy statement and prospectus;

neither of the parties will issue any press release or make any public announcement relating to the merger agreement, the merger or the other transactions contemplated by the merger agreement without the prior written approval of the other party, unless the disclosing party believes in good faith that such press release or public announcement is required to be made by applicable law, rule or regulation promulgated by any applicable securities exchange after consultation with outside legal counsel, in which case the disclosing party will use its commercially reasonable efforts to advise and consult with the other party regarding such press release or other announcement prior to making any such disclosure;

each party, commencing on the date of the merger agreement through the effective time of the merger, will permit the other party to have reasonable access to the officers and senior management, the premises, agents, books, records and contracts of or pertaining to the other party, as may reasonably be requested in writing;

each party will hold and treat in confidence all documents and information concerning the other party and its subsidiaries furnished in connection with the merger or merger agreement pursuant to the confidentiality agreement between Mercantile and Firstbank;

if any anti-takeover laws of any governmental entity are or may become applicable to the merger, the parties agree to use their respective commercially reasonable efforts to take such action as reasonably necessary so that the merger may be consummated as promptly as practicable under the terms of the merger agreement or so as to eliminate or minimize the effects of any such law on the merger;

each party will take all such steps as may be required to cause (a) any dispositions of Firstbank common stock (including derivative securities with respect to Firstbank common stock and awards) resulting from the merger and the other transactions contemplated by the merger agreement, by each individual who will be subject to the reporting requirements of Section 16(a) of the Exchange Act with respect to Firstbank immediately prior to the effective time of the merger, to be exempt under Rule 16b-3 promulgated under the Exchange Act, and (b) any acquisitions or dispositions of Mercantile common stock (including derivative securities with respect to Mercantile common stock and converted stock-based awards) resulting from the merger and the other transactions contemplated by the merger agreement, by each individual who may become or is reasonably expected to become subject to the reporting requirements of Section 16(a) of the Exchange Act with respect to Mercantile immediately following the effective time of the merger, to be exempt under Rule 16b-3 promulgated under the Exchange Act;

each party will take all necessary action to suspend each of its respective employee or director stock purchase plans, and all monies contributed for the purchase of stock pursuant to such plans that have not been applied to the purchase of stock will be promptly refunded to participants;

Mercantile will, at the effective time of the merger, assume all obligations of Firstbank, including payment of any amounts due on debt securities issued pursuant to certain trust preferred securities agreements to which Firstbank is a party;

Firstbank will, upon Mercantile's request, cooperate with Mercantile to prepare documentation and take such other steps as may be necessary to effect the consolidation of the parties' respective subsidiary banks at the effective time of the merger;

each party will keep the other party reasonably informed with respect to the defense or settlement of any securityholder action against it and its directors relating to the merger, will give the other party opportunity to consult with it regarding the defense or settlement of any such securityholder action, and will not settle any such action without the other party's prior written consent (such consent not to be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed);

the parties agree that each party will not, and will not permit any of their respective subsidiaries to, take any action, or fail to take any action, that would reasonably be expected to jeopardize the qualification of the merger as a reorganization under Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, and each party will use commercially reasonable efforts to cause the merger to so qualify as a reorganization under Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986; and the parties will coordinate with each other regarding the declaration, setting of record dates and payment dates of dividends with respect to shares of Mercantile common stock and Firstbank common stock for the purpose of minimizing the risk that holders of shares of Firstbank common stock (a) in respect of any calendar quarter, receive dividends on both shares of Firstbank common stock and shares of Mercantile common stock received as merger consideration, or (b) in respect of any calendar quarter, fail to receive a dividend on shares of Firstbank common stock or shares of Mercantile common stock received as merger consideration.

Governance of the Combined Company Following the Completion of the Transaction

Mercantile has agreed to take all requisite action, effective as of the effective time of the merger, to cause the Mercantile board of directors to consist of six (6) directors, which will include: (i) the President and Chief Executive Officer of Mercantile, (ii) two members of the Mercantile board of directors as of the date of the merger agreement who are independent for purposes of the rules of Nasdaq (at least one of whom shall be an audit committee financial expert as defined in Item 407(d)(5) of Regulation S-K under the Exchange Act) selected by the Mercantile board of directors, (iii) the President and Chief Executive Officer of Firstbank, and (iv) two members of the Firstbank board of directors who are independent for purposes of the rules of Nasdaq (at least one of whom shall be an audit committee financial expert as defined in Item 407(d)(5) of Regulation S-K under the Exchange Act) selected by the Firstbank board of directors, each to serve for a term expiring on the earlier of his or her death, resignation or removal or the next annual meeting of Mercantile shareholders and, despite the expiration of his or her term, until his or her successor has been elected and qualified or there is a decrease in the size of the Mercantile board of directors.

The current President and Chief Executive Officer of Firstbank will serve as Chairman of the board of directors of the Mercantile board of directors for one year following the effective time. Additionally, after the effective time, the current President and Chief Executive Officer of Mercantile will serve as the President and Chief Executive Officer of Mercantile, the current Chief Operating Officer of Mercantile will serve as an Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of Mercantile, the current Chief Financial Officer of Mercantile will serve as Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer of Mercantile, and the current Chief Financial Officer of Firstbank will serve as an Executive Vice President of Mercantile.

Indemnification and Insurance

Mercantile has agreed that all rights to exculpation, indemnification and advancement of expenses now existing in favor of the current or former directors, officers or employees, as the case may be, of Firstbank or its subsidiaries, as provided in their respective articles of incorporation or bylaws or other organizational documents or in any agreement with Firstbank or its subsidiaries, will survive the merger and will continue in full force and effect in accordance with their relevant terms. The obligations of the combined company to exculpate, indemnify and advance expenses will continue for a period of six (6) years from the effective time of the merger (except with respect to any action pending or asserted or any claim made during such six (6)-year period, in which case the obligations will continue until the disposition of such action or resolution of such claim), and provisions for such obligations will be no less favorable to officers and directors than those set forth in the articles of incorporation and bylaws or similar organizational documents of Firstbank and its subsidiaries in effect immediately prior to the date of the merger agreement, and the combined company may not amend, repeal or otherwise modify any such provisions in any manner that would adversely affect the rights thereunder of any individuals who at the effective time of the merger were current or former directors, officers or employees of Firstbank or any of its subsidiaries.

Table of Contents

For a period of six (6) years following the effective time of the merger, the surviving corporation will indemnify and hold harmless each current or former director or officer of Firstbank and any of its subsidiaries against any costs or expenses (including advancing attorneys' fees and expenses in advance of the final disposition of any claim, suit, proceeding or investigation to each such indemnified party to the fullest extent permitted by law and following receipt of any undertaking required by applicable law), judgments, fines, losses, claims, damages, liabilities and amounts paid in settlement in connection with any actual or threatened actions arising out of, relating to or in connection with any action or omission occurring or alleged to have occurred at or before the effective time of the merger in such party's capacity as a director or officer of Firstbank or its subsidiaries or in such party's capacity as a director, officer, member, trustee or fiduciary of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, pension or other employee benefit plan or enterprise at the request or for the benefit of Firstbank (including acts or omissions in connection with such person's serving as an officer, director or other fiduciary in any entity if such service in such capacity was at the request or for the benefit of Firstbank), including in connection with the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement, except that all rights to indemnification or advancement of expenses in respect of any action pending or asserted or any claim made within such six (6)-year period will continue until the disposition of such action or resolution of such claim. In the event of any such action, the combined company will reasonably cooperate with the indemnified party in the defense of any such action.

For a period of six (6) years following the effective time of the merger, the surviving corporation will maintain the current policies (or policies of substantially the same coverage) of directors' and officers' liability insurance and fiduciary liability insurance maintained by Firstbank and its subsidiaries for the indemnified parties and any other employees, agents or other individuals otherwise covered by such insurance policies prior to the effective time of the merger with respect to matters occurring at or prior to the effective time of the merger, including the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement. However, after the effective time of the merger, the combined company will not be required to pay annual premiums for insurance coverages in excess of three hundred percent (300%) of the last annual premium (referred to as the maximum amount) paid by Firstbank prior to the date of the merger agreement in respect of the coverages required to be obtained, but in such case will purchase the greatest coverage available for a cost not exceeding the maximum amount. Alternatively, at the combined company's option, the combined company may purchase at or after the effective time of the merger, at a cost not exceeding three (3) times the maximum amount, a six (6)-year prepaid tail policy on terms and conditions providing substantially equivalent benefits as the current policies of directors' and officers' liability insurance and fiduciary liability insurance maintained by Firstbank and its subsidiaries for the insured parties with respect to matters occurring at or prior to the effective time of the merger, including the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement.

Amendments, Extensions and Waivers

The merger agreement may be amended by the parties at any time before or after the receipt of the Firstbank shareholder approval or the Mercantile shareholder approval; however, after receipt of any such approval, no amendment will be made which by law or in accordance with the rules of any relevant stock exchange requires further approval by the Firstbank shareholders or the Mercantile shareholders, as applicable, without such further approval. The merger agreement may not be amended except by an instrument in writing signed on behalf of Mercantile and Firstbank.

Governing Law

The merger agreement is governed by the laws of the State of Michigan.

