Note for readers of this English translation

On November 6, 2015, Sony Corporation (the “Company” or “Sony Corporation”) filed its Japanese-language Quarterly Securities Report (Shihanki Houkokusho) for the three months ended September 30, 2015 with the Director-General of the Kanto Local Finance Bureau in Japan pursuant to the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act of Japan. This document is an English translation of the Quarterly Securities Report in its entirety, except for (i) information that had been previously filed with or submitted to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) in a Form 20-F, Form 6-K or any other form and (ii) a description of differences between generally accepted accounting principles in the U.S. (“U.S. GAAP”) and generally accepted accounting principles in Japan (“J-GAAP”), which are required to be described in the Quarterly Securities Report under the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act of Japan if the Company prepares its financial statements in conformity with accounting principles other than J-GAAP.

Cautionary Statement

Statements made in this release with respect to Sony’s current plans, estimates, strategies and beliefs and other statements of the Company and its consolidated subsidiaries (collectively “Sony”) that are not historical facts are forward-looking statements about the future performance of Sony. Forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, those statements using words such as “believe,” “expect,” “plans,” “strategy,” “prospects,” “forecast,” “estimate,” “project,” “anticipate,” “aim,” “intend,” “seek,” “may,” “might,” “could” or “should,” and words of similar meaning in connection with a discussion of future operations, financial performance, events or conditions. From time to time, oral or written forward-looking statements may also be included in other materials released to the public. These statements are based on management’s assumptions, judgments and beliefs in light of the information currently available to it. Sony cautions investors that a number of important risks and uncertainties could cause actual results to differ materially from those discussed in the forward-looking statements, and therefore investors should not place undue reliance on them. Investors also should not rely on any obligation of Sony to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise. Sony disclaims any such obligation. Risks and uncertainties that might affect Sony include, but are not limited to (i) the global economic environment in which Sony operates and the economic conditions in Sony’s markets, particularly levels of consumer spending; (ii) foreign exchange rates, particularly between the yen and the U.S. dollar, the euro and other currencies in which Sony makes significant sales and incurs production costs, or in which Sony’s assets and liabilities are denominated; (iii) Sony’s ability to continue to design and develop and win acceptance of, as well as achieve sufficient cost reductions for, its products and services, including televisions, game platforms, and smartphones, which are offered in highly competitive markets characterized by severe price competition and continual new product and service introductions, rapid development in technology and subjective and changing consumer preferences; (iv) Sony’s ability and timing to recoup large-scale investments required for technology development and production capacity; (v) Sony’s ability to implement successful business restructuring and transformation efforts under changing market conditions; (vi) Sony’s ability to implement successful hardware, software, and content integration strategies for all segments excluding the Financial Services segment, and to develop and implement successful sales and distribution strategies in light of the Internet and other technological developments; (vii) Sony’s continued ability to devote sufficient resources to research and development and, with respect to capital expenditures, to prioritize investments correctly (particularly in the electronics businesses); (viii) Sony’s ability to maintain product quality; (ix) the effectiveness of Sony’s strategies and their execution, including but not limited to the success of Sony’s acquisitions, joint ventures and other strategic investments; (x) significant volatility and disruption in the global financial markets or a ratings downgrade; (xi) Sony’s ability to forecast demands, manage timely procurement and control inventories; (xii) the outcome of pending and/or future legal and/or regulatory proceedings; (xiii) shifts in customer demand for financial services such as life insurance and Sony’s ability to conduct successful asset liability management in the Financial Services segment; (xiv) the impact of unfavorable conditions or developments (including market fluctuations or volatility) in the Japanese equity markets on the revenue and operating income of the Financial Services segment; (xv) Sony’s ability to anticipate and manage cybersecurity risk, including the risk of unauthorized access to Sony's business information, potential business disruptions or financial losses; and (xvi) risks related to catastrophic disasters or similar events. Risks and uncertainties also include the impact of any future events with material adverse impact.

(2) Business Overview

There was no significant change in the business of Sony during the six months ended September 30, 2015.

Sony realigned its reportable segments effective from the first quarter of the fiscal year ending March 31, 2016. For further information on the realignment, please refer to “IV Financial Statements – Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements – 10. Business segment information”.

As of September 30, 2015, the Company had 1,316 subsidiaries and 112 affiliated companies, of which 1,292 companies are consolidated subsidiaries (including variable interest entities) of the Company. The Company has applied the equity accounting method for 104 affiliated companies.

II State of Business

(1) Risk Factors

Note for readers of this English translation:

Except for the revised risk factors below, there was no significant change from the information presented in the Risk Factors section of the Annual Report on Form 20-F filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) on June 23, 2015. The changes are indicated by underline below. Any forward-looking statements included in the descriptions below are based on management’s current judgment.

URL: The Annual Report on Form 20-F filed with the SEC on June 23, 2015

Declines in the value of equity securities may have an adverse impact on Sony’s operating results and financial condition, particularly in Sony’s Financial Services segment.

