NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unaudited)

1. BASIS OF PRESENTATION

In the opinion of management, the accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements of Dole Food Company, Inc. and its consolidated subsidiaries (Dole or the Company) include all adjustments necessary, which are of a normal recurring nature, to present fairly the Company's financial position as of March 27, 2004 and January 3, 2004; its results of operations for the quarters ended March 27, 2004 and March 22, 2003; and its cash flows for the quarters ended March 27, 2004 and March 22, 2003. The Company operates under a 52/53-week year. The quarters ended March 27, 2004 and March 22, 2003 are twelve weeks in duration. For a summary of significant accounting policies used in the preparation of these financial statements, refer to the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Item 8 of the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K (Form 10-K) for the year ended January 3, 2004.

On March 28, 2003, the Company completed the going-private merger transaction with DHM Holding Company, Inc. (HoldCo) described in the Company's Form 10-K for the year ended January 3, 2004. As a result of this transaction, the Company's results of operations, financial position and cash flows prior to the date of the going-private merger transaction are presented as the Predecessor. The going-private merger transaction and the Company's results of operations, financial position and cash flows thereafter are presented as the Successor.

The going-private merger transaction has been accounted for as a purchase at the HoldCo level with the related purchase accounting pushed down to the Company. For convenience, the allocation of the purchase price was done as of March 23, 2003, the first day of the Company's 2003 second fiscal quarter.

Interim results are subject to seasonal variations and are not necessarily indicative of the results of operations for a full year. The Company's operations are sensitive to a number of factors including weather-related phenomena and their effects on industry volumes, prices, product quality and costs. Operations are also sensitive to fluctuations in currency exchange rates in both sourcing and selling locations as well as economic crises and security risks in developing countries. For additional information on market risks and related matters affecting the Company's financial position and results of operations, refer to Items 1, 7 and 7A of the Company's Form 10-K for the year ended January 3, 2004.

Certain prior year amounts have been reclassified to conform with the 2004 presentation.

2. INCOME TAXES

As a result of the consummation of the going-private merger transaction described in Note 1, income tax expense for the quarter ended March 22, 2003 was based on earnings for the period from December 29, 2002 through March 22, 2003, to reflect the final separate financial reporting period for the Company in its predecessor form. After the consummation of the going-private merger transaction, the results of operations are attributable to the new successor company.

Income tax expense for the quarter ended March 27, 2004 of $13.2 million reflects the Company's expected effective income tax rate of approximately 18% for the full fiscal year ending January 1, 2005. The income tax expense of approximately $13.1 million for the quarter ended March 22, 2003 reflects the Company's effective income tax rate for that quarter of approximately 18%.

For the periods presented, the Company's effective income tax rate differs from the U.S. federal statutory rate primarily due to earnings from operations being taxed in foreign jurisdictions at a net effective rate lower than the U.S. rate. No U.S. taxes have been provided on these earnings because such earnings are intended to be indefinitely invested outside the U.S.

As of February 27, 2004, the Company executed a fourth amendment to its senior secured revolving credit facility agreement. Under the fourth amendment, HoldCo transferred all of the outstanding capital stock of the Company to a new intermediate holding company, Dole Holding Company, LLC. The fourth amendment also permits Dole Holding Company, LLC to issue up to $250 million of senior notes that would be structurally subordinated to Dole's existing senior notes and debentures. The proceeds of any such senior note offerings would be required to promptly be either: (a) contributed or loaned to Dole Food Company, Inc. to repay its revolving loans or for its other working capital or general corporate purposes, or (b) loaned or dividended to DHM Holding Company, Inc. for investment in a company formed by DHM Holding Company, Inc. for the development, construction and operation of a wellbeing center/hotel/spa/conference center/studio and reasonably related extensions thereof. In addition, among other provisions, the amendment permits the Company to pay dividends, subject to certain restrictions, as defined in the amendment.

At March 27, 2004, the Company was in compliance with all applicable covenants under the senior secured credit facilities and the indentures to the Company's senior notes and debentures.

9. SEGMENT INFORMATION

The Company has four primary reportable operating segments: fresh fruit, fresh vegetables, packaged foods and fresh-cut flowers. These reportable segments are managed separately due to differences in their products, production processes, distribution channels and customer bases.

Management evaluates and monitors segment performance primarily through earnings before interest expense and income taxes (EBIT). EBIT is calculated by adding income taxes and interest expense to net income. Management believes that segment EBIT provides useful information for analyzing the underlying business results as well as allowing investors a means to evaluate the financial results of each segment in relation to the Company as a whole. EBIT is not defined under accounting principles generally accepted in the United States (GAAP) and should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for net income or cash flow measures prepared in accordance with GAAP or as a measure of the Company's profitability or liquidity. Additionally, the Company's computation of EBIT may not be comparable to other similarly titled measures computed by other companies, because not all companies calculate EBIT in the same fashion.