No Third Party Beneficiaries

While the merger agreement is not intended to confer upon you or any other person other than Mercantile and Firstbank any rights or remedies, it provides limited exceptions for (i) Firstbank's and its subsidiaries' directors and officers to continue to have indemnification and liability insurance coverage after the completion of the merger, and (ii) holders of Firstbank common stock after the effective time of the merger and any holder of an award granted under a Firstbank stock plan to properly convert their shares of common stock and awards pursuant to the merger agreement.

Specific Performance

Mercantile and Firstbank agreed that irreparable damage would occur in the event that any of the provisions of the merger agreement were not performed in accordance with their specific terms or were otherwise breached, and that any breach of the merger agreement could not be adequately compensated in all cases by monetary damages alone. The parties agreed that, so long as the party seeking remedy is not in breach of any representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements contained in the merger agreement that would result in a failure of a condition to the other party's obligation to close, such party will be entitled to seek an injunction, specific performance and other equitable relief to prevent breaches of the merger agreement by the other party or to enforce specifically the terms and provisions of the merger agreement.

MATERIAL U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES

In the opinion of Varnum LLP, tax counsel to Firstbank, and Warner Norcross & Judd LLP, tax counsel to Mercantile, the following are the material U.S. federal income tax consequences of the merger to holders of Firstbank common stock that exchange their shares of Firstbank common stock for shares of Mercantile common stock in the merger.

This discussion addresses only holders of Firstbank common stock who hold that stock as a capital asset and are U.S. persons, each as defined for U.S. federal income tax purposes. For these purposes a U.S. person is:

an individual citizen or resident of the United States;

a corporation (or any other entity treated as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes) created or organized in or under the laws of the United States, any state thereof or the District of Columbia;

an estate the income of which is subject to U.S. federal income taxation regardless of its source; or a trust that (i) is subject to the primary supervision of a court within the United States and one or more U.S. persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust or (ii) has a valid election in effect under applicable U.S. Treasury regulations to be treated as a U.S. person.

This discussion does not address any non-income taxes (including the unearned income Medicare contribution tax enacted under the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010) or any foreign, state or local tax consequences of the merger. This discussion does not address all aspects of U.S. federal income taxation that may be relevant to a holder of Firstbank common stock in light of that holder's particular circumstances or to a holder subject to special rules (such as, for example, dealers or brokers in securities, commodities or foreign currencies, traders in securities that elect to apply a mark-to-market method of accounting, banks and certain other financial institutions, insurance companies, mutual funds, tax-exempt organizations, holders subject to the alternative minimum tax provisions of the Code, partnerships, S corporations or other pass-through entities or investors in partnerships, S corporations or such other pass-through entities, regulated investment companies, real estate investment trusts, controlled foreign corporations, passive foreign investment companies, former citizens or residents of the United States, U.S. expatriates, holders whose functional currency is not the U.S. dollar, holders who hold shares of Firstbank common stock as part of a hedge, straddle, constructive sale or conversion transaction or other integrated investment, holders who acquired Firstbank common stock pursuant to the exercise of employee stock options, through a tax qualified retirement plan or otherwise as compensation or holders who actually or constructively own more than 5% of Firstbank common stock). This discussion is based on the Code, applicable Treasury regulations, administrative interpretations and court decisions, each as in effect as of the date of this joint proxy statement and prospectus and all of which are subject to change, possibly with retroactive effect.

If a partnership (or an entity or arrangement treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes) holds Firstbank common stock, the tax treatment of a partner will generally depend on the status of the partner and the activities of the partnership. Partners of partnerships holding Firstbank common stock should consult their own tax advisors.

This discussion of material U.S. federal income tax consequences is for general information purposes only and is not intended to be, and should not be construed as, tax advice. Holders of Firstbank common stock are urged to consult their independent tax advisors with respect to the application of U.S. federal income tax laws to their particular situations as well as any tax consequences arising under the U.S. federal estate or gift tax rules, or under the laws of any state, local, foreign or other taxing jurisdiction or under any applicable tax treaty.

Tax Consequences of the Merger Generally

Firstbank and Mercantile intend for the merger to qualify as a reorganization for U.S. federal income tax purposes within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code. It is a condition to the obligation of Firstbank to complete the merger that Firstbank receive an opinion from Varnum LLP, counsel to Firstbank, dated as of the closing date of the merger and to the effect that the merger will be treated as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code. It is a condition to the obligation of Mercantile to complete the merger that Mercantile receive an opinion from Warner Norcross & Judd LLP, counsel to Mercantile, dated as of the closing date of the merger and to the effect that the merger will be treated as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code. The opinions regarding the merger will not address any state, local or foreign tax consequences of the merger. These opinions will be based on facts and representations contained in representation letters provided by Firstbank and Mercantile and on customary factual assumptions, as well as on certain covenants and undertakings by Mercantile and Firstbank. Neither of the opinions described above will be binding on the IRS or any court. Firstbank and Mercantile have not sought and will not seek any ruling from the IRS regarding any matters relating to the merger, and as a result, there can be no assurance that the IRS will not assert, or that a court would not sustain, a position contrary to any of the conclusions set forth below. In addition, if any of the representations, assumptions, covenants or undertakings upon which those opinions are based are inconsistent with the actual facts, the U.S. federal income tax consequences of the merger could be different than set forth in the opinions. Neither Firstbank nor Mercantile is aware of any facts or circumstances that would cause the assumptions, representations, covenants and undertakings to be incorrect, incomplete, inaccurate or violated in any material respect.

The U.S. federal income tax consequences of the transactions will be as follows:

Receipt of Mercantile Common Stock

Each holder of Firstbank common stock who exchanges such holder's Firstbank common stock for Mercantile common stock generally will not recognize gain or loss, except with respect to cash received instead of fractional shares of Mercantile common stock (as discussed below). The aggregate tax basis of the Mercantile common stock each holder receives in the merger (including any fractional shares deemed received and redeemed for cash as described below) will equal the aggregate adjusted tax basis in the shares of Firstbank common stock such holder surrenders in the merger. The holding period for the shares of Mercantile common stock received in the merger (including any fractional shares deemed received and redeemed for cash as described below) will include the holding period of the shares of Firstbank common stock surrendered in the merger. If a holder acquired different blocks of Firstbank common stock at different times or at different prices, the Mercantile common stock such holder receives will be allocated pro rata to each block of Firstbank common stock, and the basis and holding period of each block of Mercantile common stock received will be determined on a block-for-block basis depending on the basis and holding period of the blocks of Firstbank common stock exchanged for such block of Mercantile common stock.

Mercantile Special Dividend

As permitted by the terms of the merger agreement, the Mercantile board of directors expects to declare and pay a one-time special cash dividend of $2.00 per share per share to Mercantile shareholders prior to the effective time of the merger, subject to the satisfaction of the closing conditions set forth in the merger agreement. Generally, holders will be taxed on the pre-merger special dividend at applicable U.S. Federal income tax rates.

Tax Consequences to Mercantile and Firstbank

Neither of Mercantile nor Firstbank will recognize any gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a result of the merger.

ACCOUNTING TREATMENT

Mercantile prepares its financial statements in accordance with GAAP. The merger will be accounted for using the acquisition method of accounting with Mercantile being considered the acquiror of Firstbank for accounting purposes. This means that Mercantile will allocate the purchase price to the fair value of Firstbank's tangible and intangible assets and liabilities at the acquisition date, with the excess purchase price being recorded as goodwill. Under the acquisition method of accounting, goodwill is not amortized but is tested for impairment at least annually.

Notes to Unaudited Pro Forma

Condensed Combined Financial Information

Note 1 Basis of Presentation

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information has been prepared using the acquisition method of accounting, giving effect to the merger involving Mercantile and Firstbank as if the transactions had occurred as of the beginning of the earliest period presented. The merger will be a reorganization for Federal income tax purposes and Mercantile and Firstbank shareholders generally will not recognize, for Federal income tax purposes, any gain or loss on the merger, or the receipt of shares of Mercantile common stock.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information is presented for illustrative purposes only and is not necessarily indicative of the results of operations or financial position had the merger been consummated at January 1, 2012, nor is it necessarily indicative of the results of operations in future periods or the future financial position of the combined entities. The merger, which is currently expected to be completed in the first quarter of 2014, provides for the issuance of one share of Mercantile common stock in exchange for each share of Firstbank common stock and is subject to approval of Mercantile and Firstbank shareholders and certain regulatory agencies. The value of a Firstbank share would be $[] based on Mercantile's closing price on [], 2013.

The merger will be accounted for as an acquisition by Mercantile using the acquisition method of accounting. Accordingly, the assets and liabilities of Firstbank will be recorded at their respective fair values and the values used represent management's estimates based on available information. The pro forma adjustments included herein are subject to change depending on changes in interest rates and the components of assets and liabilities, additional information that becomes available and additional analysis that is performed. The final allocation of the purchase price will be determined after the merger is completed and after completion of thorough analysis to determine the fair value of Firstbank's tangible and identifiable intangible assets and liabilities as of the date the merger is completed. Increases or decreases in the estimated fair values of the net assets, commitments, executor contracts, and other items of Firstbank as compared with the information shown in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information may change the amount of the purchase price allocated to goodwill and other assets and may impact the statement of income due to adjustments in yield and/or amortization of the adjusted assets or liabilities. The purchase price is contingent on Mercantile's price per common share on the date the merger is consummated, which has not yet occurred. Accordingly, a 10% increase or decrease in the $18.77 price per share used under Note 2 Purchase Price Allocation would result in a corresponding goodwill adjustment of approximately $15.2 million. Any changes to Firstbank's shareholders' equity through the date the merger is completed will also change the purchase price allocation, which may include the recording of goodwill. The final adjustments may be materially different from the unaudited pro forma adjustments presented herein.

