Commenting on the results, GV Prasad, Chief Executive Officer of Dr. Reddy s Laboratories said, Our profitability in the third quarter was significantly lower due to the impact of decline in sales as well as higher investments in R&D projects and business building initiatives. We remain committed to creating long-term shareholder value and are determined to find ways to balance short-term profitability and long-term growth through partnerships and alliances. Despite the challenges that we face in the short-term, we will continue with the implementation of our strategy toward building a future of growth and leadership for Dr. Reddy s. We are maximizing the value potential of our API, Branded Formulations and Generics business through pipeline expansion and growing scale. Simultaneously, we are investing in our innovation-led businesses of Discovery and Specialty which we believe are key to sustainable growth and we are committed to building these businesses.

GV Prasad continued, Our strong emphasis on R&D has helped us build a pipeline that includes 39 pending ANDAs, 63 DMFs and more than 30 projects under development as well as 6 NCEs and a niche U.S. specialty portfolio. Of these 39 pending ANDAs, 13 include non-patent challenges and about 26 include patent challenges addressing innovator sales of 22 billion dollars. It is important to fuel the R&D engine that provides for future growth even though our profitability would have been better without these investments. A powerful and highly productive R&D engine, integrated APIs and formulations capabilities and a global presence in key markets are the pillars on which we are building Dr. Reddy's of tomorrow.
