Item 8.01. Other Events.

Collaboration Update - Ophthotech

In November 2014, we entered into a research and exclusive option agreement with Ophthotech Corporation (Ophthotech) pursuant to which we provided Ophthotech an exclusive option to enter into a definitive license agreement whereby we would grant Ophthotech the right to develop and commercialize tivozanib outside of Asia and the Middle East for the potential diagnosis, prevention and treatment of non-oncologic diseases or conditions of the eye in humans. Pursuant to this option agreement, we granted to Ophthotech an exclusive, royalty-free license or sublicense, as applicable, under intellectual property rights controlled by us solely to perform the research and development activities related to the use of tivozanib for the specific purposes outlined in the agreement during the option period. These activities include formulation work for ocular administration, preclinical research and the conduct of a phase 1/2a proof-of-concept clinical trial of a product containing tivozanib in patients with wet age-related macular degeneration. Under the option agreement, we are entitled to receive, among other potential payments, a one-time milestone payment of $6.0 million on December 31, 2016; provided, however, that the milestone payment will not be payable if Ophthotech gives us a notice of termination of the option agreement within thirty (30) days after December 31, 2016. We have not yet received the milestone payment, and although we have not received formal notice of termination of the option agreement from Ophthotech, we have been informed verbally by Ophthotech that it is not going to be able to move forward with the development of tivozanib.

Litigation Update

As previously disclosed, the Company is party to two outstanding litigations stemming from disclosures surrounding the Company's failed application to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (the FDA) for approval of tivozanib in 2012-2013.

Derivative Suit (Van Ingen, Civil Action No. 1:14-cv-11672-DJC). In April 2014, Karen J. van Ingen, a purported purchaser of AVEO stock, filed a derivative complaint allegedly on behalf of AVEO in the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts (the Court). The complaint, filed against the Company and present and former members of the Company's board of directors, alleged breach of fiduciary duty and abuse of control between January 2012 and May 2013 with respect to allegedly misleading statements and omissions regarding tivozanib.

On December 19, 2016, the Court held a final settlement hearing on the terms of the proposed settlement, consisting of certain corporate governance changes and other non-monetary relief, and to consider the award of fees to the plaintiff's attorneys. No objections to the settlement were filed with the Court or raised at the hearing.

At the hearing, the Court indicated orally that the settlement will be approved. A formal approval order has not yet entered. The Court did not yet rule on the final amount of fees for the plaintiff's attorneys. The Company expects that such attorney's fees will be paid by insurance in the amount ordered by the Court. Until a formal approval order has been entered, there can be no complete assurance that the Court will approve the settlement.

Class Action (In re AVEO Pharmaceuticals, Inc. Securities Litigation et al., No. 1:13-cv-11157-DJC). The United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts on January 3, 2017, vacated the dismissal of the purported class action lawsuit brought against the Company and certain of its former officers and members of its board of directors (Tuan Ha-Ngoc, David N. Johnston, and William Slichenmyer). The operative complaint in the action purported to be brought on behalf of shareholders who purchased the Company's common stock between May 16, 2012 and May 1, 2013, and generally alleged that the Company and certain of its present and former officers and directors violated Sections 10(b) and/or 20(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule 10b-5 promulgated thereunder by making allegedly false and/or misleading statements concerning the phase 3 trial design and results for the Company's TIVO-1 study in an effort to lead investors to believe that the drug would receive approval from the FDA. The lawsuit seeks unspecified damages, interest, and attorneys' fees. The Company denies any allegation of wrongdoing and intends to continue to vigorously defend against this lawsuit. However, there is no assurance that the Company will be successful in its defense or that insurance will be available or adequate to fund any settlement or judgment or the litigation costs of the action. Moreover, the Company is unable to predict the outcome or reasonably estimate a range of possible loss at this time.