The accounting policies of both Mercantile and Firstbank are also being reviewed. Upon completion of such review, conforming adjustments or financial statement reclassifications may be also determined.

Note 2 Purchase Price Allocation

The pro forma adjustments include the purchase accounting entries to record the merger transaction. The excess of the purchase price over the fair value of the net assets acquired, net of deferred taxes, is allocated to goodwill. Estimated fair value adjustments included in the pro forma financial statements are based upon available information, and certain assumptions considered reasonable, and may be revised as additional information becomes available. For purposes of this pro forma analysis, fair value adjustments, other than goodwill, are amortized/accreted using a combination of straight-line and sum-of-the-years-digits methodologies over their estimated average remaining lives. Estimated accretion and amortization on borrowings are based on estimated maturity by type of borrowing.

Table of Contents

When the actual amortization/accretion is recorded for periods following the merger closing, the level yield method will be used where appropriate. Tax expense related to the net fair value adjustments is calculated at the statutory 35% tax rate. The allocation of purchase price is as follows:

Note 3 Estimated Amortization/Accretion of Purchase Accounting Adjustments

The following table sets forth an estimate of the expected effects of the projected aggregate purchase accounting adjustments reflected in the pro forma combined financial statements on the future pre-tax net income of Mercantile after the merger with Firstbank:

(in thousands)	Discount accretion (premium amortization)
	For the year ended December 31,
	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017

The actual effect of purchase accounting adjustments on the future pre-tax income of Mercantile will differ from these estimates based on the closing date estimates of fair values and the use of different amortization methods than assumed above.

Table of ContentsNote 4 Pro Forma Adjustments

The following pro forma adjustments have been reflected in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information. All fair value adjustments were calculated using a 35% tax rate to arrive at deferred tax asset or liability adjustments. All adjustments are based on current assumptions and valuations, which are subject to change.

- A A fair value adjustment to total loans to reflect credit deterioration of Firstbank's loan portfolio in the amount of $24.5 million which represents a mark of 2.5% on Firstbank's outstanding loan portfolio. In order to determine the adjustment related to credit deterioration, Mercantile employed a two tiered due diligence process. First, Mercantile engaged an independent third party to perform analytics on Firstbank's loan portfolio, including a historical analysis and potential credit loss calculations under various scenarios. Next, members of Mercantile's senior management team, loan review and credit department functions conducted a comprehensive review of Firstbank's loan portfolio, underwriting methodology, loan-related policies and loan portfolio management processes. Individual loan file review included a representative sample of commercial loan relationships and adversely classified assets and watch list credits. In total, individual file review covered about 50% of total commercial loan balances outstanding.
- B A fair value adjustment to total loans reflect differences in interest rates in the amount of $6.0 million, which was based primarily on an analysis of current market interest rates, credit spreads, loan types, maturity dates and potential prepayments. This fair value adjustment will be amortized into loan interest income over the estimated lives of the affected loans. Estimated amortization in the pro forma was determined using the sum-of-the-years-digits methodology, which approximates the level yield methodology.
- C Elimination of Firstbank's allowance for loan losses. Purchased loans acquired in a business combination are recorded at fair value and the recorded allowance of the acquired company is not carried over.
- D Elimination of Firstbank's goodwill ($35.5 million) plus the addition of goodwill generated as a result of the total purchase price and fair value of assets acquired exceeding the fair value of liabilities assumed ($41.9 million) (See Note 2 Purchase Price Allocation).
- E Mercantile's estimate of the fair value of the core deposit intangible asset ($13.0 million) and the elimination of Firstbank's previously reported core deposit intangible asset ($0.8 million). The core deposit intangible asset was estimated by applying a 1.5% premium on Firstbank's core deposits, which was based on current market data for similar transactions. The core deposit intangible asset will be amortized into noninterest expense over a ten year period using the sum-of-the-years digits methodology.
- F A fair value adjustment to time deposits to reflect differences in interest rates in the amount of $2.3 million, which was based primarily on an analysis of current market interest rates and maturity dates. This fair value adjustment will be accreted into interest expense over the estimated lives of the affected time deposits. Estimated accretion was computed using the sum-of-the-years-digits methodology, which approximates the level yield methodology.
- G A fair value adjustment to FHLB advances to reflect differences in interest rates of $1.1 million. The fair value adjustment will be accreted into interest expense over the remaining lives of the affected FHLB advances using the sum-of-the-years-digits methodology, which approximates the level yield methodology.
- H A fair value adjustment to subordinated debentures of $15.0 million, which was based primarily on an analysis of current market rates for similar products. The fair value adjustment will be amortized into interest expense over the estimated life of the subordinated debentures using the straight-line methodology.

Edgar Filing: MERCANTILE BANK CORP - Form S-4

- I Adjustment of $9.2 million to reflect deferred taxes associated with the adjustments to record the assets and liabilities of Firstbank at fair value based on Mercantile's statutory tax rate of 35%.

- J Shareholders' equity was adjusted by a net $19.1 million to reflect a $151.5 million credit for the equity component of merger consideration and a $132.4 million debit to eliminate historical stockholders' equity of

Firstbank pursuant to ASC 805; thereby, representing conversion of all Firstbank's common shares into Mercantile common shares on a one-for-one basis.

- K Adjustment of $17.4 million to reflect the $2.00 per share special cash dividend to be paid to Mercantile common shareholders prior to the merger consummation. Funding of the special cash dividend is expected to be comprised of a $9.0 million term loan from a correspondent bank and an $8.4 million cash dividend from Mercantile's subsidiary bank using cash and cash equivalents. This adjustment also includes $3.7 million of after-tax expenses expected to be paid by Firstbank prior to merger consummation. Mercantile expects to incur pre-tax merger-related charges of $6.0 million prior to and after the merger is consummated which are not reflected.
- L Interest income on loans has been adjusted to reflect the amortization of the interest rate-related fair value adjustment described under letter B.
- M Interest expense on deposits has been adjusted to reflect the accretion of the interest rate-related fair value adjustment described under letter F. Interest expense on borrowings has been adjusted to reflect the accretion of the interest rate-related fair value adjustment described under letters G and H.
- N The provision for loan losses reflects the historical provision expense for Firstbank. We believe that future provision expense related to Firstbank's loan portfolio will be less than the historical results given that the loans will be recorded at fair value, taking into consideration the $24.5 million credit-related fair value adjustment described under letter A.
- O Noninterest expense has been adjusted to reflect the amortization of the core deposit intangible asset described under letter E.
- P Income tax expense has been adjusted to reflect income statement-related adjustments at an effective tax rate of 35%.

Note 5 Estimated cost savings and merger integration costs

Estimated cost savings are expected to approximate $5.5 million (or about 12.8% of Firstbank's annualized noninterest expense), while total merger-related costs have been estimated at $11.1 million. The cost savings and merger-related costs are excluded from the pro forma income statement analysis as they will be recorded in the combined results of income as they are incurred prior to or after completion of the merger and are not indicative of what historical results of the combined company would have been had the companies been actually combined during the periods presented.

In connection with the merger, the plan to integrate Mercantile's and Firstbank's operations is still being developed. The cost savings and merger-related cost estimates are based on current assumptions regarding the operations and activities of the combined companies. The specific details of these plans will continue to be refined over the next several quarters as business units and functional areas from Mercantile and Firstbank work together to finalize the operating model. This effort is designed to assess the two companies' product offerings, organizational structure, operating platforms, information technology, distribution networks, operating policies and procedures, employee benefit plans, and service contracts to determine optimum strategies to effectively and efficiently serve customers and realize cost savings. The cost savings are expected to be realized at 60% during the first year after the merger transaction is completed and 100% in subsequent years, while it is expected that a majority of the merger-related costs will be expensed during the third and fourth quarters of 2013 and the first and second quarters of 2014. The consolidation of three bank charters to one bank charter is expected to be completed during the second quarter of 2014.

Table of ContentsCOMPARATIVE PER SHARE DATA (UNAUDITED)

The following tables set forth the basic earnings, diluted earnings and cash dividend data for Mercantile and Firstbank on a historical basis and on a pro forma combined basis for the six months ended June 30, 2013, and for the year ended December 31, 2012. The pro forma data was derived by combining the historical consolidated financial information of Mercantile and Firstbank using the acquisition method of accounting for business combinations and assumes the transaction is completed as contemplated. The pro forma and pro forma-equivalent per share information gives effect to the merger as if the transactions had been effective on January 1, 2012. The unaudited pro forma data in the tables represent a current estimate based on available information of the combined company's results of operations. The pro forma financial adjustments record the assets and liabilities of Firstbank at their estimated fair values and are subject to adjustment as additional information becomes available and as additional analysis is performed. See Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information on page 122 for more information.

