RISK FACTORS

Our common stock involves a significant degree of risk. You should carefully consider the following risk factors and the other information contained or incorporated by reference in this annual report before investing in our common stock. Any of the following factors, depending upon the severity and circumstances of a particular occurrence, could result in a material adverse effect on our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations.

RISK OF MANUFACTURING IN CHINA

Our factory is in Tai Ping, Dongguan, People's Republic of China ("China") and our headquarters are in Hong Kong, which is a Special Administrative Region of China.

Risk of China Losing Normal Trade Relations Status or of Changes in Tariff or Trade Policies. We manufacture in China and export from Hong Kong and China to the United States and worldwide. Our products sold in the United States are currently not subject to U.S. import duties. On September 19, 2000, the U.S. Senate voted to permanently normalize trade with China, which provides a favorable category of U.S. import duties. In addition, on December 11, 2001 China was accepted into the World Trade Organization (WTO), a global international organization of 144 countries that regulates international trade.

As a result of opposition to certain policies of the Chinese government and China's growing trade surpluses with the United States, there has been, and in the future may be, opposition to the extension of Normal Trade Relations, or NTR, status for China. The loss of NTR status for China, changes in current tariff structures or adoption in the United States of other trade policies adverse to China could have an adverse effect on our business.

Chinese Political, Economic and Legal Risks. Our current and future operations in China and Hong Kong are highly dependent on the Chinese government's continued support of economic reform programs that encourage private investment, and particularly foreign private investment. Although the Chinese government has adopted an "open door" policy with respect to foreign investment, we cannot assure you that this policy will continue. A change in policies by the Chinese government could adversely affect our business by, among other things, imposing confiscatory taxation, restricting currency conversion, imports and sources of supplies, or expropriating private enterprises. Although the Chinese government has been pursuing economic reform policies for many years, we cannot assure you that the Chinese government will continue to pursue these policies or that these policies may not be significantly altered, especially in the event of a change in leadership or other social or political disruption.

Our production and shipping capabilities could be adversely affected by ongoing tensions between the Chinese and Taiwanese governments. In the event that Taiwan does not adopt a plan for unifying with China, the Chinese government has threatened military action against Taiwan. As of yet, Taiwan has not indicated that it intends to propose and adopt a reunification plan. If an invasion were to occur, our supply of components from Taiwanese suppliers, including computer processing units (CPUs), could be cut off, potentially limiting our production capabilities. Invasion could also lead to sanctions or military action by the U.S. and/or European countries, which could materially affect our sales to those countries.

China Does Not Have a Comprehensive System of Laws. Enforcement of existing laws in China may be sporadic and implementation and interpretation of laws may be inconsistent. The Chinese judiciary is relatively inexperienced in enforcing the laws that exist, leading to a higher than usual degree of uncertainty as to the outcome of any litigation. Even where adequate law exists in China, it may be impossible to obtain swift and equitable enforcement of such law, or to obtain enforcement of a judgment by a court of another jurisdiction.

Dependence on Local Government. We operate our factory in China under agreements with the local government. These agreements and our factory operations are dependent on our relationship with the local government and existing trade practices. This relationship could be subject to adverse change in the future, especially in the event of a change in leadership or other social or political disruption.

Chinese Taxation. In 2005, we incurred $587,760 in foreign enterprise tax relating to our Chinese subsidiary that is operated through a joint venture ("JV") contract. This is the seventh year we have paid foreign enterprise tax in China. We were granted 50% relief from foreign enterprise tax through December 31, 2001 under the Foreign Enterprise Income Tax Law of The People's Republic of China and were therefore taxed at 12%. In 2002 and 2003, we were taxed at the full rate of tax of 27%; however, we successfully applied to be designated as an "Export Oriented Enterprise", which resulted in a tax rebate received in 2005, 2004 and 2003 that reduced our China tax rate applicable to 2004, 2003 and 2002 to 12% excluding the local tax of 3%. The application to be designated as an "Export Oriented Enterprise" is required to be made on a yearly basis. We applied for the same designation for 2005 and if our application is successful, it will result in the receipt of a tax rebate in 2006 that will reduce our China tax applicable to 2005 to 12%.

The PRC assesses tax on us based on a JV contract. The JV contract is a JV with the local township that lasts through August 12, 2044 (inclusive of the contract renewal with respect to extension of the lease period for 20 years after its first expiration in 2024) and tax is payable quarterly based on tax rates determined upon entering the agreement.

The Chinese tax system is subject to substantial uncertainties and has been subject to recently enacted changes, the interpretation and enforcement of which are also uncertain. We cannot assure you that changes in Chinese tax laws, their interpretation or their application will not subject us to substantial Chinese taxes in the future. In addition, the negotiation and settlement of tax obligations with the local tax authorities are a normal occurrence.

Chinese Customs. Our Chinese subsidiary invoices the Macau entity which then invoices the Hong Kong, U.S. and U.K. entities for sales rendered. As required by Chinese customs and the Chinese tax authority in each jurisdiction, our Chinese subsidiary seeks to apply arms length pricing to this process. Should the customs or tax authority in any jurisdiction consider the pricing not to be arms-length, it may deem the prices charged to be different from those we have applied. If this decision were to be applied unilaterally, it could lead to an increase in our overall customs duties and taxes. In addition, we may have to expend resources in defending our position, irrespective of the outcome determined.

Chinese Value Added Tax (VAT). China's turnover tax system consists of value-added tax, or VAT, consumption tax and business tax. Export sales are exempted under VAT rules and an exporter who incurs input VAT on purchase or manufacture of goods should be able to claim a refund from Chinese tax authorities. However, due to a reduction in the VAT export refund rate of some goods, exporters might bear part of the VAT they incurred in conjunction with the exported goods. In 2003, changes to the Chinese Value Added Tax system were announced affecting the recoverability of input VAT beginning January 1, 2004. Our VAT expense will depend on the reaction of both our suppliers and customers. Continued efforts by the Chinese government to increase tax revenues could result in revisions to tax laws or their interpretation, which could increase our VAT and various tax liabilities. In addition from 2006 onwards the China customs authorities intend to change their method of calculating both import and export VAT which will increase our liability. It is also possible they could choose to make this change retroactive. If the change were to be made retroactive, it would be subject to negotiation with China customs at that time.

We establish provisions for our known and estimated customs duties and tax obligations. However, we may be exposed to additional taxation whether through a challenge by one of the many tax authorities in international jurisdictions of our transfer pricing, our claim regarding lack of permanent establishment, or other interpretations regarding our tax obligations.

Limited Infrastructure. Electricity, water, sewage, telephone and other infrastructure are limited in the locality of our factory. In the past, we have experienced temporary shortages of electricity and water supply. We have installed nine back-up electrical generators in our factory which can support it in the event of a power shortage and have constructed a water storage tank that was put into service in early 2005. We cannot assure you that the infrastructure on which our factory is dependent will be adequate to operate the factory successfully.

Availability of Factory Workers. Due to increases in demand for workers in southern China, we cannot assure you that we can adequately staff the factory. Labor shortages could have a material impact on production, which could lead to missed sales, increased air freight costs and vendor fines.

DEPENDENCE ON CURRENT PRODUCT APPEAL AND NEW PRODUCT INTRODUCTIONS

Our operating results depend largely upon the appeal of our products to consumers. Consumer preferences are highly subjective, and there can be no assurance that consumers will continue to find existing products appealing or will find new products appealing. Also, we continue to offer a relatively limited range of products that are all in the categories of electronic toys and games or video game accessories. This exposes us to the risks of any narrowly focused business. Changes in consumer preferences away from the kinds of products we offer could have an adverse effect on our business.

Some of our products have only recently been introduced and although they may experience good initial sales growth, we cannot assure you that this initial success is indicative of significant future sales. As a general matter, we expect that the sales of these products will eventually decline. We cannot predict how long the product life cycle will last for any product. Our long-term operating results will therefore depend largely upon our continued ability to conceive, develop and introduce new appealing products at competitive prices.

Once a new product is conceived, the principal steps to the introduction of the product include design, sourcing and testing of the electronic components, tooling, and purchase and design of graphics and packaging. At any stage in the process, there may be difficulties or delays in completing the necessary steps to meet the contemplated product introduction schedule. It is, for example, common in new product introductions or product revisions to encounter technical and other difficulties affecting manufacturing efficiency and, at times, the ability to manufacture at all, that will typically be corrected or improved over a period of time with continued manufacturing experience and engineering efforts. If one or more aspects necessary for introduction of products are not met in a timely fashion, or if technical difficulties take longer than anticipated to overcome, the anticipated product introductions will be delayed, or in some cases may be terminated. Therefore we cannot assure you that products will be introduced in a timely fashion.

Future products may utilize different technologies and require knowledge of markets in which we do not presently participate. Significant delays in the introduction of, or the failure to introduce, new products or improved products would have an adverse effect on our operating results.

We cannot assure you that retailers will react positively to new product introductions which may result in termination of a product. There is also a risk that the demand for new or existing products could drop suddenly. As a result, we may build excess quantities of certain products and subsequently have to make inventory provisions to markdown the value of excess inventory quantities to their estimated market or net realizable value.

There are often technical challenges in bringing a product into production. We may announce and sell a product but later find it must be delayed or abandoned due to difficulties in engineering and manufacturing. We cannot assure you that an announced product will ship on time or not be abandoned.

NO ASSURANCE OF GROWTH

We cannot assure you that we will achieve future growth in net sales or that we will be able to maintain our present levels of net sales or profitability. Our current business strategy emphasizes the sale of a controlled number of products, while representing a more diverse range of products than in the past. Our products include casino and heritage electronic games, mechanical slot banks, youth electronic games, tabletop games, the 20Q(TM) line of electronic handheld and tabletop games, Play TV(R) games, the Girl Tech(R) girls electronic line, the Cupcakes(R) doll line, the Street Muttz(TM) plush line, the Cube World(TM) line of interactive electronic stick people and video game accessories sold under the Gamester(R) brand. In any period, our financial results are likely to vary with the success or lack of success of newly introduced products, which are inherently uncertain. We cannot simply rely on continuing sales of existing products.

DEPENDENCE ON MAJOR CUSTOMERS

Historically, a significant portion of our sales have been concentrated with a few large retail customers. These customer concentrations are disclosed in the notes to our consolidated financial statements in this annual report. Most of our retail customers operate on a purchase order basis and we do not have long-term contracts with our retail customers. While we believe we have good relationships with our major retail customers, the loss of one or more of these retail customers would have an adverse effect on our operating results.

On January 22, 2002, the Kmart Corporation filed for protection from its creditors under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code. Our receivable exposure to Kmart was entirely provided for during 2001 and no additional write-downs or expenses related to this bankruptcy were incurred during 2002. We continue to sell our products to Kmart and closely monitor our account with them in order to minimize future exposure.

During 2003, both FAO, the parent company of FAO Schwartz and Zany

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

Brainy stores, and KB Toys, Inc. filed for Chapter 11 protection. Our exposure was limited in both of these cases and any outstanding receivables were provided for during 2003. Currently, we are not selling to FAO Schwartz and are selling in limited quantities to KB Toys. As with Kmart, the accounts will be closely monitored in order to minimize future exposure.

During 2005, a significant portion of our Original Equipment Manufacturing ("OEM") sales were sales to Hasbro, which is also one of our competitors. We do not have a specific contract with Hasbro regarding these projects and there is no assurance that we will continue to receive orders from Hasbro, which could have an adverse effect on our business.

On March 17, 2005, Toys R Us (TRU) announced that they had agreed to be acquired for $6.6 billion by Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co., Bain Capital and Vornado Realty Trust. In early 2006, the acquiring group announced the closure of 85 TRU stores in the US. TRU has stated that they do not plan to close any more stores in 2006 but there are no assurances that they won't continue to downsize further in the future. This closure could have an adverse effect on our future business with TRU.

DEPENDENCE ON SUPPLIERS AND SUBCONTRACTORS

We are dependent on suppliers for the components and parts that we assemble to produce our products. An interruption of the supply of LCDs, semiconductor chips or other supplies from a supplier could result in significant production delays. Additionally, recent increases in oil prices have resulted in significant price increases from suppliers of plastics. Most of our products are primarily made from plastic. While our products also contain significant electronic components and the cost of the plastic may not be the most significant material costs, if oil prices continue to rise, it could result in additional increases in the price of plastic, which would increase our product costs and subsequently reduce our profits. We are also encountering increases in the costs of other materials such as copper, which is used in a number of our electronic components, that could also potentially impact product costs.

We also rely on outside manufacturers for production of some of our electronic games and video game accessories. While the majority of our production occurs in our own factory, manufacturer delays or shutdowns could have a significant impact on future sales of certain products.

CONCENTRATED MANUFACTURING FACILITIES

A disruption of operations at our China factory due to fire, labor dispute, dispute with the local government or otherwise, would have an adverse effect on our operating results. In such event, we believe that we could partially mitigate the effect of a disruption by increasing the use of subcontractors to assemble our products, but we cannot assure you that we would be able to do so. In addition, our manufacturing facilities are dependent on our relationship with the local government.

NO ASSURANCE OF SUCCESS IN NEW PRODUCT LINES

From time to time, we expand into related or new product lines in order to diversify and grow. Examples included the development of our Original Design Manufacturing ("ODM") and OEM operations and our expansion into the video game accessories market. We cannot assure you that such product lines can be retained or that we will be successful in such ventures.

NO ASSURANCE OF CONTINUED ODM/OEM OPERATIONS

Our contracts with ODM and OEM customers can generally be terminated by either party on short notice; therefore we cannot assure you that such business can be retained for an extended period of time. Loss of such operations would materially affect our revenues.

DEPENDENCE ON KEY PERSONNEL

Our success is substantially dependent upon the expertise and services of our senior management personnel. The loss of the services of senior executives would have an adverse effect on our business.

SEASONALITY

We experience a significant seasonal pattern in our operating results and working capital requirements. We typically generate most of our sales in the third and fourth quarters of our fiscal year, prior to the traditional gift season. The high level of seasonality causes us to take large risks in the purchase of inventory and extending credit to customers for the holiday season. We cannot assure you that we will sell all our inventories. Excess inventory at year-end may result in financial losses from obsolescence writedowns, returns, markdowns and bad debts.

Our operating results may also fluctuate during the year due to other factors such as the timing of the introduction of new products. The market price of our common stock may be subject to significant fluctuations in response to variations in quarterly operating results and other factors. These fluctuations are reflected in our statement regarding selected quarterly financial data attached as Exhibit 14.1 to this annual report.

INDUSTRY AND PRODUCT LINE VOLATILITY

The toy and game industry is known for a high level of volatility as a result of changing consumer tastes, competition and over saturation of popular products. We have experienced significant volatility in our results in our past history. While we have diversified our business in recent years to reduce volatility, there can be no guarantee that this history of volatility will not continue.

COMPETITION

The electronic games and youth electronics and video game accessories market is highly competitive. We currently face direct competition from a number of other producers of handheld electronic games and video game accessories. The barriers for new producers to enter into our markets are relatively low and we expect that we will face increased competition in the future. Some competitors offer products at lower prices, are better established in the industry and are larger than we are. In addition, with respect to ODM and OEM, we compete with a number of substantially larger and more experienced manufacturers. As we enter other markets and businesses, we expect to face new competition.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RISKS

From time to time, other companies and individuals may assert exclusive patent, copyright, trademark and other intellectual property rights to technologies or marks that are important to our industry generally or to our business specifically. We will evaluate each claim relating to our products or other aspects of our business and, if appropriate, will seek a license to use the protected technology. There can be no assurance that we will be able to obtain licenses to intellectual property of third parties on commercially reasonable terms, if at all. In addition, we could be at a disadvantage if our competitors obtain licenses for protected technologies on more favorable terms than we do. If we or our suppliers are unable to license protected technology used in our products, we could be prohibited from marketing those products or may have to market products without desirable features. We could also incur substantial costs to redesign our products or to defend any legal action taken against us. If our products or manufacturing methods should be found to infringe protected technology, we could be enjoined from further infringement and required to pay damages to the infringed party. Any of the foregoing could have an adverse effect on our operating results and financial position.

In 2005, Radica and our subsidiary Radica (Macao Commercial Offshore) Limited were involved in litigation initiated by AtGames Holdings Limited which challenged the exclusivity of Radica's rights to the Play TV Sega Genesis games. This litigation, which related to Sega Corporation and Sega Toys, was described in detail in Radica's Form 6-K reports under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, most recently in the Form 6-K dated December 19, 2005. In late December 2005, the arbitrator issued an interim decision in favor of Sega Corporation in its arbitration against AtGames. Subsequently, in January 2006, AtGames voluntarily dismissed (without prejudice) its complaint against Radica and Radica Macao. At present, there is no pending litigation or arbitration against the Radica parties arising out of this matter. However, we are considering whether to take legal action against the other companies involved in this matter with respect to infringement of Radica's intellectual property rights and, if such action is taken, counterclaims may be made against the Radica parties. We could incur substantial legal costs to initiate such actions and there is no guarantee that we would prevail. The Company's agreement with Sega Toys includes certain indemnity provisions that allow the Company to seek repayment of certain legal expenses in its defense of the AtGames lawsuit. The Company plans seek recovery of certain expenses under this agreement.

On December 9, 2005 University Games Corporation filed a Notice of Opposition with the US Patent and Trademark Office opposing registration of a trademark application for "20Q" filed by 20Q.net, Inc., the inventor of the software licensed by Radica for use in our 20Q line of products. University Games claims that the trademark filed by 20Q.net could create confusion with the Twenty Questions trademark registration and game name they use for a board game that they distribute. Both 20Q.net and Radica believe that the Twenty Questions name is generic and not a valid trademark owned by University Games, and that University Games' opposition to the 20Q trademark application is without merit. In late January of 2006, 20Q.net filed a response to the Notice of Opposition and filed a counterclaim to cancel the Twenty Questions registration. In the event that University Games filed a federal district court case alleging trademark infringement, a court could order Radica to cease using the 20Q name or pay damages for past or future use of the 20Q name.

PRODUCT LIABILITY

Historically, we have received only minor complaints relating to injuries or other damages caused by our products. However, in recent years we have introduced products that involved more active play including our Play TV(R) baseball, snowboard and golf games. We may be exposed to claims for damages related to the use of our products, some or all of which may not be covered by insurance. We cannot guarantee you that current or future products may not result in claims or that our insurance will be adequate.

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

INCREASED TAXATION

We cannot predict whether our tax rates will remain as low as they have been in the past as tax regulations and the application or interpretation in the various jurisdictions where we operate are always subject to change. Our taxes are subject to audit by the taxing authorities. We cannot guarantee that additional taxes will not be due as a result of audits or other factors.

PRODUCT "KNOCK-OFFS"

On occasion in the electronic games and video game accessories industries, successful products are "knocked-off" or copied. While we strive to protect our intellectual property we cannot guarantee that knock-offs will not have a significant effect on our business. The costs incurred in protecting our intellectual property rights could be significant and there is no assurance that we will be able to successfully protect our rights.

BAD DEBTS AND RETURNS

While we perform full credit checks on all of our customers we cannot be assured that any customer will not default on a payment of debt. A default could have a significant effect on our operating results. It is our policy in North America to only take back defective products and while we believe we will be able to enforce this policy under normal industry conditions, it may not be possible to enforce this policy in all cases. The video game accessories market generally experiences a higher rate of defective and overstock returns than the electronic and mechanical game market does. Generally, defective video game accessories that are manufactured by third party manufacturers are returned to the manufacturer or destroyed on site for credit. In such cases, there is no guarantee that we will be paid by the manufacturer.

In certain instances, where retailers are unable to sell the quantity of products which have been ordered from us, we may, in accordance with industry practice, assist retailers to enable them to sell such excess inventory by offering discounts or accepting returns. A portion of firm orders, by their terms, may be canceled if shipment is not made by a certain date. We minimize the related costs of such discounts and returns by engaging personnel to visit selected customers and assist in the management of our product returns. We establish provisions based on historical experience at the time of sale of the related products. The return of non-defective products occurs infrequently in the U.S. In the U.K. market, accepting non-defective product returns occurs more frequently, requiring higher provisions.