10. CONTINGENCIES

The Company is a guarantor of indebtedness of some of its key fruit suppliers and other entities integral to its operations. At March 27, 2004 and January 3, 2004, these guarantees primarily consisted of guarantees for bank loans to its growers and other affiliates of $6.2 million and $6.7 million, respectively. Grower guarantees represent guarantees of amounts advanced, under third party bank agreements, to independent growers that supply the Company with product. The Company has not historically experienced any significant losses associated with these guarantees.

As part of its normal business activities, the Company and its subsidiaries also provide guarantees to various regulatory authorities, primarily in Europe, in order to comply with foreign regulations when operating businesses overseas. These guarantees relate to customs duties and banana import license fees that are granted to the European Union member states' agricultural authority. These guarantees are obtained from commercial banks in the form of letters of credit or bank guarantees. In addition, the Company issues letters of credit and bonds through major banking institutions and insurance companies as required by certain vendor and other operating agreements. As of March 27, 2004 and January 3, 2004, total letters of credit and bonds outstanding were $92.6 million and $91.7 million, respectively.

The Company also provides various guarantees, mostly to foreign banks, in the course of its normal business operations to support the borrowings, leases and other obligations of its subsidiaries. The Company guaranteed $161.7 million and $148.1 million of its subsidiaries' obligations to their suppliers and other third parties as of March 27, 2004 and January 3, 2004, respectively.

The Company has change of control agreements with certain key executives, under which severance payments and benefits would become payable in the event of specified terminations of employment following a change of control (as defined) of the Company.

The Company is involved from time to time in claims and legal actions incidental to its operations, both as plaintiff and defendant. The Company has established what management currently believes to be adequate reserves for pending legal matters. These reserves are established as part of an ongoing worldwide assessment of claims and legal actions that takes into consideration such items as changes in the pending case load (including resolved and new matters), opinions of legal counsel, individual developments in court proceedings, changes in the law, changes in business focus, changes in the litigation environment, changes in opponent strategy and tactics, new developments as a result of ongoing discovery, and past experience in defending and settling similar claims. In the opinion of management, after consultation with outside counsel, the claims or actions to which the Company is a party are not expected to have a material adverse effect, individually or in the aggregate, on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.

A significant portion of the Company's legal exposure relates to lawsuits pending in the United States and in several foreign countries, alleging injury as a result of exposure to the agricultural chemical DBCP (1,2-dibromo-3-chloropropane). DBCP was manufactured by several chemical companies including Dow and Shell and registered by the U.S. government for use on food crops. The Company and other growers applied DBCP on banana farms in Latin America and the Philippines and on pineapple farms in Hawaii. Specific periods of use varied among the different locations. The Company halted all purchases of DBCP, including for use in foreign countries, when the U.S. EPA cancelled the registration of DBCP for use in the United States in 1979. That cancellation was based in part on the apparent link between male sterility and exposure to DBCP among factory workers producing the product in 1977, as well as early product testing done by the manufacturers showing testicular effects on animals exposed to DBCP. To date, there is no reliable evidence demonstrating that field application of DBCP led to sterility among farm workers, although that claim is made in the pending lawsuits. Nor is there any reliable scientific evidence that DBCP causes any other injuries in humans, although plaintiffs in the various actions assert claims based on cancer, birth defects and other general illnesses.

Currently there are 567 lawsuits, in various stages of proceedings, alleging injury as a result of exposure to DBCP. Twelve of these lawsuits are currently pending in various jurisdictions in the United States, with the remainder pending in Latin America and the Philippines. In the United States, plaintiffs have twice moved to re-open and remand to state court two previously dismissed cases pursuant to the United States Supreme Court's decision in Dole Food Company, Inc. v. Patrickson. The first such motion was denied on March 15, 2004. The Company has objected to the second motion, which is currently pending before the court. Plaintiffs have also remanded five other cases to state courts in Texas and Louisiana as a result of the Patrickson decision. On January 16, 2004, a case pending in the United States District Court for the District of Hawaii, in which 351 plaintiffs were claiming various injuries as a result of alleged air and water pollution, was resolved without a material adverse effect on the Company's financial condition or results of operations. Claimed damages in DBCP cases worldwide total approximately $21.7 billion, with the lawsuits in Nicaragua representing approximately 81% of this amount. In almost all of these cases, the Company is a joint defendant with the major DBCP manufacturers and, typically, other banana growers. Except as described below, none of these lawsuits has resulted in a verdict or judgment against the Company.

In Nicaragua, 102 cases have been filed, with the majority of the lawsuits brought pursuant to Law 364, an October 2000 Nicaraguan statute that contains substantive and procedural provisions that Nicaragua's Attorney General formally opined are unconstitutional. In October 2003, the Supreme Court of Nicaragua issued an advisory opinion, not connected with any litigation, that Law 364 is constitutional.

