This Amendment No. 3 to our Form 8-A amends and restates Amendment No. 2 in its entirety.

Item 1: Description of Registrant's Securities to be Registered

Our authorized capital stock consists of 800 million shares of common stock, $1.00 par value per share, and two million shares of preferred stock, $25.00 par value per share. As of June 30, 2009, 101,072,113 shares of our common stock and 9,434 shares of our preferred stock were outstanding. Our common stock is listed for trading on the New York Stock Exchange and the Berlin Stock Exchange. The discussion below summarizes certain terms of our common and preferred stock and applicable provisions of Louisiana law, but is not complete. You should read it together with our Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws and the applicable provisions of the Louisiana Business Corporation Law. Our Articles and Bylaws are incorporated by reference as exhibits to this Amendment No. 3.

Preferred Stock

Blank Check Powers

We may, without further action of the shareholders, issue up to two million shares of preferred stock in one or more series. The Board of Directors may fix or determine the designations, preferences and rights of each series of preferred stock, including each of the following:

- the designation of each series;
- the number of shares initially constituting each series;
- the dividend rate and conditions and the dividend preferences, if any, in respect of the common stock and among the series of preferred stock;
- whether, and upon what terms, the preferred stock may be converted into or exchanged for any other securities of CenturyTel;
- whether, and to what extent, holders of the series will have voting rights;
- the restrictions, if any, upon the issue or reissue of additional shares of preferred stock;
- whether and how CenturyTel may redeem the shares (including sinking fund provisions); and
- the liquidation preferences, if any, in respect of the common stock and among the series of preferred stock.

The issuance of shares of preferred stock could have the effect of decreasing the market price of our shares of common stock, impeding or delaying a possible takeover or adversely affecting the voting or other rights of the holders of shares of our common stock. See "Laws and Organizational Document Provisions with Possible Antitakeover Effects – Unissued Stock."

Dividend Rights

Under our Articles, we may not declare or pay a full dividend for any quarterly dividend period on any series of preferred stock, unless we concurrently declare or pay a full dividend on all series of preferred stock outstanding. Additionally, we must pay in full any accumulated dividends accrued or in arrears on any preferred shares before we may pay any full dividend on any other series of preferred stock. If we pay less than a full dividend, we must distribute the dividend among the preferred shares for which dividends are accrued or in arrears in proportion to the amounts that would have otherwise been distributed if full cumulative dividends had previously been paid.

Series L Shares

As of June 30, 2009, none of our preferred stock was outstanding other than 9,434 shares of our Series L preferred stock. The outstanding Series L shares are convertible, at the option of the holders of such shares, into a total of approximately 12,864 shares of common stock.

The Series L preferred shareholders vote as one class with the common shareholders. Each share of Series L preferred stock entitles the holder to one vote on all matters submitted to a vote of shareholders. Upon CenturyTel's dissolution or liquidation, the Series L preferred shareholders are entitled to receive a per share amount equal to $25.00 plus any unpaid and accumulated dividends thereon. The Series L preferred shareholders do not have the preemptive right to subscribe to any additional stock we may issue. There is no trading market for the Series L preferred stock, and it is unlikely that one will develop in the foreseeable future.

Common Stock

The rights of our common shareholders are subject to, and may be adversely affected by, the rights of the holders of shares of our preferred stock that is currently outstanding or that we may issue in the future.

Dividend Rights

The common shareholders are entitled to receive any dividends that may be declared by the Board, in its discretion, out of legally available funds.

Voting Rights

Each share of common stock entitles the holder to one vote with respect to each matter properly submitted to the shareholders for their vote, consent, waiver, release or other action. The common shareholders do not have cumulative voting rights. As a result, the holders of more than 50% of the voting power may elect all of the directors if they so desire.

Liquidation Rights

Upon CenturyTel's dissolution or liquidation, common shareholders will receive their pro rata share of all remaining assets after payment of all debts, obligations and other liabilities, including the preferential rights of our preferred shareholders to receive the liquidating distributions described above.

Preemptive Rights

Common shareholders do not have the preemptive right to subscribe to any additional stock we may issue.