In the Financial Services segment, Sony Life Insurance Co., Ltd. (“Sony Life”) holds equity securities and may hold hybrid bond securities that are affected by changes in the value of equity market indices. Declines in equity prices may result in impairment losses and losses on the sales of the equity securities held by Sony Life. In addition, reductions in gains or increases in losses on the sales of equity securities, as well as reductions in unrealized gains or increases in unrealized losses in respect of such hybrid bond securities may adversely affect the operating results and financial condition of Sony’s Financial Services segment. Declines in the yield of Sony Life’s separate account assets may result in additional policy reserves being recorded and the accelerated amortization of deferred acquisition costs, since U.S. GAAP requires the review of actuarial assumptions used for the valuation of policy reserves concerning minimum death guarantees for variable life insurance and the amortization of deferred acquisition costs. Additional policy reserves and accelerated amortization of deferred acquisition costs may have an adverse impact on Sony’s operating results.

For equity securities held by Sony outside of the Financial Services segment, a decrease in fair value could result in a non-cash impairment charge. Any such charge may adversely affect Sony’s operating results and financial condition.

Sony could incur asset impairment charges for goodwill, intangible assets or other long-lived assets.

Sony has a significant amount of goodwill, intangible assets and other long-lived assets, including production facilities and equipment in its electronics businesses. A decline in financial performance, market capitalization or changes in estimates and assumptions used in the impairment analysis, which in many cases requires significant judgment, could result in impairment charges of these assets. Sony tests goodwill and intangible assets that are determined to have an indefinite life for impairment during the fourth quarter of each fiscal year and assesses whether there are any factors or indicators, such as unfavorable variances from established business plans, revisions to such plans, significant changes in forecasted results or volatility inherent to external markets and industries, that would require an interim test. The increased levels of global competition and the faster pace of technological change to which Sony is exposed in these businesses can result in greater volatility of these estimates, assumptions and judgments, which can affect these interim tests and determinations as to whether they are required. In addition, the recoverability of the carrying value of long-lived assets held and used and long-lived assets to be disposed of is reviewed whenever events or changes in circumstances, including the types of events or changes described above in respect of goodwill and intangible assets, indicate that the carrying value of the assets or asset groups may not be recoverable. If the carrying value of the asset or asset group is considered impaired, an impairment charge is recorded for the amount by which the carrying value of the asset or asset group exceeds its fair value. For example, in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2014, Sony recorded impairment charges including a 32.1 billion yen impairment charge related to long-lived assets in the battery business in the Devices segment, a 25.6 billion yen impairment charge related to long-lived assets in the disc manufacturing business outside of Japan and the U.S. and goodwill across the entire disc manufacturing business in All Other, and a 12.8 billion yen impairment charge related to long-lived assets in the PC business in All Other. During the fiscal year ended March 31, 2015, Sony recorded a 176.0 billion yen impairment charge related to goodwill in the Mobile Communications segment. Any such charge may adversely affect Sony's operating results and financial condition.

In addition, as announced on October 29, 2015 in the consolidated financial results for the second quarter ended September 30, 2015, Sony is currently in the process of its annual review of its Mid-Range Plan, including for the battery business, which process is ongoing. With regard to the battery business, increasingly competitive markets affected the current quarter's financial performance and could continue to adversely affect this business. It is therefore possible that this business environment might result in an impairment charge against long-lived assets in the battery business.

(2) Material Contracts

There were no material contracts executed or determined to be executed during the three months ended September 30, 2015.

(3) Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition, Results of Operations and Status of Cash Flows

i) Results of Operations

Note for readers of this English translation:

Except for information specifically included in this English translation, this document omits certain information set out in the Japanese-language Quarterly Securities Report for the three-month and six-month periods ended September 30, 2015, since it is the same as described in a press release previously submitted to the SEC. Please refer to “Consolidated Financial Results for the Second Quarter Ended September 30, 2015” submitted to the SEC on Form 6-K on October 29, 2015.

Foreign Exchange Fluctuations and Risk Hedging

Note for readers of this English translation:

Except for the information set forth below, there was no significant change from the information presented in the Foreign Exchange Fluctuations and Risk Hedging section of the Annual Report on Form 20-F filed with the SEC on June 23, 2015. Although foreign exchange rates have fluctuated during the three-month period ended September 30, 2015, there has been no significant change in Sony's risk hedging policy as described in the Annual Report on Form 20-F.

URL: The Annual Report on Form 20-F filed with the SEC on June 23, 2015

<http://www.sec.gov/Archives/edgar/data/313838/000119312515231346/d895998d20f.htm>

During the three months ended September 30, 2015, the average rates of the yen were 122.2 yen against the U.S. dollar, which is 15.0 percent lower than the same quarter of the previous fiscal year ("year-on-year") and 135.9 yen against the euro, which is 1.4 percent higher year-on-year.

For the three months ended September 30, 2015, sales were 1,892.7 billion yen, a decrease of 0.5 percent year-on-year, while on a constant currency basis, sales decreased approximately 7 percent year-on-year. For references to information on a constant currency basis, see Note at the bottom of this section.

Consolidated operating income of 88.0 billion yen was recorded for the three months ended September 30, 2015, an increase of 173.6 billion yen year-on-year compared to the same quarter of the previous fiscal year (an improvement of approximately 210.1 billion yen year-on-year on a constant currency basis). Most of the foreign exchange rate impact was attributable to the Mobile Communications ("MC"), Game & Network Services ("G&NS"), Imaging Products & Solutions ("IP&S"), Home Entertainment & Sound ("HE&S") and Devices segments.