Seventeen cases are being actively litigated in civil trial courts in Managua (8), Chinendega (7) and Puerto Cabezas (2). In all of those cases, the Company has sought or will seek to have the cases returned to the United States pursuant to Law 364. Notwithstanding, the Chinendega court denied the Company's request with respect to the seven cases pending there; and the Managua court denied the Company's request with respect to seven of the eight cases pending there. The Company's request as to the eighth Managua case is still pending. The Puerto Cabezas court has not yet ruled on the Company's request with respect to the two cases pending there. On February 25, 2004, the Managua court entered a judgment against the Company, Dow and Shell in one of the eight cases, awarding 58 of the 81 claimants $82.9 million.

Nine of the seventeen cases had been consolidated into one case before a civil trial court in Managua, with the plaintiffs naming an entity denominated as Dole Food Corporation Inc. as a defendant. The Company is aware of no legal entity bearing that name, and the Company is certain that no such legal entity is related to the Company. As a result, the Company responded in those nine consolidated cases on behalf of Dole Fresh Fruit Company, a subsidiary of the Company, which has been named as a defendant in other pending DBCP matters, including matters brought by Nicaraguan citizens. The Company paid the $100,000 deposit to the Nicaraguan court, as required under Law 364, to participate in that litigation. On October 25, 2002, the Managua court issued a ruling that Dole Fresh Fruit Company was not a party to the nine consolidated cases. Thereafter, counsel for Dole Fresh Fruit Company notified the Managua court that no legal entity known as Dole Food Corporation Inc. exists and sought to appear on behalf of Dole Food Company, Inc. and to ratify all prior pleadings of Dole Fresh Fruit Company. On November 25, 2002, the Managua court issued a ruling that Dole Food Company, Inc. is not a defendant in the nine consolidated cases. On December 13, 2002, the Managua court entered a judgment in the aggregate amount of $489.4 million on behalf of 468 plaintiffs against Dow Chemical Company, also known as Dow AgroSciences, Shell Chemical Company, Standard Fruit and Vegetable Company and Dole Food Corporation Inc. in the nine consolidated actions. Because the Managua court had held that the Company was not a defendant in the case, the court also ordered that the Company's $100,000 deposit be returned. Standard Fruit and Vegetable Company is a Texas corporation that is wholly unrelated to the Company. On May 14, 2003, an action was filed in Los Angeles County Superior Court against The Dow Chemical Company, Shell Chemical Company, and Dole Food Company, Inc. to enforce the Nicaraguan judgment. On July 18, 2003, the Company filed a motion to dismiss the enforcement action on the grounds that Dole Food Company, Inc. was not a party to the judgment. On July 17, 2003, Dow and Shell filed a motion to remove the enforcement action to the United States District Court for the Central District of California. The Company consented to that removal. On October 20, 2003, the United States District Court for the Central District of California dismissed with prejudice the enforcement action as to all of the defendants, including Dole. The Court held that Dole Food Company, Inc. was not a party in the Nicaraguan judgment. The plaintiffs have appealed the District Court's dismissal to the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. That appeal is currently pending.

The Company believes that none of the Nicaraguan civil trial courts' judgments will be enforceable against any Dole entity in the U.S. or in any other country, because Nicaragua's Law 364 is unconstitutional and violates international due process. Among other things, Law 364 is an improper special law directed at particular parties, it requires defendants to pay large, non-refundable deposits in order to participate in the litigation, it provides a severely truncated procedural process, it establishes irrebuttable presumptions of causation that are contrary to the evidence and scientific data, and it sets unreasonable minimum damages that must be awarded.

On December 23, 2003, the Company filed an action in the United States District Court for the Central District of California against 934 Nicaraguans. The complaint seeks declaratory relief against the claimants in the eight actions currently pending in the Managua civil trial court. The Company seeks a determination that these actions lack merit and that any judgment issued under Law 364 is unenforceable in the United States on due process grounds. The complaint further asserts federal RICO and state law fraud, abuse of process and malicious prosecution claims against the claimants in the enforcement action dismissed on October 20, 2003. A motion to dismiss the Company's complaint was filed on April 22, 2004.

On March 26, 2004, a lawsuit was filed in the Superior Court for the County of Los Angeles against the Company and various manufacturers of DBCP on behalf of 25 Nicaraguan banana workers, who allege that they were injured as a result of exposure to DBCP and seeking unspecified damages. The Company will be answering the complaint. As to this and all the DBCP matters, the Company has denied liability and asserted substantial defenses. Although no assurance can be given concerning the outcome of these cases, in the opinion of management, after consultation with legal counsel and based on past experience defending and settling DBCP claims, the pending lawsuits are not expected to have a material adverse effect on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.

11. SUBSEQUENT EVENT

On April 28, 2004, the Company entered into a definitive agreement to acquire Wood Holdings, Inc. (JR Wood), free of debt, for $162.5 million plus certain transaction costs, in cash. JR Wood is a frozen fruit manufacturer and processor located in Central California, with annual revenues of approximately $140 million in 2003. It is anticipated that the transaction will close in the Company's second quarter of 2004 and will be included in the Company's packaged foods segment. The Company anticipates financing the acquisition through borrowings under its senior secured credit facilities.

