As part of the same series of transactions, National acquired corresponding notes from Seneca and Highland in the amounts of $120,000,000, and $30,000,000, respectively. Seneca and Highland each used the proceeds from the sale of such notes to repay equivalent amounts of short-term debt. National has no preferred stock outstanding.

a. Short-term Debt

Edgar Filing: NATIONAL FUEL GAS CO - Form 35-CERT

The purpose of National's two Tax-Deferred Savings Plans is to encourage certain employees of National and of its Subsidiaries to provide for their retirement needs by providing opportunities for long-term capital accumulation, to promote ownership of National's common stock among certain employees, to provide an attractive employee benefit, and to keep National's employee benefit program competitive with programs offered by other corporations.

These plans were intended to provide an incentive to key employees to maximize the long-range profits, revenues, and financial integrity of National by increasing the personal stake of those employees in the continued success and growth of National, and by providing significant incentives to their continuation of employment at National and its Subsidiaries.