CONTROL BY EXISTING SHAREHOLDERS

Our largest shareholders, including a group that consists of Dito Devcar Corporation and certain related persons, a group that consists of RAD Partners 1999 LLC and certain related persons, and Royce & Associates, LLC, own beneficially in the aggregate a majority of our outstanding common stock. Assuming that they were in agreement, such persons would have the power to elect our directors and to approve or disapprove all other matters requiring shareholder approval regardless of the vote of any other shareholders.

DIFFICULTIES IN ENFORCING CIVIL LIABILITIES

We are a Bermuda holding company, and a substantial portion of our assets are located outside the United States. In addition, many of our directors and officers and the experts named herein reside outside the United States (principally in Hong Kong, the United Kingdom and China), and all or a substantial portion of their assets are or may be located outside the United States. As a result, it may not be possible for investors to effect service of process within the United States upon them, or to enforce judgments against them or us obtained in the United States courts predicated upon the civil liability provisions of the United States securities laws. Among other things, we understand that there is doubt as to the enforceability in Bermuda and other foreign jurisdictions, in original actions or in actions for enforcement of judgments of United States courts, of civil liabilities predicated solely upon the United States securities laws.

SHARES ELIGIBLE FOR FUTURE SALE

At December 31, 2005, we had 19,080,004 shares of common stock outstanding. We estimate that most of these shares were previously sold in registered offerings or in transactions under Rule 144, and therefore are tradable without restriction, other than any shares purchased by our "affiliates." The remaining shares owned by existing shareholders are restricted securities under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and may be sold only pursuant to a registration statement or an applicable exemption from the registration requirements, including Rule 144. Most of these restricted shares are currently eligible for sale pursuant to Rule

12

144, subject to the limitations of that rule. Market sales of shares by existing shareholders or the availability of shares for future sale may depress the market price of our common stock.

LICENSES AND ROYALTIES

We have entered into various license and royalty agreements in which we pay fees in exchange for rights to use product inventions or trademarked names, shapes and likenesses for use in development of our product line. The agreements generally include minimum fee guarantees based on a reasonable expectation of the product sales to be generated throughout the life of the agreement. We cannot assure you that we will be able to meet these expectations and if our sales do not reach a certain level agreed with our customers, we are required to at least pay the minimum fee under the agreement. Our license and royalty agreements are based on a fixed percentage of sales made during the period. We cannot assure you that we will be able to maintain or extend the rights to our existing licenses. Several of our licenses apply to products that generate a large volume of sales. Were we unable to maintain these licenses, the lost sales could have a significant impact on future earnings.

LABOR

Labor disputes initiated by unions and trade groups could negatively impact our business or the business of our vendors and customers. Such disputes could ultimately cause shipping delays, increased costs and lost revenues resulting from failure to deliver product to customers. We have no way of anticipating when such actions will occur. None of our employees are in labor unions or trade groups.

DEPENDENCE ON VIDEO GAME ACCESSORIES ("VGA") PLATFORM PROVIDERS

Our VGA product line (Gamester(R)), is dependent on first party manufacturers of video game consoles such as Sony, Microsoft and Nintendo to continue to support and market existing games platforms like PlayStation(R) 2, PSP(TM), Xbox(TM), Game Boy(R) Advance and Game Boy(R) Advance SP(TM), and to continue to develop gaming formats and accompanying software in the future. We cannot guarantee success in this category without the ongoing support of these platform providers. If a platform is withdrawn from the market or fails to sell, we may be forced to liquidate our inventories or accept returns resulting in significant losses.

During 2005, Microsoft introduced its Xbox 360 platform. Prior to introduction of the platform, our management attempted to negotiate a licensing agreement to manufacture and distribute accessories for Xbox 360 but were unable to reach an agreement that made commercial and financial sense for Radica. Currently we have no plans or intention to seek an agreement with Microsoft. Sony has not announced the introduction date of the Playstation(R) 3 platform. Sony typically does not enter into licensing agreements for platform accessories and we have no assurance that we will be able to successfully engineer and manufacture accessories for the new platform when it is brought to market.

SEVERE ACUTE RESPIRATORY SYNDROME ("SARS") OR OTHER COMMUNICABLE DISEASES

In 2003, several economies in Asia, including Hong Kong and southern China, where our operations are located, were affected by the outbreak of SARS. If there is a recurrence of an outbreak of SARS, or similar infectious or contagious diseases such as avian flu, it could adversely affect our business and operating results. For example, a future SARS outbreak could result in quarantines or closures to our factory, and our operations could be seriously disrupted as the majority of our work force is housed in a single dormitory. In addition, ongoing concerns regarding SARS, particularly its effect on travel, could negatively impact our customers and suppliers, in particular their willingness to travel to do business.

ADVERSE WORLDWIDE AND LOCAL ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL CONDITIONS

Worldwide and local economic and political conditions can have a significant negative impact on our Company. Examples of these conditions include the impact of wars such as the Iraq conflict. Natural disasters such as devastating typhoons or the recent tsunami in South East Asia. Laws may be passed that impact the costs of manufacturing products such as the EU's recent RoHS Directive. Laws may be passed banning certain types of toys such as toy guns in states or local municipalities. Terrorist attacks may result in major economic disruptions affecting sales in areas or around the world. Ports or shipping lines may be impacted by many factors including labor disputes, storms and security measures. Shortages may occur in critical materials and components as well as labor. Inflation may accelerate in one or many economic sectors such as the increase in the price of oil and its impact on plastics, other materials and shipping costs. Countries may levy unfavorable duties and taxes or increase the minimum wage or work rules. Many of the factors can lower profits, restrict sales and damage the Company in many unforeseen ways. These uncertainties make it difficult for us to estimate growth or profits in the regional economies where we sell our products and therefore may negatively affect our financial results.

VOLATILE MASS MARKET RETAIL SECTOR

Most of our sales are made to mass-market retailers. The mass-market retail channel in the U.S. has experienced significant shifts in market share among competitors in recent years, causing several of our customers to experience liquidity problems, including several customers that have filed for bankruptcy during the past three years. While we attempt to minimize our credit exposure, there is always a risk that our customers will not pay or that they will delay payment, subjecting us to exposure to bad debt losses. In addition, if these customers were to cease doing business as a result of bankruptcy, it could have a material adverse effect on our sales.

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

HONG KONG REAL ESTATE

We own certain commercial properties in Hong Kong, some of which we occupy and one of which we lease to a third party. Market values of Hong Kong real estate dropped significantly during 1997 to 2003 but in the recent two years, the properties market has staged a strong recovery.

While we expect commercial real estate values to continue their recovery, we cannot assure you that our commercial properties will follow.

CUSTOMER COMPLIANCE

Periodically, our factory is inspected by auditors either employed by or contracted by individual customers to ensure that we are in compliance with various safety and social standards. These standards can vary widely by customer and failure to meet customer standards can lead to fines and suspension or termination of shipping from our factory to the customer. The management team makes every reasonable effort to ensure that we are in compliance with all of our customers' safety and social standards, but there is no assurance that customer auditors will find us in compliance. Failure to comply could have a significant adverse impact on our revenues.

CURRENCY VALUATION

Efforts to increase worldwide distribution have made our business increasingly global. We expect that international sales may continue to represent a significant portion of our revenue. Although most of our international sales are denominated in the US dollars, fluctuations in foreign currencies may have an impact on our financial results. We are prepared to hedge against fluctuations in foreign currencies if the exposure is material, and held Chinese Renminbi (RMB) deposits of RMB55.5 million at the end of 2005 (approximately US$6.9 million) to reduce the foreign currency exposure against future movements of the RMB against the US dollar.

We have monetary asset and liability balances in foreign currencies other than the U.S. dollar, including the Pound Sterling, the Canadian dollar, the Hong Kong dollar and the Chinese Renminbi, or RMB. International distribution and sales revenues usually are made by our subsidiaries in the United States, United Kingdom and Canada, and are denominated typically in their local currency. However, the expenses incurred by these subsidiaries are also denominated in the local currency. As a result, our operating results are exposed to changes in exchange rates between the United States Dollar and the Pound Sterling, the RMB or the Canadian dollar.

Currently China's currency, the RMB, is pegged to a basket of currencies. On July 21, 2005, China allowed the RMB to appreciate 2.1 percent against the dollar, but the Chinese Government continues to receive pressure from other governments to trade its currency on the open market and allow it to move in a wider band than before. If the Chinese Government were to trade its currency freely on the open market and the RMB were to increase in value relative to the U.S. dollar, we would experience increased factory and production costs, including labor and certain raw materials that could have a material impact on the cost of our products.

EFFICACY OF ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION

Radica promotes some of its products through advertising and promotion. This promotion occurs primarily in the second half of the year during the traditional holiday season and includes television commercials, magazine and newspaper advertisements, in-store displays and viral marketing campaigns orchestrated by contracted public relations firms. During 2005, we spent $12.3 million on such programs. Our ability to sell products is dependent in part on our ability to successfully advertise and promote our products. If the cost of these programs increases or if we were unsuccessful in our efforts to advertise and promote our products, it could have a material adverse affect on our financial results.

ROHS COMPLIANCE

Pursuant to Directive 2002/95/EC (on the Restriction of Hazardous Substances) of the European Parliament, effective July 1, 2006, new electrical and electronic equipment put on the European market may not contain lead, mercury, cadmium, hexavalent chromium, polybrominated biphenyls (PBB) or polybrominated dephenyl ethers (PBDE). As lead is currently the main ingredient in our soldering process we are changing to 'lead free soldering'. In order to do this we have purchased certain surface mount technology (SMT) equipment and are in the process of setting up a lead free workshop within our Dongguan factory. Our goal is to have this workshop fully operational by March 31, 2006. In the event that we are not successful either we will have to have product assembled at another facility that can produce product to this standard or stop shipping to the European Union.

INTERNAL CONTROL SYSTEMS

Changing laws, regulation and standards relating to corporate governance and public disclosure, including the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 and related regulations implemented by the US Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), and the NASDAQ National Market ("NASDAQ"), are making some activities more time consuming. We will be evaluating our internal controls systems to allow management to report on, and our independent registered public accounting firm to attest to, our internal controls. We will be performing the system and process evaluation and testing (and any necessary remediation) required to comply with the management certification and the registered public accounting firm attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. As a result, we expect to incur substantial additional expenses and diversion of management's time. While we anticipate being able to fully implement the requirements relating to internal controls and all other aspects of Section 404 by our December 31, 2006 deadline (this deadline may be extended to December 31, 2007 depending on whether our stock value is beneath certain market capitalization thresholds as of June 30, 2006), we cannot be certain as to the timing of completion of our evaluation, testing and remediation actions or the impact of the same on our operations since there is presently no definitive standard available by which to measure compliance adequacy. If we are unable to implement the requirements of Section 404 in a timely manner or with adequate compliance, we may be subject to sanctions or investigation by regulatory authorities such as the SEC or NASDAQ. Any such action could harm our business or investors' confidence in our Company, and could cause the stock price to fall.

ITEM 4. INFORMATION ON THE COMPANY

DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

Founded in 1983 by Americans living in Hong Kong, Radica Games Limited (NASDAQ: RADA) was incorporated in Bermuda in 1993. We are headquartered in Hong Kong and manufacture our products in our factory in southern China. In 1994 we went public when our shares began trading on the Nasdaq National Market.

We manufacture and market a diverse line of electronic entertainment products covering multiple product lines - Electronic games carrying the Radica and Play TV(R) brand names, Gamester(R) branded video game controllers and accessories, youth electronics carrying the Girl Tech(R) brand names and two new categories, Cupcakes(R) dolls and Street Muttz(TM) electronic plush dogs, introduced in 2005. Our factory also manufactures for other companies in the electronic game industry. We market our products through subsidiaries in the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada, Macau and Hong Kong. Our largest market is in the United States where in 2004 we had the second largest market share in the electronic handheld and tabletop electronic games according to industry data source, The NPD Group, Inc.

We employ about 4,000 people worldwide in our group of companies. Our largest retail customers include Wal-Mart, Target, Toys`R`Us, Kmart, Kohl's and Argos. Our largest manufacturing customer is Hasbro. Internationally we sell products in approximately 40 countries.

HISTORY OF PRODUCT LINES

ELECTRONIC GAMES

We have operated as a marketer and manufacturer of games since 1983, starting with a small operation in Hong Kong providing souvenir casino games such as mechanical slot banks for the Las Vegas and other markets. We expanded into the electronic game business setting up a factory in China in 1991 and a distribution operation in the United States in 1992. The business grew substantially from that point and we became the leading supplier of casino type electronic handheld games in the U.S. market with games such as Video Poker and Video Blackjack. Our electronic game products are sold under the Radica and Play TV brand names.

In 1995 we began to diversify our product line into other electronic handheld game areas beyond casino themed games. We began to offer classic games such as Solitaire, Hearts and Gin Rummy, and sports games such as World Class Golf(TM) and Football. In addition to the casino and classic games that helped build the company, in recent years we have expanded our electronic game offerings to a very broad line of electronic games including virtual fishing games such as Bass Fishin'(R), virtual hunting games such as Deer Huntin'(TM), TETRIS(R), and other games such as Talking Bingo(TM) and Ultimate Pinball(TM). In 2004 we introduced 20Q(TM), based on the classic guessing game. 20Q(TM) was named "The Number One Non-Television Promoted Toy" of 2004 according to The Toy Book, an industry trade magazine and won the Electronic Entertainment Toy of the Year at the 2006 TOTY awards in New York. We continued to expand the 20Q line in 2005 with tabletop and big screen versions of the game.

During our history we have become known as a leader in the creative use of technology. For example, our line of fishing games, one of the top-selling product lines in the history of electronic games, revolutionized the electronic handheld games category after its introduction in 1996. The games feature virtual motion-sensing technology that allows the player to use the physical game as a rod and reel. The player casts, feels the fish bite, sets the hook with a jerk, and reels in the fish with a real handle. This product started an industry trend in creating virtual reality games where the product provides the feel of the real sport. This is delivered by uniquely realistic game shapes, featuring motion sensors and tactile feedback. We have expanded our line of virtual motion sensing games beyond the fishing category. An example of this is our Deer Huntin' 3(TM) game.

In 2000, we introduced Radica Play TV games featuring XaviX(R)

technology licensed from SSD. The technology provides consumers with easy-to-use Play TV games, which are freestanding devices that plug directly into the TV and use the screen as the display. This single-chip, multi-processor integrated circuit is designed to generate high-quality graphics and sound on a television set without the use of a video game console. Most importantly the technology allows motion sensing control devices to interact with the TV images such as using a physical baseball bat controller to hit video pitches or a physical snowboard controller to control a race down a video ski slope. Play TV Baseball, Play TV Snowboarder, and Play TV Buckmasters(R) Huntin' were successfully introduced in 2000 and 2001. For 2004, we entered into a licensing agreement with EA Sports(TM) to translate their popular Madden Football(TM) and SSX Tricky video game titles into the Play TV format. In 2006, we will expand the line with Golden Tee(R) Golf, based on the popular arcade games created by Incredible Technologies, and Play TV Skateboarding(TM), an interactive game that gives players the feeling they are riding in a skate park with the ability to perform tricks, grinds and jumps using the skateboard interface and a handheld directional pad.

In 2004, we expanded the "plug and play" category with our Play TV Legends line. We have a license to manufacture and distribute Play TV Legends(TM) Sega(R) Genesis(TM) games. The Play TV Legends(TM) Sega(R) Genesis(TM) games are the first official Sega Genesis multi-game units that replicate several of the original Sega Genesis games, game codes and graphics and utilize a replica of the original Genesis control pad. All of the software and content are stored in the game pad. The Play TV Legends line also includes other Play TV Legends Sega games, Street Fighter(R) II, Menacer(R) and Outrun 2019(R) and Tetris.

In 2001 we introduced Skannerz(R). Targeting boys 7-12, Skannerz utilizes UPC scanner technology to create a collectible-driven, interactive battle game. The game can be played alone or linked to battle with another unit. Building on this success for 2003 we launched Skannerz Commander and Skannerz Battle Orbz, two variations on the original version. In 2005, the Skannerz line was extended to include Skannerz(R) Racerz(TM), a racing game based on the original Skannerz product. In 2006, we are introducing Scannerz(R)TV(TM), which combines the collectibility of the original game with the high-quality graphics of our Play TV line of products.

In 2005 we introduced Cube World(TM), a portable handheld device consisting of stick characters and simplistic interactive objects that can be stacked side-by-side or on top of each other to provide interaction between the characters.

In 2006, we will introduce Thumb Warriors(TM), an updated electronic version of the traditional thumb wrestling game. Sold in sets of two, the individual warriors slide onto the thumb, secure around the wrist with a tail and include sound. We will also expand the 20Q line of product with four new versions, Music, Movies/TV, Sports and Junior 20Q, as well as additional foreign language versions.

GAMESTER VIDEO GAME CONTROLLERS & ACCESSORIES

In June 1999, we announced the acquisition of Leda Media Products ("LMP"), a UK company that, with its Gamester brand, was a leader in video game controllers in Europe (now known as Radica UK Ltd.). To date, we have established video game controller and accessory products to enhance game play and performance on video game consoles for Nintendo, Sony and Microsoft including game control pads, steering wheels and memory cards. All Gamester products are designed to make the game more fun or make the user a better player, bringing the unfair advantage(TM) to the gamer.

We began shipping and selling the Gamester product line to the United States and Canada during the second half of 2001 and moved most of the manufacturing of controllers to our factory in China. Product development is designed and built in house for the Gamester brand, except for a few less technically demanding items which are outsourced to officially approved third parties.

In 2001 we signed a worldwide licensing agreement with Microsoft to design, manufacture and market peripherals for the Xbox(TM) video game system. Xbox peripherals include the Phoenix game pad, the Phoenix for Xbox Live pad, which enables voice communication technology and the Race Pac(R) controller, a functioning wheel, seat and pedals in a portable unit compatible with both the Xbox and Sony Playstation 2 platforms.

The video game accessories product line expanded in 2001 with the introduction of Nintendo's Game Boy(R) Advance (GBA). We introduced products for the GBA including the Flood Light(TM), which provides an illumination of the GVA screen using a fluorescent light. The GBA line includes a broad selection of cases, bags, chargers, adaptors and accessory packs. With the 2003 introduction to Nintendo's Game Boy Advance SP, we introduced several products for the SP under the Gamester brand, including Game Changer(TM), which allows gamers to switch games without removing cartridges.

In 2005 we introduced a line of accessories for the new Sony PSP(TM) portable Playstation platform. The line includes a case for carrying the unit, power adaptors and game discs, a car docking station and attachable grips. However, we did not get a license for the Xbox 360 as we could not agree on terms with Microsoft, so the platform transition during 2005 from Xbox to Xbox 360 and the expected transition in 2006 of Playstation 2 to Playstation 3 have left us with a greatly reduced revenue and cash flow streams and reduced line of products. Based on the results of the annual impairment test of the goodwill related to the acquisition of LMP, an impairment charge on the goodwill of $6.0 million was recorded during 2005.

YOUTH ELECTRONICS

In 1998 we acquired the assets of the Girl Tech product line from Kid Active LLC, which targets girls ages 8-12. These products are designed with girls' play preferences in mind addressing issues that are important to them such as privacy and communication.

In 1999, Girl Tech introduced a line of products for girls, including the Password Journal(R), which uses voice recognition technology to unlock the journal. In the years 2001- 2004, Password Journal was among the top ten products in the Youth Electronics market according to The NPD Group. In 2005, we updated the Password Journal with a new Password Journal product. While maintaining the voice recognition lock and other features of the two previous versions of this product, the new Password Journal includes a light and a calendar and has an auto-opening tri-fold layout.

In 2003, Girl Tech introduced Dare Ya!(TM), an electronic version of the children's game of "Truth or Dare". Girls can create their own dares by recording them into the game. Dare Ya! has a "truth detector" to determine if the girls are telling the truth.

In 2004, Friend Chips(TM) was introduced. Friend Chips uses instant messaging lingo to create password protected, digitally encoded messages on the four included chips that can be passed on and used in other units. Friend Chips includes two reader units and four chips to share with a friend.