12. GUARANTOR FINANCIAL INFORMATION

In connection with the issuance of the 2011 Notes in March 2003 and the 2010 Notes in May 2003, the Company and all of its wholly-owned domestic subsidiaries (Guarantors) have fully and unconditionally guaranteed, on a joint and several basis, the Company's obligations under the related indentures (the Guarantees). Each Guarantee is subordinated in right of payment to the Guarantors' existing and future senior debt, including obligations under the senior secured credit facility, and will rank pari passu with all senior subordinated indebtedness of the applicable Guarantor. All Guarantors are 100% owned by the Company.

The accompanying guarantor condensed consolidating financial information is presented on the equity method of accounting for all periods presented. Under this method, investments in subsidiaries are recorded at cost and adjusted for the Company's share in the subsidiaries cumulative results of operations, capital contributions and distributions and other changes in equity. Elimination entries relate primarily to the elimination of investments in subsidiaries and associated intercompany balances and transactions.

The following are condensed consolidating statements of operations of the Company for the quarters ended March 27, 2004 and March 22, 2003; condensed consolidating balance sheets as of March 27, 2004 and January 3, 2004; and condensed consolidating statements of cash flows for the quarters ended March 27, 2004 and March 22, 2003.

Table of ContentsDOLE FOOD COMPANY, INC.*ITEM 2. MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION
AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS*Overview

In the first quarter of 2004, the Company's revenues grew 17% and operating income grew 21% compared to the prior year. These results were driven by strong performances across the majority of the Company's lines of business. During the first quarter, the Company benefited from favorable exchange rates and experienced significantly higher demand for its Tropical Gold® Pineapples and Chilean deciduous fruit. Results of operations were also driven by higher worldwide volumes of bananas and canned pineapple as well as strong operating results from the fresh vegetables division. Net income of $60.8 million for the first quarter of 2004 approximated prior year results for the same period, as stronger operating performances during the first quarter of 2004 were offset by a significantly higher interest expense.

On March 28, 2003, the Company completed a going-private merger transaction. Pursuant to this transaction, the Company became wholly owned by David H. Murdock, the Company's Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer, through DHM Holding Company, Inc. Details of this transaction can be found in the Company's Form 10-K for the year ended January 3, 2004.

Results of Operations

As a result of the going-private merger transaction, the Company's Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements present the results of operations, financial position and cash flows prior to the date of the merger transaction as the Predecessor. The merger transaction and the Company's results of operations, financial position and cash flows thereafter are presented as the Successor.

Selected results of operations for the quarters ended March 27, 2004 and March 22, 2003 were as follows (in thousands):

	Quarter Ended
	March 27, 2004	March 22, 2003

Revenues

For the quarter ended March 27, 2004, revenues increased to $1.25 billion from $1.07 billion in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. The increase is due to favorable U.S. dollar exchange rates, overall improved volumes in the Company's fresh fruit, fresh vegetables and packaged foods segments, expanded business activity in the European ripening and distribution business and favorable pineapple and commodity vegetable pricing. Favorable exchange rates versus the euro, Swedish krona, and Japanese yen positively impacted revenues, primarily in the fresh fruit segment, by approximately $61.7 million.

There were no purchase accounting adjustments that impacted revenues for the quarter ended March 27, 2004.

Table of Contents

Operating Income

For the quarter ended March 27, 2004, operating income increased to $107.5 million from $88.8 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. The increase was primarily attributable to improved operating results from the Company's fresh fruit, fresh vegetables and packaged foods segments. Favorable U.S. dollar exchange rates primarily versus the euro, the Swedish krona, and Japanese yen also benefited the quarter by approximately $7.4 million, net of current year hedge gains and losses. These benefits were partially offset by increased depreciation and amortization expense of approximately $5.7 million as a result of purchase accounting adjustments to property, plant and equipment and intangibles. These purchase accounting adjustments were made in connection with the going-private merger transaction.

Interest Income and Other Income (Expense), Net

For the quarter ended March 27, 2004, interest income and other income (expense), net was $1.3 million compared to $4.7 million in the prior year. The decrease was due to lower interest income, as a result of lower average cash balances, as well as lower equity earnings in the current year.

Interest Expense

Interest expense for the quarter ended March 27, 2004 was $34.7 million compared to $19.6 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. Interest expense in the quarter ended March 27, 2004 increased primarily as a result of the issuance of additional debt to finance the going-private merger transaction, as well as the addition of capitalized vessel lease obligations in the fourth quarter of 2003.

Income Taxes

As a result of the consummation of the going-private merger transaction, income tax expense for the quarter ended March 22, 2003 was based on earnings for the period from December 29, 2002 through March 22, 2003, to reflect the final separate financial reporting period for the Company in its predecessor form. After the consummation of the going-private merger transaction, the results of operations are attributable to the new successor company.

Income tax expense for the quarter ended March 27, 2004 of $13.2 million reflects the Company's expected effective income tax rate of approximately 18% for the full fiscal year ending January 1, 2005. The income tax expense of approximately $13.1 million for the quarter ended March 22, 2003 reflects the Company's effective income tax rate for that quarter of approximately 18%.