Laws and Organizational Document Provisions with Possible Antitakeover Effects

Under Louisiana law, corporations may include provisions in their articles of incorporation that are intended to encourage any person desiring to acquire a controlling interest in the corporation to negotiate with the corporation's directors rather than attempt a hostile takeover. These provisions are intended to ensure that any acquisition of the corporation will be reviewed by the corporation's incumbent board, who can then take into account, among other things, the interests of the corporation's shareholders. However, some shareholders may find these provisions to be disadvantageous because they could limit or preclude meaningful shareholder participation in certain transactions. Furthermore, these provisions may discourage takeovers in which shareholders would receive a price for their shares that is higher than the prevailing market price at the time the takeover attempt is commenced. Finally, these provisions may also discourage proxy contests, the acquisition of a large block of the corporation's voting stock, or other attempts to influence or replace the corporation's current management.

Our Articles contain provisions that are designed to ensure meaningful participation of the Board in connection with proposed takeovers. Moreover, Louisiana has adopted statutes that regulate takeover attempts. Set forth below is a discussion of the provisions of the Louisiana Business Corporation Law and our Articles and Bylaws that may affect the incidence and outcome of takeover attempts. The terms "related person," "continuing director," "business combination" and "total voting power" have specific meanings under our Articles which are useful in understanding this discussion. These meanings are included at the end of this Item 1.

Board of Directors Provisions

Classified Board of Directors. Our Board is divided into three classes of directors, with each class serving staggered three-year terms. Each class is required to be as nearly equal in number as possible.

Our classified Board helps ensure the continuity and stability of our management and policies since a majority of our directors at any given time will have served on the Board for at least one year. However, this board structure also makes it more difficult to elect a majority of new directors, and may discourage a proxy contest. Absent a removal of directors, at least two annual shareholder meetings would generally be necessary to change a majority of the Board. Therefore, our classified board structure will tend to perpetuate existing management. In addition, it may discourage tender offers or other acquisitions of our stock which shareholders may believe would be in their best interests.

Removal of Directors. Under our Articles, the shareholders may remove any director, only for cause, at any meeting of the shareholders called for such purpose, by the affirmative vote of:

- a majority of the total voting power of all shareholders; and at any time there is a related person, a majority of the total voting power of all shareholders other than the related person, voting as a separate group.

This provision of our Articles precludes a third party from gaining control of the Board by removing incumbent directors without cause and filling the vacancies with its own nominees. Without this provision, under Louisiana law directors could be removed, with or without cause, by a majority of the total voting power at any special shareholders' meeting called for that purpose. Therefore, a party holding or controlling the requisite vote could circumvent the classified board structure by calling a special shareholders' meeting, removing the incumbent directors, and electing its own slate of directors. Our Articles protect the classified board structure against such action. However, this protection could also limit the power of shareholders to remove incumbent directors under circumstances where this may be in CenturyTel's best interests.

Vacancies. Under Louisiana law, any vacancy on the board of directors may be filled by the remaining directors, subject to the right of the shareholders to fill the vacancy. For example, if the board of directors increases the authorized number of directors by two directors, the board can elect two additional directors to fill the resulting vacancies, subject to the right of the shareholders to fill them. Under our Articles, a change in the number of directors may not be made without, among other things, the approval of 80% of the directors. Moreover, vacancies on the Board may be filled only by the Board by a vote of both a majority of the directors and a majority of the continuing directors, as defined below. These provisions will likely prevent a third party from gaining control of our Board by increasing the number of directors and filling the resulting vacancies with its own nominees.

Restrictions on Shareholder Action by Unanimous Consent

Under Louisiana law, unless a corporation's articles provide otherwise, any vote that could be taken by shareholders at an annual or special meeting may be taken instead without a meeting if a consent in writing is signed by all of the holders of the outstanding voting stock. Our Articles provide that shareholder action may be taken only at an annual or special meeting of shareholders, and may not be taken by written consent of the shareholders. This provision prevents consent solicitations by persons desiring to acquire CenturyTel or change the composition of our Board.

Restrictions on Convening Shareholder Meetings

Under Louisiana law, shareholders holding 20% of a corporation's voting power may call a special shareholders' meeting. This 20% threshold may be increased or decreased in the corporation's articles or in a shareholder-approved bylaw. Our Articles provide that holders of at least a majority of our total voting power are entitled to call a special meeting of shareholders. This higher threshold substantially reduces the ability of insurgent shareholders to call a special meeting between annual meetings.