The table below indicates the impact of changes in foreign exchange rates on sales and operating results of each of the above-mentioned five segments. For a detailed analysis of segment performance, please refer to the "Results of Operations" section above, which discusses the impact of foreign exchange rates within each segment.

(Billions of yen)

		Three months ended September 30		Change in yen	Change on constant currency basis	Impact of changes in foreign exchange rates
		2014	2015
MC	Sales	329.5	279.2	-15.2%	-17%	+4.6
	Operating loss	(170.6)	(20.6)	+150.0	+174.4	-24.4
	Sales	309.5	360.7	+16.5%	+10%	+20.8
G&NS	Operating income	21.8	23.9	+2.1	+15.3	-13.1
	Sales	178.6	186.0	+4.1%	-3%	+13.0
IP&S	Operating income	20.1	25.9	+5.8	+3.9	+1.9
	Sales	289.7	289.1	-0.2%	-7%	+19.2
HE&S	Operating income	9.1	15.8	+6.7	+17.1	-10.4
	Sales	240.4	258.1	+7.4%	-5%	+30.4
Devices	Operating income	28.3	32.7	+4.4	-7.7	+12.0

In addition, sales for the Pictures segment increased 0.9 percent year-on-year to 183.7 billion yen, an approximately 14 percent decrease on a constant currency (U.S. dollar) basis. In the Music segment, sales increased 15.0 percent year-on-year to 138.7 billion yen, an approximately 4 percent increase on a constant currency basis. As most of the operations in Sony's Financial Services segment are based in Japan, Sony's management analyzes the performance of the Financial Services segment on a yen basis only.

Note: In this section, for all segments other than Pictures and Music, the impact of foreign exchange rate fluctuations on sales is calculated by applying the change in the yen's periodic weighted average exchange rates for the three and six months ended September 30, 2014 from the three and six months ended September 30, 2015 to the major transactional currencies in which the sales are denominated. The impact of foreign exchange rate fluctuations on operating income (loss) described herein is calculated by subtracting from the impact on sales the impact on cost of sales and selling, general and administrative expenses calculated by applying the same major transactional currencies calculation process to cost of sales and selling, general and administrative expenses as for the impact on sales. Since the worldwide subsidiaries of the Pictures segment and of SME and Sony/ATV in the Music segment are aggregated on a U.S. dollar basis and are translated into yen, the impact of foreign exchange rate fluctuations is calculated by applying the change in the periodic weighted average exchange rates for the three and six months ended September 30, 2014 from the three and six months ended September 30, 2015 from U.S. dollar to yen to the U.S. dollar basis operating results. This information is not a substitute for Sony's consolidated financial statements measured in accordance with U.S. GAAP. However, Sony believes that these disclosures provide additional useful analytical information to investors regarding the operating performance of Sony.

Sony typically raises funds through straight bonds, CP programs and bank loans (including syndicated loans). If market disruption and volatility occur and Sony could not raise sufficient funds from these sources, Sony may also draw down funds from contractually committed lines of credit from various financial institutions. Sony has a total, translated into yen, of 536.9 billion yen in unused committed lines of credit, as of September 30, 2015. Details of those committed lines of credit are: a 300.0 billion yen committed line of credit contracted with a syndicate of Japanese banks, effective until July 2018, a 1.5 billion U.S. dollar multi-currency committed line of credit also with a syndicate of Japanese banks, effective until December 2018, and a 475 million U.S. dollar multi-currency committed line of credit contracted with a syndicate of foreign banks, effective until March 2016, in all of which Sony Corporation and SGTS are defined as borrowers. These contracts are aimed at securing sufficient liquidity in a quick and stable manner even in the event of turmoil within the financial and capital markets.

On July 21, 2015, Sony Corporation raised 406.0 billion yen in total from the issuance of 87.2 million new shares by way of a Japanese public offering and an international offering (286.0 billion yen) and the issuance of convertible bonds with stock acquisition rights (120.0 billion yen). In addition, Sony Corporation raised 15.7 billion yen from the issuance of new shares by way of third-party allotment on August 18, 2015. Sony Corporation intends to use 188.0 billion yen of the funds raised by these issuances of new shares to fund capital expenditures in the Devices segment, and the remainder to fund research and development expenditures in the Devices segment. In addition, Sony Corporation intends to use 51.0 billion yen of the funds raised by this issuance of convertible bonds with stock acquisition rights to fund capital expenditures in the Devices segment and the remainder to repay long-term indebtedness.

in Note 3) on the date of such exercise of the Stock Acquisition Rights. In such case, fractions of a Share will not be issued and no adjustment by means of cash payment will be made in respect thereof.

In the case where the Conversion Price (as defined in Note 3) is adjusted in accordance with Note 3, the number of *2 Shares to be acquired upon exercise of the Stock Acquisition Rights shall be adjusted to the number obtained by dividing the aggregate principal amount of the Bonds by the Conversion Price after adjustment.

*3 Upon exercise of a Stock Acquisition Right, the Bond relating to such Stock Acquisition Right shall be contributed and the amount of the Bond to be contributed shall be equal to the amount of payment for each bond.

The price for calculating the number of Shares that shall be delivered upon the exercise of each Stock Acquisition Right (the "Conversion Price") shall initially be 5,008 yen.