For the periods presented, the Company's effective income tax rate differs from the U.S. federal statutory rate primarily due to earnings from operations being taxed in foreign jurisdictions at a net effective rate lower than the U.S. rate. No U.S. taxes have been provided on these earnings because such earnings are intended to be indefinitely invested outside the U.S.

Segment Results of Operations

The Company has four primary reportable operating segments: fresh fruit, fresh vegetables, packaged foods and fresh-cut flowers. These reportable segments are managed separately due to differences in their products, production processes, distribution channels and customer bases.

The Company's management evaluates and monitors segment performance primarily through earnings before interest expense and income taxes (EBIT). EBIT is calculated by adding income taxes and interest expense to net income. Management believes that segment EBIT provides useful information for analyzing the underlying business results as well as allowing investors a means to evaluate the financial results of each segment in relation to the Company as a whole. EBIT is not defined under accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP) and should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for net income or cash flow measures prepared in accordance with GAAP or as a measure of the Company's profitability or liquidity. Additionally, the Company's computation of EBIT may not be comparable to other similarly titled measures computed by other companies, because not all companies calculate EBIT in the same fashion. Revenues from external customers and EBIT for the reportable operating segments and corporate and other were as follows (in thousands):

	Quarter Ended

Fresh Fruit

Fresh fruit revenues in the quarter ended March 27, 2004 increased 20% to $873.3 million from $725.1 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. The increase in fresh fruit revenues was primarily due to the following: favorable foreign currency exchange rates versus the U.S. dollar, improved volumes and pricing of Tropical Gold® Pineapples sold in North America, Europe and Asia and higher banana volumes sold in North America, Europe and Asia. Higher volumes of Chilean deciduous fruit sold in North America and Europe and expanded activity in the Europe ripening and distribution businesses also contributed to the growth. These benefits were partially offset by lower banana pricing in North America and lower local banana pricing in Europe.

Fresh fruit EBIT in the quarter ended March 27, 2004 increased 16% to $81.4 million from $70.2 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. EBIT increased primarily as a result of the same factors that drove the increase in revenues and lower Latin American banana and pineapple production costs. Favorable exchange rates, net of hedging activity, benefited EBIT for the quarter ended March 27, 2004 by approximately $7.4 million. The increase in EBIT was partially offset by higher selling and marketing costs in Asia. EBIT was also negatively impacted by higher purchase accounting related depreciation and amortization of $3.1 million and lower equity earnings of certain affiliates.

Fresh Vegetables

Fresh vegetables revenues for the quarter ended March 27, 2004 increased 13% to $200.1 million from $176.9 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. The increase was due to higher volumes in the Company's North American packaged salads business, combined with favorable pricing.

Table of Contents

Fresh vegetables EBIT for the quarter ended March 27, 2004 increased 35% to $22.6 million from $16.7 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. The increase in EBIT was primarily due to the same factors that drove the increase in revenues, partially offset by the impact of purchase accounting in the current quarter of $1.1 million.

Packaged Foods

Packaged foods revenues for the quarter ended March 27, 2004 increased 9% to $127.6 million from $116.7 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. The increase in revenues was primarily due to higher volumes of canned pineapple in North America due in part to Easter occurring two weeks earlier than in 2003. Higher volumes of canned pineapple and pineapple concentrate in Europe and Asia and new Fruit in Plastic Jars also contributed to the sales growth. These increases were partially offset by higher promotional spending, which is recorded as contra-revenue, as well as the sale of Fabrica, a Honduran palm oil business, in the third quarter of 2003. Fabrica revenues were approximately $5.7 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003.

EBIT in the packaged foods segment for the quarter ended March 27, 2004 increased 12% to $13 million from $11.7 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. EBIT for the quarter increased primarily due to the same factors that drove the increase in revenues, as well as due to lower advertising costs. The increase was partially offset by the impact of purchase accounting related depreciation and amortization of approximately $1.6 million and the sale of Fabrica. Fabrica EBIT was approximately $0.5 in the quarter ended March 22, 2003.

Fresh-Cut Flowers

Fresh-cut flowers revenues for the quarter ended March 27, 2004 increased 2% to $49.6 million from $48.5 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. The increase in revenues for the quarter ended March 27, 2004 was primarily attributable to higher pricing resulting from a greater emphasis on the retail market, partially offset by slightly lower volumes.

EBIT in the fresh-cut flowers segment for the quarter ended March 27, 2004 decreased to $4.7 million from $6.4 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. The decrease in EBIT was due to higher product costs, partly from higher labor costs, as well as higher distribution costs.

