Please share this information with your medical society contacts, as you feel appropriate.

We want to share some important news with you.

This morning we issued a press release announcing that Aetna has entered into a definitive agreement to acquire Coventry Health Care, Inc.

Coventry is a diversified managed health care company that offers a full portfolio of risk and fee-based products, including Medicare Advantage and Medicare Part D programs, Medicaid managed care plans, group and individual health insurance, coverage for specialty services such as workers' compensation, and network rental services.

The acquisition of Coventry will complement Aetna's strategy to expand our competitive set of core and emerging businesses to grow our business and lead the transformation of the health care industry.

On a pro forma basis, the Coventry acquisition will add nearly 4 million medical members and 1.5 million Medicare Part D members. It also will build on our existing resources and capabilities.

Coventry will expand Aetna's presence in important local geographies, particularly the Mid-Atlantic and Mid-West. Coventry will add more balance to Aetna's overall portfolio, particularly in the fast-growing Government sector. Coventry's strength in individual Medicare Advantage and Medicare Part D programs complements our group Medicare Advantage business.

The transaction is subject to customary closing conditions, and we anticipate completing the acquisition in the middle of 2013.

Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This document may contain forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. You can generally identify forward-looking statements by the use of forward-looking terminology such as “anticipate,” “believe,” “continue,” “could,” “estimate,” “expect,” “explore,” “evaluate,” “intend,” “may,” “might,” “plan,” “potential,” “predict,” “project,” “seek,” “should,” “may be,” “could be,” “might be,” “may not,” “could not,” “might not,” “may have,” “might have,” “may not have,” “might not have,” “may be able to,” “might be able to,” “may not be able to,” “might not be able to,” “may be expected to,” “might be expected to,” “may not be expected to,” “might not be expected to,” “may be likely to,” “might be likely to,” “may not be likely to,” “might not be likely to,” “may be possible to,” “might be possible to,” “may not be possible to,” “might not be possible to,” “may be probable to,” “might be probable to,” “may not be probable to,” “might not be probable to,” “may be unlikely to,” “might be unlikely to,” “may not be unlikely to,” “might not be unlikely to,” “may be uncertain to,” “might be uncertain to,” “may not be uncertain to,” “might not be uncertain to,” “may be doubtful to,” “might be doubtful to,” “may not be doubtful to,” “might not be doubtful to,” “may be impossible to,” “might be impossible to,” “may not be impossible to,” “might not be impossible to,” “may be unlikely to occur,” “might be unlikely to occur,” “may not be unlikely to occur,” “might not be unlikely to occur,” “may be possible to occur,” “might be possible to occur,” “may not be possible to occur,” “might not be possible to occur,” “may be probable to occur,” “might be probable to occur,” “may not be probable to occur,” “might not be probable to occur,” “may be unlikely to occur,” “might be unlikely to occur,” “may not be unlikely to occur,” “might not be unlikely to occur,” “may be uncertain to occur,” “might be uncertain to occur,” “may not be uncertain to occur,” “might not be uncertain to occur,” “may be doubtful to occur,” “might be doubtful to occur,” “may not be doubtful to occur,” “might not be doubtful to occur,” “may be impossible to occur,” “might be impossible to occur,” “may not be impossible to occur,” “might not be impossible to occur.” These forward-looking statements are only predictions and involve known and unknown risks and uncertainties, many of which are beyond our control.