Subsequent to the issuance of the Convertible Bonds with Stock Acquisition Rights, the Conversion Price shall be adjusted in accordance with the following formula, if the total number of Shares outstanding is changed or may be changed by any of the following events; i) if the Company offers Shares to be subscribed at an amount of payment below the current market price of the Shares; ii) if the Company makes a stock split or a free share distribution of Shares; iii) if the Company issues (x) shares with put options, shares subject to call options, or stock acquisition rights subject to call options (including stock acquisition rights incorporated into bonds with stock acquisition rights) to acquire Shares that shall be delivered at a price below the current market price of the Shares, (y) Stock Acquisition Rights (including stock acquisition rights incorporated into bonds with stock acquisition rights) to acquire the Shares that shall be delivered at a price below the current market price of the Shares.

If the Company distributes any dividend in excess of 25 yen per Share per fiscal year (a “Special Dividend”) subsequent to the issuance of the Convertible Bonds with Stock Acquisition Rights, the Conversion Price shall be adjusted in accordance with the following formula:

 \text{Conversion} \\

“Special Dividend per Share” shall be the amount obtained by dividing the Special Dividend by the number of Shares to be acquired upon exercise of the Stock Acquisition Right for the amount of each Bond (1 million yen) on the final record date of the relevant fiscal year with respect to the surplus dividends. Such calculation of the Special Dividend per Share shall be made to units of JPY 0.01 and rounded to the first decimal place.

The Conversion Price will also be required to be adjusted by the Company upon consultation with the bond administrator in the case of the following;

- (1) In the event of a consolidation of shares, reduction of stated capital or additional paid-in capital, merger (excluding dissolution of the Company due to the merger), a share exchange or a company split;

- (2) In addition to item (1) above, the occurrence of an event that causes or may cause a change in the total number of Shares outstanding of the Company;
- (3) The Conversion Price is required to be adjusted in order to make a free share distribution of other classes of shares to the shareholders of the Shares;
- (4) The Conversion Price is required to be adjusted in order to distribute a surplus dividend in the form of an asset other than money, the financial value of which will be the same as if it is a Special Dividend; and

(5) When two or more events which require adjustment of the Conversion Price coincide in proximate timing, and it is necessary to take into consideration the impact of one event upon the market price which must be used for the calculation of Conversion Price to be adjusted due to the other event(s).

Furthermore, when a public notice is made pursuant to the provisions for Early Redemption Due to Reorganization or Early Redemption Due to Delisting (each as defined in the Terms and Conditions of the Convertible Bonds with Stock Acquisition Rights (the "Terms and Conditions")), the Conversion Price shall be reduced in accordance with the specified manner set forth in the Terms and Conditions.

Holders of the Convertible Bonds with Stock Acquisition Rights may exercise the Stock Acquisition Rights and *4request the Company to deliver the Shares at any time during the period from September 1, 2015 to September 28, 2022; provided, however, that the application to exercise such rights may not be made during the following times:

- (1) The date on which the shareholders of the Shares are determined and the immediately preceding business day;
- (2) A day deemed necessary by a book-entry transfer institution;
In the case of early redemption of the Bonds on or before September 28, 2022 pursuant to the provisions for the
- (3) Early Redemption Due to Reorganization, the Early Redemption Due to Delisting, and the 130% Call Option (as defined in the Terms and Conditions), on or after the immediately preceding business day of the day on which the principal for such redemption is to be paid;
- (4) In the case where the Bonds become due and payable, on or after the date when such Bonds become due and payable;
In the case where, in a Reorganization (as defined in the Terms and Conditions), the stock acquisition rights of a New Obligor (as defined in the Terms and Conditions) are delivered and it is necessary to suspend the application
- (5) to exercise the Stock Acquisition Rights, the period with respect to which Sony gives to the bond administrator(s) a prior written notice stating the period for the suspension of the application to exercise the rights (such period shall not exceed one month) and other necessary matters, and gives a public notice for the necessary matters no later than one month before the commencement date of such period.

In the case of a Reorganization in which a New Obligor's common stock is delivered to the shareholder of the Company, excluding the case of early redemption of the Bonds pursuant to the Early Redemption Due to Reorganization, the Company shall deliver the stock acquisition rights of a New Obligor ("New Stock Acquisition Rights"), the details of which are set forth in (2) below, to the holder of the Stock Acquisition Rights that are outstanding immediately prior to the effective date of such Reorganization (the "Reorganization Effective *5(1)Date"). In such case, as of such Reorganization Effective Date, the Stock Acquisition Rights lapse and the obligations of the Bonds are assumed by a New Obligor (the Bonds assumed by a New Obligor are hereinafter referred to as the "New Bonds"), New Stock Acquisition Rights become stock acquisition rights attached to the New Bonds, and holders of the Stock Acquisition Rights become holders of the New Stock Acquisition Rights. Provisions of the Stock Acquisition Rights in the Terms and Conditions apply mutatis mutandis to the New Stock Acquisition Rights.

(2) The details of the New Stock Acquisition Rights are set forth below:

(a) Number of New Stock Acquisition Rights:

The number of New Stock Acquisition Rights to be granted will be equal to the number of the Stock Acquisition Rights that are outstanding immediately prior to the relevant Reorganization Effective Date.

(b) Class of shares to be issued or transferred upon the exercise of the New Stock Acquisition Rights:

Shares of the New Obligor's common stock.