DESCRIPTION OF CAPITAL STOCK

The following description is a summary of certain provisions of Mercantile's articles of incorporation in the context of applicable laws. This summary is subject to and is qualified by reference to all the provisions of Mercantile's articles of incorporation, which we urge you to read carefully. As used in this section, Description of Capital Stock, references to Mercantile refer only to Mercantile Bank Corporation and do not include its subsidiaries.

General

Mercantile is authorized to issue 21,000,000 shares of capital stock consisting of 20,000,000 shares of common stock, no par value, and 1,000,000 shares of preferred stock. As of [redacted], 2013, there were [redacted] shares of common stock issued and outstanding. No shares of preferred stock are issued and outstanding. If the proposed amendment to Mercantile's articles of incorporation is approved by shareholders, then Mercantile will be authorized to issue 40,000,000 shares of common stock, no par value, and 1,000,000 shares of preferred stock.

The Mercantile board of directors is authorized to issue preferred stock from time to time, in one or more series, and to fix the rights, preferences and limitations of each series of preferred stock. This includes but is not limited to the designation of each series and the number of shares in it, the dividend rate or rates, whether and when shares will be redeemable, the prices at which shares will be redeemable, rights upon liquidation, any sinking fund provisions, any conversion or exchange privileges, voting rights, any restrictions on the payment of dividends or other distributions on other classes of stock and any other rights, preferences or limitations. The issuance of shares of preferred stock could adversely affect the availability of earnings for distribution to the holders of Mercantile common stock if the preferred stock provides for cumulative dividends, dividend preferences, conversion rights or exchange, redemption or other similar rights or preferences.

Dividends

Mercantile shareholders are entitled to receive such dividends and other distributions on common stock as are declared from time to time by the board of directors. The board of directors' right to declare dividends is subject to the rights of any holders of preferred stock or any other stock with superior dividend rights and Mercantile's legal ability to make certain other payments. The board of directors may fix the dividend rights and rates of the preferred stock if and when such shares are first issued.

Voting Rights

Each shareholder is entitled to cast one vote for each share of common stock held of record on all matters submitted to a vote of shareholders, including the election of directors.

Dissenters' Rights

Under Michigan law, in some circumstances, shareholders that do not vote in favor of various types of major corporate actions have the right to dissent and receive cash in exchange for their shares. Michigan law recognizes dissenters' rights in connection with certain amendments to the articles of incorporation, mergers, consolidations, sales or other dispositions of all or substantially all of the assets of a corporation, and certain acquisitions for stock. Mercantile shareholders will not have dissenters' rights with respect to the proposed merger.

Rights upon Dissolution and Liquidation

Upon the liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the affairs of Mercantile, the holders of common stock will be entitled to receive pro rata all of the assets of the corporation available for distribution to the shareholders after an amount has been set aside for payment of debt and liabilities and the holders of all shares having priority over the common stock. The rights of any preferred stock upon liquidation, dissolution or winding up of Mercantile's affairs will be determined by the board of directors if and when such shares are first issued.

Table of Contents

Shareholder Meetings

The time, date and place of each annual meeting of shareholders is determined by the board of directors. Special meetings of shareholders may be called only by the board of directors or the Chairman of the Board, to be held on a date fixed by the board of directors or the Chairman of the Board.

Board of Directors; Number

Under Michigan law, the number of directors may be fixed in a corporation's bylaws or articles of incorporation. The Mercantile's articles of incorporation provide that the board of directors may, by the affirmative vote of a majority of its members, fix the number of directors on the board, but the number of directors may not be less than 6 or more than 15. All directors are elected for terms expiring at the next annual meeting of shareholders and until such directors' successors shall have been elected and qualified or the directors' resignation or removal.

Shareholder Nominations of Directors

Mercantile's articles of incorporation allow the board of directors or a shareholder to nominate a director. Shareholders nominating a director must submit certain information concerning the candidate at least 60 days but no more than 90 days before the election meeting.

Removal of Directors

Michigan law provides that shareholders may remove a director with or without cause, unless the articles of incorporation provide otherwise. Mercantile's articles of incorporation allow a director to be removed only for cause.

Vacancies on Board of Directors

Any vacancy on the board of directors, including any newly created directorships resulting from an increase in the number of directors, will be filled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the directors then in office, even if less than a quorum. No decrease in the number of directors may shorten the term of any incumbent director.

Personal Liability of Directors

Michigan law provides that a corporation's articles of incorporation may provide that, except for certain liabilities, a director will not be personally liable to the corporation or its shareholders for monetary damages for a breach of the director's fiduciary duty. In addition, Michigan law sets forth circumstances under which directors, officers, employees or agents of a corporation may be indemnified or insured against any liabilities that they incur in such capacities.

Mercantile's articles of incorporation provide that a director of Mercantile will not be personally liable to Mercantile or its shareholders for monetary damages for any action taken or any failure to take any action as a director, except for liability for:

any breach of the director's duty of loyalty to the corporation or its shareholders; acts or omissions not in good faith or that involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law;

certain declarations or distributions in violation of the articles of incorporation or the Michigan Business Corporation Act; or any transaction from which the director derived any improper personal benefit.

Table of Contents

Indemnification

Michigan law permits, and Mercantile's articles of incorporation require, indemnification of Mercantile's directors and executive officers in a variety of circumstances. Mercantile's articles of incorporation require Mercantile to indemnify any director or executive officer who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any threatened, pending or completed action, suit or proceeding arising out of the director or executive officer's service to Mercantile, to the fullest extent permitted by law. Mercantile may also indemnify any person who is not a director or executive officer, if the indemnification is authorized by the board of directors.

Mercantile's bylaws require the company to indemnify each of Mercantile's directors, executive officers and other persons in the event that he or she acted in good faith and in a manner he or she believed to be consistent with Mercantile's best interests, or in the event that he or she had no reasonable cause to believe the conduct was wrongful. Additionally, Mercantile's bylaws require the company to indemnify Mercantile's directors, executive officers and other persons to the extent that an indemnified person successfully defends an action. Mercantile must indemnify the indemnified party against actual and reasonable expenses, including attorneys' fees, incurred in connection with the action and any action brought to enforce the mandatory indemnification provisions.

Before a final determination of an action, Mercantile may reimburse an indemnified party for reasonable expenses incurred by him or her, if specified procedures are followed. In addition, a court may order the company to indemnify a director, officer, employee or agent if the court determines that the person is fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnification considering all the relevant circumstances, whether or not the applicable standard of conduct set forth in the bylaws was met or the indemnified party was found liable to the company or its shareholders.

Amendment of Articles and Bylaws

Under Michigan law, some provisions of a corporation's articles of incorporation may be amended by the board of directors. Other provisions require the approval of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares, unless a larger percentage is required by the corporation's articles of incorporation. Mercantile's articles of incorporation require the affirmative vote of the holders of at least two-thirds of the voting power of all the shares entitled to vote in the election of the directors in order to alter, amend, repeal or adopt certain provisions of the articles of incorporation relating to the board of directors or actions by shareholders.

Under Michigan law, unless a corporation's articles of incorporation and bylaws provide that only shareholders may amend the bylaws, the shareholders or the board of directors may amend the bylaws. Mercantile's articles of incorporation allow the board of directors to amend the bylaws without shareholder approval. The shareholders may amend the bylaws at any regular or special meeting of shareholders as long as notice of such action is contained in the notice of the meeting.

Business Combinations

Michigan law provides that, unless otherwise provided in the articles of incorporation, any merger or share exchange must be approved by the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares entitled to vote. Michigan law requires shareholder approval for the sale, lease or exchange of substantially all of the assets of Mercantile.

Michigan Fair Price Act

Michigan's Fair Price Act applies to Mercantile. The Fair Price Act requires a vote of the holders of 90% of outstanding shares and a vote of the holders of at least two-thirds of disinterested shares to approve a business combination. The Fair Price Act defines a business combination to include any merger, consolidation, share exchange, sale of assets, stock issue, liquidation, or reclassification of securities involving an interested shareholder or certain affiliates. An interested shareholder is generally any person who owns 10% or more of the outstanding voting shares of Mercantile. An affiliate is a person who directly or indirectly controls, is controlled by, or is under the common control of a specified person.

The supermajority vote required by the Fair Price Act does not apply to business combinations that satisfy certain conditions. These conditions include, among others:

the purchase price to be paid for the shares of the corporation in the business combination must be at least equal to the highest of either (1) the market value of the shares or (2) the highest per share price paid by an interested shareholder within the preceding two-year period or in the transaction in which the shareholder became an interested shareholder, whichever is higher; and once becoming an interested shareholder, the person may not become the beneficial owner of any additional shares of the corporation except as part of the transaction that resulted in the interested shareholder becoming an interested shareholder or by virtue of proportionate stock splits or stock dividends.

The requirements of the Fair Price Act do not apply to business combinations with an interested shareholder that the board of directors has approved or exempted from the requirements of the Fair Price Act by resolution adopted before the interested shareholders first became an interested shareholder. The Fair Price Act does not apply to the proposed merger.

surrender, the amount of dividends or other distributions with a record date and a payment date on or after the Effective Time and on or prior to the date of such surrender and the amount of any cash payable in lieu of a fractional share of Mercantile Common Stock to which such holder is entitled pursuant to Section 2.7 and (b) at the appropriate payment date, the amount of dividends or other distributions with a record date on or after the Effective Time but prior to such surrender and a payment date subsequent to such surrender payable with respect to such whole shares of Mercantile Common Stock.