Corporate and Other

Corporate and other EBIT was a loss of $12.8 million in the quarter ended March 27, 2004 compared to a loss of $11.5 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. The change in EBIT for the quarter is primarily due to lower interest income due to lower average cash balances.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

In the quarter ended March 27, 2004, the Company used cash flows in operating activities of $32.2 million compared to cash flows generated by operating activities of $1.8 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. Cash used in operating activities in the first quarter of 2004 is primarily a seasonal phenomenon, resulting from significantly higher receivables at the end of the first quarter compared to the prior year-end. The increase in receivables is primarily due to higher revenues in March versus December of each year.

The decline in cash generated from operating activities of approximately $34 million, was primarily due to the following: higher receivables associated with higher sales, higher bond interest payments and bonus payments made during the current quarter. In addition, the Company received an income tax refund of $12.2 million in the first quarter of 2003.

Cash flows used in investing activities increased to $13.9 million in the quarter ended March 27, 2004 from $2.5 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. The increase is primarily due to the timing of capital expenditures. Capital expenditures for full year 2004 are expected to approximate that of 2003.

Cash flows from financing activities increased to $52.7 million in the quarter ended March 27, 2004 compared to cash flows used in financing activities of $6.3 million in the quarter ended March 22, 2003. The increase is primarily due to additional long-term debt borrowings, mostly from the Company's revolving credit facility in order to finance first quarter working capital needs. In addition, the Company paid dividends of $10 million in the first quarter of 2004 compared to dividends paid of $8.4 million in the prior year.

As of March 27, 2004, the Company had outstanding balances under its senior secured credit facilities of approximately $388.8 million, consisting of a $295 million term loan and $93.8 million outstanding under revolving credit facilities. At March 27, 2004, the Company had approximately $133.4 million available under the $300 million revolving credit portion of the senior secured credit facilities.

Provisions under the senior secured credit facilities and the indentures to the Company's senior notes and debentures require the Company to comply with certain financial covenants. These covenants include financial performance measures, such as minimum required interest coverage ratios, minimum fixed charge coverage ratios, minimum quarterly earnings and maximum permitted leverage ratios, as well as limitations on, among other things, indebtedness, capital expenditures, investments, loans to subsidiaries, employees and third parties, the issuance of guarantees and the payment of dividends. At March 27, 2004, the Company was in compliance with all applicable covenants.

As of February 27, 2004, the Company executed a fourth amendment to its senior secured revolving credit facility agreement. Under the fourth amendment, HoldCo transferred all of the outstanding capital stock of the Company to a new intermediate holding company, Dole Holding Company, LLC. The fourth amendment also permits Dole Holding Company, LLC to issue up to $250 million of senior notes that would be structurally subordinated to Dole's existing senior notes and debentures. The proceeds of any such senior note offerings would be required to promptly be either: (a) contributed or loaned to Dole Food Company, Inc. to repay its revolving loans or for its other working capital or general corporate purposes, or (b) loaned or dividended to DHM Holding Company, Inc. for investment in a company formed by DHM Holding Company, Inc. for the development, construction and operation of a wellbeing center/hotel/spa/conference center/studio and reasonably related extensions thereof. In addition, among other provisions, the amendment permits the Company to pay dividends, subject to certain restrictions, as defined in the amendment.

The Company believes that its existing cash balance and available borrowings under the revolving credit facility of $38.1 million and $133.4 million, respectively, at March 27, 2004, together with its future cash flow from operations and access to capital markets will enable it to meet its working capital, capital expenditure, debt maturity and other commitments and funding requirements. Factors impacting the Company's cash flow from operations include such items as commodity prices, interest rates and foreign currency exchange rates, among other things, as set forth in the Company's Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended January 3, 2004 and in subsequent SEC filings.

Other Matters

Financial Instruments: The Company's foreign currency exchange forward contracts are denominated in Japanese yen and euro and are designated as hedges under Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 133 (FAS 133), Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities. At March 27, 2004, the outstanding notional amount of the Company's euro and Japanese yen foreign currency exchange forwards totaled $159.6 million.

European Union Quota: The European Union Commission recently decided a separate banana import quota for the ten new European Union (EU) member states scheduled to join the EU in May 2004. The quota is below estimates of average banana imports into these countries in recent years. The EU Commission has determined the new licenses will be allocated using a similar system as the quota for the 15 original EU states. The Company does not expect that the outcome of this new quota will have a material impact on its future results of operations.

Subsequent Event: On April 28, 2004, the Company entered into a definitive agreement to acquire Wood Holdings, Inc. (JR Wood), free of debt, for $162.5 million plus certain transaction costs, in cash. JR Wood is a frozen fruit manufacturer and processor located in Central California, with annual revenues of approximately $140 million in 2003. It is anticipated that the transaction will close in the Company's second quarter of 2004 and will be included in the Company's packaged foods segment. The Company anticipates financing the acquisition through borrowings under its senior secured credit facilities.