(c) Method of determination of the number of shares to be issued or transferred upon exercise of the New Stock Acquisition Rights:

The number of shares to be issued or transferred is the number that is obtained by dividing the total value of the New Bonds, to which the New Stock Acquisition Rights exercised are attached, by the Conversion Price as set forth in (d) below. In such case, fractions of a share will not be issued and no adjustment by means of cash payment will be made in respect thereof.

(d) Conversion Price for the New Bonds to which the New Stock Acquisition Rights are attached

The Conversion Price for the New Bonds to which the New Stock Acquisition Rights are attached shall be such that the holder of a New Stock Acquisition Right shall, upon the exercise of such rights immediately after the Reorganization Effective Date, receive an equivalent economic value to be determined by the Company as that which the holder of Stock Acquisition Rights would have received had such Stock Acquisition Right been exercised immediately before the relevant Reorganization Effective Date. On or after the Reorganization Effective Date, the Conversion Price for the New Bonds to which the New Stock Acquisition Rights are attached shall be subject to the same kind of adjustment or reduction as described in Note 3.

(e) Description of asset to be contributed upon exercise of the New Stock Acquisition Rights and amount thereof:

Upon the exercise of each New Stock Acquisition Right, each New Bond to which each such New Stock Acquisition Right is attached shall be contributed and the amount to be contributed by such New Bonds shall be equal to the subscription amount of the Bond.

(f) Period during which the New Stock Acquisition Rights are exercisable:

The New Stock Acquisition Rights may be exercised at any time during the period from the relevant Reorganization Effective Date (or, if the Company determines the period during which the application to exercise such rights is suspended as set forth in (5) of Note 4, the later of the date of such Reorganization Effective Date or the business day immediately following the last day of such suspension period) up to, and including, the last day of the period for the application to exercise the Stock Acquisition Rights as set forth in Note 4.

(g) Amount of stated capital and additional paid-in capital increased by issuance of shares upon exercise of the New Stock Acquisition Rights:

The amount of stated capital to be increased upon exercise of New Stock Acquisition Rights shall be half of the maximum amount of the stated capital increased, as calculated in accordance with Article 17 of the Rules of Account Settlement of Corporations with any fraction less than one yen resulting from such calculation being rounded up to the nearest one yen. The amount of additional paid-in capital to be increased shall be the amount obtained by subtracting the relevant amount of stated capital to be increased from the relevant maximum amount of the stated capital increase.

(h) Other conditions for the exercise of the New Stock Acquisition Rights:

No application for partial exercise of each New Stock Acquisition Right may be made.

(i) Mandatory Repurchase of Stock Acquisition Rights:

Not applicable.

iii) Status of the Exercise of Moving Strike Convertible Bonds

Not applicable.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited)

Sony Corporation and Consolidated Subsidiaries

1. Summary of significant accounting policies

The accompanying consolidated financial statements are presented in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“U.S. GAAP”), except for certain disclosures which have been omitted. Certain adjustments and reclassifications have been incorporated in the accompanying consolidated financial statements to conform with U.S. GAAP. These adjustments were not recorded in the statutory books and records as Sony Corporation and its subsidiaries in Japan maintain their records and prepare their statutory financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Japan while its foreign subsidiaries maintain their records and prepare their financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the countries of their domiciles.

(1) Recently adopted accounting pronouncements:

Reporting discontinued operations and disclosures of disposals of components of an entity -

In April 2014, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) issued new accounting guidance that changes the requirements for reporting discontinued operations and requires additional disclosures about discontinued operations. Under the new guidance, only disposals representing a strategic shift in operations that has, or will have, a major effect on the entity’s operations and financial results should be presented as discontinued operations. Additionally, the revised guidance requires additional disclosures for discontinued operations as well as for disposals of significant components of an entity that do not qualify for discontinued operations presentation. This guidance was effective for Sony as of April 1, 2015. The adoption of this guidance did not have a material impact on Sony’s results of operations and financial position.

Repurchase-to-maturity transactions and repurchase financings -

In June 2014, the FASB issued new accounting guidance for the accounting and disclosure of repurchase-to-maturity transactions and repurchase financings. The guidance requires that repurchase-to-maturity transactions be accounted for as secured borrowings, and requires that a transfer of a financial asset and a repurchase agreement executed contemporaneously be accounted for separately. The guidance also requires additional disclosures about certain transferred financial assets accounted for as sales and certain transactions accounted for as secured borrowings. Except for the disclosure for transactions accounted for as secured borrowings, the guidance was effective for Sony as of January 1, 2015. The guidance for disclosure for transactions accounted for as secured borrowings was effective for Sony as of April 1, 2015. The adoption of this guidance did not have a material impact on Sony’s results of operations and financial position.

(2) Accounting methods used specifically for interim consolidated financial statements:

Income Taxes -

Sony estimates the annual effective tax rate (“ETR”) derived from a projected annual net income before taxes and calculates the interim period income tax provision based on the year-to-date income tax provision computed by applying the ETR to the year-to-date net income before taxes at the end of each interim period. The income tax provision based on the ETR reflects anticipated income tax credits and net operating loss carryforwards; however, it excludes the income tax provision related to significant unusual or extraordinary transactions. Such income tax provision is separately reported from the provision based on the ETR in the interim period in which it occurs.

(3) Reclassifications:

Certain reclassifications of the financial statements and accompanying footnotes for the six and three months ended September 30, 2014 have been made to conform to the presentation for the six and three months ended September 30, 2015.