Fair Price Provisions

Supermajority Vote Requirements. Our Articles contain provisions designed to provide safeguards for our shareholders when a related person attempts to effect a business combination with us. In general, a business combination between CenturyTel and a related person must be approved by:

- a majority of the directors;
- a majority of the continuing directors;
- 80% of the total voting power of all shareholders; and
- 66-2/3% of the total voting power of shareholders, other than the related person, present or represented at the shareholders' meeting.

Exceptions to Supermajority Vote Requirements. These voting requirements do not apply to any business combination that is approved in advance by a majority of the directors and a majority of the continuing directors or satisfies certain minimum price, form of consideration, and procedural requirements. In such cases, only the affirmative vote of 66-2/3% of the total voting power present or represented at a shareholders' meeting is required to approve the business combination. The following sections describe the minimum price, form of consideration and procedural requirements.

- Minimum Price Requirement. The cash or the fair market value of the consideration to be received per share by our shareholders in connection with any business combination must be no less than the "highest purchase price".

The "highest purchase price," in the case of consideration received by our common shareholders, must at least equal the highest of:

- (a) the highest per share price, including certain commissions, transfer taxes, and fees, paid by the related person for any of our common stock within the two-year period immediately prior to the announcement date of the business combination or in the transaction in which that person became a related person;

(b) the market value per share of our common stock on the date the business combination is announced or on the date that the related person became a related person, whichever is higher; or

(c) the price per share equal to the market value of our common stock as determined under sub-item (b) above, multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the highest price per share, including certain commissions, transfer taxes, and fees, paid by a related person for any of our common stock within a two-year period immediately prior to the announcement date of the business combination, and the denominator of which is the market value per share of our common stock on the first day in the two-year period on which the related person acquired any of our common stock.

In the case of consideration received by holders of any series of our preferred stock, the “highest purchase price” must at least equal the higher of:

(a) the highest purchase price determined in the manner set forth above for our common stock, except that the calculation shall be based on the per share purchase price or market value of preferred stock acquired by the related person; or

(b) the highest preferential amount per share to which the holders of the series of preferred stock would be entitled to receive upon our liquidation.

- Form of Consideration Requirements. The consideration paid to the holders of any class or series of our stock must be in cash or in the same form as other consideration previously paid by the related person in acquiring its shares of that class or series of stock.

- Procedural Requirements. Subject to certain exceptions, the following procedural requirements must be satisfied at all times after a related person becomes a related person and prior to the completion of a business combination:

- there shall have been no failure to declare and pay timely any periodic dividends on any outstanding preferred stock;

- there shall have been:

- no reduction in the annual rate of dividends paid on the common stock, except as necessary to reflect any stock split or stock dividend; and

- no failure to increase the annual rate of dividends as necessary to reflect any reclassification or other transaction which has the effect of reducing the number of outstanding common shares;

- the related person shall not have become the beneficial owner of any additional shares of our capital stock except as part of the transaction which resulted in the related person becoming a related person or by virtue of proportionate stock splits or stock dividends; and

- the related person shall not have received the benefit, except proportionately as a shareholder, of any loans, advances, guarantees, pledges, tax credits, or other financial assistance provided by us or any of our subsidiaries.

Effects of Fair Price Provisions. The fair price provisions contained in our Articles are designed to prevent a purchaser from utilizing two-tier pricing and similar inequitable tactics in an attempted takeover. Without fair price provisions, a purchaser who acquired control of CenturyTel in a “first tier” transaction could compel minority shareholders in a “second tier” transaction to accept a lower price or less desirable form of consideration than that given to other shareholders. These provisions encourage potential purchasers to extend their offers to all shareholders and to negotiate the transaction with our Board prior to acquiring a substantial amount of our stock.

These provisions may make it more costly for a purchaser to acquire control of CenturyTel because they require higher percentage requirements for shareholder approval, and they may cause the purchaser to pay a higher price to other shareholders. Thus, our Articles may discourage such purchases, particularly those for less than all of CenturyTel, and may therefore deprive our shareholders of an opportunity to sell their stock at attractive prices. You should be aware that tender offers are usually made at premium prices above prevailing market prices and that acquisitions of large blocks of stock may cause the market price of the stock to increase. These provisions would not necessarily discourage persons who would be willing to acquire a controlling interest and to forego a “second tier” transaction.

