CHARIMAN'S STATEMENT

During the first half of 2003, the Company experienced strong international oil price and serious impact of the Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS) in China. Thanks to the collaborative effort of our staff, the Company maintained its momentum of rapid development with stable increase in production. Benefiting from the strong international oil price, the Company saw remarkable growth in oil and gas revenues, and our cost remained competitive, leading to a significant increase in the net profit. In February 2003, the Company continued to implement its natural gas strategy by completing the acquisition of equity interests in the Tangguh LNG Project in Indonesia. In May 2003, the Company took the opportunity of the low interest rate environment to issue two tranches of 10-year and 30-year guaranteed notes with a value of US$200 million and US$300 million respectively, optimizing the Company's capital structure. In addition, we also maintained an active exploration and development program during the period, marked with a number of successful discoveries and appraisals. Our oil and gas development projects also proceeded on schedule.

Review of Operations

For the six months ended 30 June 2003, the Company recorded stable production growth. Our oil and gas production reached 352,780 barrels-of-oil-equivalent per day, representing an increase of 14.8% over the same period last year. Net crude oil production reached 307,103 barrels per day, while net natural gas production totaled 263.2 million cubic feet per day, representing a 15.0% and 10.4% increase over the first half of 2002 respectively. The realized oil price was US$28.56 per barrel, up 30.9% from last year. The realized natural gas price was US$2.93 per thousand cubic feet.

Owing to the stable production growth and strong oil price, the Company's oil and gas sales reached RMB14.18 billion during the first half of this year, representing a remarkable increase of 47.3% compared to RMB9.63 billion of the same period last year. Coupled with the revenues from trading and other activities, the Company achieved a total revenue of RMB17.90 billion, representing a significant increase of 68.3% from RMB10.64 billion last year. The reported profit before tax was RMB8.74 billion, up 75.1% from RMB4.99 billion in 2002, and the reported net profit was RMB6.33 billion, representing a sharp increase of 75.0% compared with RMB3.62 billion in the previous year. During the period, the basic and diluted earnings per share of the Company were RMB0.77. According to the Company's dividend policy and considering the future trend of the oil prices, current cash position and future needs of investment capital, the Board of Directors has decided to pay out an interim dividend of HK$0.14 per share and a special interim dividend of HK$0.18 per share.

During the first half of 2003, the Company recorded seven wildcat discoveries through its successful exploration activities, including five crude oil discoveries in the Bohai Bay. These five discoveries include the independent discoveries of Bozhong 34-1S (discovered and appraised during the period), Bozhong 34-1 and Bozhong 3-2 fields, and the Caofeidian 11-5 and Penglai 19-9 discoveries made by our PSC partners, demonstrating the enormous potential of the Bohai Bay. In Eastern South China Sea, we have made two independent gas discoveries, Liuhua 19-5 and Panyu 35-1, reflecting the successful explorations in the area. During the period, the appraisal of 5 discoveries were completed, namely the Jinzhou 25-1S, Bozhong 34-1S, and Panyu 30-1, which are independent discoveries, Caofeidian 12-1 and Caofeidian 12-1S, which are discoveries made by our PSC partners. Among the appraisal successes, Panyu 30-1 and the surrounding gas discoveries were the Company's major natural gas discoveries in the Eastern South China Sea area, showcasing the area's prospects for explorations and strengthening the Company's dominant position in the natural gas business in the Pearl River Delta Region.

The Company continued to focus on the development of oil and gas fields during the period, with a number of projects proceeding on schedule. Dongfang 1-1, the Company's largest independent gas field, was expected to be on stream soon, while the Panyu 4-2/5-1 oilfield would also be on stream in the second half. In addition, the Caofeidian 11-1/2, Bozhong 25-1 and Xihu Trough Chunxiao projects were also proceeding on schedule.

The Company is highly committed to health, safety and environmental protection. During the period, the management succeeded in overcoming the impact of SARS by implementing a comprehensive health, safety and environmental system for the Company's operations, and no employees or their family members fell victim to the epidemic. In addition, the Company achieved double zero record in both the recordable accident rate and the work hours lost rate, bringing a huge encouragement for us to continue our persistent health, safety and environmental policies.

Outlook

In the second half of 2003, maximizing shareholders' return will remain to be the mission of the management and our staff as a whole. We will also stick to our development strategy to achieve our production and operations targets for the year. Our key tasks in the second half of the year include:

- Focus on hitting our oil and gas production targets for the year while controlling the costs. We will also strive to maintain our current competitive cost structure.
- Continue our active exploration program in offshore China and optimize our exploration plans and targets, so as to increase reserves through maintaining the growth of oil reserves in Bohai Bay and the momentum of gas explorations in Eastern South China Sea.
- Continue to closely control the progress, costs and quality of our existing development projects, especially for the Dongfang 1-1 and the Panyu 4-2/5-1 project which will be on stream during the second half of the year, so as to achieve the Company's development target.
- Health, safety and environment issues will remain our top priorities. We are deeply committed to the health of our staff and we will achieve a perfect synergy between the Company and our staff.