2. Marketable securities and securities investments

4. Issuance of convertible bonds

On July 21, 2015, Sony issued 120,000 million yen of 130% callable unsecured zero coupon convertible bonds with stock acquisition rights due 2022 (the “Zero Coupon Convertible Bonds”). The bondholders are entitled to stock acquisition rights effective from September 1, 2015 to September 28, 2022. The initial conversion price is 5,008 yen per common share. In addition to the standard anti-dilution provisions, the conversion price is reduced for a certain period before an early redemption triggered upon the occurrence of certain corporate events including a merger, corporate split and delisting event. The reduced amount of the conversion price will be determined by a formula that is based on the effective date of the reduction and Sony’s common stock price. The reduced conversion price ranges from 3,526.5 yen to 5,008 yen per common share. The conversion price is also adjusted for dividends in excess of 25 yen per common share per fiscal year. Sony has the option to redeem all of the Zero Coupon Convertible Bonds outstanding at 100% of the principal amount after July 21, 2020, if the closing sales price per share of Sony’s common stock on the Tokyo Stock Exchange is 130% or more of the conversion price of the Zero Coupon Convertible Bonds for 20 consecutive trading days. Sony was not required to bifurcate any of the embedded features contained in the Zero Coupon Convertible Bonds for accounting purposes. There are no significant adverse debt covenants under the Zero Coupon Convertible Bonds.

5. Supplemental equity and comprehensive income information

Diluted EPS (124.32)	26.10

Potential shares of common stock that were excluded from the computation of diluted EPS for the three months ended September 30, 2014 and 2015 were 36,397 thousand shares and 7,880 thousand shares, respectively. The potential shares were excluded as anti-dilutive for the three months ended September 30, 2014 due to Sony incurring a net loss attributable to Sony Corporation's stockholders for the period, and potential shares related to stock acquisition rights were excluded as anti-dilutive for the three months ended September 30, 2015 when the exercise price for those shares was in excess of the average market value of Sony's common stock for the period. The zero coupon convertible bonds issued in July 2015 were included in the diluted EPS calculation under the if-converted method beginning upon issuance.

7. Orchard Acquisition

In April 2015, Sony Music Entertainment (“SME”), a wholly owned subsidiary of Sony, increased its shareholding in Orchard Media, Inc. (“The Orchard”) to 100% by acquiring Orchard Asset Holdings, LLC’s 49% equity interest.

Prior to the acquisition, SME’s interest in The Orchard was accounted for under the equity method of accounting. As a result of SME’s obtaining a controlling interest in The Orchard, Sony consolidated The Orchard using the acquisition method of accounting. In accordance with the accounting guidance for business combinations achieved in stages, Sony remeasured the 51% equity interest in The Orchard that it owned prior to the acquisition at a fair value which recognized a gain of 18,085 million yen (151 million U.S. dollars) in other operating (income) expense, net in the consolidated statement of income for the six months ended September 30, 2015. The purchase price allocation for this transaction is still in process and not yet finalized.

8. Sale of the logistics business

On April 1, 2015, in connection with the formation of a logistics joint venture, Sony sold a part of its logistics business in Japan, Thailand, and Malaysia within Corporate to MITSUI-SOKO HOLDINGS Co., Ltd. for a sales price of 19,211 million yen. As a result of the sale, Sony recognized a gain of 12,284 million yen in other operating (income) expense, net in the consolidated statement of income for the six months ended September 30, 2015.

9. Commitments, contingent liabilities and other

(1) Loan commitments

Subsidiaries in the Financial Services segment have entered into loan agreements with their customers in accordance with the condition of the contracts. As of September 30, 2015, the total unused portion of the lines of credit extended under these contracts was 26,942 million yen. The aggregate amounts of future year-by-year payments for these loan commitments cannot be determined.

(2) Purchase commitments and other

Purchase commitments and other outstanding commitments as of September 30, 2015 amounted to 426,634 million yen. The major components of these commitments are as follows:

Certain subsidiaries in the Pictures segment have entered into agreements with creative talent for the development and production of motion pictures and television programming as well as agreements with third parties to acquire completed motion pictures, or certain rights therein, and to acquire the rights to broadcast certain live action sporting events. These agreements cover various periods mainly within three years. As of September 30, 2015, these subsidiaries were committed to make payments under such contracts of 138,416 million yen.

Certain subsidiaries in the Music segment have entered into long-term contracts with recording artists, songwriters and companies for the future production, distribution and/or licensing of music product. These contracts cover various periods mainly within five years. As of September 30, 2015, these subsidiaries were committed to make payments of 63,940 million yen under such long-term contracts.

Sony has entered into long-term sponsorship contracts related to advertising and promotional rights. These contracts cover various periods mainly within five years. As of September 30, 2015, Sony has committed to make payments of 27,193 million yen under such long-term contracts.