Under the fair price provisions, a proposed business combination that might be attractive to some shareholders might never be completed. Due to the supermajority voting requirements imposed by these provisions, it may be difficult for a related person to secure the necessary shareholder approvals without the support of management and employee shareholders. In addition, a related person may be unable, as a practical matter, to comply with all of the procedural requirements of our Articles. In certain instances, the fair price provisions, while providing objective pricing criteria, could be arbitrary and not indicative of market value. In each of these circumstances, a potential purchaser would be forced either to negotiate with the continuing directors and offer terms acceptable to them or abandon the proposed business combination.

Because a purchaser may feel compelled to retain our continuing directors to authorize transactions that would otherwise be subject to a supermajority shareholder vote or the application of the minimum price, form of consideration and procedural standards, our Articles may also tend to insulate management against the possibility of removal in the event of a takeover bid.

Louisiana has adopted a fair price statute that provides for protections substantially similar to those afforded under our Articles. We have formally claimed the benefits of this statute, but have indicated that the statute will not apply to any business combination involving a related person that is one of our employee benefit plans or a related trust.

Louisiana Control Share Statute

The Louisiana Control Share Statute limits the voting power of shares of certain publicly-traded Louisiana corporations acquired by a person or group, other than an employee benefit plan or related trust of the corporation, in an acquisition that causes the acquiror to have the power to vote the shares in an election of directors in excess of 20%, 33-1/3%, or 50% thresholds. Under the statute, these shares have only the voting power as is granted by the vote of the holders of a majority of the votes of each voting group entitled to vote on the proposal, excluding all shares as to which the acquiror, any officer of the corporation and any director of the corporation who is also an employee of the corporation may exercise or direct the exercise of voting power. This vote will occur at a meeting that is required to be called for that purpose upon the acquiror’s request. The corporation has the right to redeem the acquiror’s shares for fair value if:

- the acquiror fails to comply with certain specified notice requirements; or
- the shareholders vote against granting voting rights to the shares obtained by the acquiror.

The statute establishes a referendum format by which disinterested shareholders may demonstrate their support or opposition to a proposed share acquisition by voting either to grant or deny voting rights to the acquiror. On the one hand, the possibility that the voting rights of the acquiror's shares might be denied may encourage the acquiror to negotiate a non-hostile acquisition with the board of directors. On the other hand, acquirors that commence a tender offer at a price in excess of prevailing market values may be able to obtain the shareholder vote necessary to grant voting power to his or her shares. This would significantly reduce the pressure on the acquiror to negotiate with the board and may reduce the willingness of the board to oppose the transaction.

The statute permits a company to amend its articles or bylaws to exclude future acquisitions of the company's stock from the statute's application. In 1995, we amended our Bylaws to provide that the statute does not apply to acquisitions of our common stock. Subject to any required regulatory approvals, we may at any time opt back into the statute by rescinding our 1995 Bylaw amendment.

Evaluation of Tender Offers

Our Board is required by our Articles, and expressly permitted by Louisiana law, to consider each of the following factors when evaluating a business combination, tender or exchange offer, or a proposal by another person to make a tender or exchange offer:

- the adequacy of the consideration to be paid;

• the social and economic effects of the transaction on CenturyTel and our subsidiaries as well as on our respective employees, customers, creditors, and other elements of the communities in which we operate or are located;

• the business and financial condition and the earnings prospects of the acquiring party, including, but not limited to, debt service and other existing or likely obligations of the acquiring party, and the possible effect of these conditions on CenturyTel and our subsidiaries and other elements of the communities in which we are located; and

- the competence, experience, and integrity of the acquiring person and its management.

One effect of this provision may be to discourage, in advance, an acquisition proposal. Often, an offeror consults the board of a target corporation prior to or after commencing a tender or exchange offer in an attempt to prevent a contest from developing. Our provision will strengthen the position of the Board in dealing with any potential offeror which might attempt to impose a takeover. This provision may also dissuade shareholders who might potentially be displeased with the Board's response to an acquisition proposal from filing suit against the Board.

The obligation of the Board to consider the above-listed factors could cause the Board to oppose a transaction that some shareholders might view as being economically attractive. In some cases, opposition by the Board might have the effect of maintaining the position of incumbent management.