Supplemental Financial Information

The following financial information has been presented, as management believes that it is useful information to some readers of the Company's condensed consolidated financial statements (in thousands):

	March 27, 2004	January 3, 2004
	Successor	Successor
Balance Sheet Data:
Total working capital (current assets less current liabilities)	$ 429,780	$ 279,356
Total assets	$4,062,649	$3,987,884
Total debt	$1,915,711	$1,851,100
Total shareholders' equity	$ 505,291	$ 456,428

	Quarter Ended
	March 27, 2004	March 22, 2003
	Successor	Predecessor
(In thousands)
Other Financial Data:
Net income	$ 60,834	$ 60,788
Interest expense	34,741	19,647
Income taxes	13,173	13,100
Depreciation and amortization	32,358	25,051
EBITDA	$ 141,106	$ 118,586
EBITDA margin	11.2%	11.1%
Capital expenditures	$ 12,286	$ 4,235

EBITDA is defined as earnings before interest expense, income taxes, and depreciation and amortization. EBITDA margin is defined as the ratio of EBITDA, as defined, relative to net revenues. EBITDA is reconciled to net income in the condensed consolidated financial statements in the tables above. EBITDA and EBITDA margin fluctuated primarily due to the same factors that impacted the changes in operating income and segment EBIT discussed earlier.

The Company presents EBITDA and EBITDA margin because management believes, similar to EBIT, EBITDA is a useful performance measure for the Company. In addition, EBITDA is presented because management believes it is frequently used by securities analysts, investors and others in the evaluation of companies, and because certain debt covenants on the Company's recently issued Senior Notes are tied to EBITDA. EBITDA and EBITDA margin should not be considered in isolation from or as a substitute for net income, cash flows from operating activities and other consolidated income or cash flow statement data prepared in accordance with GAAP or as a measure of profitability or liquidity. Additionally, the Company's computation of EBITDA and EBITDA margin may not be comparable to other similarly titled measures computed by other companies, because all companies do not calculate EBITDA and EBITDA margin in the same manner.

The impact of purchase accounting on first quarter EBITDA was not significant as the majority of the first quarter purchase accounting related expense of $5.4 million is attributable to increased depreciation and amortization.

DOLE FOOD COMPANY, INC.

Item 1. Legal Proceedings

The Company is involved from time to time in claims and legal actions incidental to its operations, both as plaintiff and defendant. The Company has established what management currently believes to be adequate reserves for pending legal matters. These reserves are established as part of an ongoing worldwide assessment of claims and legal actions that takes into consideration such items as changes in the pending case load (including resolved and new matters), opinions of legal counsel, individual developments in court proceedings, changes in the law, changes in business focus, changes in the litigation environment, changes in opponent strategy and tactics, new developments as a result of ongoing discovery, and past experience in defending and settling similar claims. In the opinion of management, after consultation with outside counsel, the claims or actions to which the Company is a party are not expected to have a material adverse effect, individually or in the aggregate, on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.

A significant portion of the Company's legal exposure relates to lawsuits pending in the United States and in several foreign countries, alleging injury as a result of exposure to the agricultural chemical DBCP (1,2-dibromo-3-chloropropane). DBCP was manufactured by several chemical companies including Dow and Shell and registered by the U.S. government for use on food crops. The Company and other growers applied DBCP on banana farms in Latin America and the Philippines and on pineapple farms in Hawaii. Specific periods of use varied among the different locations. The Company halted all purchases of DBCP, including for use in foreign countries, when the U.S. EPA cancelled the registration of DBCP for use in the United States in 1979. That cancellation was based in part on the apparent link between male sterility and exposure to DBCP among factory workers producing the product in 1977, as well as early product testing done by the manufacturers showing testicular effects on animals exposed to DBCP. To date, there is no reliable evidence demonstrating that field application of DBCP led to sterility among farm workers, although that claim is made in the pending lawsuits. Nor is there any reliable scientific evidence that DBCP causes any other injuries in humans, although plaintiffs in the various actions assert claims based on cancer, birth defects and other general illnesses.

Currently there are 567 lawsuits, in various stages of proceedings, alleging injury as a result of exposure to DBCP. Twelve of these lawsuits are currently pending in various jurisdictions in the United States, with the remainder pending in Latin America and the Philippines. In the United States, plaintiffs have twice moved to re-open and remand to state court two previously dismissed cases pursuant to the United States Supreme Court's decision in Dole Food Company, Inc. v. Patrickson. The first such motion was denied on March 15, 2004. Dole has objected to the second motion, which is currently pending before the court. Plaintiffs have also remanded five other cases to state courts in Texas and Louisiana as a result of the Patrickson decision. On January 16, 2004, a case pending in the United States District Court for the District of Hawaii, in which 351 plaintiffs were claiming various injuries as a result of alleged air and water pollution, was resolved without a material adverse effect on the Company's financial condition or results of operations. Claimed damages in DBCP cases worldwide total approximately $21.7 billion, with the lawsuits in Nicaragua representing approximately 81% of this amount. In almost all of these cases, the Company is a joint defendant with the major DBCP manufacturers and, typically, other banana growers. Except as described below, none of these lawsuits has resulted in a verdict or judgment against the Company.

