Subject: Creating an enterprise solutions powerhouse

I am thrilled to let you know that Dell has announced a definitive agreement to acquire EMC, including a controlling interest in VMware. The combination of Dell and EMC creates an enterprise solutions powerhouse bringing our customers industry-leading innovation across their entire technology environment.

For me, this is an incredible possibility. So many of us have worked alongside each other for years and some of us for decades. We've raised our children together as part of the Dell family. We've shared in each other's success and we've built a company that has changed the world. Now, by combining with EMC, we will become the leading force in enterprise technology infrastructure.

Our combined company will be incredibly well-positioned for growth in the most strategic areas of next generation IT including Digital Transformation, Software Defined Data Center, Converged Infrastructure, Cloud and Security. We are extremely advantaged by having a foundation to build upon that features two of the world's greatest technology franchises with leadership positions in Servers, Storage, Virtualization and PCs.

The company will be financially strong. We are bringing together Dell's strength in small-businesses and the mid-market with EMC's strength in large enterprises. Together, we can serve customers better and fuel innovation across our end-to-end portfolio of solutions and across customer segments to generate significant cash flows. In fact, the expected revenue synergies of our combination are three-times the cost synergies. This is all about opportunity, growth and innovation. We will be positioned to meet our obligations and continue to invest for the long term success of your organization.

Being privately-controlled will provide the same freedoms that Dell enjoys today. The freedom to invest in a future that lies beyond the next quarter. The freedom to pursue a consistent technology strategy. The freedom to accelerate our innovation. The freedom to streamline decision making and eliminate onerous processes. The freedom to have 100% customer focus in everything we do and to let what's best for the customer be our only motivation.

To give you some high level insight into our plans, we believe a strategically-aligned family of businesses will best drive innovation, customer choice and the ability to attract and retain world-class talent. Dell and EMC are both companies that have a demonstrated ability to win in fast-changing markets, and that will only accelerate from here. This structure is a great platform for continuing to incubate our most promising solutions and elevate those capabilities for the benefit of our customers and partners. Together, we will accelerate the pace of customer-driven innovation.

Being privately controlled along with our investments in R&D and innovation will give us unmatched scale, strength and flexibility. I am excited to work with the EMC, VMware, Pivotal, VCE, VirtuStream and RSA teams, and I am personally committed to the success of our new company.

Together, for the last 32 years, we have built Dell into one of the world's greatest technology solution providers, and now, we stand at the precipice of a defining moment in our history. A Dell and EMC combination will create enormous opportunity for our technology leadership, for our customers and partners, and for our team.