Unissued Stock

As discussed above, we are authorized, without action of the shareholders, to issue preferred stock. One of the effects of the existence of undesignated preferred stock and authorized, but unissued, common stock may be to enable the Board to make more difficult or to discourage an attempt to obtain control and thereby protect the continuity of management. If, in the due exercise of its fiduciary obligations, the Board were to determine that a takeover proposal was not in our best interest, the Board could issue such shares without shareholder approval in one or more transactions that might prevent or discourage the completion of the takeover transaction by:

- diluting the voting or other rights of the proposed acquiror or insurgent shareholder group;

- creating a substantial voting block that might undertake to support the position of the incumbent Board; or
 - effecting an acquisition that might complicate or preclude the takeover, or otherwise.

In this regard, our Articles grant the Board broad power to establish the rights and preferences of the authorized and unissued preferred stock. Our Board may grant to the holders of the preferred stock the power to:

- vote separately as a class on any proposed merger or consolidation;
- elect directors having terms of office or voting rights greater than those of other directors;
- convert their preferred stock into a greater number of shares of common stock or other securities;
- demand redemption of their shares at a specified price under prescribed circumstances related to a change of control; or
- exercise other rights designed to impede a takeover.

The issuance of shares of preferred stock may adversely affect the rights of our common shareholders.

Indemnification and Exculpation

Subject to certain exceptions, under our Bylaws we will indemnify and hold harmless any current or former director or officer of CenturyTel or any of our subsidiaries against expenses, attorney's fees, fees of experts retained by attorneys, judgments, punitive or exemplary damages, fines, and amounts paid in settlement incurred by any such indemnified party in connection with any action involving the indemnified party provided that:

- the indemnified party is successful in defense of the action;
- members of the Board who are not parties to the action, or independent legal counsel, determine that the indemnified party acted in good faith and what he or she reasonably believed to be in, or not opposed to, CenturyTel's best interests; or
- in the case of a criminal action, members of the Board who are not parties to the action, or independent legal counsel, determine that the indemnified party had no reasonable cause to believe that his or her actions were unlawful.

Furthermore, we may advance expenses to the indemnified party provided that he or she agrees to repay those amounts if it is later determined that he or she is not entitled to indemnification.

We have entered into indemnification contracts providing contracting directors or officers the procedural and substantive rights to indemnification set forth in our Bylaws. These indemnification contracts apply to all covered claims, whether arising before or after the effective date of the contract.

We currently maintain an insurance policy covering the liability of our directors and officers for actions taken in their official capacity. Under the indemnification contracts, to the extent insurance is reasonably available, we have agreed to maintain comparable insurance coverage for each contracting party as long as he or she serves as an officer or director and thereafter for so long as he or she is subject to personal liability for actions taken in such official capacities.

Our Articles also include a provision that eliminates the personal liability of a director or officer to CenturyTel and our shareholders for monetary damages resulting from their breaches of the duty of care to the full extent permitted by Louisiana law as currently in effect. The Articles further provide that any amendment or repeal of this provision will not affect the elimination of liability accorded to any director or officer for acts or omissions occurring prior to the amendment or repeal.

The indemnification and exculpation provisions described above may discourage shareholders from bringing a lawsuit against directors or officers for breach of their fiduciary duty. These provisions may also have the effect of reducing the likelihood of derivative litigation against directors and officers, even though such an action, if successful, might otherwise benefit us and our shareholders. In addition, our shareholders' investment may be adversely affected to the extent that, in a class action or direct suit, we pay the costs of settlement and damage awards against directors and officers pursuant to these indemnification provisions.

Amendment of the Articles and Bylaws

Various provisions of the Articles, including the classified board provisions, fair price provisions and those provisions limiting the ability of shareholders to act by written consent, may not be amended except upon the affirmative vote of both:

- 80% of the total voting power of all shareholders; and

66-2/3% of the total voting power of shareholders, other than a related person, present or represented at a shareholders' meeting, voting as a separate group.

However, the affirmative vote of the holders of only a majority of the total voting power is required if the amendments were first adopted by both a majority of the directors and a majority of the continuing directors, voting as a separate group.

The Articles provide that the Bylaws may be adopted, amended, or repealed and new Bylaws may be adopted by:

- a majority of the Board and a majority of the continuing directors, voting as a separate group; or the holders of at least 80% of the total voting power of all shareholders and 66-2/3% of the total voting power of shareholders, other than the related person, present or duly represented at a shareholders' meeting, voting as a separate group.