For 2006 we are adding two new products to the Girl Tech line. B-bop(TM), an affordable compact music player that allows girls to record up to thirty minutes of music from any audio out-jack and Digi Makeover(TM), a product developed with Sega Toys that is a makeup case styled touch pad with digital camera that plugs directly into the TV and lets girls take their picture and create their own makeover, including makeup, hairstyles and accessories.

NEW CATEGORIES

In 2005 we reintroduced Cupcakes(R), a popular doll line that debuted in 1990 for Tonka. The scented dolls transform from a cupcake to a doll and include a charm, a brush and a hat. Bedroom, vanity and tea party play sets are sold separately. In 2005 we also introduced Street Muttz(TM), a collection of interactive homeless plush dogs. The dogs react to the touch of a hand with sound and movement.

MANUFACTURING SERVICES

Since 1996 we have designed, engineered and manufactured products for other companies in the electronic games business. Our factory in Tai Ping, Dongguan, southern China has 665,000 square feet of factory space and 308,000 square feet of dormitory space. Our dormitory has the capacity to house in excess of 5,000 people. Depending upon seasonal demands, our factory typically employs 3,000 to 6,000 people and currently we have approximately 4,000 people working in the factory. The factory is capable of manufacturing up to 800,000 units per week. We manufacture for other companies on an ODM basis. We currently design and manufacture games for Hasbro, as well as other companies in the U.S. and Japan. During 2005, we completed an expansion of the factory that created 141,000 square feet of factory space and cost $2.8 million, including machinery, to complete.

BUSINESS STRATEGY

As a result of our efforts toward diversification, we now have a significant presence in our four core product lines of electronic games, youth electronics, other electronic games and video game accessories. We believe that these product lines are significantly related to each other in terms of their entertainment value and the expertise that is involved in delivering products in each category of electronic entertainment. As a result there are synergistic skills that can be used to benefit each area of our four core product lines. Within these product lines we are focused on building four brands including the Radica brand of electronic games, the Play TV brand of electronic games, the Girl Tech brand of youth electronics and game products, and the Gamester brand of video game accessories. It is our strategy to focus on building each of these product lines and brands through aggressive product development and marketing programs.

We sell direct to retailers in North America and the United Kingdom and while we may occasionally sell directly to retailers in other markets, we usually sell through sub distributors which sell our products to retailers and foreign distributors in certain other worldwide markets.

We manufacture most of our own products in our factory in China in order to maintain quality and to minimize inventories of finished goods.

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

Consistent with previous years, to cope with product demand, we have been outsourcing certain productions to third party suppliers. We also utilize the excess capacity of our factory to manufacture products of a similar nature to our own products for other companies such as the Hasbro Games Group. By providing such manufacturing services to other companies we seek to spread the overhead cost of our manufacturing operations in order to improve profitability.

LICENSING

During fiscal 2005, we engaged in several licensing agreements in which we were given permission to use the name, logo, game concept and/or license of a person, company or brand in exchange for a royalty fee.

Among the licensors were Electronic Arts(TM), World Poker Tour(TM), Codemasters(R), owners of the Sensible Soccer license, SSD, developers of XaviX(R) technology, the Tetris(R) Company, Microsoft, developers of Microsoft Xbox(R), Sega(R), makers of the original Sega Genesis system, Incredible

Technologies(R), makers of Golden Tee golf and 20Q.Net Inc, developers of the "artificial intelligence" version of 20Q.

We intend to incorporate some of these licenses into our 2006 product line and will pursue new licenses in instances where management feels it will enhance the value and marketability of a particular product.

MANUFACTURING

Our manufacturing is generally limited to integrated chip bonding, plastic injection, clamshell production, mold manufacture, surface mount technology, or SMT, and assembly and packaging operations. We order customized components and parts from suppliers and use subcontractors for more complicated operations such as masking of our proprietary software onto the semiconductor chips used in our games, Liquid Crystal Display ("LCD") tooling and a proportion of tooling of molds for plastic parts.

In 2005 we assembled most of the Radica and Girl Tech lines of products in order to control our costs, quality, production and delivery schedules. VGA were assembled both in-house and by third party manufacturers.

We are not required to obtain any quality approvals for our products sold in the United States. However, we are required to have and have obtained CE approval, Europe's toy safety standard, for products sold in Europe. We have been granted a Chinese toy quality license from the Chinese Import and Export Commodity Inspection Bureau, which is required of toy and game manufacturers in China to export toys or games. In addition, we voluntarily comply with ASTM 963, a U.S. toy safety standard.

We received renewal of our ISO 9001 quality certification from Underwriters Laboratory on February 9, 2004 which runs through February 8, 2007. The scope of the registration covers the design, sales and distribution of electronic and electro-mechanical games and related gift products.

MANUFACTURING FACILITIES

We currently manufacture our products at our Tai Ping factory in Dongguan, southern China approximately 40 miles northwest of Hong Kong. The factory was constructed with the cooperation of the local government according to our design specifications on a 3.7 acre site and contains 665,000 sq. ft. of factory space and 308,000 sq. ft. of dormitory space, capable of housing over 5,000 workers. An extension of the factory commenced in December 1999. As a result of the drop in demand for our product in the U.S. during 2000, work towards completion of this addition was postponed until the end of 2004. We began completion of the expansion of the factory in late 2004 and completed the expansion in 2005. The completed facility created an additional 141,000 square feet of factory space and cost $2.8 million, including machinery, to complete. The unit capacity of the factory depends on the product mix produced. In any event, there can be no assurance that we will be able to operate at full capacity or have sufficient sales to warrant doing so.

In June 1994 we entered into a JV agreement with the local government to operate the factory. The JV agreement was established for the construction and operation of the factory. We contributed the cost of the construction of the factory to the JV while the local government contributed the land use rights of 50 years. The JV agreement term is 30 years after which it may be extended by 20 years to match the land use rights of 50 years. The JV partner has agreed to extend the JV agreement for 20 years when it expires without compensation and we intend to renew it. We pay two types of costs to the China Government under the JV agreement. The first was the payment for construction of the factory or building. This cost is being depreciated over the estimated useful life of the building of 50 years which corresponds to the term of the land use rights.

The second, which began upon commencement of production, are annual fees made in the form of a fixed fee to the local government. The annual fee is subject to increases every three years and had originally been set at a 20% increase every 3 years but has been successfully renegotiated to be 10% every three years. The scheduled increases of the annual payment are intended to reflect the anticipated growth in our overall business. We continue to believe that we will renegotiate any increases in this fee. As a result, we record the fee as an expense in the income statement as incurred rather than on a straight-line basis over the term of the agreement. If we were unable to renegotiate the terms of the agreement and were forced to pay the scheduled increases, the amount of the increases would be immaterial over the life of the contract and therefore accounting for the JV payment on a straight-line basis would not have a material financial impact. In 2005, the fee was approximately $125,700.

Aside from the fixed annual fee paid to the JV partner, we are the sole beneficiary of the results of the JV, and we solely control the JV's operations, including the operating and capital decisions of the JV in the ordinary course of business. When the JV expires or in the event that the agreement is terminated, the local government will be entitled to the fixed assets of the JV. As we are providing for depreciation of the building over a 50-year period, the assets will have been fully depreciated at the end of such time.

All the results of our factory operations in China are accounted for as wholly-owned operations and included in our consolidated financial statements since we operate all aspects of the factory, including hiring, paying and terminating workers. Most of the factory workers are hourly employees, live in the on site dormitories and eat in the on site canteen. In addition, we bear all other costs of operating the factory, including utilities and certain employee social welfare charges established by the local government. Many aspects of the operation of the factory are dependent on our relationship with the local government and existing trade practices. We believe that our relationship with the local government is good.

Had we decided to terminate its manufacturing activities in China prior to December 31, 2004, we would have been required to pay back certain tax benefits we had received and may have been held liable for certain fees. Such liabilities could have been substantial. Effective January 1, 2005 we were no longer subject to these fees should we terminate manufacturing activities in China.

MATERIALS

Major components used in our products are liquid crystal displays, or LCD's, semiconductor chips, printed circuit boards, or PCB's, batteries, and molded plastic parts. We purchase LCD's, PCB's, and semiconductor chips from several suppliers. We generally provide six to twelve months order indications to our semiconductor chip suppliers and must place firm orders a minimum of six weeks in advance of delivery. This lead time in some cases extends to twenty weeks when the market is in short supply. We pay for most of our materials in U.S. dollars.

Our major suppliers of electronic and mechanical handheld and tabletop game materials in fiscal 2005 included C & L Electric Mfg. Co., Ltd. (cables), DongGuan Qi Long Ind. Co., Ltd (cartons), GPI International Limited (batteries), Hong Kong Vigour Co., Ltd. (LCD's), Lead Jump Development Limited (PCB's), Shan Tou Qiheng Trading Co., Ltd (plastic material resins), Silicone Applications Co., Ltd. (semi-conductor chips), SSD Company Limited (semi-conductor chips), U Kwong Industrial Co., Ltd. (PVC materials), WB Japan Co., Ltd. (PCB Assembly) and Yu Lee Printing Co. Ltd. (printing).

Our major suppliers of VGA in fiscal 2005 included Hip Hing Cables & Plug Mfy Ltd. (cables and plugs) and Mascotte Industrial Associates (HK) Ltd. (bags and cases).

SALES AND DISTRIBUTION

Our products are sold in approximately 40 countries, with the United States accounting for approximately 68% of net sales in fiscal 2005. We sell our products directly to over 200 active retailers in the U.S. and U.K. and to approximately 30 distributors worldwide. We participate in the electronic data interchange ("EDI") program maintained by 11 customers in the U.S. including Wal-Mart, Target, Kmart, Kohl's, Toys'R'Us and Best Buy, and 5 customers in the U.K.: Argos, Comet, Dixon's, Asda Wal-mart and John Lewis. In fiscal 2005, our largest customer, Wal-Mart, accounted for 30.8% of net sales. In general, all sales to third party distributors and retail customers are final upon transfer of title. The top six customers for each of the three years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003 were as follows:

CUSTOMER NAME	% OF SALES FOR THE FISCAL YEAR
	2005	2004	2003
1. Wal-Mart (USA)	30.8%	24.5%	31.9%
2. Target (USA)	11.9%	9.6%	5.5%
3. Toys`R'Us (USA)	8.9%	10.0%	8.9%
4. Kohl's (USA)	5.5%	2.6%	2.5%
5. Argos (U.K.)	4.6%	6.7%	8.0%

In the North America, we use mainly regional sales managers working for us to manage our customers as well as a limited number of manufacturers' representatives and brokers that sell our products to certain retailers. These manufacturers' representatives are not our employees and work on a commission basis. In the United Kingdom, we use brand sales managers and manufacturers' representatives to sell our products. In the rest of the world, we use third-party distributors in which we are represented by sales agents with some of these distributors.

Our customers normally provide indications of interest, which may be canceled at any time, from three to six months prior to scheduled delivery, but only confirm orders approximately eight weeks in advance of requested delivery. Accordingly we generally operate without a significant backlog of regular orders.

We do not have any sell-through arrangement with our customers, that is the title of the products is transferred upon delivery to or receipt by customers. We generally do not allow for the return of non-defective products; however such a return may occur occasionally due to overstock by our customers, if we can maintain the same economic benefit by reselling the product at a similar margin. In certain instances, where our retail customers are unable to sell the quantity of products which have been ordered, we may, in accordance with industry practice and at our discretion, assist retailers to enable them to sell such excess inventory by offering discounts or accepting returns. We minimize the related costs of such discounts and returns by engaging personnel to visit selected customers and assist in the management of product returns. A portion of firm orders, by their terms, may be canceled if shipment is not made by a certain date. We establish provisions based on historical experience at the time of sale of the related products.

In the US, Canada and the U.K., we store our products and pick and ship orders for domestic sale in shared warehouse facilities owned by third party logistics companies. We are assessed storage, labor, materials and freight charges, as well as for capital costs such as fork lifts and computer equipment.

Our Radica, Girl Tech, Play TV and Connectv products carry a 90 days consumer warranty from the date of sale. Our VGA products carry a one year warranty from the date of sale. In each of the last three years, warranty costs incurred have been less than 3% of net sales and substantially all warranty claims are received within 90 days of invoice.

INDUSTRY

NPD Group, the service that has historically tracked our retail sales, no longer provides this service. It does, however, continue to provide industry data. According to NPD, the toy industry in the U.S. declined by 4% in 2005. Management believes that the declines were the result of continuing weaker overall sales at the mass retailers. NPD's U.K. data showed the toy sales in 2005 were flat against 2004, and up 1% from 2003. Annual industry-wide video game accessory sales were down significantly in the U.S. in 2005. According to the NPD Group, VGA sales in gross dollars were down 11.0% in 2005 from 2004.

The U.K. and Europe do not have a reliable retail tracking service for video game accessories. During 2003, our U.K. operations changed their distribution strategy in the U.K. and Europe from providing a full line of VGA product, including low-margin commodity items, to selling a smaller line of innovative, higher margin products.

PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT

At the end of 2005, our engineering and development department had approximately 102 staff worldwide. Our product development starts with a design team in Dallas, Texas and continues through to the engineering teams in Shenzhen and in the Dongguan factory. We have a formalized product development process that includes quarterly meetings of its worldwide product development and sales departments. In fiscal 2003, 2004 and 2005, we spent approximately $3.9 million, $4.2 million and $4.9 million respectively, on research and development. Our research and development is heavily oriented toward market demand. Based on our ongoing contact with consumers, retailers and distributors worldwide, our sales and marketing departments seek to understand and assist the product development teams in responding to consumer and retailer preferences. The sales department also targets certain retail price points for new products which drive our product development, with designs, features, materials, manufacturing and distribution all developed within the parameters of the target retail price. We also review product submissions from a network of third party inventors that have been approved by management. These submissions are subject to the same product development process and market demand considerations as internal submissions. Additionally, we use third-party developers in the creation of software programs that are used in some of our products.

We expect to continue developing the majority of products internally during 2006. However, changes in business philosophy or unforeseen circumstances may arise that could force us to outsource a larger than expected amount of our development work.

ORIGINAL DESIGN MANUFACTURING AND ORIGINAL EQUIPMENT MANUFACTURING

In 1995, we were successful in establishing a relationship with the Hasbro Games Group to design and manufacture products for them. We continue to manufacture for Hasbro, which is also our largest competitor, as well as a number of other customers including Cranium, Lexibook, B, D&A and Kemco. We intend to pursue other ODM and OEM business in the future. However it is uncertain whether we can retain our current business on a long-term basis or successfully attract additional ODM business or that it will be profitable.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

We own a number of patents, trademarks and copyrights and we are in the process of registering other intellectual properties. We will continue to apply for intellectual property registrations on new products as management deems necessary.

We anticipate that patents, trademarks, copyrights and other intellectual property rights will become increasingly important in the electronic entertainment industry in which we operate, particularly since we are introducing a wider range of products. As the industry focuses on intellectual property matters, there will be opportunities for us to protect our products through patents, trademarks and other formalized filings, although the efficacy of these protections is uncertain. By the same token, we will be exposed to risks that our products or other aspects of our business will be found to infringe the intellectual property rights of others. See "Item 3. Key Information - Risk Factors - Intellectual Property Risks".

WORKING CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

Our working capital needs are primarily financed through operating cash and, when necessary, credit lines secured through various banks in Hong Kong and China. Our revenues are significantly higher in the second half of the year than in the first half in order to support our retail customers that purchase most of their goods in the third and fourth quarters to support the fourth quarter holiday buying season. In order to meet the customer third and fourth quarter product requirements, we typically purchase the majority of our raw materials and build inventory in the second and third quarters of the year. Advertising expenditures are typically highest in the fourth quarter of the year in order to support retail sales of our products during the holiday season. Because of the concentrated retail buying season, our receivables are highest in the fourth and first quarters of the year.

COMPETITION

The games business is highly competitive. We believe that we are one of the leading sellers of electronic games and youth electronics. Our primary competitor is the Hasbro Games Group ("Hasbro"), which is also an OEM customer. Hasbro procures its products from manufacturers in China including Radica. Other competitors include Jakks Pacific, Wild Planet and MGA. The barriers for new producers to enter our markets are relatively low and we expect that we will continue to face strong competition. We compete for consumer purchases on the basis of price, quality and game features and for retail shelf space also on the basis of service, including reliability of delivery, and breadth of product line. Some competitors offer products at lower prices than we do, are better established in the toy and games industry and are larger than we are. Our products also compete with other gifts and games for consumer purchases. In addition, with respect to ODM/OEM activities, we compete with a number of substantially larger and more experienced manufacturers. As we enter other markets and businesses, we expect to face strong competition.

The VGA market is also highly competitive. The market share in the U.S. is spread primarily amongst ten companies that have approximately 87% of the market. We began significant distribution of VGA in the U.S. market in 2001. Like the handheld electronic games market, we compete for customer purchases on the basis of price, quality, and features and for retail shelf space on the basis of service. Major competitors are MadCatz, Pelican, Logitech and Joytech.

TAXATION OF OUR COMPANY AND OUR SUBSIDIARIES

There is currently no Bermuda income, corporation or profits tax payable by our Company. As an exempted company, we are liable to pay to the Bermuda government an annual registration fee calculated on a sliding scale basis by reference to our assessable capital, that is, our authorized share capital plus any share premium on our issued shares of Common Stock currently at a rate not exceeding $25,000 per annum.

The Hong Kong profits tax rate for 2005 is 17.5%. Currently, our subsidiary Radica HK pays Hong Kong profits tax on service and sales income.

On July 1, 1994, our manufacturing operations were transferred to a Sino-Foreign JV. The JV enjoyed a two year tax holiday which expired in 1999. In 2005, we incurred $587,760 in foreign enterprise tax relating to our Chinese subsidiary that is operated through a JV contract. This is the seventh year we have paid foreign enterprise tax in China. We were granted 50% relief from foreign enterprise tax through December 31, 2001 under the Foreign Enterprise Income Tax Law of The People's Republic of China, and were therefore taxed at 12%. In 2002 and 2003, we were taxed at the full rate of tax of 27%; however, we successfully applied to be designated as an "Export Oriented Enterprise", which resulted in a tax rebate received in 2005, 2004 and 2003 that reduced our China tax applicable to 2004, 2003 and 2002 to 12% excluding the local tax of 3%. The application to be designated as an "Export Oriented Enterprise" is required to be made on a yearly basis. We applied for the same designation for 2005 and if our application is successful, it will result in the receipt of a tax rebate in 2006.

Our subsidiaries Radica USA, Radica Canada and Disc Inc. are fully subject to U.S. and Canada federal taxation, as well as any applicable state or local taxation, on their taxable income. Currently, the highest marginal rate of U.S. federal corporate income tax is 35%; the highest marginal rate of Canada federal corporate income tax is 25%. In addition, dividends paid by Radica USA and Disc Inc. to our Company will be subject to a 30% U.S. federal withholding tax, resulting in an effective rate of U.S. federal taxation on distributed profits of up to 54.5%.

Our subsidiary Radica U.K. is fully subject to U.K. corporate taxation. The U.K. profits tax rate currently applying to corporations is 30%.

During 2003, we formed Radica (Macao Commercial Offshore) Ltd., a company incorporated in The Special Administrative Region of Macau, for the purpose of carrying on export trade activities. To the extent that Radica Macau sells all of its products outside of Macau, it is exempt from tax in Macau.

EMPLOYEES

As of December 31, 2005 our workforce was comprised of the following:

	Production	Sales and Marketing	R&D	Finance	Operation & Admin
Asia	3,737	14	84	24	145
USA	1	31	18	9	17
Europe	-	6	-	5	7
Total	3,738	51	102	38	169

At December 31, 2004 and 2003 our workforce comprised 4,480 persons and 3,640 persons, respectively.

None of our employees are subject to a collective bargaining agreement and we have never experienced a work stoppage. Management believes that our employee relations are good.

DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTIES

See "Manufacturing Facilities" above. We completed the first phase of construction of our factory (241,000 sq. ft.) on a 3.7 acre parcel of land in May 1995 and a second phase (223,000 sq. ft.) in August 1998. An extension of the factory commenced in December of 1999. As a result of the drop in demand for our product in the U.S. during 2000, work towards completion of this addition was postponed until the end of 2004. During 2005, we completed an expansion of the factory that created 141,000 square feet of factory space and cost $2.8 million, including machinery, to complete. The factory currently contains 665,000 sq. ft. of factory space and 308,000 sq. ft. of dormitory space, capable of housing over 5,000 workers. We own a long-term leasehold on our executive offices (8,800 sq. ft. inclusive of one leased unit of 2,500 sq. ft.) and warehouse space (7,900 sq. ft.) in Fo Tan, Hong Kong. During 2005, we sold one unit (1,900 sq. ft.) that was leased out in Fo Tan, Hong Kong. We operate our factory under the terms of the JV agreement. We lease additional office space in Hertfordshire, U.K.; Macau and Shenzhen, China; Dallas, Texas and Pasadena, California. We lease showrooms in Tsim Sha Tsui, Hong Kong and New York, New York and provide individual offices for sales personnel employed in Massachusetts. We are currently paying rent on two different houses for Mr. Howell and Mr. Scott in Hong Kong. We also leased a flat in Macau which has been made available to Mr. Chu, an officer of our Company.

24

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

On April 4, 2000 a lawsuit was filed by the Lemelson Foundation ("Lemelson") against us in Arizona for patent infringement. Lemelson claims to be owner of nearly 800 issued and pending patents, including the patent on Machine Vision and Automatic Identification (AutoID) operations. The Auto ID operation is used in machines that are part of our bonding and heat-sealing manufacturing processes. Lemelson was contesting that the use of machines that incorporate this patented technology infringes on their intellectual property ("IP") rights and therefore we are obligated to pay a royalty based on the use of this technology. The suit by Lemelson was stayed pending the outcome of Lemelson vs. Cognex, a similar suit filed by Lemelson, which had bearing on the Radica case with Lemelson. On January 23, 2004 a declaratory judgment was given in the Cognex case that Lemelson's patent claims are invalid. On September 9, 2005, Lemelson's appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit was denied and the judgment of the District Court was affirmed. Subsequently, Lemelson filed a Petition for Panel Rehearing and Rehearing En Banc to review the Court of Appeals' September 9, 2005 Order that affirmed the judgment of the District Court. On November 16, 2006 the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit affirmed its September 9, 2005 ruling and denied the Petition for Rehearing En Banc. The prior pending claim or litigation, specifically, Lemelson Medical Education Foundation v. ESCO Electronics, et al.; CIV-00-0660 PHX HRH in the U.S. District Court for the District of Arizona was dismissed with prejudice and final judgment was entered in favor of Radica on February 3, 2006.

In 2005, Radica and our subsidiary Radica (Macao Commercial Offshore) Limited (the "Radica parties") were involved in litigation initiated by AtGames Holdings Limited which challenged the exclusivity of our rights to the Play TV Sega Genesis games. In late December 2005, the arbitrator issued an interim decision in favor of Sega Corporation in its arbitration against AtGames. Subsequently, in January 2006, AtGames voluntarily dismissed (without prejudice) its complaint against Radica and Radica Macao. At present, there is no pending litigation or arbitration against us arising out of this matter. However, we are considering whether to take legal action against the other companies involved in this matter with respect to infringement of our intellectual property rights and, if such action is taken, counterclaims may be made against the Radica parties.

We reported a net profit for the year of $10.5 million or $0.54 per diluted share compared to $3.5 million or $0.18 per diluted share for 2004. During the years ended December 31, 2005 and 2004, we incurred goodwill impairment charges of $6.0 million and $3.5 million, respectively, all of which are related to the VGA reporting unit. As of December 31, 2005, the goodwill of this reporting unit has been fully written off.

Sales for the year increased by 31.9% to $162.8 million from $123.4 million in 2004 due to growth in the core Electronic Games and Youth Electronics branded product lines including our popular 20Q game, but were offset by lower VGA sales resulting from the current video game platform transition, as well as a decrease in Manufacturing Services sales, consistent with our strategic direction to emphasize our own branded products. Compared to sales in 2004, North American sales for the year grew by 34.1%, with European sales increasing by 35.2% and other international sales increasing by 16.0%. The following table shows a comparison of revenue by product lines:

Product Lines	Twelve months ended December 31,

Manufacturing Services	8,841	9,391
	-----	-----

Gross profit margin for the year increased from 33.9% to 37.4%, an increase of 350 basis points. The increase in gross margin for the year related primarily to improved sales mix of higher margin products (in particular a reduced percentage of lower margin VGA and Arcade Legends product lines as well as less Manufacturing Services) together with lower air freight and outsourced manufacturing costs.

Operating expenses for the year increased to $50.9 million from $39.5 million in 2004. The increase was due to the additional goodwill impairment charges in 2005, together with an increase in variable expenses, including selling expenses and incentive compensation, resulting from the increase in sales and profits, and increases in R&D expenses as well as certain administrative costs including legal and executive redundancy costs. The following table shows the major operating expenses:

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

CAPITAL RESOURCES AND LIQUIDITY

At December 31, 2005 we had $53.3 million in cash and investment securities, and net assets of $98.4 million as compared to $40.1 million and $91.1 million, respectively, at December 31, 2004. There was no debt at December 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004.

Property, plant and equipment increased to $14.5 million at December 31, 2005 from $11.5 million at December 31, 2004 primarily due to the completion of the factory expansion and our investment in SMT equipment necessary to comply with the European lead free soldering regulations.

Cash provided by operating activities increased from $16.7 million in 2004 to $17.2 million in 2005. The increase was mainly due to a decrease in inventories from $26.8 million at December 31, 2004 to $21.4 million at December 31, 2005, resulting from improved inventory planning and sales of closeout items. Receivables increased to $18.7 million from $18.4 million at December 31, 2004 reflecting increased sales during the year. Accounts payable and accrued warranty expenses at December 31, 2005 were $8.6 million compared to $11.8 million at December 31, 2004. This decrease was in line with the decrease of the year end inventory levels as a result of management effort in inventory control during the year. Accrued payroll increased to $3.8 million from $1.5 million over the same period due to bonus compensation accruals.

Cash used in investing activities increased from $1.2 million in 2004 to $5.0 million in 2005. This increase was caused by purchase of property, plant and equipment, primarily due to the aforementioned factory expansion and equipment purchases.

Cash used in financing activities increased from $1.9 million in 2004 to $2.3 million in 2005. The increase was mainly due to higher dividend payments.

During the normal course of business, we enter into licensing agreements and commitments with various third parties for the use of their inventor concepts and intellectual property. Certain of these agreements and commitments contain provisions for guaranteed or minimum royalty amounts during the term of the contracts. Historically, actual royalty payments exceeded guaranteed royalty amounts in our contracts. Additionally, we lease certain offices, warehouses and equipment under various operating lease arrangements. In the normal course of business, leases that expire will be renewed or replaced. Under the terms of a JV agreement with the local government in Dongguan, we are also committed to pay fees over the next 19 years, as described above under "Item 4. Information on the Company - Description of Business - Manufacturing Facilities".

As of December 31, 2005, we were obligated under various licensing, JV agreements, non-cancelable operating leases and capital commitments requiring future minimum payments as follows:

We had no derivative instruments or off-balance sheet financing activities during fiscal years 2004 or 2005. We believe that our existing cash and cash equivalents and cash generated from operations are sufficient to satisfy the current anticipated working capital needs of our core business.

We believe that our existing credit lines are sufficient to meet future short-term cash demands, including seasonal build up of inventory. We fund our operations and liquidity needs primarily through cash flow from operations, as well as utilizing borrowings under secured and unsecured credit facilities when needed. At December 31, 2005, we had general banking facilities including overdraft and trade facilities totaling $5.1 million available for immediate borrowing. During 2006, we expect to continue to fund our working capital needs through operations and the revolving credit facility and we believe that the funds are available to meet our needs. However, unforeseen circumstances such as severe softness in, or a collapse of, the retail environment may result in a significant decline in revenues and operating results, thereby causing us to exhaust our cash resources. If this were to occur, we may be required to seek alternative financing of working capital.

We believe that our existing capital structure, lines of credit and forecast cashflows are sufficient to fund the long-term cashflow needs of the Company. However should we decide to enter into any acquisitions in the future then we would need to re-assess our capital structure at that time.

Net income	2.8%	11.9%
	=====	=====

We reported a net profit for 2004 of $3.5 million or $0.18 per diluted share compared to $12.5 million or $0.66 per diluted share for 2003. The decline in net profit was in part the result of a pretax non-cash charge of $3.5 million for impairment of goodwill for the VGA or Gamester reporting unit. Despite an increase in sales of $18.2 million, income before tax decreased by $5.3 million (55%) and pretax profit before goodwill impairment decreased by $1.8 million (19%). The decrease was due largely to a sales mix shift to lower margin Play TV Legends sales, which accounted for $0.5 million of the decline, increased air freight ($1.5 million of the decline), outsourcing costs due to increases in demand in Q3 and Q4 ($1.5 million of the decline), and increased selling and advertising expenses ($3.5 million of the decline). Other factors contributing to the profit decline included a $0.6m charge against an underperforming license guarantee and inventory writedowns for certain discontinued product lines. The effective tax rate was 19.5%. The income tax expense increased by $3.7 million compared to 2003 due to a favorable tax adjustment recorded in Q4 of 2003.

28

Sales for the year increased by 17.3% to $123.4 million from $105.2 million in 2003 due to the success of Play TV Legends, 20Q and the Gamester(R) Race Pac, among other items. The following table shows the detailed revenue comparisons for the year by product lines:

	Year ended December 31,
Product Lines	2004	2003
(US$ in thousands)
Electronic Games	$ 80,640	$ 62,374
Youth Electronics	17,038	15,227

Manufacturing Services	9,391	13,305
	$ 123,399	$ 105,200

Gross profit margin for the year was 33.9% compared to 37.9% for the year ended December 31, 2003. This decrease in gross margin was in large measure due to the impact of higher mix of our lower margin Play TV Legends line plus the impact of the previously mentioned provision for an under-performing license, inventory writedowns for certain discontinued product lines and additional air freight and product outsourcing costs incurred to meet increased demand in Q3 and Q4.

Operating expenses increased to $39.5 million for the year from $31.0 million in 2003. The increase was due to variable expenses resulting from increased sales together with increased advertising expenditure ($8.8 million in fiscal year ended 2004 compared to $6.2 million in fiscal year 2003), increased research and development costs connected with external programming of software for Play TV games and the $3.5 million charge for impairment of goodwill.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ESTIMATES

We prepare our consolidated financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States. Management is required to make certain estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses. Below is a listing of accounting policies that we consider critical in preparing our consolidated financial statements. These policies include estimates made by management using the information available to them at the time the estimates are made, but these estimates could change considerably if different information or assumptions were used.

BAD DEBT ALLOWANCE

The bad debt allowance is an adjustment to customer trade receivables for amounts that are determined to be uncollectible or partially uncollectible. The bad debt allowance reduces gross trade receivables and is determined based on management's assessment of the collectibility of customer trade receivables having considered the business environment, customers' financial condition, historical collection trends and customer disputes. Management believes the accounting estimate related to the allowance for doubtful accounts is a critical accounting estimate because changes in the assumptions used to develop the estimate could have a material effect on selling and administrative expenses, net income and accounts receivable.

We have put controls in place to minimize bad debt exposure. Revenue is recognized provided that there are no uncertainties regarding customer acceptance, vendor agreements are put in place documenting the specific terms of the customer sales relationship or order, the sales price is fixed or determinable and credit checks are conducted periodically to ensure that collectibility is reasonably assured. Credit limits and payment terms are established based on the underlying criteria that collectibility must be reasonably assured at the levels of credit being extended. For customers experiencing financial difficulties, management performs additional analysis and may reduce credit limits or revoke credit based on the findings of the analysis. Management may also restrict credit terms of its customers if circumstances warrant by restricting payment terms to cash in advance, wire transfer or domestic letter of credit.

The movement of the doubtful accounts allowance by geographic region was as follows for 2005:

(US$ in thousands)	Balance at beginning of year	Charged to income statement	Utilization/ write-offs	Balance at end of year
	-----	-----	-----	-----
Allowance for Doubtful Accounts

U.S. and Canada	$ 126	$ 22	$ (9)	$ 139
Other countries	22	12	(8)	26
	-----	-----	-----	-----
	$ 148	$ 34	$ (17)	$ 165

Sales to countries other than U.S., Canada and the UK are primarily to third-party distributors and manufacturing services customers. These sales are generally secured by an irrevocable letter of credit resulting in no historical bad debts writeoffs and therefore no allowance for bad debts has been made. The U.S. and Canada's utilization of the provision was for the write off of unpaid receivables deemed uncollectible for several small customers. The increase to provision for other countries was made through the third quarter and was based on historical utilization rates as a percentage of sales.

On a consolidated basis, our five largest customers, Wal-mart (US), Toys R Us (US), Target (US), Argos (UK) and Hasbro (Asia), account for 61.6% of 2005 sales and 73.7% of total receivables at December 31, 2005. If any of these retailers were to experience financial difficulties, it could expose us to significant bad debt charges and related declines in earnings. Additionally, deterioration in the retail environment or the economy could adversely impact the trade receivables valuation which would increase our bad debt allowance, thus decreasing our earnings.

The following table summaries our doubtful accounts provision at December 31:

(US$ in thousands)	2005	2004	2003
	-----	-----	-----
Allowance for bad debts	$ 165	$ 148	$ 251
As a percentage of net sales	0.1%	0.1%	0.2%

Management believes that the current doubtful accounts allowance is adequate to provide for our expected probable bad debt losses.

ALLOWANCE FOR ESTIMATED SALES RETURNS

We record an allowance for estimated returns of non-defective products from customers. We generally do not accept returns of non-defective products, however, such a return may occur occasionally due to overstock by our customers, if we can maintain the same economic benefit by reselling the product at a similar margin. In circumstances where we accept return as a matter of contract or as a matter of practice, we recognize revenue only if the following criteria are met at time of sale: (a) our price to the buyer is substantially fixed or determinable at the date of sale; (b) the buyer has paid us, or the buyer is obligated to pay us and the obligation is not contingent on resale of the product; (c) the buyer's obligation to us would not be changed in the event of theft or physical destruction or damage of the product; (d) the buyer acquiring the product for resale has economic substance apart from that provided by us; (e) we do not have significant obligations for future performance to directly bring about resale of the product by the buyer and; (f) the amount of future returns can be reasonably estimated. These returns are different from those covered by our warranty allowance program (described under "Warranty" in this section) which is set up for defective products returns. The allowance for sales returns is based on historical trends and management's best assessment of sales returns as a percentage of overall sales.

Management believes this to be a critical accounting estimate because changes in the assumptions used to develop this estimate could materially affect key financial measures, such as sales, net income and receivables.

The movement in the allowance for estimated sales returns by geographic region was as follows for 2005:

(US$ in thousands)	Balance at beginning of year	Charged to income statement	Utilization/ write-offs
	-----	-----	-----
Allowance for Estimated Sales Returns

U.S. and Canada	$ 301	$ 177	$ (231)
Other countries	623	224	(609)
	-----	-----	-----
	$ 924	$ 401	$ (840)
	=====	=====	=====

The utilization of the allowance was mostly related to the return of over stock of products from customers which were anticipated at the end of 2004 and during 2005. In the U.K., the return allowance balance is adjusted monthly as a percentage of the prior six months of sales; in the U.S., the return allowance is adjusted quarterly as a percentage of the prior six months' sales. The percentage is based on historical data and is reviewed quarterly.

The following table summarizes our sales return provision at December 31:

(US$ in thousands)	2005	2004	2003
	-----	-----	-----
Allowance for sales returns	$ 485	$ 924	$ 1,390
As a percentage of net sales	0.3%	0.7%	1.3%

The 2004 and 2005 declines in the allowance as a percentage of net sales from prior years occurred because demand for our products was strong and sales to our third-party distributors, for which we do not accept return of non-defective products, increased significantly in both 2004 and 2005, reducing the need for the allowance for returns. The decline in the allowance from 2004 to 2005 was also impacted from a significant overstock return of our Nitro Battlerz(TM) product from a customer in the US in 2004; no significant individual overstock returns were received from our US customers in 2005.

Management believes that the current allowance for estimated sales returns is adequate to provide for 2005 related sales returns expected to be received during 2006. If non-defective returns were to exceed historical estimates, or if we were to experience large overstock returns, then we may have to take higher than anticipated charges in order to adequately increase the allowance which would decrease our earnings. For example, if in 2006, we were to experience returns resulting from a recall or overstocked product that caused a 25% increase from our estimated sales return provisions for 2005 that were based on historical return data, the impact would be roughly $125,000. Although our estimates were primarily based on historical data, there is no way to anticipate such an increase as actual returns may differ from our estimates.

ALLOWANCE FOR SALES PROGRAMS

We record an allowance for sales programs we offer to certain customers. Management believes this to be a critical accounting estimate because changes in the assumptions used to develop this estimate could materially affect key financial measures, such as revenue, net income and accounts receivable. This allowance is based on specific dollar-value programs or percentages of sales, depending on how the program is negotiated with the individual customer. The movement of this allowance by geographic region in 2005 was as follows:

31

(US$ in thousands)	Balance at beginning of year	Charged to income statement	Utilization/ write-offs	Balanc en ye
	-----	-----	-----	-----
Allowance for sales programs

U.S. and Canada	$ 1,388	$ 2,877	$ (2,265)	$
Other countries	523	1,114	(1,055)	$
	-----	-----	-----	-----
	$ 1,911	$ 3,991	$ (3,320)	$
	=====	=====	=====	=====

The additions to allowances were recorded monthly based on the cumulative total of the amounts granted under individual customer sales programs, including volume rebates. The utilization of the allowance related to customer claims made under various sales programs throughout the year. We request that all customers submit claims for annual programs by no later than February 28th of the subsequent year but typically we receive significant claims through June 30th of the subsequent year. At the end of the third and fourth quarter, management assesses the remaining provisions from the prior year and releases any provisions that we believe will not be utilized.

The following table summarizes our sales programs allowance at December 31:

(US$ in thousands)	2005	2004	2003
	-----	-----	-----
Allowance for sales programs	$ 2,582	$ 1,911	$ 2,893
As a percentage of net sales	1.6%	1.5%	2.8%

The decrease in the allowance for sales programs as a percentage of total sales from 2003 to 2004 was the result of an effort by management to replace allowances that were based on a certain percentage of sales with allowance that are based on specific advertising and promotional targets agreed to at the beginning of the year and applied to Radica products. Allowance for sales programs as a percentage of sales has remained consistent from 2004 to 2005.

Management has reviewed its existing allowances for sales programs and believes them to be adequate at year-end. Several factors, including poor demand of our product at retail could result in us providing higher sales incentives to our customers, which would decrease our earnings. We make every effort to control the inventories of individual products that are carried at retail in order to avoid making additional sales incentives due to overstocked products and subsequent markdowns of those products by our customers. However, we cannot predict consumer reaction to new products or if similar product introductions by competitors will have an adverse reaction on sales of our existing products. This unpredictability exposes us to potentially large charges to the allowance for sales programs, the total impact of which depends on several variables. The largest of these variables is the volume of slow-moving inventory at retail and the per-unit markdown of the product. For example, there are collectively almost 6,500 individual Wal-mart, Kmart, Target and Toys R US stores in the U.S. If we were to have a product that was fully distributed in those stores and the stores ended up with unanticipated excess inventories of 20 pieces per store and we offered a $5 sales incentive on each unit, the total impact of that charge would be a decrease in pretax earnings of $650,000. However, if that product had distribution in half of the total stores, the markdown would be $325,000. In accruing for the sales programs allowance, we include a charge in anticipation of such events. However, we typically are not aware that an overstock situation has occurred until the fourth quarter of the year.