2.5 Termination of Exchange Fund. Any portion of the Exchange Fund that remains undistributed to holders of Certificates or Book-Entry Shares for one year after the Effective Time shall be delivered to Mercantile, upon demand, and any holders of Certificates or Book-Entry Shares who have not then complied with this Article II shall thereafter look only to Mercantile for, and Mercantile shall remain liable for, payment of their claims for the Merger Consideration, any cash in lieu of any fractional shares payable pursuant to Section 2.7, and any dividends or other distributions payable pursuant to Section 2.4, in accordance with this Article II.

2.6 No Further Ownership Rights in Firstbank Common Stock. The Merger Consideration, any cash in lieu of any fractional shares payable pursuant to Section 2.7, and any dividends or other distributions payable pursuant to Section 2.4 upon the surrender of Certificates or Book-Entry Shares in accordance with the terms of this Article II shall be deemed to have been in full satisfaction of all rights pertaining to the Firstbank Common Stock formerly represented by such Certificates or Book-Entry Shares. At the close of business on the Closing Date, the share transfer books of Firstbank shall be closed, and there shall be no further registration of transfers on the share transfer books of Firstbank of shares of Firstbank Common Stock that were outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time. 2.7 No Fractional Shares. No certificates or scrip representing fractional shares of Mercantile Common Stock shall be issued upon the surrender for exchange of Certificates or Book-Entry Shares, no dividends or other distributions of Mercantile shall be paid with respect to such fractional share interests, and such fractional share interests will not entitle the owner to vote or to have any rights of a holder of shares of Mercantile Common Stock. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Plan of Merger, each holder of Certificates or Book-Entry Shares who would otherwise have been entitled to receive a fraction of a share of Mercantile Common Stock (determined after taking into account all Certificates and Book-Entry Shares delivered by such holder) shall receive, in lieu of such fractional part of a share of Mercantile Common Stock, cash (without interest) in an amount equal to the product of (a) such fractional part of a share of Mercantile Common Stock multiplied by (b) the closing price for a share of Mercantile Common Stock as reported on NASDAQ on the trading day immediately before the date on which the Effective Time occurs.

To the fullest extent permitted by applicable Law, none of Firstbank, Mercantile, the Surviving Corporation or the Exchange Agent will be liable to any Firstbank Shareholder or any other Person in respect of any cash properly delivered to a Governmental Entity pursuant to any applicable abandoned property, escheat or similar Laws. Any portion of the Exchange Fund remaining unclaimed by Firstbank Shareholders as of a date that is immediately prior to such time as such amounts would otherwise escheat to or become property of any Governmental Entity will, to the extent permitted by applicable Law, become the property of Mercantile free and clear of any claims or interest of any Person previously entitled thereto.

2.9 Lost, Stolen or Destroyed Certificates. In the event that any Certificate has been lost, stolen or destroyed, Mercantile or the Exchange Agent will, upon the receipt of an affidavit of that fact by the holder of such Certificate in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to Mercantile or the Exchange Agent, as the case may be, pay in exchange for such lost, stolen or destroyed Certificate, the Merger Consideration, any cash in lieu of fractional shares payable pursuant to Section 2.7 and any dividends or other distributions payable pursuant to Section 2.4 payable in respect of the shares of Firstbank Common Stock previously evidenced by such lost, stolen or destroyed Certificate. 2.10 Withholding Rights. Mercantile shall be entitled to deduct and withhold, or cause to be deducted or withheld, from the consideration otherwise payable pursuant to this Plan of Merger such amounts as it is required to deduct and withhold with respect to the making of such payment under the Code, or any provision of state, local or foreign tax law. To the extent that amounts are so withheld or paid over to or deposited with the relevant Governmental Entity by Mercantile, such withheld amounts shall be treated for all purposes of this Plan of Merger as having been paid to the Person in respect of which such deduction and withholding was made by Mercantile.

2.11 Investment of Exchange Fund. The Exchange Agent shall invest any cash included in the Exchange Fund as directed by Mercantile from time to time provided that no gain or loss thereon shall affect the amounts payable or the timing of the amounts payable to Firstbank Shareholders pursuant to this Article II. The Exchange Fund shall not be used for any purpose except as set forth herein. Any interest and other income resulting from such investments shall be for Mercantile's account.

2.12 Adjustments. This Plan of Merger is a memorandum of understanding within the meaning of Article X(B) of Firstbank's articles of incorporation and it has been approved by the Firstbank Board of Directors pursuant to and in accordance with Article X(B) of Firstbank's articles of incorporation. Except for the Firstbank Shareholder Approval, no other corporate proceedings on the part of Firstbank are necessary to authorize this Plan of Merger or to consummate the Merger. This Plan of Merger has been duly executed and delivered by, and (assuming due authorization, execution and delivery by Mercantile) constitutes valid and binding obligations of, Firstbank and is enforceable against Firstbank in accordance with its terms, except to the extent that (i) such enforcement may be subject to applicable bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization, moratorium or other similar laws, now or hereafter in effect, relating to creditors' rights generally and (ii) equitable remedies of specific performance and injunctive and other forms of equitable relief may be subject to equitable defenses and to the discretion of the court before which any proceeding therefor may be brought.

any of the Mercantile Subsidiaries to enter into any letter of intent, agreement or agreement in principle with respect to any Mercantile Takeover Proposal (other than an Acceptable Mercantile Confidentiality Agreement) (each, a Mercantile Acquisition Agreement).

5.5.5 Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, prior to the time the Mercantile Shareholder Approval is obtained, the Mercantile Board of Directors may, in connection with a bona fide written Mercantile Takeover Proposal, which Mercantile Takeover Proposal was made after the date of this Plan of Merger (or that was made prior to the date of this Plan of Merger and remade after the date of this Plan of Merger) and that did not result from any breach of this Section 5.5, make a Mercantile Adverse Recommendation Change or terminate this Plan of Merger pursuant to Section 7.1.10 to enter into a definitive merger agreement or other definitive purchase or acquisition agreement with respect to such Mercantile Takeover Proposal, if and only if, prior to taking such action, Mercantile has complied with its obligations under this Section 5.5 and the Mercantile Board of Directors has determined in good faith, after consultation with its independent financial advisors and outside legal counsel, that such Mercantile Takeover Proposal constitutes a Mercantile Superior Proposal; provided, however, that prior to taking any such action (a) Mercantile has given Firstbank at least five Business Days prior written notice of its intention to take such action (which notice shall specify the material terms and conditions of any such Mercantile Superior Proposal, including the identity of the party making such Mercantile Superior Proposal) and has contemporaneously provided a copy to Firstbank of all written materials (including all transaction agreements and related documents) with or from the party making such Mercantile Superior Proposal, (b) Mercantile has negotiated, and has caused its Representatives to negotiate, in good faith with Firstbank during such notice period to the extent Firstbank wishes to negotiate, to enable Firstbank to revise the terms of this Plan of Merger such that it would cause such Mercantile Superior Proposal to no longer constitute a Mercantile Superior Proposal and (c) following the end of such notice period, the Mercantile Board of Directors shall have considered in good faith any changes to this Plan of Merger proposed in writing by Firstbank, and shall have determined that the Mercantile Superior Proposal would continue to constitute a Mercantile Superior Proposal if such revisions were to be given effect. 5.5.6 Provided that Mercantile and the Mercantile Board of Directors comply with their applicable obligations under Section 5.5.5, nothing in this Section 5.5 shall prohibit the Mercantile Board of Directors from (a) taking and disclosing to the Mercantile Shareholders a position contemplated by Rule 14e-2(a), Rule 14d-9 or Item 1012(a) of Regulation M-A promulgated under the Exchange Act, or (b) making any stop-look-and-listen communications to Mercantile Shareholders pursuant to Section 14d-9(f) promulgated under the Exchange Act (or any similar communications to the Mercantile Shareholders); provided, however, that the taking of any action pursuant to either of the preceding clauses (a) or (b) shall in no way limit or modify the effect of this Plan of Merger with respect to any such action taken.

5.5.7 As used in this Plan of Merger, Mercantile Takeover Proposal shall mean any inquiry, proposal or offer from any Person (other than Mercantile and its Subsidiaries) or group, within the meaning of Section 13(d) of the Exchange Act, relating to, in a single transaction or series of related transactions, any (a) acquisition of assets of Mercantile and its Subsidiaries equal to more than 10% of Mercantile's consolidated assets or to which more than 10% of Mercantile's net income on a consolidated basis are attributable, (b) acquisition of more than 10% of the outstanding Mercantile Common Stock or the capital stock of any Subsidiary of Mercantile, (c) tender offer or exchange offer that if consummated would result in any Person beneficially owning more than 10% of the outstanding Mercantile Common Stock, (d) merger, consolidation, share exchange, business combination, recapitalization, liquidation, dissolution or similar transaction involving Mercantile or any of its Subsidiaries, or (e) any combination of the foregoing types of transactions if the sum of the percentage of consolidated assets, consolidated net income and Mercantile Common Stock involved is more than 10%; in each case, other than the Merger.

Each of the parties agree to correct any information provided by it for use in the Joint Proxy Statement or the Registration Statement that shall have become false or misleading in any material respect.