The multiple votes required to amend the Articles or Bylaws may discourage a potential purchaser of our capital stock from making market purchases, initiating a tender offer, or entering into a proxy contest in which the ability to make fundamental changes through article or bylaw amendments is an important element of its strategy.

Advance Notification of Nominations and Other Matters

To nominate a director or submit a proposal for consideration at a shareholders' meeting, a shareholder must provide CenturyTel with advance written notice. To be timely the shareholder must provide CenturyTel with written notice not less than 90 days nor more than 180 days prior to the anniversary date of the previous year's annual meeting.

The notice must contain the name, age, and address of the shareholder proposing the action and any persons acting in concert with the shareholder. The shareholder must include a representation that it is a holder of record and intends to appear at the meeting in person to make the nomination or propose the specified matter. In the case of nominations for directors, the notice must also include each of the following:

- the name, age, address, and principal occupation of each nominee;
 - a description of all arrangements between the nominating shareholder and each nominee;
 - class and number of shares of capital stock of CenturyTel of which the nominee is a beneficial owner;
 - other information required to be included in a proxy statement pursuant to the federal proxy rules; and
- the consent of each nominee to serve as director of the company, if elected, and an affidavit that the nominee meets all applicable qualifications to serve as a director.

In the case of other proposed business, the shareholder's notice must set forth a description of the business, the reasons for conducting the business at the meeting, and any material interest that the shareholder has in the proposed business. The chairman of the shareholders' meeting has the power to disregard any nomination or other matter that does not comply with these procedures.

Additionally, we may disregard proposals of matters other than the nomination of directors that:

- are substantially the same as a prior proposal to be voted on at the upcoming meeting;
- deal with substantially the same subject matter as a prior proposal that was voted upon within the preceding five years and which failed to receive affirmative votes in excess of certain specified levels; or
- in the judgment of the Board, are not proper subjects for action by shareholders under Louisiana law.

The restrictions on director nominations make it easier for our current directors to obtain advance notice of competing nominations. Additionally, they make it more difficult for a purchaser of a significant block of our stock to assume control through the removal of directors, eliminate the possibility of unexpected nominations for directors at shareholders' meetings, and limit the ability of our shareholders to cause sudden changes in the membership of the Board. Similarly, the restrictions on shareholder proposals make it easier for us to control the topics brought before a shareholders' meeting and may make it more difficult for shareholders to influence corporate actions and policy.

11 Defined Terms

These terms have the following meanings under our Articles:

(1) A "related person" is any person who:

is the beneficial owner of capital stock representing 10% or more of the total voting power entitled to vote for the election of directors, and any affiliate of any such person; or is an affiliate of CenturyTel and at any time within the prior two years was the beneficial owner of capital stock representing 10% or more of the voting power. The term "beneficial owner" includes persons directly or indirectly owning or having the right to acquire or vote the stock.

A "related person" does not include CenturyTel, our subsidiaries, or any of our or our subsidiaries' employee benefit plans, or any trustee or fiduciary of any plan acting in that capacity.

(2) A “continuing director” is:

any member of the Board who is not affiliated with a related person and who was a CenturyTel director prior to the time the related person became a related person; and any successor to a continuing director who is not affiliated with the related person and is recommended to succeed a continuing director by a majority of the continuing directors then on the Board.

(3) A “business combination” includes the following transactions:

- any merger or consolidation of, or an exchange of securities by CenturyTel or any of our subsidiaries;
- any sale, lease, exchange, mortgage, pledge, transfer, or other disposition of any of our assets or of any of our subsidiaries having an aggregate book or fair market value of $1,000,000 or more;
- the adoption of a plan or proposal for the liquidation or dissolution of CenturyTel or any of our subsidiaries;
- the issuance or transfer by CenturyTel or any of our subsidiaries of securities having a fair market value of $1,000,000 or more;
- any reclassification of securities, recapitalization, consolidation or any other transaction which would increase the voting power or the proportionate share of any class of our outstanding stock or of a subsidiary held by a related person or any associate or affiliate of a related person;
- any loans, advances, guarantees, tax credits, or other financial assistance provided by CenturyTel or any of our subsidiaries to a related person or any associate or affiliate of a related person; or
- any agreement, contract, or other arrangement providing directly or indirectly for any of the above transactions.

(4) “Total voting power” is the total number of votes that holders of our common stock and our voting preferred stock are entitled to cast on a matter properly brought before the shareholders for their consideration and vote.