Statements in this document that are forward-looking, including Aetna’s projections as to the anticipated benefits of the pending transaction to Aetna, operating earnings per share, medical membership and the closing date for the pending transaction, are based on management’s estimates, assumptions and projections, and are subject to significant uncertainties and other factors, many of which are beyond Aetna’s control. Important risk factors could cause actual future results and other future events to differ materially from those currently estimated by management, including, but not limited to: the timing to consummate the proposed acquisition; the risk that a condition to closing of the proposed acquisition may not be satisfied; the risk that a regulatory approval that may be required for the proposed acquisition is delayed, is not obtained or is obtained subject to conditions that are not anticipated; Aetna’s ability to achieve the synergies and value creation contemplated by the proposed acquisition; Aetna’s ability to promptly and effectively integrate Coventry’s businesses; the diversion of management time on acquisition-related issues; and the implementation of health care reform legislation and changes in Aetna’s future cash requirements, capital requirements, results of operations, financial condition and/or cash flows. Health care reform will significantly impact Aetna’s business operations and financial results, including Aetna’s medical benefit ratios. Components of the legislation will be phased in over the next six years, and Aetna will be required to dedicate material resources and incur material expenses during that time to implement health care reform. Many significant parts of the legislation, including health insurance exchanges, Medicaid expansion, the scope of “essential benefits,” employer penalties and the implementation of minimum medical loss ratios, require further guidance and clarification both at the federal level and/or in the form of regulations and actions by state legislatures to implement the law. In addition, pending efforts in the U.S. Congress to repeal, amend, or restrict funding for various aspects of health care reform, the 2012 presidential and congressional elections, and the possibility of additional litigation challenging aspects of the law continue to create additional uncertainty about the ultimate impact of health care reform. As a result, many of the impacts of health care reform will not be known for the next several years. Other important risk factors include: adverse and less predictable economic conditions in the U.S. and abroad (including unanticipated levels of, or increases in the rate of, unemployment); adverse changes in health care reform and/or other federal or state government policies or regulations as a result of health care reform or otherwise (including legislative, judicial or regulatory measures that would affect Aetna’s business model, restrict funding for or amend various aspects of health care reform, limit Aetna’s ability to price for the risk it assumes and/or reflect reasonable costs or profits in its pricing, such as mandated minimum medical benefit ratios, eliminate or reduce ERISA pre-emption of state laws (increasing Aetna’s potential litigation exposure) or mandate coverage of certain health benefits); Aetna’s ability to differentiate its products and solutions from those offered by its competitors, and demonstrate that its products lead to access to better quality of care by its members; unanticipated increases in medical costs (including increased intensity or medical utilization as a result of flu, increased COBRA participation rates or otherwise; changes in membership mix to higher cost or lower-premium products or membership-adverse selection; changes in medical cost estimates due to the necessary extensive judgment that is used in the medical cost estimation process, the considerable variability inherent in such estimates, and the sensitivity of such estimates to changes in medical claims payment patterns and changes in medical cost trends; increases resulting from unfavorable changes in contracting or re-contracting with providers, and increased pharmacy costs); failure to achieve and/or delays in achieving desired rate increases and/or profitable membership growth due to regulatory review or other regulatory restrictions, the difficult economy and/or significant competition, especially in key geographic areas where membership is concentrated, including successful protests of business awarded to us; adverse changes in size, product mix or medical cost experience of membership; Aetna’s ability to diversify its sources of revenue and earnings; adverse program, pricing or funding actions by federal or state government payors, including curtailment or elimination of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services' star rating bonus payments; the ability to reduce administrative expenses while maintaining targeted levels of service and operating performance; the ability to successfully implement Aetna's agreement with CVS Caremark Corporation on a timely basis and in a cost-efficient manner and to achieve projected operating efficiencies for the agreement; Aetna's ability to integrate, simplify, and enhance its existing information technology systems and platforms to keep pace with changing customer and regulatory needs; the success of Aetna's health information technology initiatives; Aetna's ability to successfully integrate its businesses (including Medicity, Prodigy Health Group, PayFlex, and Genworth Financial Inc.'s Medicare Supplement business and other businesses Aetna may acquire in the future, including Coventry) and implement multiple strategic and operational initiatives simultaneously; managing executive succession and key talent retention, recruitment and development; the outcome of various litigation and regulatory matters, including guaranty fund assessments and litigation concerning, and ongoing reviews by various regulatory authorities of, certain of Aetna's payment practices with respect to out-of-network providers and/or life insurance policies; reputational issues arising from its social media activities, data security breaches, other cybersecurity risks or other causes; the ability to develop and maintain relations with providers while taking actions to reduce medical costs and/or expand the services Aetna offers; Aetna's ability to maintain its relationships with third party brokers, consultants and agents who sell Aetna's products; increases in medical costs or Group Insurance claims resulting from any epidemics, acts of terrorism or other extreme events; and a downgrade in Aetna's financial ratings. For more discussion of important risk factors that may materially affect Aetna, please see the risk factors contained in Aetna's Annual Report and Aetna's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2012 (Aetna's "First Quarter 10-Q") and Aetna's Second Quarter 10-Q (together with Aetna's First Quarter 10-Q, Aetna's "Quarterly Reports"), each on file with the SEC. You also should read Aetna's Annual Report and Aetna's Quarterly Reports for a discussion of Aetna's historical results of operations and financial condition.

No assurances can be given that any of the events anticipated by the forward-looking statements will transpire or occur, or if any of them do occur, what impact they will have on the results of operations, financial condition or cash flows of Aetna or Coventry. Neither Aetna nor Coventry assumes any duty to update or revise forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, as of any future date.