5.6.2 If, prior to the Effective Time, any event occurs with respect to Firstbank or any Firstbank Subsidiary, or any change occurs with respect to other information supplied by Firstbank for inclusion in the Joint Proxy Statement or the Registration Statement, which is required to be described in an amendment of, or a supplement to, the Joint Proxy Statement or the Registration Statement, Firstbank shall promptly notify Mercantile of such event, and Firstbank and Mercantile shall cooperate in the prompt filing with the SEC of any necessary amendment or supplement to the Joint Proxy Statement or the Registration Statement and, as required by Law, in disseminating the information contained in such amendment or supplement to the Mercantile Shareholders and the Firstbank Shareholders.

Firstbank may adjourn or postpone the Firstbank Shareholder Meeting (i) to the extent necessary to ensure that any necessary supplement or amendment to the Joint Proxy Statement is provided to the Firstbank Shareholders in advance of a vote on the Firstbank Shareholder Approval or (ii) if as of the time for which the

For a period of six years from the Effective Time, the Surviving Corporation, subject to compliance with applicable Law, shall maintain in effect exculpation, indemnification and advancement of expenses provisions that are no less favorable to officers and directors than those set forth in the articles of incorporation and bylaws or similar organization documents of Firstbank and the Firstbank Subsidiaries in effect immediately prior to the date of this Plan of Merger, and, subject to compliance with applicable Law, shall not amend, repeal or otherwise modify any such provisions in any manner that would adversely affect the rights thereunder of any individuals who at the Effective Time were current or former directors, officers or employees of Firstbank or any of the Firstbank Subsidiaries. All rights to indemnification or advancement of expenses in respect of any Action pending or asserted or any claim made within such period shall continue until the disposition of such Action or resolution of such claim.

5.13.2 From and after the Effective Time and until the sixth anniversary of the Effective Time, the Surviving Corporation shall indemnify and hold harmless to the fullest extent permitted under applicable Law, each current or former director or officer of Firstbank or any of the Firstbank Subsidiaries (each, together with such person's heirs, executors or administrators, an Indemnified Party) against any costs or expenses (including advancing attorneys' fees and expenses in advance of the final disposition of any claim, suit, proceeding or investigation to each Indemnified Party to the fullest extent permitted by Law and following receipt of any undertaking required by applicable Law), judgments, fines, losses, claims, damages, liabilities and amounts paid in settlement in connection with any actual or threatened Actions, arising out of, relating to or in connection with any action or omission occurring or alleged to have occurred at or before the Effective Time in such Indemnified Party's capacity as a director or officer of Firstbank or any of the Firstbank Subsidiaries or in such Indemnified Party's capacity as a director, officer, member, trustee or fiduciary of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, pension or other employee benefit plan or enterprise at the request or for the benefit of Firstbank or any Firstbank Subsidiary, including in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Plan of Merger. The Board of Directors

Mercantile Bank Corporation

310 Leonard Street NW

Grand Rapids, MI 49504

Members of the Board:

You have requested the opinion of Keefe, Bruyette & Woods, Inc. (KBW or we) as investment bankers as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to Mercantile Bank Corporation (Mercantile) of the Exchange Ratio (as defined below), in the proposed merger (the Merger) of Firstbank Corporation (Firstbank) with and into Mercantile, pursuant to the Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of August 12, 2013, by and between Mercantile and Firstbank (the Agreement). Pursuant to the terms of the Agreement, each share of common stock, no par value per share, of Firstbank issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Date (as defined in the Agreement) other than the Excluded Shares (as defined in the Agreement) shall be converted into the right to receive 1.000 fully paid and nonassessable share of common stock, no par value per share, of Mercantile (the Exchange Ratio). The terms and conditions of the Merger are more fully set forth in the Agreement.

KBW has acted as financial advisor to Mercantile and not as an advisor to or agent of any other person. As part of our investment banking business, we are continually engaged in the valuation of bank and bank holding company securities in connection with acquisitions, negotiated underwritings, secondary distributions of listed and unlisted securities, private placements and valuations for various other purposes. As specialists in the securities of banking companies, we have experience in, and knowledge of, the valuation of banking enterprises. In the ordinary course of our business as a broker-dealer, we may, from time to time purchase securities from, and sell securities to, Mercantile and Firstbank, and as a market maker in securities, we may from time to time have a long or short position in, and buy or sell, debt or equity securities of Mercantile and Firstbank for our own account and for the accounts of our customers. To the extent we have any such position as of the date of this opinion it has been disclosed to Mercantile. We have acted exclusively for the Board of Directors of Mercantile in rendering this fairness opinion and will receive a fee from Mercantile for our services. A portion of our fee is contingent upon the successful completion of the Merger. In addition, Mercantile has agreed to indemnify us for certain liabilities arising out of our engagement.

In the past two years, an affiliate of KBW provided investment banking and financial advisory services to Mercantile and received compensation for such services. In the past two years, we have not provided investment banking and financial advisory services to Firstbank. We may in the future provide investment banking and financial advisory services to Mercantile and receive compensation for such services.

In connection with this opinion, we have reviewed, analyzed and relied upon material bearing upon the financial and operating condition of Mercantile and Firstbank and the Merger, including among other things, the following: (i) a version of the Agreement dated August 12, 2013 (the most recent version made available to us); (ii) the Annual Report to Shareholders for the year ended December 31, 2012 and Annual Reports on Form 10-K for the three years ended December 31, 2012 of Mercantile; (iii) the Annual Reports to Shareholders and Annual Reports on Form 10-K for the three years ended December 31, 2012 of Firstbank; (iv) certain interim reports to shareholders and the Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the three months ended March 31, 2013 and the three months ended June 30, 2013 of Mercantile and Firstbank, and certain other communications from Mercantile and

Firstbank to their respective shareholders; and (v) other financial information concerning the businesses and operations of Mercantile and Firstbank furnished to us by Mercantile and Firstbank for purposes of our analysis. Our consideration of financial information and other factors that we deemed appropriate under the circumstances or relevant to our analyses included, among others, the following: (i) the historical and current financial position and results of operations of Mercantile and Firstbank; (ii) the assets and liabilities of Mercantile and Firstbank; (iii) the nature and terms of certain other merger transactions and business combinations in the banking industry; (iv) a comparison of certain financial and stock market information for Mercantile and Firstbank with similar information for certain other companies the securities of which are publicly traded. We have also performed such other studies and analyses as we considered appropriate and have taken into account our assessment of general economic, market and financial conditions and our experience in other transactions, as well as our experience in securities valuation and knowledge of the banking industry generally. We have also held discussions with senior management of Mercantile and Firstbank regarding the past and current business operations, regulatory relations, financial condition and future prospects of their respective companies and such other matters as we have deemed relevant to our inquiry.

In conducting our review and arriving at our opinion, we have relied upon and assumed the accuracy and completeness of all of the financial and other information provided to us or publicly available and we have not independently verified the accuracy or completeness of any such information or assumed any responsibility or liability for such verification, accuracy or completeness. We have relied upon the management of Mercantile and Firstbank as to the reasonableness and achievability of the financial and operating forecasts and projections (and the assumptions and bases therefor, including but not limited to any potential cost savings and operating synergies) prepared by and provided to us by management of Mercantile and Firstbank, and we have assumed, at the direction of Mercantile and Firstbank that such forecasts and projections reflect the best currently available estimates and judgments of such managements and that such forecasts and projections will be realized in the amounts and in the time periods currently estimated by such managements and that they provide a reasonable basis upon which we could form our opinion. Such forecasts and projections were not prepared with the expectation of public disclosure. All such projected financial information is based on numerous variables and assumptions that are inherently uncertain, including, without limitation, factors related to general economic and competitive conditions. Accordingly, actual results could vary significantly from those set forth in such projected financial information. We have relied on this projected information without independent verification or analysis and do not in any respect assume any responsibility or liability for the accuracy of completeness thereof.

We also assumed that there were no material changes in the assets, liabilities, financial condition, results of operations, business or prospects of either Mercantile or Firstbank since the date of the last financial statements of each such entity that were made available to us. We are not experts in the independent verification of the adequacy of allowances for loan and lease losses and we have assumed, without independent verification and with your consent that the aggregate allowances for loan and lease losses for Mercantile and Firstbank are adequate to cover such losses. In rendering our opinion, we have not made or obtained any evaluations or appraisals or physical inspection of the property, assets or liabilities of Mercantile or Firstbank, the collateral securing any of such assets or liabilities, or the collectability of any such assets, nor have we examined any individual loan or credit files, nor did we evaluate the solvency, financial capability or fair value of Mercantile or Firstbank under any state or federal laws, including those relating to bankruptcy, insolvency or other matters. Estimates of values of companies and assets do not purport to be appraisals or necessarily reflect the prices at which companies or assets may actually be sold. Because such estimates are inherently subject to uncertainty, we assume no responsibility or liability for their accuracy.