(3) Litigation

In October 2009, Sony Corporation's U.S. subsidiary, Sony Optiarc America Inc., received a subpoena from the U.S. Department of Justice ("DOJ") seeking information about its optical disk drive business. Sony understands that the European Commission and certain other governmental agencies outside the United States also opened investigations of competition in the optical disk drives market. In March 2014, the DOJ notified Sony that it had closed its investigation. In October 2015, the European Commission adopted a decision in which it fined Sony Corporation, its subsidiary in Japan, Sony Optiarc Inc., and two other subsidiaries 31 million euros. Sony has announced an intent to appeal that ruling. Sony understands that the investigations by several other agencies have now ended, but one other agency continues to investigate. A number of direct and indirect purchaser lawsuits, including class actions, were filed in certain jurisdictions, including the United States, in which the plaintiffs alleged that Sony Corporation and certain of its subsidiaries violated antitrust laws and sought recovery of damages and other remedies. In October 2014, the United States District Court hearing the U.S. class actions denied motions for class certification in both the direct and indirect purchaser class actions. The class plaintiffs filed petitions to appeal these rulings, and in January 2015, the appellate court denied the petitions to appeal. However, in February 2015 the district court gave the plaintiffs an opportunity to seek certification of narrower classes, and the civil actions continue. Based on the investigations and cases, it is not possible to estimate the amount of losses or range of possible losses, if any, that might ultimately result from adverse judgments, settlements or other resolution of all of these matters.

In May 2011, Sony Corporation's U.S. subsidiary, Sony Electronics Inc., received a subpoena from the DOJ Antitrust Division seeking information about its secondary batteries business. Sony understands that the European Commission and certain other governmental agencies outside the United States also opened investigations of competition in the secondary batteries market. The DOJ has notified Sony that it has closed its investigation, but the European Commission and one other agency continue to investigate. A number of direct and indirect purchaser lawsuits, including class actions, have been filed in certain jurisdictions, including the United States, in which the plaintiffs allege that Sony Corporation and certain of its subsidiaries violated antitrust laws and seek recovery of damages and other remedies. Based on the stage of these proceedings, it is not possible to estimate the amount of loss or range of possible loss, if any, that might result from adverse judgments, settlements or other resolution of all of these matters.

Beginning in early 2011, the network services of PlayStation®Network, Qriocity™, Sony Online Entertainment LLC and websites of other subsidiaries came under cyber-attack. As of November 6, 2015, Sony has not received any confirmed reports of customer identity theft issues or misuse of credit cards from such cyber-attacks. In connection with certain of these matters, Sony had received inquiries from authorities in a number of jurisdictions, including formal and/or informal requests for information from Attorneys General from a number of states in the United States; the Attorneys General have indicated that no further action is likely to be taken regarding those requests. Additionally, Sony Corporation and/or certain of its subsidiaries were named in a number of purported class actions in certain jurisdictions, including the United States. The U.S. class action suits have been settled, and the settlement has received the final approval of the court. A non-U.S. class action suit remains pending. Based on the stage of these inquiries and proceedings, it is not possible to estimate the amount of loss or range of possible loss, if any, that might result from adverse judgments, settlements or other resolution of all of these matters.

In the fall of 2014, Sony Corporation's U.S. subsidiary, Sony Pictures Entertainment Inc. ("SPE"), was subject to a cyber-attack that resulted in unauthorized access to, and theft and disclosure of SPE business information, including employee information and other information. In connection with the theft and disclosure of information, SPE has been named in a number of purported class action suits in the United States brought by former employees of SPE. A proposed settlement of the class action suits in the United States has been submitted to the court for preliminary court approval. Based on the stage of these proceedings, it is not possible to estimate the amount of loss or range of possible loss, if any, that might result from adverse judgments, settlements or other resolution of these proceedings.

In addition, Sony Corporation and certain of its subsidiaries are defendants or otherwise involved in other pending legal and regulatory proceedings. However, based upon the information currently available, Sony believes that the outcome from such legal and regulatory proceedings would not have a material impact on Sony's results of operations and financial position.

(4) Guarantees

Sony has issued guarantees that contingently require payments to guaranteed parties if certain specified events or conditions occur. The maximum potential amount of future payments under these guarantees as of September 30, 2015 amounted to 42,336 million yen. The major components of these guarantees are as follows:

Sony has agreed to repay the outstanding principal plus accrued interest up to a maximum of 268.5 million U.S. dollars to the creditor of the third-party investor of Sony's U.S. based music publishing subsidiary should the third-party investor default on its obligation. The obligation of the third-party investor is collateralized by its 50% interest in Sony's music publishing subsidiary. Should Sony have to make a payment under the terms of the guarantee, Sony would assume the creditor's rights to the underlying collateral. As of September 30, 2015, the fair value of the collateral exceeded 268.5 million U.S. dollars.

10. Business segment information

The reportable segments presented below are the segments of Sony for which separate financial information is available and for which operating profit or loss amounts are evaluated regularly by the chief operating decision maker (“CODM”) in deciding how to allocate resources and in assessing performance. The CODM does not evaluate segments using discrete asset information. Sony’s CODM is its Chief Executive Officer and President.

Sony realigned its business segments for the first quarter of the fiscal year ending March 31, 2016 to reflect modifications to its organizational structure as of April 1, 2015, primarily repositioning certain operations in All Other and the Devices segment. In connection with this realignment, the operations of Sony’s disc manufacturing business in Japan, which were included in All Other are now included in the Music segment and the operations of So-net Corporation and its subsidiaries, which were included in All Other are now included in the Mobile Communications (“MC”) segment. Certain operations regarding pre-installed automotive audio products which were included in the Devices segment are now included in the Home Entertainment & Sound (“HE&S”) segment. In connection with these realignments, the sales and operating revenue and operating income (loss) of each segment for the comparable period have been reclassified to conform to the current presentation.