ALLOWANCE FOR CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING AND ADVERTISING EXPENSES

We record an allowance for co-operative marketing and advertising costs incurred on Radica products by certain customers with which we agreed to share. Management believes this to be a critical accounting estimate because changes in the assumptions used to develop this estimate could materially affect key financial measures, such as selling expenses, net income and current liabilities. This allowance is based on specific percentages of sales or actual advertising dollars spent, depending on how the program is negotiated with the individual customer. The movement of this allowance by geographic region in 2005 was as follows:

32

(US$ in thousands)	Balance at beginning of year	Charged to income statement	Utilization/ write-offs	Balanc en ye
	-----	-----	-----	-----
Allowance for co-operative marketing and advertising expenses
U.S. and Canada	$ 909	$ 2,149	$ (1,502)	$
Other countries	287	424	(506)	$
	-----	-----	-----	-----
	$ 1,196	$ 2,573	$ (2,008)	$
	=====	=====	=====	=====

The additions to allowances were recorded monthly based on the cumulative total of the amounts granted under individual customer co-operative marketing and advertising programs. The utilization of the allowance related to customer claims made under various co-operative programs and promotions throughout the year. We request that all customers submit claims for annual programs by no later than February 28th of the subsequent year but typically we receive significant claims through June 30th of the subsequent year. At the end of the third and fourth quarter, management assesses the remaining provisions from the prior year and makes adjustments to the provisions as necessary.

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

The following table summarizes our sales programs allowance at December 31:

(US$ in thousands)	2005 -----	2004 -----	2003 -----
Allowance for co-operative marketing and advertising	$ 1,761	$ 1,196	$ 1,091
As a percentage of net sales	1.1%	1.0%	1.0%

The allowance for co-operative marketing and advertising expenses increased in 2005 as a percentage of total sales from 2004. This was the result of increased sales volume with certain customers that require higher promotional participation in their negotiated vendor programs. Similarly, the decrease in the allowance from 2003 to 2004 was the result of reduced sales as a percentage of total for these same customers.

Management has reviewed its existing allowances for co-operative marketing and advertising expenses and believes them to be adequate at year-end. Several factors, including potential customer demands for increased promotional support of our product at retail could result in us providing higher marketing and advertising allowances to our customers, which would decrease our earnings, assuming that sales remain the same regardless of whether or not the additional marketing and advertising fees were spent. For example, if we were to agree to allow a customer to increase its co-operative advertising allowance from 2% of net sales to 4% of net sales and we subsequently sell $10 million in product to that customer, the net decrease to earnings assuming sales remain consistent would be $200,000.

WARRANTY

We record a warranty allowance for costs related to defective product sold to customers. We have two types of warranty programs. The first type of warranty program grants sales credit to customers for all products returned to their stores as defective. The second type of warranty program ("the minimum warranty program"), which is also the more common program, offers a flat or minimum allowance negotiated with customers. Under the minimum warranty program, we issue sales credits based on the agreed minimum warranty even if the actual returns of defective products are lower than the minimum warranty allowance. If actual returns exceed the minimum warranty allowance, we would issue credits based on actual returns. Based on our experience in the past, actual returns are rarely lower than the minimum warranty allowance.

Management believes warranty allowance to be a critical accounting estimate because changes in the assumptions used to develop this estimate could materially affect key financial measures, such as cost of sales and net income. Additionally, the warranty allowance is based on historical trends and management's best assessment of what the defective return percentage will be for a given product. Projecting defective return percentages on new products can lead to deviations between recorded warranty allowances and actual defective returns. Significant negative deviations could have a material impact on our financial results, if large amounts of finished goods were found to be defective.

The movement of this allowance by geographic region is as follows:

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

33

(US$ in thousands)	Balance at beginning of year	Charged to income statement	Utilization/write-offs	Balance end year
	-----	-----	-----	-----
Warranty Allowance

U.S. and Canada	$ 771	$ 2,844	$ (2,147)	$
Other countries	299	542	(253)
	-----	-----	-----	-----
	$ 1,070	$ 3,386	$ (2,400)	$
	=====	=====	=====	=====

The following table summarizes our warranty allowance at December 31:

(US$ in thousands)	2005	2004	2003
	-----	-----	-----
Warranty allowance	$ 2,056	$ 1,070	$ 1,040
As a percentage of net sales	1.3%	0.9%	1.0%

Warranty allowance as a percentage of total sales has remained consistent in 2003 and 2004, but increased in 2005 primarily due to the strategic initiative in the U.S. to move our customers from regular warranty programs to minimum warranty programs. Despite our continued efforts at improving the quality of our products, there can be no assurance that we will continue to see the same defective product rates. New product introductions, changes to existing products or changes in material vendors and manufacturing subcontractors could all have a negative impact on our defective rates that could cause us to take additional charges to our allowance. For example, an increase in defective warranty allowances of 1% of 2005 sales would have decreased pretax earnings by roughly $1.6 million.

INVENTORIES

We value our inventory at the lower of cost or market. Inventory write-downs are recorded for slow-moving and obsolete inventory. Management uses estimates to record these write-downs. Management believes this to be a critical accounting estimate because changes in the assumptions used to develop this estimate could materially affect key financial measures, such as cost of sales, net income and inventory. Slow-moving and obsolete inventories are written-down to their estimated market value depending on the length of time the product has been in inventory and the forecast sales for the product over the course of the following year. Changes in public and consumer preferences and demand for product or changes in the buying patterns and inventory management of customers could adversely impact the level of inventory provision.

The following table summarizes our allowance for obsolete inventory at December 31:

(US$ in thousands)	2005	2004	2003
	-----	-----	-----
Allowance for obsolescence	$ 1,936	$ 1,353	$ 2,228
As a percentage of total inventory	8.3%	4.8%	12.6%

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

In 2003, we took significant provisions against slow-moving, commodity-type video game accessory products in the U.S., U.K. and Asia, most of which have been sold. This resulted in higher allowances as a percentage of total inventory than we experienced in 2004. In 2005, we took inventory against several slow moving items, such as the Atlas remote control car and certain VGA products.

Orders are subject to cancellation or change at any time prior to shipment since actual shipments of products ordered and order cancellation rates are affected by customer acceptance of product lines, strength of competing products, marketing strategies of retailers, changes in buying patterns of retailers and consumers and overall economic conditions. Unexpected changes in these factors could result in excess inventory in a particular product line, which could cause management to make material adjustments to the allowance.

Management reviews its inventories at the end of each quarter on an item by item basis and identifies products that it believes are obsolete or slow-moving. Management records a provision for a specific item based on several factors, including sell through data, the level of inventory at customers' retail stores, sales price of the item and length of time the item has been in inventory.

IMPAIRMENT OF GOODWILL

On June 24, 1999, we purchased Radica UK for approximately $15.9 million. During the quarter ended June 30, 2000, upon claiming certain breaches of warranty at Radica UK, we and the ex-shareholders of Radica UK mutually agreed to cancel certain loan notes such that the purchase price was reduced by $1.4 million. As a result, we recorded the excess of net assets purchased (goodwill) of approximately $12.1 million resulting from the adjusted purchase price. Goodwill having a net carrying value of $9.6 million at January 1, 2002, the date of adoption of SFAS No. 142, was allocated to the Video Games Accessories ("VGA") reporting unit.

The methods used in our testing of goodwill impairment are as follows: 1) We determine the fair market value of the VGA reporting unit by estimating the expected discounted future cash flows of the VGA reporting unit. In estimating the discounted future cash flows, we follow FASB Concepts Statement No. 7, Using Cash Flow Information and Present Value in Accounting Measurements, by taking into account our expectations about possible variations in the amount or timing of those cash flows, the risk-free rate of interest and the discounted interest rate. 2) We then compare the estimated fair value of the VGA reporting unit with the carrying value of the VGA reporting unit, including goodwill. 3) To the extent the fair value of the VGA reporting unit is less than the carrying value, the second step is performed which compares the implied fair value of the VGA reporting unit's goodwill to the book value of the goodwill.

In performing the goodwill impairment test for the year ended December 31, 2004, we recognized a goodwill impairment of $3.5 million as the implied fair value of the VGA reporting unit was determined to be $6.0 million. The facts and circumstances leading to the goodwill impairment charge in 2004 were primarily the result of lower forecasted sales and cash flows which were largely predicated by our new adopted strategy of concentrating on the innovative, higher margin sector of the VGA market. At December 31, 2004, our carrying value of goodwill was $6.0 million net of the impairment charge of $3.5 million.

In performing the goodwill impairment test for the year ended December 31, 2005, we recognized a goodwill impairment of $6.0 million as the implied fair value of the VGA goodwill was determined to be nil. The facts and circumstances leading to the goodwill impairment charge in 2005 were primarily as the result of a significant reduction in forecasted sales and cash flows which were largely predicated by the platform transition of the Xbox to the Xbox 360, the anticipated transition in 2006 of Sony Playstation 2 to Playstation 3, as well as lower forecasted sales and cash flows for VGA products due to decrease in market demands. Prior to the introduction of the Xbox 360 platform, we attempted to negotiate a licensing agreement to manufacture and distribute Xbox 360 video games accessories but was unable to reach an agreement with Microsoft. Accordingly, sales of VGA are expected to be significantly lower as compared to previous year. After this impairment charge, the carrying value of goodwill as of December 31, 2005 was nil.

DEFERRED TAX ASSETS

We recognized deferred tax assets for all deductible temporary differences and operating loss carryforwards for regular tax purposes. At each reporting date, we assess whether a valuation allowance is required to reduce the amount of the deferred tax amount to a remaining amount that is more likely than not to be realized. In assessing the need for a valuation allowance, we consider all available evidence, including projected future taxable income, tax planning strategies, historical taxable income, and the expiration period of the operating loss carryforwards. Differences in actual results from projections used in determining the valuation allowances could result in future adjustments to the allowances which could adversely affect our operating results.

Based primarily in our U.K. subsidiary's failure to generate profits, we recorded an allowance against the entire U.K. deferred tax asset of $4.2 million. Differences in actual results from projections used in determining the valuation allowances could result in future adjustments to the allowance.

During 2003, we put a new management team in place in the U.K. and altered the distribution strategy in that market. We expect these moves to return our U.K. operations to profitability. If this occurs, depending on the level of actual and projected profitability, we would then reverse the valuation allowance, potentially creating an income tax benefit in the future.

RECENTLY ISSUED ACCOUNTING STANDARDS

In December 2004, the FASB issued SFAS No. 123 (revised 2004), Share-Based Payments, which addresses the accounting for transactions in which an entity exchanges its equity instruments for goods or services, with a primary focus on transactions in which an entity obtains employee services in share-based payment transactions. This Statement is a revision to Statement 123 and supersedes APB Opinions No.25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, and its related implementation guidance. This Statement will require measurement of the cost of employee services received in exchange for stock compensation based on the grant-date fair value of the employee stock options, Incremental compensation costs arising from subsequent modifications of awards after the grant date must be recognized. We will adopt this Statement on January 1, 2006 under the modified prospective method of application. Under that method, we will recognize compensation costs for new grants of share-based awards, awards modified after the effective date, and the remaining portion of the fair value of the unvested awards at the adoption date.

35

In December 2004, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 151, Inventory

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

Costs -- An Amendment of ARB No. 43, Chapter 4 ("SFAS No. 151"). SFAS 151 clarifies that abnormal amounts of idle facility expense, freight, handling costs and spoilage should be expensed as incurred and not included in inventory cost as a component of overhead. Further, SFAS No. 151 requires that allocation of fixed and production facilities overhead to conversion costs should be based on normal capacity of the production facilities. The provisions in SFAS No. 151 are effective for inventory costs incurred during fiscal years beginning after June 15, 2005. SFAS No. 151 became effective for the Company on July 1, 2005. The adoption of SFAS No. 151 had no significant impact on our consolidated financial statements.

In May 2005, the FASB issued SFAS No.154, Accounting Changes and Error Corrections. SFAS No. 154 establishes, unless impracticable, retrospective application as the required method for reporting a change in accounting principle in the absence of explicit transition requirements specific to a newly adopted accounting principle. This statement will be effective for us for all accounting changes and any error corrections occurring after January 1, 2006. The impact on the consolidated financial statements will depend on new pronouncements that are subsequently issued.

In September 2005, the EITF issued EITF Issue No. 04-13 Accounting for Purchases and Sales of Inventory with the Same Counterparty. EITF 04-13 provides guidance as to when purchases and sales of inventory with the same counterparty should be accounted for as a single exchange transaction. EITF 04-13 also provides guidance as to when a nonmonetary exchange of inventory should be accounted for at fair value. EITF 04-13 will be applied to new arrangements entered into, and modifications or renewals of existing arrangements occurring after January 1, 2007. The application of EITF 04-13 is not expected to have a significant impact on our consolidated financial statements as it is now constituted.

In March 2004, the FASB Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF) reached a consensus on EITF Issue No. 03-1, The Meaning of Other-Than-Temporary Impairment and Its Application to Certain Investments (EITF 03-1). The guidance prescribes a three-step model for determining whether an investment is other-than-temporarily impaired and requires disclosures about unrealized losses on investments. The accounting guidance became effective for reporting periods beginning after June 15, 2004, while the disclosure requirements became effective for annual reporting periods ending after June 15, 2004. In September 2004, the FASB issued FASB Staff Position (FSP) EITF 03-1-1, Effective Date of Paragraphs 10-20 of EITF Issue No. 03-1 The Meaning of Other-Than-Temporary Impairment and Its Application to Certain Investments (FSP EITF 03-1-1). FSP EITF 03-1-1 delayed the effective date for the measurement and recognition guidance contained in paragraphs 10-20 of EITF Issue 03-1. In November 2005, the FASB issued FSP FAS 115-1 and FAS 124-1, The Meaning of Other-Than-Temporary Impairment and its Application to Certain other-than-temporary Investments. This FSP addresses the determination as to when an investment is considered impaired, whether the impairment is other-than-temporary and the measurement of an impairment loss. This statement specifically nullifies the requirements of paragraph 10-18 of EITF 03-1 and references existing other-than-temporary impairment guidance. The guidance under this FSP is effective for reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2005. The Company continued to apply relevant "other-than-temporary" guidance as provided for in FSP EITF 03-1-1 during fiscal 2005. The Company does not expect the implementation of FSP FAS 115-1 and FAS 124-1 will have a material impact on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

Messrs. Feely, Howell, Bengtson, Horton and Ms. Jeanne Olson have each entered into individual employment agreements with the Company. After giving effect to the latest renewals, the employment agreements are renewed automatically on an annual basis unless 90 days notice is given by either party, for periods of two years each, from July 2003 for Mr. Feely and from December 2002 for Messrs. Howell, Bengtson and Ms. Olson. The employment agreement for Mr. Horton from April 2003 continues unless 12 months notice is given by the Company or 6 months notice is given by the employee. Each employment agreement is terminable by the Company for cause. Under their agreements Messrs. Feely, Howell, Bengtson, Horton and Ms. Olson shall each receive minimum annual base salaries of $365,000, $250,000, $43,200, $238,500 and $275,000 (the amount for Mr. Horton is stated in U.K. currency as (pound)132,500), respectively. The agreement with Mr. Bengtson, in operation since December 1995, is for part-time services. Under the terms of their employment agreements Messrs. Additionally, in May 2001, Mr. Feely would have been granted 60,000 stock options at the then market price provided he achieved certain conditions as stated in the agreements; however, these were not achieved. In the agreements for Mr. Howell, he was granted 25,000 stock options per annum of the Company common stock at the then market price of $3.00 and $2.90 per share in May 2000 and 2001 respectively. Based upon 2002 performance the Company's Compensation Committee voted in March 2003 to accelerate the vesting of 60,000 options for Mr. Feely and 25,000 options for Ms. Olson and Mr. Howell. The acceleration of the stock options was approved in accordance with the original terms of the contract and these options would become vested in five years regardless of the achievement of the performance goals and therefore the acceleration did not result in a new measurement of the stock options for accounting purposes. In March 2003, Mr. Feely was granted 120,000 options at the then market price of $4.43. In September 2004, Ms. Olson was granted 30,000 options at the then market price of $8.24. At the Annual Shareholders Meeting in May 2004, the 2004 Omnibus Equity Incentive Plan which replaced the 1994 Stock Option Plan was approved. The 2004 Omnibus Equity Incentive Plan includes an authorization for a total of 500,000 shares of the Company's common stock to be issued under the plan and the plan will expire in 2014 unless earlier terminated.

In fiscal year 2003, an aggregate of 259,200 options (exclusive of the outside directors' options and net of stock options that were both issued and forfeited in the year) were granted to directors, officers and other employees under the Stock Option Plan to purchase the Company's shares at exercise prices ranging from $4.21 to $6.54 per share.

In fiscal year 2004, an aggregate of 137,000 options (exclusive of the outside directors' options and net of stock options that were both issued and forfeited in the year) were granted to directors, officers and other employees under the Omnibus Equity Incentive Plan to purchase the Company's shares at exercise prices ranging from $7.15 to $9.11 per share.

In fiscal year 2005, an aggregate of 82,500 options (exclusive of the outside directors' options and net of stock options that were both issued and forfeited in the year) were granted to directors, officers and other employees under the Omnibus Equity Incentive Plan to purchase the Company's shares at exercise prices ranging from $7.90 to $8.81 per share.

As a result of the foregoing, at the end of fiscal year 2005, after giving effect to all prior exercises and forfeitures of options, an aggregate of 1,238,152 options (exclusive of the outside directors' options) were outstanding at exercise prices ranging from $1.09 to $19.63 per share, and of such amount a total of 812,250 options were held by directors and executive officers of the Company as a group. Also, an aggregate of 115,000 outside director's options were outstanding at exercise prices ranging from $2.90 to $9.55 per share. During 2005, a total of 305,800 shares were issued upon the exercise of options, at exercise prices ranging from $2.0 to $8.35 per share. Prior to 2005, a total of 2,146,678 shares had been issued upon the exercise of options at exercise prices ranging from $0.57 to $11.0 per share.

INTEREST OF MANAGEMENT IN CERTAIN TRANSACTIONS

At the time of the Company's IPO in 1994, certain members of management who were also the principal shareholders of the Company, were parties to a shareholders agreement (the "Shareholders Agreement") with the Company which provided for certain matters relating to the management of the Company and ownership of its Common Stock. In January 1998, the Shareholders Agreement was amended to eliminate provisions respecting the election and removal of directors, restrictions on transfer and a right of first refusal. The registration rights provisions of the Shareholders Agreement remained operative.

Pursuant to the Shareholders Agreement, the Company agreed, at any time after February 16, 1996 and subject to certain specified conditions, to use its reasonable efforts to prepare and file one registration statement on behalf of each shareholder that is a party to the Shareholders Agreement (collectively, the "Shareholders") under the Securities Act of 1933, and to use its reasonable efforts to qualify the shares for offer and sale under any applicable U.S. state securities laws. The Shareholders Agreement also grants each Shareholder certain "piggyback" registration rights entitling each Shareholder, at any time after February 16, 1996, to sell Common Stock in certain registered offerings of equity securities of the Company. These "piggyback" registration rights are exercisable by each Shareholder only twice. The foregoing registration rights are subject to other limitations set forth in the Shareholders Agreement.

In the Company's Form 20-F for 2003, we reported that Albert J. Crosson, one of our directors, had a 1% beneficial interest in Crossfire, LLC, which in turn had a beneficial ownership of 450,000 shares of our common stock and the right for Crossfire to acquire an additional 400,000 shares over time from a limited liability company (RAD Partners 2001, LLC) which was controlled by RAD Partners 1999 LLC, one of our principal stockholders. Mr. Crosson has reported to the Company that in 2004 the additional 400,000 shares were acquired by Crossfire and RAD Partners 2001 was liquidated, but Mr. Crosson sold his interest in Crossfire to his four adult children. As a result, Mr. Crosson has disclaimed any beneficial ownership in common stock of the Company, other than through his ownership of stock options and restricted stocks acquired as a director of the Company.

Additional information on management transactions is contained under Item 6 above.

On January 5, 2004, the Company announced a quarterly dividend program. In fiscal 2004 and 2005, the Company paid $3.0 million and $3.4 million in dividends to its shareholders.

On January 6, 2006, our Board of Directors declared a dividend of $.05 per share payable on January 31, 2006, to shareholders of record as of January 16, 2005. The Board has also approved an initial target quarterly dividend of $.05 per share for subsequent quarters; however, the actual amount of each quarterly dividend, as well as each declaration date, record date and payment date, is subject to the discretion of the Board, and the target dividend level may be adjusted during the year at the discretion of the Board. The factors the Board is expected to consider in determining the actual amount of each quarterly dividend will include our financial performance and on-going capital needs, our ability to declare and pay dividends in light of other financial requirements, and other factors deemed relevant.

