Item 1.01. Conflict Minerals Disclosure and Report

The Gorman-Rupp Company (the Company or Gorman-Rupp ) has evaluated its current product lines and determined that certain products that we manufacture contain small amounts of tin, tungsten, tantalum, or gold, which are defined as Conflict Minerals by the United States Securities and Exchange Commission, that are necessary to the functionality or production of these products. Accordingly, Gorman-Rupp is filing this disclosure along with a Conflict Minerals Report to disclose the measures the Company has taken to determine if the Conflict Minerals contained in such products originated in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and nine adjoining countries ( Covered Countries ).

Conflict Minerals Disclosure

We undertook due diligence measures, including surveying our direct material suppliers via an industry-standard survey template for Conflict Minerals, to try to determine the sources of these minerals, which we purchase through a complex supply chain.

Currently, we have not been able to obtain sufficient information from our suppliers or other sources to determine the country of origin of the Conflict Minerals used in our products or identify the facilities used to process these Conflict Minerals. Therefore, we cannot exclude the possibility that some of these Conflict Minerals may have originated in the Democratic Republic of the Congo or an adjoining country and are not from recycled or scrap sources.

A copy of Gorman-Rupp's Conflict Minerals Report for the reporting period from January 1, 2013 to December 31, 2013 is filed as Exhibit 1.02 hereto and is publicly available at www.gormanrupp.com under the heading Investor Relations then Corporate Governance .
