Section 1 – Securities and Trading Markets

Item 1.03. Bankruptcy or Receivership.

On July 9, 2010, Bay National Bank (the “Bank”), the principal operating subsidiary of Bay National Corporation (the “Company”) was closed by the Office of the Comptroller of Currency, which appointed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (the “FDIC”) as receiver of the Bank.

As indicated in the FDIC press release dated July 9, 2010, subsequent to the closure, Bay Bank, FSB, Lutherville, Maryland, assumed the operations and all of the deposits of the Bank, and purchased essentially all of the Bank’s assets. All depositors of the Bank, will automatically become depositors of Bay Bank, FSB for the full amount of their deposits, and they will continue to have uninterrupted access to the Bank’s deposits.

The Company’s principal assets were the capital stock that it owns in the Bank. As the owner of all of the capital stock of the Bank, the Company would be entitled to the net recoveries, if any, following the liquidation or sale of the Bank or its remaining assets by the FDIC. However, at this time, the Company does not believe that any recovery will be realized.