ITEM 10. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

MEMORANDUM AND BY-LAWS

A summary of the Company's memorandum and by-laws and other provisions pertaining to its common stock is contained in the Company's registration statement on Form F-3 filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on May 21, 1999 (file no. 33-79005). Such summary in that registration statement is incorporated herein by reference.

EXCHANGE CONTROLS AND OTHER LIMITATIONS AFFECTING SECURITY HOLDERS

The Company has been designated as a non-resident of Bermuda for exchange control purposes by the Bermuda Monetary Authority.

The transfer of shares of the Company between persons regarded as non-resident of Bermuda for exchange control purposes and the issuance of shares of the Company to or by such persons may be effected without specific consent under the Exchange Control Act 1972 and regulations thereunder subject to such shares being listed on the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotation System. Issues and transfers of shares involving any person regarded as resident in Bermuda for exchange control purposes require specific prior approval under the Exchange Control Act 1972.

There are no limitations on the rights of non-Bermuda resident holders of the Common Stock to hold or vote their shares. Because the Company has been designated as non-resident for Bermuda exchange control purposes, there are no restrictions on its ability to transfer funds in and out of Bermuda or to pay dividends to United States residents who are holders of the Common Stock, other than in respect of local Bermuda currency.

In accordance with Bermuda law, share certificates are only issued in the names of corporations or individuals. In the case of an applicant acting in a special capacity (for example, as an executor or trustee), certificates may, at the request of the applicant, record the capacity in which the applicant is acting. Notwithstanding the recording of any such special capacity, the Company is not bound to investigate or incur any responsibility in respect of the proper administration of any such estate or trust.

45

The Company will take no notice of any trust applicable to any of its shares whether or not it had notice of such trust.

As an exempted company, the Company is exempt from the usual Bermuda requirement which restricts the percentage of share capital that may be held by non-Bermudians, but as an exempted company the Company may not, unless authorized by its memorandum of association and with the consent of the Minister of Finance, participate in certain business transactions, including: (1) the acquisition and holding of land in Bermuda (except that required for its business and held by way of lease or tenancy for terms of not more than 50 years or with the Minister's consent, land by way of lease or tenancy agreement for a term not exceeding 21 years in order to provide accommodation or recreational facilities for its officers and employees); (2) the taking of mortgages on land in Bermuda to secure an amount in excess of BD$50,000; (3) the acquisition of any bonds or debentures secured on any land in Bermuda except bonds or debentures issued by the Bermuda Government or a public authority; or (4) the carrying on of business of any kind or type whatsoever in Bermuda, either alone or in partnership, except, among other things, the carrying on of business of the Company with persons outside Bermuda.

TAXATION

The following discussion is a summary of certain anticipated tax consequences of the ownership of Common Stock under Bermuda tax laws, Hong Kong income tax laws, Macau income tax laws, and United States Federal income tax laws. The discussion does not deal with all possible tax consequences relating to the Company's operations or to the ownership of Common Stock. In particular, the discussion does not address the tax consequences under State, local and other (e.g., non-Bermuda, non-Hong Kong, non-Macau and non-United States Federal) tax laws. Accordingly, each owner should consult his tax advisor regarding the tax consequences of the ownership of Common Stock. The discussion is based upon laws and relevant interpretations thereof in effect as of the date of this report, all of which are subject to change.

BERMUDA TAXATION

The Company is incorporated in Bermuda. At date of this filing, there is no Bermuda income, corporation or profits tax, withholding tax, capital gains tax, capital transfer tax, estate duty or inheritance tax payable by shareholders of the Company other than shareholders ordinarily resident in Bermuda. The Company is not subject to stamp or other similar duty on the issue, transfer or redemption of its shares of Common Stock. Furthermore, the Company has received from the Minister of Finance of Bermuda under The Exempted Undertakings Tax Protection Act 1966, an assurance that, in the event that Bermuda enacts any legislation imposing any tax computed on profits or income, or computed on any capital assets, gain or appreciation, or any tax in the nature of estate duty or inheritance tax, the imposition of such tax shall not be applicable to the Company or any of its operations, or to the shares, debentures or other obligations of the Company, until March 28, 2016. This assurance does not, however, prevent the imposition of any such tax or duty on such persons as are ordinarily resident in Bermuda and holding such shares, debentures or obligations of the Company or on land in Bermuda leased or let to the Company.

The United States does not have a comprehensive income tax treaty with Bermuda.

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

HONG KONG TAXATION

Under the laws of Hong Kong, a holder of shares of a company is not subject to Hong Kong tax on dividends paid with respect to such shares. Further, there is no tax on capital gain realized upon the disposal of investments, including investments in Common Stock, except that Hong Kong profits tax may be chargeable on assessable profits, to the extent that they arise in or derive from Hong Kong, arising on the sale or disposal of such investments where the transactions are or form part of a trade, profession or business carried on in Hong Kong. Hong Kong does not impose a withholding tax on dividends paid by the Company or its subsidiaries. In addition, the Company will not be subject to Hong Kong taxes as a result of its receipt of dividends from any of its subsidiaries.

Hong Kong stamp duty is levied on the transfer of Common Stock of Hong Kong companies at the rate of 0.02% on the fair consideration of the transfer. For companies not incorporated in Hong Kong, no stamp duty is chargeable on the transfer so long as the shareholders' registers are kept outside of Hong Kong.

As of February 2006, Hong Kong has repealed the estate tax duty on Hong Kong estates.

MACAU TAXATION

Under the Macau Offshore Law, there is no tax to be levied on the profits of a company generated from its offshore activities, defined as economic activities dedicated to foreign markets, pursued exclusively with non-residents, and by means of transactions in currencies other than the Macau pataca.

UNITED STATES FEDERAL INCOME TAXATION

General. The following is a general discussion of the material U.S. federal income tax consequences to a U.S. Holder (as defined below) of the ownership of Common Stock and does not address the U.S. tax treatment of certain types of investors (e.g., individual retirement and other tax-deferred accounts, life insurance companies, tax-exempt organizations, dealers in securities, traders in securities that elect to mark to market, persons liable for alternative minimum tax, persons that hold common stock as part of a straddle or a hedging or conversion transaction, persons whose functional currency is not the U.S. dollar and persons owning directly or indirectly (under constructive ownership rules) 10% or more of the Common Stock), all of whom may be subject to tax rules that differ significantly from those summarized below.

A "U.S. Holder" is a beneficial owner of Common Stock that is a U.S. citizen or resident, a domestic corporation, an estate subject to U.S. federal income taxation on a net income basis, or a trust if a court within the United States is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of the trust and one or more United States persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust.

Dividends. Under the United States federal income tax laws, and subject to the passive foreign investment company, or PFIC, and controlled foreign corporation, or CFC rules discussed below, if you are a U.S. holder, the gross amount of any dividend we pay out of our current or accumulated earnings and profits (as determined for United States federal income tax purposes) is subject to United States federal income taxation. If you are a noncorporate U.S. holder, dividends paid to you in taxable years beginning before January 1, 2009 that constitute qualified dividend income will be taxable to you at a maximum tax rate of 15% provided that you hold the shares for more than 60 days during the 121-day period beginning 60 days before the ex-dividend date and meet other holding period requirements. Dividends we pay with respect to the shares generally will be qualified dividend income provided that, in the year that you receive the dividend, the shares are readily tradable on an established securities market in the United States.

Distributions in excess of the earnings and profits of the Company will be treated, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, as a nontaxable return of capital to the extent of the U.S. Holder's basis in the Common Stock and then as gain from the sale or exchange of a capital asset. A corporate shareholder will not be eligible for the dividends-received deduction.

Sale or Exchange of Common Stock. Subject to the PFIC and CFC rules discussed below, if you are a U.S. holder and you sell or otherwise dispose of your shares, you will recognize capital gain or loss for United States federal income tax purposes equal to the difference between the U.S. dollar value of the amount that you realize and your tax basis, determined in U.S. dollars, in your shares. Capital gain of a noncorporate U.S. holder that is recognized before January 1, 2009 is generally taxed at a maximum rate of 15% where the holder has a holding period greater than one year.

PFIC Rules. We believe that shares should not be treated as stock of a PFIC for United States federal income tax purposes, but this conclusion is a factual determination that is made annually and thus may be subject to change.

In general, if you are a U.S. holder, we will be a PFIC with respect to you if for any taxable year in which you held our shares:

- o at least 75% of our gross income for the taxable year is passive income or
- o at least 50% of the value, determined on the basis of a quarterly average, of our assets is attributable to assets that produce or are held for the production of passive income.

Passive income generally includes dividends, interest, royalties, rents (other than certain rents and royalties derived in the active conduct of a trade or business), annuities and gains from assets that produce passive income. If a foreign corporation owns at least 25% by value of the stock of another corporation, the foreign corporation is treated for purposes of the PFIC tests as owning its proportionate share of the assets of the other corporation, and as receiving directly its proportionate share of the other corporation's income.

If we are treated as a PFIC, and you are a U.S. holder that did not make a mark-to-market election, as described below, you will be subject to special rules with respect to:

- o any gain you realize on the sale or other disposition of your shares and
- o any excess distribution that we make to you (generally, any distributions to you during a single taxable year that are greater than 125% of the average annual distributions received by you in respect of the shares during the three preceding taxable years or, if shorter, your holding period for the shares).

Under these rules:

- o the gain or excess distribution will be allocated ratably over your holding period for the shares,
- o the amount allocated to the taxable year in which you realized

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

- o the gain or excess distribution will be taxed as ordinary income, the amount allocated to each prior year, with certain exceptions, will be taxed at the highest tax rate in effect for that year, and
- o the interest charge generally applicable to underpayments of tax will be imposed in respect of the tax attributable to each such year.

If you own shares in a PFIC that are treated as marketable stock, you may also make a mark-to-market election. If you make this election, you will not be subject to the PFIC rules described above. Instead, in general, you will include as ordinary income each year the excess, if any, of the fair market value of your shares at the end of the taxable year over your adjusted basis in your shares. These amounts of ordinary income will not be eligible for the favorable tax rates applicable to qualified dividend income or long-term capital gains. You will also be allowed to take an ordinary loss in respect of the excess, if any, of the adjusted basis of your shares over their fair market value at the end of the taxable year (but only to the extent of the net amount of previously included income as a result of the mark-to-market election). Your basis in the shares will be adjusted to reflect any such income or loss amounts.

In addition, notwithstanding any election you make with regard to the shares, dividends that you receive from us will not constitute qualified dividend income to you if we are a PFIC either in the taxable year of the distribution or the preceding taxable year. Dividends that you receive that do not constitute qualified dividend income are not eligible for taxation at the 15% maximum rate applicable to qualified dividend income. Instead, you must include the gross amount of any such dividend paid by us out of our accumulated earnings and profits (as determined for United States federal income tax purposes) in your gross income, and it will be subject to tax at rates applicable to ordinary income.

If you own shares during any year that we are a PFIC, you must file Internal Revenue Service Form 8621.

CFC Rules. A foreign corporation generally is treated as a controlled foreign corporation ("CFC") for U.S. federal income tax purposes if more than 50% of its stock is owned by certain 10% shareholders. The Company believes that it is not currently a CFC because such shareholder test is not met. The treatment of the Company as a CFC would not in any event adversely affect any person who owns (directly or indirectly or by attribution) less than 10% of the Common Stock.

Backup Withholding and Information Reporting. If you are a noncorporate U.S. holder, information reporting requirements, on Internal Revenue Service Form 1099, generally will apply to:

- o dividend payments or other taxable distributions made to you within the United States, and
- o the payment of proceeds to you from the sale of shares effected at a United States office of a broker.

Additionally, backup withholding may apply to such payments if you are a noncorporate U.S. holder that:

- o fails to provide an accurate taxpayer identification number,
- o is notified by the Internal Revenue Service that you have failed to report all interest and dividends required to be shown on your federal income tax returns, or
- o in certain circumstances, fails to comply with applicable certification requirements.

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

If you are a non-U.S. holder, you are generally exempt from backup withholding and information reporting requirements with respect to:

- o dividend payments made to you outside the United States by us or another non-United States payor and

48

- o other dividend payments and the payment of the proceeds from the sale of shares effected at a United States office of a broker, as long as the income associated with such payments is otherwise exempt from United States federal income tax, and:
 - o the payor or broker does not have actual knowledge or reason to believe that you are a United States person and you have furnished the payor or broker:
 - o an Internal Revenue Service Form W-8BEN or an acceptable substitute form upon which you certify, under penalties of perjury, that you are a non-United States person, or
 - o other documentation upon which it may rely to treat the payments as made to a non-United States person in accordance with U.S. Treasury regulations, or
 - o you otherwise establish an exemption.

Payment of the proceeds from the sale of shares or effected at a foreign office of a broker generally will not be subject to information reporting or backup withholding. However, a sale of shares or that is effected at a foreign office of a broker will be subject to information reporting and backup withholding if:

- o the proceeds are transferred to an account maintained by you in the United States,
- o the payment of proceeds or the confirmation of the sale is mailed to you at a United States address, or
- o the sale has some other specified connection with the United States as provided in U.S. Treasury regulations, unless the broker does not have actual knowledge or reason to believe that you are a United States person and the documentation requirements described above are met or you otherwise establish an exemption.

In addition, a sale of shares or effected at a foreign office of a broker will be subject to information reporting if the broker is:

- o a United States person,
- o a controlled foreign corporation for United States tax purposes,
- o a foreign person 50% or more of whose gross income is effectively connected with the conduct of a United States trade or business for a specified three-year period, or
- o a foreign partnership, if at any time during its tax year:
 - o one or more of its partners are "U.S. persons", as defined in U.S. Treasury regulations, who in the aggregate hold more than 50% of the income or capital interest in the partnership, or
 - o such foreign partnership is engaged in the conduct of a United States trade or business, unless the broker does not have actual knowledge or reason to believe that you are a United States person and the documentation requirements described above are met or you otherwise establish an exemption. Backup withholding will apply if the sale is subject to information reporting and the broker has actual knowledge that you are a United States person.

You generally may obtain a refund of any amounts withheld under the backup withholding rules that exceed your income tax liability by filing a refund claim with the United States Internal Revenue Service.

ITEM 11. QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURE ABOUT MARKET RISK

MARKET RISK DISCLOSURES

The following discussion about the Company's market risk disclosures contains forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements are subject to risks and uncertainties. Actual results could differ materially from those discussed in the forward-looking statements. The Company is exposed to market risk related to changes in interest rates and foreign currency exchange rates. The Company does not have derivative financial instruments for hedging, speculative, or trading purposes.

INTEREST RATE SENSITIVITY

The Company currently has no debt and borrowings that are sensitive to interest rate fluctuation. Our exposure to market rate risk for changes in interest rates relates primarily to our investment securities. We manage our interest rate risk by maintaining an investment portfolio primarily consisting of debt instruments of high credit quality and relatively short average maturities. We maintain sufficient cash and cash equivalent balances such that we are typically able to hold our investments to maturity. However, there is no assurance that we won't decide to retire any of these instruments early or that they will not be called by the issuer. As there can be no assurance as to how long these investments will be held, we classify these securities as either available-for-sale or trading investments.

As of December 31, 2005, our cash equivalents and available-for-sale and trading investments included $15.9 million of debt securities, consisting primarily of money market funds and certificates of deposit. Notwithstanding our efforts to manage interest rate risks, there can be no assurances that we will be adequately protected against the risks associated with interest rate fluctuations.

FOREIGN CURRENCY RISK

The Company has net monetary asset and liability balances in foreign currencies other than the U.S. dollar, including the Pound Sterling, the Canadian dollar, the Hong Kong dollar and the Chinese RMB. International distribution and sales revenues usually are made by the Company's subsidiaries in the United States, United Kingdom and Canada, and are denominated typically in their local currency and the expenses incurred by these subsidiaries are also denominated in the local currency. As a result, the operating results of the Company are exposed to changes in exchange rates between the United States Dollar and the Pound Sterling or the Canadian dollar. The Company does not currently hedge its foreign exchange risk, which is not significant at this time. The Company will continue to monitor its exposure to currency fluctuations, and, where appropriate, may use financial hedging techniques in the future to minimize the effect of these fluctuations. If the Chinese Government were to trade its currency on the open market and the RMB were to increase in value relative to the U.S. dollar, we would experience increased factory and production costs, including labor and certain raw materials that could have a material impact on the cost of our products. See also "Item 3. Key Information - Risk Factors - Currency Valuation".

ITEM 15. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

An evaluation was carried out under the supervision and with the participation of the Company's management, including our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, of the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rule 13a-15(e) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934) at December 31, 2005. Based upon that evaluation, the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer concluded that these disclosure controls and procedures were effective. In addition, no change in our internal control over financial reporting (as defined in Rule 13a-15(f) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934) occurred during the fiscal year ended December 31, 2005 that has materially affected, or is reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting.

ITEM 16A. AUDIT COMMITTEE FINANCIAL EXPERT

During 2004, our board of directors determined that Theodore J. Eischeid qualified as an audit committee financial expert and that Mr. Eischeid was independent within the meaning of the listing standards applicable to Radica as a Nasdaq National Market company. However, on January 31, 2005, Mr. Eischeid was named President and Chief Operating Officer of Radica and resigned from the Audit Committee. Timothy R. Busch was then named Chairman of the Audit Committee in replacement of Mr. Eischeid. The board determined that Mr. Busch was an independent director within the meaning of such listing standards but made no determination that Mr. Busch would qualify as an audit committee financial expert. However, the board did determine that Mr. Busch met the financial sophistication requirement of such listing standards. On May 23, 2005, the board of directors determined that Richard E. Wenz qualified as an audit committee financial expert and that Mr. Wenz was independent within the meaning of the applicable listing standards and appointed him as the audit committee financial expert.

ITEM 16B. CODE OF ETHICS

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

The Company has adopted a Code of Ethics that is applicable to all its directors, senior management and employees. The Code of Ethics contains written standards that are reasonably designed to deter wrongdoing and to promote honest and ethical conduct and the other standards applicable to public companies. The Company's Code of Ethics is maintained on the Company's internet website at www.radicagames.com.

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

The Board of Directors and Shareholders
Radica Games Limited:

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Radica Games Limited and subsidiaries as of December 31, 2005 and 2004, and the related consolidated statements of income, shareholders' equity and comprehensive income, and cash flows for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2005. These consolidated financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Radica Games Limited and subsidiaries as of December 31, 2005 and 2004, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2005, in conformity with United States generally accepted accounting principles.

1. ORGANIZATION AND BASIS OF FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The Company's shares are publicly traded on the NASDAQ exchange.

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its subsidiaries. All significant intercompany transactions and balances have been eliminated on consolidation. The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with United States generally accepted accounting principles and are presented in US dollars.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand, cash in bank accounts, interest-bearing savings accounts, and time certificates with an initial term of less than three months. For purposes of the consolidated statements of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments with original maturities of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Investment Securities

Investment securities at December 31, 2005 and 2004 consist of certificates of deposit and money-market mutual fund investments. The Company classifies its investment securities in one of three categories: trading, available for sale, or held to maturity. Trading securities are bought and held principally for the purpose of selling them in the near term. Held-to-maturity debt securities are those securities in which the Company has the ability and intent to hold the security until maturity. All securities not included in trading or held to maturity are classified as available for sale.

Trading and available-for-sale securities are recorded at fair value. Unrealized holding gains and losses on trading securities are included in earnings. Unrealized holding gains and losses, net of the related tax effect, on available-for-sale securities are excluded from earnings and are reported as a separate component of other comprehensive income until realized. Realized gains and losses from the sale of investment securities are determined on a specific-identification basis and included in other income.