We have assumed that, in all respects material to our analyses, the following: (i) the Merger will be completed substantially in accordance with the terms set forth in the Agreement (the final terms of which will not differ in any respect material to our analyses from the version reviewed) with no additional payments or adjustments to the Exchange Ratio; (ii) the representations and warranties of each party in the Agreement and in all related documents and instruments referred to in the Agreement are true and correct; (iii) each party to the Agreement and all related documents will perform all of the covenants and agreements required to be performed by such party under such documents; (iv) all conditions to the completion of the Merger will be satisfied without any waivers or modifications to the Agreement; and (v) in the course of obtaining the necessary regulatory, contractual, or other consents or approvals for the Merger, no restrictions, including any divestiture requirements, termination or other payments or amendments or modifications, will be imposed that will have a material adverse effect on the future results of operations or financial condition of the combined entity or the contemplated benefits of the Merger, including the cost savings, revenue enhancements and related expenses expected to result from the Merger. We have assumed that the Merger will be consummated in a manner that complies with the applicable provisions of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and all other applicable federal and state statutes, rules and regulations. We have further assumed that Mercantile has relied upon the advice of its counsel, independent accountants and other advisors (other than KBW) as to all legal, financial reporting, tax, accounting and regulatory matters with respect to Mercantile, the Merger and the Agreement.

This opinion addresses only the fairness, from a financial point of view, as of the date hereof, of the Exchange Ratio in the Merger to Mercantile. We express no view or opinion as to any terms or other aspects of the Merger, including without limitation, the form or structure of the Merger, any consequences of the Merger (including but not limited to the Pre-Merger Special Dividend (as defined below)) on Mercantile, its shareholders, creditors or otherwise, or any terms, aspects or implications of any voting, support, shareholder or other agreements, arrangements or understandings contemplated or entered into in connection with the Merger or otherwise. Our opinion is necessarily based upon conditions as they exist and can be evaluated on the date hereof and the information made available to us through the date hereof. It is understood that subsequent developments may affect the conclusion reached in this opinion and that KBW does not have an obligation to update, revise or reaffirm this opinion. Our opinion does not address, and we express no view or opinion with respect to, (i) the underlying business decision of Mercantile to engage in the Merger or enter into the Agreement, (ii) the underlying decision of the Mercantile board of directors to announce its intention to declare and pay, and any subsequent declaration and payment of, the $2.00 special cash dividend (the Pre-Merger Special Dividend) per share of common stock of Mercantile, as described in and contemplated by the Agreement, including the merits of such decision as compared to any other alternatives that are, have been, or may be available to Mercantile or the Mercantile board of directors, (iii) the relative merits of the Merger as compared to any strategic alternatives that are, have been or may be available to or contemplated by Mercantile or the Mercantile board of directors, (iv) the fairness of the amount or nature of any compensation to any of Mercantile's officers directors or employees, or any class of such persons, relative to the compensation to the public shareholders of Mercantile, (v) the effect of the Merger on, or the fairness of the consideration to be received by, holders of any class of securities of Mercantile or any other party to any transaction contemplated by the Agreement, (vi) any advice or opinions provided by any other advisor to any of the parties to the Merger or any other transaction contemplated by the Agreement, or (vii) any legal, regulatory, accounting, tax or similar matters relating to Mercantile, Firstbank, their respective shareholders, or relating to or arising out of the Merger, including whether or not the Merger would qualify as a tax-free reorganization for United States federal income tax purposes.

This opinion is solely for the information of, and directed to, the Mercantile board of directors for its information and assistance in connection with its consideration of the financial terms of the Merger and is not to be relied upon by any shareholder of Mercantile or Firstbank or any other person or entity. This opinion does not constitute a recommendation to the Mercantile board of directors as to how it should vote on the Merger or to any shareholder of Mercantile or Firstbank as to how any such shareholder should vote at any shareholders' meeting at which the Merger is considered, or whether or not any shareholder of Mercantile or Firstbank should enter into a voting, shareholders', or affiliates' agreement with respect to the Merger or exercise any dissenters' or appraisal rights that may be available to such shareholder. In addition, this opinion does not in any manner address the prices at which the Mercantile common stock will trade following (i) the announcement or consummation of the Merger, (ii) the announcement of the Mercantile board of directors' intention to declare and pay the Pre-Merger Special Dividend, or (iii) any actual declaration or payment of the Pre-Merger Special Dividend (or the occurrence of the ex-dividend date with respect thereto).

This opinion has been reviewed and approved by our Fairness Opinion Committee in conformity with our policies and procedures established under the requirements of Rule 5150 of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority. This opinion may not be published or otherwise used or referred to, nor shall any public reference to KBW be made, without our prior written consent.

Table of Contents

Based upon and subject to the foregoing, it is our opinion that, as of the date hereof, the Exchange Ratio in the Merger is fair, from a financial point of view, to Mercantile.

Board of Directors

Firstbank Corporation

311 Woodworth Avenue

P.O. Box 1029

Alma, MI 48801

Gentlemen:

Firstbank Corporation (Firstbank) and Mercantile Bank Corporation (Mercantile) have entered into an agreement and plan of merger (the Agreement) pursuant to which Firstbank will merge with and into the Mercantile (the Merger). Pursuant to the terms of the merger, upon the effective date of the Merger, each share of Firstbank Common Stock, excluding certain shares as specified in the Agreement, issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time shall become and be converted into the right to receive 1.00 share of Mercantile Common Stock (the Exchange Ratio). The other terms and conditions of the Merger are more fully set forth in the Agreement, and capitalized terms used herein without definition shall have the meanings assigned to them in the Agreement. You have requested our opinion as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the Exchange Ratio to the holders of Firstbank common stock.

Sandler O Neill & Partners, L.P., as part of its investment banking business, is regularly engaged in the valuation of financial institutions and their securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions and other corporate transactions. In connection with this opinion, we have reviewed, among other things: (i) the Agreement; (ii) certain financial statements and other historical financial information of Firstbank that we deemed relevant; (iii) certain financial statements and other historical financial information of Mercantile that we deemed relevant; (iv) internal financial projections for Firstbank for the years ending December 31, 2013 through 2018 as provided by senior management of Firstbank; (v) internal financial projections for Mercantile for the years ending December 31, 2013 through 2018 as provided by senior management of Mercantile; (vi) the pro forma financial impact of the Merger on the combined company based on assumptions relating to transaction expenses, purchase accounting adjustments, cost savings and other synergies as determined by the senior management of Firstbank and Mercantile; (vii) a comparison of certain financial and other information for Firstbank and Mercantile with similar publicly available information for certain other banking institutions, the securities of which are publicly traded; (viii) the terms and structures of other recent mergers and acquisition transactions in the banking sector; (ix) the current market environment generally and in the banking sector in particular; and (x) such other information, financial studies, analyses and investigations and financial, economic and market criteria as we considered relevant. We also discussed with certain members of senior management of Firstbank the business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects of Firstbank and held similar discussions with the senior management of Mercantile regarding the business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects of Mercantile.

In performing our review, we have relied upon the accuracy and completeness of all of the financial and other information that was available to us from public sources, that was provided to us by Firstbank and Mercantile or that was otherwise reviewed by us and have assumed such accuracy and completeness for purposes of preparing this letter. We have further relied on the assurances of the management of Firstbank and Mercantile that they are not aware of any facts or circumstances that would make any of such information inaccurate or misleading in any material respect. We did not make an independent evaluation or appraisal of the specific assets, the collateral securing assets or the liabilities (contingent or otherwise) of Firstbank or Mercantile or any of their respective subsidiaries. We did not make an independent evaluation of the adequacy of the allowance for loan losses of Firstbank and Mercantile or the combined entity after the Merger and we have not reviewed any individual credit files relating to Firstbank and Mercantile. We have assumed, with your consent, that the respective allowances for loan losses for both Firstbank and Mercantile are adequate to cover such losses and will be adequate on a pro forma basis for the combined entity.

In preparing its analyses, Sandler O'Neill used internal financial projections as provided by the senior managements of Firstbank and Mercantile. Sandler O'Neill also received and used in its analyses certain projections of transaction costs, purchase accounting adjustments, expected cost savings and other synergies which were prepared by and/or reviewed with representatives and senior management of Firstbank and Mercantile. With respect to those projections, estimates and judgments, the respective managements of Firstbank and Mercantile confirmed to us that those projections, estimates and judgments reflected the best currently available estimates and judgments of those respective managements of the future financial performance of Firstbank and Mercantile, respectively, and we assumed that such performance would be achieved. We express no opinion as to such estimates or the assumptions on which they are based. We have assumed that there has been no material change in the respective assets, financial condition, results of operations, business or prospects of Firstbank and Mercantile since the date of the most recent financial data made available to us. We have also assumed in all respects material to our analysis that Firstbank and Mercantile would remain as going concerns for all periods relevant to our analyses. We express no opinion as to any of the legal, accounting and tax matters relating to the Merger and any other transactions contemplated in connection therewith.

Our analyses and the views expressed herein are necessarily based on financial, economic, regulatory, market and other conditions as in effect on, and the information made available to us as of, the date hereof. Events occurring after the date hereof could materially affect our views. We have not undertaken to update, revise, reaffirm or withdraw this letter or otherwise comment upon events occurring after the date hereof.

We have acted as Firstbank's financial advisor in connection with the Merger and a significant portion of our fees are contingent upon the closing of the Merger. We also will receive a fee from Firstbank for providing this opinion. Firstbank has also agreed to indemnify us against certain liabilities arising out of our engagement. In the ordinary course of our business as a broker-dealer, we may purchase securities from and sell securities to Firstbank and Mercantile and their affiliates. We may also actively trade the debt securities of Firstbank and Mercantile or their affiliates for our own account and for the accounts of our customers.