In Nicaragua, 102 cases have been filed, with the majority of the lawsuits brought pursuant to Law 364, an October 2000 Nicaraguan statute that contains substantive and procedural provisions that Nicaragua's Attorney General formally opined are unconstitutional. In October 2003, the Supreme Court of Nicaragua issued an advisory opinion, not connected with any litigation, that Law 364 is constitutional.

Seventeen cases are being actively litigated in civil trial courts in Managua (8), Chinendega (7) and Puerto Cabezas (2). In all of those cases, the Company has sought or will seek to have the cases returned to the United States pursuant to Law 364. Notwithstanding, the Chinendega court denied the Company's request with respect to the seven cases pending there; and the Managua court denied the Company's request with respect to seven of the eight cases pending there. The Company's request as to the eighth Managua case is still pending. The Puerto Cabezas court has not yet ruled on the Company's request with respect to the two cases pending there. On February 25, 2004, the Managua court entered a judgment against the Company, Dow and Shell in one of the eight cases, awarding 58 of the 81 claimants $82.9 million.

Nine of the seventeen cases had been consolidated into one case before a civil trial court in Managua, with the plaintiffs naming an entity denominated as Dole Food Corporation Inc. as a defendant. The Company is aware of no legal entity bearing that name, and the Company is certain that no such legal entity is related to the Company. As a result, the Company responded in those nine consolidated cases on behalf of Dole Fresh Fruit Company, a subsidiary of the Company, which has been named as a defendant in other pending DBCP matters, including matters brought by Nicaraguan citizens. The Company paid the $100,000 deposit to the Nicaraguan court, as required under Law 364, to participate in that litigation. On October 25, 2002, the Managua court issued a ruling that Dole Fresh Fruit Company was not a party to the nine consolidated cases. Thereafter, counsel for Dole Fresh Fruit Company notified the Managua court that no legal entity known as Dole Food Corporation Inc. exists and sought to appear on behalf of Dole Food Company, Inc. and to ratify all prior pleadings of Dole Fresh Fruit Company. On November 25, 2002, the Managua court issued a ruling that Dole Food Company, Inc. is not a defendant in the nine consolidated cases. On December 13, 2002, the Managua court entered a judgment in the aggregate amount of $489.4 million on behalf of 468 plaintiffs against Dow Chemical Company, also known as Dow AgroSciences, Shell Chemical Company, Standard Fruit and Vegetable Company and Dole Food Corporation Inc. in the nine consolidated actions. Because the Managua court had held that the Company was not a defendant in the case, the court also ordered that the Company's $100,000 deposit be returned. Standard Fruit and Vegetable Company is a Texas corporation that is wholly unrelated to the Company. On May 14, 2003, an action was filed in Los Angeles County Superior Court against The Dow Chemical Company, Shell Chemical Company, and Dole Food Company, Inc. to enforce the Nicaraguan judgment. On July 18, 2003, the Company filed a motion to dismiss the enforcement action on the grounds that Dole Food Company, Inc. was not a party to the judgment. On July 17, 2003, Dow and Shell filed a motion to remove the enforcement action to the United States District Court for the Central District of California. The Company consented to that removal. On October 20, 2003, the United States District Court for the Central District of California dismissed with prejudice the enforcement action as to all of the defendants, including Dole. The Court held that Dole Food Company, Inc. was not a party in the Nicaraguan judgment. The plaintiffs have appealed the District Court's dismissal to the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. That appeal is currently pending.

The Company believes that none of the Nicaraguan civil trial courts' judgments will be enforceable against any Dole entity in the U.S. or in any other country, because Nicaragua's Law 364 is unconstitutional and violates international due process. Among other things, Law 364 is an improper special law directed at particular parties, it requires defendants to pay large, non-refundable deposits in order to participate in the litigation, it provides a severely truncated procedural process, it establishes irrebuttable presumptions of causation that are contrary to the evidence and scientific data, and it sets unreasonable minimum damages that must be awarded.

On December 23, 2003, the Company filed an action in the United States District Court for the Central District of California against 934 Nicaraguans. The complaint seeks declaratory relief against the claimants in the eight actions currently pending in the Managua civil trial court. The Company seeks a determination that these actions lack merit and that any judgment issued under Law 364 is unenforceable in the United States on due process grounds. The complaint further asserts federal RICO and state law fraud, abuse of process and malicious prosecution claims against the claimants in the enforcement action dismissed on October 20, 2003. A motion to dismiss Dole's complaint was filed on April 22, 2004.

On March 26, 2004, a lawsuit was filed in the Superior Court for the County of Los Angeles against the Company and various manufacturers of DBCP on behalf of 25 Nicaraguan banana workers, who allege that they were injured as a result of exposure to DBCP and seeking unspecified damages. Dole will be answering the complaint. As to this and all the DBCP matters, the Company has denied liability and asserted substantial defenses. Although no assurance can be given concerning the outcome of these cases, in the opinion of management, after consultation with legal counsel and based on past experience defending and settling DBCP claims, the pending lawsuits are not expected to have a material adverse effect on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.