A decline in the fair value of an investment security below cost that is deemed to be other-than-temporary results in a reduction in carrying amount to fair value. The impairment is charged to earnings and a new cost basis for the security is established. In determining whether impairment is other-than-temporary, the Company considers whether it has the ability and intent to hold the investment for a reasonable period of time sufficient for a forecasted recovery of fair value up to (or beyond) the cost of investment and considers whether evidence indicating the cost of the investment is recoverable within a reasonable period of time outweighs evidence to the contrary. Evidence considered in this assessment includes the cause of the decline, the severity and duration of the decline, changes in value subsequent to year-end and forecasted performance of the investment.

Premiums and discounts are amortized or accreted over the life of the related held-to-maturity or available-for-sale security as an adjustment to yield using the effective-interest method. Dividend and interest income are recognized when earned.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

Trade Receivables

Trade accounts receivable are recorded at the invoiced amount and do not bear interest. The allowance for doubtful accounts is the Company's best estimate of the amount of probable credit losses in the Company's existing accounts receivable. The Company determines the allowance based on historical write-off experience. The Company reviews its allowance for doubtful accounts monthly. Past due balances over 90 days and exceeding a specified amount are reviewed individually for collectibility. Account balances are charged off against the allowance after all means of collection have been exhausted and the potential for recovery is considered remote. The Company does not have any off-balance-sheet credit exposure related to its customers.

Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost, determined by the weighted average method, or market. Write-downs are provided for potentially slow moving and obsolete inventory and inventory for which estimated net realizable value is below its carrying value based on management's analysis of inventory levels and future expected sales.

Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost. Depreciation of plant and equipment is provided on the straight-line method over the following estimated useful lives of the assets:

Plant, equipment and machinery	4 to 5 years
Furniture and equipment	3 to 7 years

In June 1994 the Company entered into a joint venture agreement with the local government to operate a factory. The joint venture agreement was established for the construction and operation of the factory. The Company contributed the cost of the construction of the factory to the joint venture while the local government contributed the land use rights of 50 years. The joint venture agreement term is 30 years after which it may be extended by 20 years to match the land use rights of 50 years. The joint venture partner has agreed to extend the joint venture agreement for 20 years when it expires without compensation and the Company intends to renew it. The payment for construction of the building is being depreciated over its estimated useful life of 50 years which corresponds to the term of the land use right. As the Company is depreciating the building over a 50-year period, the assets will have been fully depreciated at the end of such time. Costs of leasehold improvements are amortized over the estimated useful life of the asset (ranging from 2 to 5 years) or the term of the lease, whichever is shorter. Upon sale or retirement of property, plant and equipment, the costs and related accumulated depreciation or amortization are eliminated and any resulting gain or loss is included in the statement of income.

The Company's real property in Hong Kong consists of purchased office space in an office building that was built on land that is owned by the Hong Kong government. When the Company purchased the office space, there was no separate amount paid to the government for the land use right. In Hong Kong, substantially all properties or buildings are built on land owned by the Hong Kong government for which a developer or owner is required to pay a land premium fee to the government for the land use right. This fee is paid by the developer at the time the developer commences the construction of the building. The developer is solely responsible for the payment. Properties, including office space, in Hong Kong are purchased and sold at their current market value with no additional lease payment required to be made. The Company depreciates its property in Hong Kong over 50 years, which is the shorter of the estimated useful life of the property or the term of the land use right lease.

The Company expenses all mold costs in the year of purchase or, for internally produced molds, in the year of construction.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

Goodwill

Goodwill represents the excess of costs over fair value of assets of businesses acquired. The Company follows the provisions of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets. Goodwill and intangible assets acquired in a purchase business combination and determined to have an indefinite useful life are not amortized, but instead tested for impairment at least annually or if certain circumstances indicate a possible impairment may exist, in accordance with the provisions of SFAS No. 142. The Company evaluates the recoverability of goodwill and indefinite lived intangible assets using a two-step impairment test approach at the reporting unit level. In the first step, the fair value of the reporting unit is compared to its carrying value including goodwill. The fair value of the reporting unit is determined based upon a combination of multiple of earnings, discounted future cash flows and the projected profitability of the market in which it operates. In the case that the fair value of the reporting unit is less than the carrying value, a second step is performed which compares the implied fair value of the reporting unit's goodwill to the book value of the goodwill. In determining the implied fair value of the reporting unit goodwill, the fair values of the tangible net assets and recognized and unrecognized intangible assets are deducted from the fair value of the reporting unit. If the implied fair value of reporting unit goodwill is lower than its carrying amount, goodwill is impaired and is written down to its implied fair value.

Impairment of Long-lived Assets

The Company evaluates the recoverability of long-lived assets in accordance with SFAS No. 144, Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets. SFAS No. 144 requires long-lived assets, such as property, plant, and equipment, and purchased intangibles subject to amortization, be reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. Recoverability of assets to be held and used is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of an asset to estimated undiscounted future cash flows expected to be generated by the asset. If the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its estimated undiscounted future cash flows, an impairment charge is recognized by the amount by which the carrying amount of the asset exceeds the fair value of the asset which is the amount the asset can be bought and sold in a current transaction between willing parties.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue from product sales is recognized at the time of shipment and passage of title, which is in accordance with the terms of the sale, FOB shipping point. This represents the point at which the customer takes ownership and assumes risk of loss.

The Company records reductions to gross revenue for customer incentive programs, such as discounts and allowances to retailers and volume-based cash incentives. These customer incentives are determined based on the sale agreement with each individual customer and are provided for when the related revenue is recorded. The Company also records provisions against the gross revenue for estimated product returns in the period when the related revenue is recorded. In circumstances where the Company accepts return as a matter of contract or as a matter of practice, the Company recognizes revenue only if the following criteria are met at time of sale: (a) the Company's price to the buyer is substantially fixed or determinable at the date of sale; (b) the buyer has paid the Company, or the buyer is obligated to pay the Company and the obligation is not contingent on resale of the product; (c) the buyer's obligation to the Company would not be changed in the event of theft or physical destruction or damage of the product; (d) the buyer acquiring the product for resale has economic substance apart from that provided by the Company; (e) the Company does not have significant obligations for future performance to directly bring about resale of the product by the buyer and; (f) the amount of future returns can be reasonably estimated. These estimates are based on factors that include, but are not limited to, historical sales returns, analyses of credit memo activities and current known trends. Should these actual product returns and allowances exceed those estimates, additional reductions to the Company's revenue would result.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

Shipping and Handling Costs

The Company records costs incurred for the shipping and handling of the products as cost of goods sold in the consolidated statements of income.

Warranty

The Company accrues for the estimated cost of product warranties at the time revenue is recognized. The estimated cost of warranty obligations is based on historical experience of known product failure rates and the terms of product warranties.

Advertising

The cost of media related advertising is expensed as incurred. In addition, the Company offers discounts to customers who advertise Radica products through cooperative advertising programs. The cooperative advertising costs associated with customer benefit programs are accrued as the related revenues are recognized. The cooperative advertising costs are characterized as a cost rather than as a reduction of revenue if the Company receives a benefit that is sufficiently separable from the retailer's purchase of the Company's products and the fair value of the cooperative advertising benefit is determinable and greater than or equal to the cooperative advertising allowance provided to the retailer. Cooperative advertising costs not meeting these criteria are recorded as reductions in revenue. Advertising and cooperative advertising expenses are recorded as selling, general and administrative expenses in the consolidated statements of income and amounted to approximately $12,335, $10,620 and $7,614 for the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively.

Research and Development

Research and development costs are expensed as incurred. Research and development costs amounted to $4,908, $4,164 and $3,895 for the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively.

Foreign Currency Translation

Assets and liabilities of foreign subsidiaries whose functional currency is not the US dollar are translated into US dollars using the exchange rate on the balance sheet date. Revenues and expenses are translated at average rates prevailing during the year. The gains and losses resulting from translation of financial statements of foreign subsidiaries are recorded as a separate component of accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) within shareholders' equity.

Post-retirement and Post-employment Benefits

The Company does not have any post-retirement, post-employment or defined benefit plans. The Company's contributions to defined contribution retirement plans are expensed as incurred.

Income Taxes

Deferred income taxes are accounted for under the asset and liability method. Under this method, deferred income tax liabilities and assets are recorded to reflect the tax consequences in future years of differences between the taxable bases of assets and liabilities and the respective financial statement carrying amounts at each period end and operating loss carryforwards using enacted tax rates expected to apply in the year temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. A valuation allowance is recognized for any portion of the deferred tax asset for which realization is not considered to be more likely than not. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date.

Accounting for Stock Based Compensation

The Company applies the intrinsic-value-based method of accounting prescribed by Accounting Principles Board (APB) Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, and related interpretations including Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Interpretation No. 44, Accounting for Certain Transactions Involving Stock Compensation, an interpretation of APB Opinion No. 25, issued in March 2000, to account for its fixed-plan stock options. Under this method, compensation expense is recorded on the date of grant only if the then market price of the underlying stock exceeded the exercise price. SFAS No. 123, Accounting for Stock-based Compensation, established accounting and disclosure requirements using a fair-value-based method of accounting for stock-based employee compensation plans. As allowed by SFAS No. 123, the Company has elected to continue to apply the intrinsic-value-based method of accounting described above, and has adopted only the disclosure requirements of SFAS

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

In December 2004, the FASB issued FASB Statement No. 123 (revised 2004), Share-Based Payment ("SFAS No. 123R"), which addresses the accounting for transactions in which an entity exchanges its equity instruments for goods or services, with a primary focus on transactions in which an entity obtains employee services in share-based payment transactions. This Statement is a revision to Statement 123 and supersedes APB Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, and its related implementation guidance. This Statement will require measurement of the cost of employee services received in exchange for stock compensation based on the grant-date fair value of the employee stock options. Incremental compensation costs arising from subsequent modifications of awards after the grant date must be recognized. Registrants are required to adopt SFAS No. 123R at the beginning of the next fiscal year that begins after June 15, 2005. The Company will adopt this Statement on January 1, 2006 under the modified prospective method of application. Under that method, the Company will recognize compensation costs for new grants of share-based awards, awards modified after the effective date, and the remaining portion of the fair value of the unvested awards at the adoption date.

Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per share is based on the weighted average number of shares of common stock, and with respect to diluted earnings per share, also includes the effect of all dilutive potential common stock outstanding. Dilutive potential common stock results from dilutive stock options and warrants. The effect of such dilutive potential common stock on earnings per share is computed using the treasury stock method. Dilutive potential common stock has no effect on net loss per share as the effect would be anti-dilutive.

Comprehensive Income

Other comprehensive income refers to revenues, expenses, gains and losses that under United States generally accepted accounting principles are included in comprehensive income but are excluded from net income as these amounts are recorded as a component of shareholders' equity. The Company's other comprehensive income represented foreign currency translation adjustment and unrealized gains and losses on available-for-sale securities, net of tax.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with United States generally accepted accounting principles requires management of the Company to make estimates and assumptions that affect reported amounts of certain assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities as of and during the reporting periods. Significant items subject to such estimates and assumptions include the carrying amount of goodwill, property, plant and equipment and inventories, allowances for doubtful receivables and deferred tax assets and reserves for warranties, product returns and customer sales incentives. Actual results could differ from such estimates. Differences from those estimates are recorded in the period they become known.

Commitments and Contingencies

Liabilities for loss contingencies arising from claims, assessments, litigation, fines and other sources are recorded when it is probable that a liability has been incurred and the amount of the assessment can be reasonably estimated.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

In December 2004, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 151, Inventory Costs -- An Amendment of ARB No. 43, Chapter 4 ("SFAS No. 151"). SFAS 151 clarifies that abnormal amounts of idle facility expense, freight, handling costs and spoilage should be expensed as incurred and not included in inventory cost as a component of overhead. Further, SFAS No. 151 requires that allocation of fixed and production facilities overhead to conversion costs should be based on normal capacity of the production facilities. The provisions in SFAS No. 151 are effective for inventory costs incurred during fiscal years beginning after June 15, 2005. SFAS No. 151 becomes effective for the Company on January 1, 2006. The Company does not expect that the adoption of SFAS No. 151 will have a significant effect on its consolidated financial statements.

In May 2005, the FASB issued SFAS No.154, Accounting Changes and Error

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

Corrections. SFAS No. 154 establishes, unless impracticable, retrospective application as the required method for reporting a change in accounting principle in the absence of explicit transition requirements specific to a newly adopted accounting principle. This statement will be effective for the Company for all accounting changes and any error corrections occurring after January 1, 2006. The impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements will depend on new pronouncements that are subsequently issued.

In September 2005, the FASB Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF) issued EITF Issue No. 04-13, Accounting for Purchases and Sales of Inventory with the Same Counterparty. EITF 04-13 provides guidance as to when purchases and sales of inventory with the same counterparty should be accounted for as a single exchange transaction. EITF 04-13 also provides guidance as to when a nonmonetary exchange of inventory should be accounted for at fair value. EITF 04-13 will be applied to new arrangements entered into, and modifications or renewals of existing arrangements occurring after January 1, 2007. The application of EITF 04-13 is not expected to have a significant impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements as it is now constituted.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

In March 2004, the EITF reached a consensus on EITF Issue No. 03-1, The Meaning of Other-Than-Temporary Impairment and Its Application to Certain Investments. The guidance prescribes a three-step model for determining whether an investment is other-than-temporarily impaired and requires disclosures about unrealized losses on investments. The accounting guidance became effective for reporting periods beginning after June 15, 2004, while the disclosure requirements became effective for annual reporting periods ending after June 15, 2004. In September 2004, the FASB issued FASB Staff Position (FSP) EITF 03-1-1, Effective Date of Paragraphs 10-20 of EITF Issue No. 03-1 The Meaning of Other-Than-Temporary Impairment and Its Application to Certain Investments (FSP EITF 03-1-1). FSP EITF 03-1-1 delayed the effective date for the measurement and recognition guidance contained in paragraphs 10-20 of EITF Issue 03-1. In November 2005, the FASB issued FSP FAS 115-1 and FAS 124-1, The Meaning of Other-Than-Temporary Impairment and its Application to Certain other-than-temporary Investments. This FSP addresses the determination as to when an investment is considered impaired, whether the impairment is other-than-temporary and the measurement of an impairment loss. This statement specifically nullifies the requirements of paragraph 10-18 of EITF 03-1 and references existing other-than-temporary impairment guidance. The guidance under this FSP is effective for reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2005. The Company continued to apply relevant "other-than-temporary" guidance as provided for in FSP EITF 03-1-1 during fiscal 2005. The Company does not expect the implementation of FSP FAS 115-1 and FAS 124-1 will have a material impact on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

Reclassifications

Certain reclassifications have been made to prior year cash flows provided by (used in) operating activities to conform to the current year's presentation. The effect of currency exchange rate change on non-cash and cash equivalents items in 2004 and 2003 were reclassified to relevant line items in the cash flow statements. The reclassification resulted in an increase of $341 in the amount of net cash provided by operating activities in 2004 to $16,702 and a decrease of $563 in the amount of net cash used in operating activities to $7,537 in 2003. A similar reclassification was also made to cash flow from investing activities which resulted in an increase of $13 and $11 in the amounts of net cash used in investing activities in 2004 and 2003 respectively.

3. INVESTMENT SECURITIES

At December 31, 2005 and 2004, investment securities represent municipal fixed income and money market funds with readily determinable fair market values and certificates of deposit with original maturities in excess of three months. Investments classified as available for sale with maturities beyond one year have been classified as short-term based on their highly liquid nature and because the investments can be sold at any time and the Company intends to liquidate the investments within a year from the balance sheet date. As at December 31, 2005, the investment in certificates of deposit has a maturity within one year from the balance sheet date and has been classified as short-term investments.

Management classifies investments securities at the time of purchase and reevaluates such classification at each balance sheet date. At December 31, 2005 and 2004, investments in certificates of deposit of $9,909 and $9,864, respectively were classified as "available-for-sale" and accordingly are reported at fair value with unrealized losses of approximately $91 and $136 reported as a component of accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) in shareholders' equity, respectively. The Company also maintains investments of $6,019 and $2,592 classified as trading securities as of December 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively. These investments represent primarily municipal fixed income and money market funds subject to price volatility associated with any interest-bearing instrument.

As of December 31, 2005 and 2004, other assets of $833 and $854 respectively, comprise prepaid land use rights. The prepaid land use rights have a term of 50 years.

6. GOODWILL

On June 24, 1999, the Company purchased Radica UK for approximately $15,970. During the quarter ended June 30, 2000, upon claiming certain breaches of warranty at Radica UK, the Company and the ex-shareholders of Radica UK mutually agreed to cancel certain loan notes such that the purchase price was reduced by $1,399. As a result, the Company recorded the excess of net assets purchased (goodwill) of approximately $12,069 resulting from the adjusted purchase price. Goodwill having a net carrying value of $9,551 at January 1, 2002, the date of adoption of SFAS No. 142, was allocated to the Video Games Accessories ("VGA") reporting unit.

The methods used in the Company's testing of goodwill impairment are as follows: 1) The Company determines the fair market value of the VGA reporting unit by estimating the expected discounted future cash flows of the VGA reporting unit. In estimating the discounted future cash flows, the Company follows FASB Concepts Statement No. 7, Using Cash Flow Information and Present Value in Accounting Measurements, by taking into account the Company's expectations about possible variations in the amount or timing of those cash flows, the risk-free rate of interest and the discounted interest rate. 2) The Company then compares the estimated fair value of the VGA reporting unit with the carrying value of the VGA reporting unit, including goodwill. 3) To the extent the fair value of the VGA reporting unit is less than the carrying value, the second step is performed which compares the implied fair value of the VGA reporting unit's goodwill to the book value of the goodwill.

In performing the goodwill impairment test for the year ended December 31,

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

2004, the Company recognized a goodwill impairment of $3,536 as the implied fair value of the VGA reporting unit was determined to be $6,015. The facts and circumstances leading to the goodwill impairment charge in 2004 were primarily the result of lower forecasted sales and cash flows which were largely predicated by the Company's new adopted strategy of concentrating on the innovative, higher margin sector of the VGA market. At December 31, 2004 the Company's carrying value of goodwill was $6,015 net of the impairment charge of $3,536.

In performing the goodwill impairment test for the year ended December 31, 2005, the Company recognized a goodwill impairment of $6,015 as the implied fair value of the VGA goodwill was determined to be nil. The facts and circumstances leading to the goodwill impairment charge in 2005 were the result of a significant reduction in forecasted sales and cash flows which were a result of the platform transition of the Xbox to the Xbox 360, the expected transition in 2006 of Sony Playstation 2 to Playstation 3, as well as lower forecasted sales and cash flows for VGA products due to decrease in market demands. Prior to the introduction of the Xbox 360 platform, the Company attempted to negotiate a licensing agreement to manufacture and distribute Xbox 360 video games accessories but was unable to reach an agreement with Microsoft. Accordingly, sales of VGA are expected to be significantly lower as compared to previous years. After this impairment charge, the carrying value of goodwill as of December 31, 2005 was nil.

The US statutory rate has been used because the majority of the Company's taxable income arises in the US. The Company's subsidiary in China is a Sino-foreign joint venture enterprise and subject to a statutory tax rate of 27%. The joint venture enterprise successfully applied for the designation as an "Export Oriented Enterprise", which resulted in the receipt of tax rebates, which effectively reduced the tax rate to 12% in 2005, 2004 and 2003.

8. INCOME TAXES (Continued)

The following table represents the classification of the Company's deferred income taxes at December 31:

	2005	2004
		(unaudited)
Current deferred tax assets	$ 2,791	$ 1,330
Non-current deferred tax assets	572	953
Deferred tax charges	446	520
Total net deferred income taxes	$ 3,809	$ 2,803

As of December 31, 2005, the Company's United Kingdom (UK) subsidiary had approximately $13,000 net operating loss carryforwards which will carryforward indefinitely.

Under the provisions of SFAS No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes, the realization of the future tax benefits of a deferred tax asset is dependent on future taxable income against which such tax benefits can be applied and the consideration of any available tax strategies. All available evidence must be considered in the determination of whether sufficient future taxable income will exist. Such evidence includes, but is not limited to, the Company's financial performance, the market environment in which the Company operates, the utilization of past tax credits, and the length of relevant carryback and carryover periods. Sufficient negative evidence, such as cumulative net losses during a three-year period that includes the current year and the prior two years, may require that a valuation allowance be established with respect to existing and future deferred tax assets. Differences in actual results from available evidence used in determining the valuation allowances could result in future adjustments to the allowance.

