On February 17, 2011, the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of the State of New York issued a decision in the pending appeal of the trial court's judgment in favor of Loral Space & Communications Inc. ("Loral" or the "Company") on its claim for coverage under directors and officers liability insurance policies for the approximately $19.4 million that the Company paid to counsel for the plaintiffs in the Delaware shareholder litigation relating to the Company's sale in 2007 of $300 million of preferred stock to certain funds affiliated with MHR Fund Management LLC (the "Delaware Plaintiffs' Fee Awards"). The Appellate Division ruled that Loral is entitled to coverage for approximately $8.8 million of the Delaware Plaintiffs' Fee Awards, representing the fees and expenses paid to counsel for the plaintiffs who filed the derivative claims in the case. Pursuant to the previously disclosed Settlement Agreement between the parties, the insurers have already paid $5.0 million of the covered amount, and will be obligated to pay the remaining approximately $3.8 million of the covered amount, plus prejudgment interest and attorneys' fees of approximately $2.2 million, within 30 days of entry of judgment based on the Appellate Division's ruling.

The insurers and the Company will each have 30 days from the entry of judgment to file or seek to file an appeal of the Appellate Division's ruling. There can be no assurance that, if there is a further appeal, the Company's position regarding coverage for the Delaware Plaintiffs' Fee Awards, or any portion thereof, will prevail.