The MC segment includes the manufacture and sale of mobile phones and an Internet-related service business. The Game & Network Services (“G&NS”) segment includes the manufacture and sales of home gaming products, network services business and production and sales of software. The Imaging Products & Solutions (“IP&S”) segment includes Digital Imaging Products, and Professional Solutions. The HE&S segment includes Televisions, and Audio and Video. The Devices segment includes Semiconductors and Components. The Pictures segment includes Motion Pictures, Television Productions and Media Networks. The Music segment includes Recorded Music, Music Publishing and Visual Media and Platform. The Financial Services segment primarily represents individual life insurance and non-life insurance businesses in the Japanese market and a bank business in Japan. All Other consists of various operating activities, including, the medical business, the disc overseas manufacturing business and the PC business. Sony’s products and services are generally unique to a single operating segment.

Depreciation associated with restructured assets as used in the context of the disclosures regarding restructuring activities refers to the increase in depreciation expense caused by revising the useful life and the salvage value of depreciable fixed assets to coincide with the earlier end of production under an approved restructuring plan. Any impairment of the assets is recognized immediately in the period it is identified.

(2) Litigation

In October 2009, Sony Corporation's U.S. subsidiary, Sony Optiarc America Inc., received a subpoena from the U.S. Department of Justice ("DOJ") seeking information about its optical disk drive business. Sony understands that the European Commission and certain other governmental agencies outside the United States also opened investigations of competition in the optical disk drives market. In March 2014, the DOJ notified Sony that it had closed its investigation. In October 2015, the European Commission adopted a decision in which it fined Sony Corporation, its subsidiary in Japan, Sony Optiarc Inc., and two other subsidiaries 31 million euros. Sony has announced an intent to appeal that ruling. Sony understands that the investigations by several other agencies have now ended, but one other agency continues to investigate. A number of direct and indirect purchaser lawsuits, including class actions, were filed in certain jurisdictions, including the United States, in which the plaintiffs alleged that Sony Corporation and certain of its subsidiaries violated antitrust laws and sought recovery of damages and other remedies. In October 2014, the United States District Court hearing the U.S. class actions denied motions for class certification in both the direct and indirect purchaser class actions. The class plaintiffs filed petitions to appeal these rulings, and in January 2015, the appellate court denied the petitions to appeal. However, in February 2015 the district court gave the plaintiffs an opportunity to seek certification of narrower classes, and the civil actions continue. Based on the investigations and cases, it is not possible to estimate the amount of losses or range of possible losses, if any, that might ultimately result from adverse judgments, settlements or other resolution of all of these matters.

In May 2011, Sony Corporation's U.S. subsidiary, Sony Electronics Inc., received a subpoena from the DOJ Antitrust Division seeking information about its secondary batteries business. Sony understands that the European Commission and certain other governmental agencies outside the United States also opened investigations of competition in the secondary batteries market. The DOJ has notified Sony that it has closed its investigation, but the European Commission and one other agency continue to investigate. A number of direct and indirect purchaser lawsuits, including class actions, have been filed in certain jurisdictions, including the United States, in which the plaintiffs allege that Sony Corporation and certain of its subsidiaries violated antitrust laws and seek recovery of damages and other remedies. Based on the stage of these proceedings, it is not possible to estimate the amount of loss or range of possible loss, if any, that might result from adverse judgments, settlements or other resolution of all of these matters.

Beginning in early 2011, the network services of PlayStation®Network, Qriocity™, Sony Online Entertainment LLC and websites of other subsidiaries came under cyber-attack. As of November 6, 2015, Sony has not received any confirmed reports of customer identity theft issues or misuse of credit cards from such cyber-attacks. In connection with certain of these matters, Sony had received inquiries from authorities in a number of jurisdictions, including formal and/or informal requests for information from Attorneys General from a number of states in the United States; the Attorneys General have indicated that no further action is likely to be taken regarding those requests. Additionally, Sony Corporation and/or certain of its subsidiaries were named in a number of purported class actions in certain jurisdictions, including the United States. The U.S. class action suits have been settled, and the settlement has received the final approval of the court. A non-U.S. class action suit remains pending. Based on the stage of these inquiries and proceedings, it is not possible to estimate the amount of loss or range of possible loss, if any, that might result from adverse judgments, settlements or other resolution of all of these matters.

In the fall of 2014, Sony Corporation's U.S. subsidiary, Sony Pictures Entertainment Inc. ("SPE"), was subject to a cyber-attack that resulted in unauthorized access to, and theft and disclosure of SPE business information, including employee information and other information. In connection with the theft and disclosure of information, SPE has been named in a number of purported class action suits in the United States brought by former employees of SPE. A proposed settlement of the class action suits in the United States has been submitted to the court for preliminary court approval. Based on the stage of these proceedings, it is not possible to estimate the amount of loss or range of possible loss, if any, that might result from adverse judgments, settlements or other resolution of these proceedings.

In addition, Sony Corporation and certain of its subsidiaries are defendants or otherwise involved in other pending legal and regulatory proceedings. However, based upon the information currently available, Sony believes that the outcome from such legal and regulatory proceedings would not have a material impact on Sony's results of operations and financial position.