This letter is directed to the Board of Directors of Firstbank in connection with its consideration of the Merger and does not constitute a recommendation to any shareholder of Firstbank as to how such shareholder should vote at any meeting of shareholders called to consider and vote upon the Merger. Our opinion is directed only to the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the Exchange Ratio to holders of Firstbank common stock and does not address the underlying business decision of Firstbank to engage in the Merger, the relative merits of the Merger as compared to any other alternative business strategies that might exist for Firstbank or the effect of any other transaction in which Firstbank might engage. This opinion shall not be reproduced or used for any other purposes, without Sandler O'Neill's prior written consent. This Opinion has been approved by Sandler O'Neill's fairness opinion committee. We do not express any opinion as to the fairness of the amount or nature of the compensation to be received in the Merger by Firstbank's officers, directors, or employees, or class of such persons, relative to the compensation to be received in the Merger by any other shareholders of Firstbank.

Based upon and subject to the foregoing, it is our opinion that, as of the date hereof, the Exchange Ratio is fair to the holders of Firstbank common stock from a financial point of view.

Very truly yours,

/s/ Sandler O'Neill & Partners, L.P.

PART II

INFORMATION NOT REQUIRED IN THE PROSPECTUS

Item 20. Indemnification of Directors and Officers

Michigan law permits, and Article VI of the Mercantile's articles of incorporation require, indemnification of Mercantile's directors and executive officers in a variety of circumstances, which may include liabilities under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. The articles of incorporation provide that directors and executive officers shall be indemnified as of right, and shall be entitled to the advancement of expenses, to the fullest extent now or hereafter permitted by law in connection with any threatened, pending, or completed civil, criminal, administrative, or investigative action, suit, or proceeding arising out of their service to Mercantile or one of its subsidiaries, or to another organization at the request of Mercantile or one of its subsidiaries. Persons who are not directors or executive officers of Mercantile may be similarly indemnified in respect of such service to the extent authorized at any time by Mercantile's board of directors. Furthermore, the articles of incorporation provide that Mercantile may purchase and maintain insurance to protect itself and any such director, officer, or other person against any liability asserted against him or her and incurred by him or her in respect of such service, whether or not Mercantile would have the power to indemnify him or her against such liability by law or under its articles of incorporation. Pursuant to this authority, Mercantile maintains such insurance on behalf of its officers and directors.

Mercantile's bylaws contain extensive provisions concerning indemnification. Among other things, the bylaws provide that Mercantile may indemnify any person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any threatened, pending, or completed action, suit, or proceeding (other than an action by or in the right of Mercantile), by reason of the fact that the person is or was a director, officer, employee, or agent of Mercantile or is or was serving at the request of Mercantile as a director, officer, partner, trustee, employee, or agent of another foreign or domestic corporation or other entity, if the person acted in good faith and in a manner the person reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of Mercantile or its shareholders and, with respect to a criminal action or proceeding, the person had no reasonable cause to believe his or her conduct was unlawful. With respect to actions by or in the right of Mercantile, the bylaws provide that Mercantile may indemnify any person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any such proceeding if the person acted in good faith and in a manner the person reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of Mercantile or its shareholders; however, indemnification is not allowed with respect to a claim, issue, or matter in which the person shall have been found liable to Mercantile, except to the extent authorized by statute. The bylaws also contain provisions concerning the manner in which the board determines whether a person is entitled to indemnification, the advancement of expenses, other indemnification agreements, insurance and certain definitions and interpretive provisions.

In addition, Mercantile's ability to indemnify its directors and officers or other persons is determined, to an extent, by the Michigan Business Corporations Act, as amended (referred to as "MBCA"). The following is a summary of the applicable provisions of the MBCA:

Sections 561 through 571 of the MBCA contain provisions governing the indemnification of directors and officers by Michigan corporations. That statute provides that a corporation has the power to indemnify a person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to a threatened, pending or completed action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative and whether formal or informal (other than an action by or in the right of the corporation) by reason of the fact that he or she is or was a director, officer, employee or agent of the corporation, or is or was serving at the request of the corporation as a director, officer, partner, trustee, employee or agent of another foreign or domestic corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, whether for profit or not, against expenses (including attorney fees), judgments, penalties, fines and amounts paid in settlement actually and reasonably incurred by him or her in connection with the action, suit or proceeding, if the person acted in good faith and in a manner he or she reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the corporation or its shareholders, and with respect to a criminal action or proceeding, if the person had no reasonable cause to believe his or her conduct was unlawful. The termination of an action, suit or proceeding by judgment, order, settlement or conviction, or upon a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent, does not, of itself, create a presumption that the person did not act in good faith and in a manner which he or she reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the corporation or its shareholders, and, with respect to a criminal action or proceeding, had reasonable cause to believe that his or her conduct was unlawful.

Indemnification of expenses (including attorney fees) and amounts paid in settlement is permitted in derivative actions, except that indemnification is not allowed for any claim, issue or matter in which such person has been found liable to the corporation unless and to the extent that a court decides indemnification is proper. To the extent that a director or officer has been successful on the merits or otherwise in defense of an action, suit or proceeding, or in defense of a claim, issue or matter in the action, suit or proceeding, he or she shall be indemnified against actual and reasonable expenses (including attorney fees) incurred by him or her in connection with the action, suit or proceeding, and any action, suit or proceeding brought to enforce the mandatory indemnification provided under the MBCA. The MBCA permits partial indemnification for a portion of expenses (including reasonable attorney fees), judgments, penalties, fines and amounts paid in settlement to the extent the person is entitled to indemnification for less than the total amount.

Under the MBCA, a corporation may pay or reimburse the reasonable expenses incurred by a director, officer, employee or agent who is a party or threatened to be made a party to an action, suit or proceeding in advance of final disposition of the proceeding if (i) the person furnishes the corporation a written affirmation of his or her good faith belief that he or she has met the applicable standard of conduct, and (ii) the person furnishes the corporation a written undertaking to repay the advance if it is ultimately determined that he or she did not meet the standard of conduct, which undertaking need not be secured.

The indemnification provisions of the MBCA are not exclusive of the rights to indemnification under a corporation's articles of incorporation or bylaws or by agreement. The indemnification provided for under the MBCA continues as to a person who ceases to be a director, officer, employee or agent.

Item 21. Exhibits and Financial Statements

The exhibits listed below in the Exhibit Index are part of this Registration Statement and are numbered in accordance with Item 601 of Regulation S-K.

Item 22. Undertakings

The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes that, for purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, each filing of the registrant's annual report pursuant to section 13(a) or section 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (and, where applicable, each filing of an employee benefit plan's annual report pursuant to section 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934) that is incorporated by reference in the registration statement shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes to deliver or cause to be delivered with the prospectus, to each person to whom the prospectus is sent or given, the latest annual report to security holders that is incorporated by reference in the prospectus and furnished pursuant to and meeting the requirements of Rule 14a-3 or Rule 14c-3 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934; and, where interim financial information required to be presented by Article 3 of Regulation S-X are not set forth in the prospectus, to deliver, or cause to be delivered to each person to whom the prospectus is sent or given, the latest quarterly report that is specifically incorporated by reference in the prospectus to provide such interim financial information.

The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes as follows: that prior to any public reoffering of the securities registered hereunder through use of a prospectus which is a part of this registration statement, by any person or party who is deemed to be an underwriter within the meaning of Rule 145(c) under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, the issuer undertakes that such reoffering prospectus will contain the information called for by the applicable registration form with respect to reofferings by persons who may be deemed underwriters, in addition to the information called for by the other items of the applicable form.

The registrant undertakes that every prospectus: (i) that is filed pursuant to the immediately preceding paragraph, or (ii) that purports to meet the requirements of Section 10(a)(3) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and is used in connection with an offering of securities subject to Rule 415, will be filed as a part of an amendment to the registration statement and will not be used until such amendment is effective, and that, for purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, each such post-effective amendment shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

Insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act of 1933 may be permitted to directors, officers and controlling persons of the registrant pursuant to the foregoing provisions, or otherwise, the registrant has been advised that in the opinion of the Securities and Exchange Commission such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Securities Act of 1933 and is, therefore, unenforceable. In the event that a claim for indemnification against such liabilities (other than the payment by the registrant of expenses incurred or paid by a director, officer or controlling person of the registrant in the successful defense of any action, suit or proceeding) is asserted by such director, officer or controlling person in connection with the securities being registered, the registrant will, unless in the opinion of its counsel the matter has been settled by controlling precedent, submit to a court of appropriate jurisdiction the question whether such indemnification by it is against public policy as expressed in the Securities Act of 1933 and will be governed by the final adjudication of such issue.

The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes to respond to requests for information that is incorporated by reference into the prospectus pursuant to Items 4, 10(b), 11, or 13 of this Form, within one business day of receipt of such request, and to send the incorporated documents by first class mail or other equally prompt means. This includes information contained in documents filed subsequent to the effective date of the registration statement through the date of responding to the request.

The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes to supply by means of a post-effective amendment all information concerning a transaction, and the company being acquired involved therein, that was not the subject of and included in the registration statement when it became effective.