Based on management's assessment of the need for a valuation allowance as at the balance sheet dates, the Company views the recoverability of the deferred tax assets, net of existing valuation allowances, as more likely than not to be realizable. The change in the valuation allowance during the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003 primarily reflected the net effect of the change in deferred tax assets in respect of tax losses carried forward of the Company's UK subsidiary.

The Company's operations involve a significant volume of transactions which cross a number of international borders. In addition, the Company's manufacturing operations are in China, where the negotiation and settlement of tax obligations with the local tax authorities are a normal occurrence.

The Company establishes provisions for its known and estimated income tax obligations. However, whether through a challenge of the Company's transfer pricing by one of the many tax authorities in international jurisdictions where the Company and its subsidiaries operate the Company's claim regarding lack of permanent establishment in China, or other matters that may exist such as China's value added taxes, the Company is exposed to possible additional taxation that has not been accrued as it is not probable and reasonably estimable. Management believes that the potential tax contingencies for these items are not expected to have a material adverse effect on the financial statements.

9. RESTRUCTURING CHARGE

In the second quarter of 2003, the Company recorded a restructuring charge of $87 for personnel costs relating to the closure of the UK R&D office, Radica Innovations (UK) Limited. The restructuring resulted in a workforce reduction of approximately 5 positions. During the year ended December 31, 2003, the Company completed the process of closing the UK R&D office and as of December 31, 2003, no restructuring reserve remained. During the years ended December 31, 2005 and 2004, no restructuring charges were incurred.

11. STOCK-BASED COMPENSATION

Stock Options

The Company's 1994 Stock Option Plan and 2004 Omnibus Equity Incentive Plan for employees and directors (together, the "Stock Option Plan") provides for options to be granted for the purchase of an aggregate of 4,200,000 shares of common stock at per share prices not less than 100% of the fair market value at the date of grant as determined by the Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors. Options to employees are generally exercisable over three to five years from the date of grant and vest, or are exercisable, in equal installments, the period beginning one year after the date of grant unless otherwise provided. Options granted to employees under the stock option plan must be exercised no later than ten years from the date of grant. The Company also maintains plans under which it offers stock options to directors. Pursuant to the terms of the plans under which directors are eligible to receive options, each director is entitled to receive options to purchase common stock upon initial election to the Board and at each subsequent quarterly Board meeting. Options are exercisable during the period beginning one year after the date of grant.

In 2001, the Company issued stock options to management based on the terms of various employment contracts. Based upon 2002 performance, the Company's Compensation Committee voted in March 2003 to accelerate the vesting of 110,000 options. The acceleration of the stock options was approved in accordance with the original terms of the contract and these options would vest in five years regardless of the achievement of the performance goals and therefore the acceleration did not result in a new measurement of the stock options.

Pro forma information regarding net income and earnings per share is required by SFAS No. 123, and has been determined as if the Company had accounted for its employee stock options under the fair value method of SFAS No. 123. The weighted average fair value of stock options at date of grant were $2.78, $2.70 and $1.47 per option for the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively. The values were estimated using the Black-Scholes option pricing model with the following weighted average assumptions:

Expected life of options	3.2 years	3.5 years	3.6
Risk-free interest rate	4.0%	3.6%	2.

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

Expected volatility of underlying stock	50%	45%
Dividends	2.2%	1.9%

The Black-Scholes option pricing models require the input of highly subjective assumptions, including the expected volatility of stock price. Because changes in subjective input assumptions can materially affect the fair value estimate, in management's opinion, the existing model does not necessarily represent the estimated fair value of freely tradable fully transferable options without vesting restrictions which differ from the Company's stock option awards.

Had the Company accounted for its stock option plans by recording compensation expenses based on the fair value at grant date for such awards consistent with the method of SFAS No. 123, the Company's net income and earnings per share would have been adjusted to the pro forma amounts disclosed in Note 2 to the consolidated financial statements.

Common Stock

The Company issued 1,492, 2,272 and 3,073 shares of common stock during the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively, to directors who elected to receive some or all of their directors' fees in shares of the Company in lieu of cash. Shares issued, which were valued at the then current market price are recorded as an expense in the income statement and amounted to $8, $21 and $20 for the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively.

Restricted Common Stock

Commencing in May 2005, upon each annual re-election to the Board of Directors, each outside director and the Chairman of the Board is entitled to receive 600 shares of restricted common stock per quarter commencing upon such re-election date (i.e. 2,400 shares per annum) at the then current market price. The weighted average price of the restricted common stock granted during 2005 was $8.75 per share. These shares become free of any restrictions, in equal installments, over two years from the date of grant.

In addition, upon the initial election or appointment of a new outside director to the Board of Directors, such director is entitled to receive 5,000 shares of restricted common stock at the then-current market price. These shares become free of any restrictions, in equal installments, over two years from the date of grant.

The Company issued 35,200, nil and nil shares of restricted common stock during the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively, to members of the Board of Directors as compensation for their services. The Company records deferred stock compensation related to the restricted shares of common stock which was measured based on the fair market value on the date of grant and is being amortized over the vesting period of two years. As of December 31, 2005, the Company had approximately $203 of unamortized deferred stock compensation related to restricted shares of common stock. Amortization of deferred stock compensation expense was $105, nil, and nil for the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively. Future amortization of deferred stock compensation relates to restricted shares of common stock is estimated to be as follows:

	Amortization of deferred stock compensation
2006	134
2007	69

	$ 203

12. RETIREMENT PLANS

In Hong Kong, the Company contributes to a mandatory provident fund and a defined contribution retirement plan covering substantially all employees. Under these plans, eligible employees contribute amounts through payroll deductions up to a certain percentage of the employee salary, supplemented by employer contributions ranging from 5% to 10% of individual salary depending on the years of service. The expense related to the Company's contributions was $237, $198 and $253 for the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively.

Radica's US and UK employees are eligible to participate in savings plans administered by independent trustees, all of which are defined contribution plans. The expense related to the Company's contributions was $121, $118 and $74 for the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively.

13. FAIR VALUE OF FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The amounts reported for cash and cash equivalents, trade accounts receivable and trade accounts payable are considered to approximate fair values because of the short duration of these instruments.

Investment securities (both available-for-sale and trading securities) are carried at fair values which are based on quoted prices at the reporting date.

14. PLEDGE OF ASSETS

At December 31, 2005, the Company has general banking facilities including overdraft and trade facilities totaling $5,050 available for immediate borrowing. The facilities are collateralized by leasehold land and buildings with an aggregate net book value of $1,969.

15. COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

Leases

The Company leases certain offices, warehouses and equipment under various operating lease arrangements. The rental expense under the operating leases was approximately $849, $761 and $589 for the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, respectively. In the normal course of business, leases that expire are renewed or replaced by leases on other properties. As of December 31, 2005, the Company was obligated under non-cancelable operating leases requiring future minimum rental payments as follows:

	Operating leases

Joint Venture Agreement

As of December 31, 2005, the Company is committed to pay a total of $3,263 in varying amounts over the remaining initial term of the joint venture agreement of 30 years until 2024 under the terms of the joint venture agreement with the local government in Dongguan, China (see note 2). The joint venture agreement term is 30 years after which it may be extended by 20 years to match the land use rights of 50 years. The joint venture partner has agreed to extend the joint venture agreement for 20 years when it expires without compensation and the Company intends to renew it. Upon expiration, the joint venture agreement may be extended by 20 years to match the land use right of 50 years. Payments to the joint venture partner over the renewal period will be subject to negotiation between the Company and the joint venture partner at that time.

Warranties

The Company provides product warranties to its customers for a period of 90 days from the date of purchase for games and one year for video game accessories products. Details of the movement in the warranty provision during the years are presented in note 18.

Licensing Commitments

In the normal course of business, the Company enters into certain licensing agreements and commitments with various third parties for the use of their inventor concepts and intellectual property. Certain of these agreements and commitments contain provisions for minimum royalty amounts during the term of the contracts. Under the terms of agreements which contain provisions for future minimum payments, the Company is obligated to pay royalty amounts as follows:

For the years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003, actual royalty payments made under contracts with minimum royalty provisions exceeded the minimum royalty amounts.

Capital Commitments

15. COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES (Continued)

Litigation

On April 4, 2000 a lawsuit was filed by the Lemelson Foundation ("Lemelson") against the Company in Arizona Court for patent infringement. Lemelson claims to be owner of nearly 800 issued and pending patents, including the patent on Machine Vision and Automatic Identification (AutoID) operations. The Auto ID operation is used in machines that are part of the Company's bonding and heat-sealing manufacturing processes. Lemelson was contesting that the use of machines that incorporate this patented technology infringes on their intellectual property ("IP") rights and therefore the Company is obligated to pay a royalty based on the use of this technology. The suit by Lemelson was stayed pending the outcome of Lemelson vs. Cognex, a similar suit filed by Lemelson, which had bearing on the Radica case with Lemelson. On January 23, 2004 a declaratory judgment was given in the Cognex case that Lemelson's patent claims are invalid. On September 9, 2005, Lemelson's appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit was denied and the judgment of the District Court was affirmed. Subsequently, Lemelson filed a Petition for Panel Rehearing and Rehearing En Banc to review the Court of Appeals' September 9, 2005 Order that affirmed the judgment of the District Court. On November 16, 2005 the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit affirmed its September 9, 2005 ruling and denied the Petition for Rehearing En Banc. The prior pending claim or litigation, specifically, Lemelson Medical Education Foundation v. ESCO Electronics, et al.; CIV-00-0660 PHX HRH in the U.S. District Court for the District of Arizona was dismissed with prejudice and final judgment was entered in favor of Radica on February 3, 2006.

In 2005, the Company and its subsidiary Radica (Macao Commercial Offshore) Limited (the "Radica parties") were involved in litigation initiated by AtGames Holdings Limited which challenged the exclusivity of Radica's rights to the Play TV Sega Genesis games. In late December 2005, the arbitrator issued an interim decision in favor of Sega Corporation in its arbitration against AtGames. Subsequently, in January 2006, AtGames voluntarily dismissed (without prejudice) its complaint against Radica and Radica Macao. At present, there is no pending litigation or arbitration against Radica arising out of this matter. However, the Company is considering whether to take legal action against the other companies involved in this matter with respect to infringement of the Company's intellectual property rights and, if such action is taken, counterclaims may be made against the Radica parties.

16. CONCENTRATIONS OF RISK

Dependence on Major Customers

Historically, a significant portion of the Company's sales have been concentrated with a few large retail customers. Most of the Company's retail customers operate on a purchase order basis and the Company does not have long-term contracts with its retail customers. While the Company believes it has good relationships with its major retail customers, the loss of one or more of these retail customers would have an adverse effect on its operating results.

(YEARS ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2005, 2004 AND 2003)
(US dollars in thousands, except per share data)

16. CONCENTRATIONS OF RISK (Continued)

The top six customers for each of the three years ended December 31, 2005, 2004 and 2003 were as follows:

CUSTOMER NAME	% OF SALES FOR THE FISCAL YEAR
	2005	2004	2003
1. Wal-Mart (USA)	30.8%	24.5%	31.9%
2. Target (USA)	11.9%	9.6%	5.5%
3. Toys`R`Us (USA)	8.9%	10.0%	8.9%
4. Kohl's (USA)	5.5%	2.6%	2.5%
5. Argos (U.K.)	4.6%	6.7%	8.0%
6. Hasbro (USA)	3.3%	4.5%	8.2%

Accounts receivable of the Company are subject to a concentration of credit risk with customers in the North American and the United Kingdom retail sector and customers in the Company's manufacturing services. The Company performs ongoing credit evaluations of its customers' financial condition and generally requires no collateral from its customers.

Dependence on Suppliers and Subcontractors

The Company is dependent on suppliers for the components and parts that it assembles to produce its products. An interruption of the supply of LCDs, semiconductor chips or other supplies from a supplier could result in significant production delays. Additionally, recent increases in oil prices have resulted in significant price increases from suppliers of plastics. Most of the Company's products are primarily made from plastic. While the Company's products also contain significant electronic components and the cost of the plastic may not be the most significant material costs, if oil prices continue to rise, it could result in additional increases in the price of plastic, which would increase its product costs and subsequently reduce the Company's profits. The Company is also encountering increases in the costs of other materials such as copper, which is used in a number of its electronic components, that could also potentially impact product costs.

The Company also relies on outside manufacturers for production of some of its electronic games and video game accessories. While the majority of the Company's production occurs in its own factory, manufacturer delays or shutdowns could have a significant impact on future sales of certain products.

Licenses and Royalties

The Company has entered into various license and royalty agreements in which it pays fees in exchange for rights to use product inventions or trademarked names, shapes and likenesses for use in development of its product lines. The agreements generally include minimum fee guarantees based on a reasonable expectation of the product sales to be generated throughout the life of the agreement. See note 15 for further information. The Company's license and royalty agreements are based on a fixed percentage of sales made during the period in order to maintain or extend the rights to its existing licenses. Several of the Company's licenses apply to products that generate a large volume of sales. Were the Company unable to maintain these licenses or renew them upon expiration, the lost sales could have a significant impact on future earnings.

17. SEGMENT INFORMATION

The Company's chief operating decision-maker (or "CODM") is comprised of a group of executive management. The Company's CODM reviews operating results and operating plans and makes resource allocation decisions on a company-wide or aggregate basis. The Company has one reportable segment which is the Games and Youth Electronic business. This business develops, manufactures and markets a diverse line of games and electronic entertainment products. In prior years, the Company had disclosed the Video Game Accessories ("VGA") business as a reportable segment. However, VGA is no longer a reportable segment in 2005. The Company's CODM no longer views the VGA business as a separate segment for either reporting purposes or for making decisions about resource allocation as the VGA business is immaterial (VGA business represented 4.5% of the consolidated revenue for 2005). Accordingly, as of and for the year ended December 31, 2005, the Company has only one reportable segment.

Revenues from external customers by product category including revenue derived from manufacturing services are summarized as follows:

	2005	2004	2003
	-----	-----	-----
Electronic Games	$ 125,965	$ 80,640	$ 62,374
Youth Electronics	17,868	17,038	15,227

Video Games Accessories	7,266	12,840	14,294

	-----	-----	-----
Total net revenues	$ 162,779	$ 123,399	$ 105,200
	=====	=====	=====

Manufacturing services is not considered an operating segment because the CODM has not analyzed or assessed the performance of manufacturing services as a separate line of business or an operating segment, but rather as a type of service that generates auxiliary income to the Company and helps fill excessive production capacity during non-peak production seasons.

SECTION 2 BONUS AND PAYMENT

2.1. Bonus Amount. In case of a Change in Control that occurs on or before March 1, 2007, or a Change in Control that occurs as a result of a definitive agreement that is signed on or before March 1, 2007, the amount of the Bonus will be calculated as set forth below; provided that for any Transaction Price between a Transaction Price listed below (above $197,000,000) and the next higher price, the amount of the Bonus will be calculated by interpolating between the relevant Bonus and the next higher Bonus amount:

However, nothing in this Agreement precludes the Executive or Radica from bringing any action or proceeding in any court for the purposes of enforcing the provisions of this Section 6(a).

(b) TO THE EXTENT PERMITTED BY LAW, THE EXECUTIVE AND RADICA WAIVE ANY AND ALL RIGHTS TO A JURY TRIAL.

(c) Executive acknowledges that Radica would be harmed by a breach of Section 3 hereof and that, in addition to any other remedy, Radica shall be entitled to injunctive relief.

(d) THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE GOVERNED BY THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF NEVADA.

Incumbent Directors means individuals who, on January 1, 2005, constitute the Board of Directors of Radica, provided that any person becoming a director subsequent to January 1, 2005, whose election or nomination for election was approved by a vote of at least two-thirds of the Incumbent Directors then on the Board (either by a specific vote or by approval of the proxy statement of Radica in which such person is named as a nominee for director, without written objection to such nomination), shall also be an Incumbent Director.

6.7. Radica means Radica Games Limited.

The fair market value of any non-cash consideration will be determined in good faith by the Compensation Committee of the Board; provided that the fair market value of any security for which there is an established public market will be equal to the average of the closing market prices for such security over the ten trading days prior to the Transaction Date and provided further that in their evaluation of any such non-cash consideration for which there is not an established public market, the Compensation Committee will seek and rely upon the advice of an outside

The parties acknowledge that the provisions described above in this Section 6.13 reflect their intention to calculate the Transaction Price. In the event any definitive agreement for the sale of Radica approaches this issue in a manner not addressed in this Agreement, the parties will negotiate in good faith to make any adjustments to the methodology for calculating the Transaction Price as may be necessary and appropriate to fairly implement the intention of the parties as reflected in this Agreement.

It is entered into without reliance on any promise or representation other than those expressly contained herein, and it cannot be amended except in writing signed by both parties.

The terms and provisions of this Agreement are intended to be separate and divisible provisions and if, for any reason, any one or more of them is held to be invalid or unenforceable, neither the validity nor the enforceability of any other provision of this Agreement shall thereby be affected. The parties hereto acknowledge and agree that the potential restrictions on the Executive's future employment imposed by Section 3 of this Agreement are reasonable in both duration and geographic scope and in all other respects. If for any reason any court of competent jurisdiction shall find any provisions of Section 3 of this Agreement unreasonable in duration or geographic scope or otherwise, the Executive, Radica and Radica UK agree that the restrictions and prohibitions contained therein shall be automatically reformed to the fullest extent allowed under applicable law in such jurisdiction.

In the event that the Executive challenges the enforceability of this Agreement and a court finds that this Agreement is unenforceable, the Executive shall repay to Radica an amount equal to the Consideration provided for in Section 2 within 10 business days following such determination.

6. Disputes; Governing Law

(a) The Executive, Radica and Radica UK irrevocably submit to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of any court located in England or Wales over any controversy or claim between the Executive and Radica and Radica UK arising out of or relating to or concerning this Agreement. Executive, Radica and Radica UK (i) acknowledge that the forum stated in this Section 6(a) has a reasonable relation to this Agreement and to the relationship between the Executive, Radica and Radica UK and that the submission to the forum will apply even if the forum chooses to apply non-forum law, (ii) waive, to the extent permitted by law, any objection to personal jurisdiction or to the laying of venue of any action or proceeding in the forum stated in this Section 6(a), (iii) agree not to commence any such action or proceeding in any forum other than the one stated in this Section 6(a) and (iv) agree that, to the extent permitted by law, a final and non-appealable judgment in any such action or proceeding in any such court will be conclusive and binding on the Executive, Radica and Radica UK. However, nothing in this Agreement precludes the Executive or Radica or Radica UK from bringing any action or proceeding in any court for the purposes of enforcing the provisions of this Section 6(a).

Edgar Filing: RADICA GAMES LTD - Form 20-F

(b) TO THE EXTENT PERMITTED BY LAW, THE EXECUTIVE, RADICA AND RADICA UK WAIVE ANY AND ALL RIGHTS TO A JURY TRIAL.

(c) Executive acknowledges that Radica and Radica UK would be harmed by a breach of Section 3 hereof and that, in addition to any other remedy, Radica shall be entitled to injunctive relief.

(d) THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE GOVERNED BY THE LAWS OF ENGLAND AND WALES.

7. Survival.

Any termination of the Executive's employment after the Applicable Date shall have no effect on the continuing operation of this Agreement.

8. Notices.

For purposes of this Agreement, all notices and other communications required or permitted hereunder shall be in writing and shall be deemed to have been duly given when delivered or five (5) days after deposit in the United States mail, certified and return receipt requested, postage prepaid, to such address as either party may have furnished to the other in writing in accordance herewith, except that notices of change of address shall be effective only upon receipt.

9. Waiver.

If either party should waive any breach of any provisions of this Agreement, he or it shall not thereby be deemed to have waived any preceding or succeeding breach of the same or any other provision of this Agreement.

10. Assignment.

This Agreement and any rights or obligations hereunder may be assigned by Radica and Radica UK to any successor in interest to Radica's and Radica UK's business. This Agreement may not be assigned by Executive.
